Hot Session On Controversial Book

In an uproarious session from start to finish, about 200 persons packed the San Rafael Board of Education meeting room last night to attack and defend use of a book, described as a "revolution kit," in a San Rafael High School class. (For Marin supervisors' reaction to the book, see story, page 12.)

The confrontation, rife with boos, shouts, obscenities and foot-stomping, began with a subtle apology for tardiness from teacher Virginia Franklin, who ordered copies of the hefty paperback, "The Movement Toward a New America," in order to teach senior students propaganda technique.

"I wanted to be here sooner, but I was teaching a course in civil liberties to the Richmond Police Department," she said.

The session ended an hour later, to boisterous objections, when the school board quickly adjourned at the behest of chairman Paul L. Jones. He sternly explained the board had heard all it wanted and that it now was time for established district procedure on book controversies to take over.

Mrs. Franklin, a social studies teacher formerly honored by the Freedoms Foundation for patriotic contributions to youth leadership, sought to silence critics by offering to scrap all 35 copies of the 752-page volume and retain only

Building Screeches To A Halt

By C. P. McCARTHY

The Fairfax City Council last night issued a stop-work order on a 68-unit townhouse development, and Councilman Frank J. Egger threatened to lie in front of bulldozers if developers didn't halt the project this morning. (Another Fairfax council story page 11, and a photo on page 16.)

Egger did not have to perform today, it developed.

He was supplanted by Planning Commission Chairman E. Ross Parkerson, who arrived on the construction scene on Fairfax Creek on a bicycle at 7:15 a.m., skidded to a halt, wagged his finger under a construction boss's nose and demanded to know "what have you done to my trees?"

The construction crew already had quietly accepted service of a stop-work order from City Administrator Robert E. Crowe.

The order to Gentry Development Co. followed a charge by Egger that the firm has "violated" Fairfax Creek and broken its agreement with the city.

The development, called Village West, is on 6.8 acres of land flanking the creek at the intersection of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Olema Road. A final map of the project was approved by the council Sept. 13.

Egger presented color photographs to the council, and City Administrator Robert E. Crowe said he had gone to the property yesterday and that trees and ground cover had been removed from a 150-yard strip along the creek.

Crowe and Egger both said it was their understanding with Gentry that the particular por-

Gop Remapping Plan Leaves Marin Intact

Sen. Mark s District Moves To Death Valley

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SACRAMENTO — Senate Republicans yesterday made a counterproposal to reapportion the state that would leave all of Marin intact in a district enlarged to include the western portions of both San Francisco and Sonoma counties.

This extension of Marin's Fourth Senatorial District into San Francisco would be at the expense of Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco. His present district would be shifted almost 300 miles south to take in Death Valley.

Marks thus would have to follow his district to seek reelection next year, when his seat will be up for reelection, or stay to oppose the incumbent in the Fourth District, Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael.

Behr, however, may not have to run again until 1974, thus Marks could be out of office if he chose to stay in San Francisco.

Marks also has another problem under the Republican plan — his San Francisco home was put in the Tenth District of Democratic Sen. George Moscone, a district with 80 per cent Democratic registration.

The plan was the Republicans' answer to last week's Democratic plan, which would give Marin four state senators, split 20 of its local governing districts, and lump much of its population into a district with San Francisco and pieces of San Mateo and Alameda counties.

While the Democrats have a 21-19 edge in the Senate, the

Call For Moratorium On Novato Building Beaten

By JEFF GREER

The North Marin Federation lost its campaign for a six-months moratorium on new residential building in Novato, by a 3-2 vote of the city council shortly after 12:30 a.m. today. (Another Novato City Council story, page 31.)

But the federation of homeowners' clubs did win a promise from the council that the city's five-year-old general plan would be updated as a first-priority project.

The vote capped a two-and-one-half hour hearing before a full-house audience of more than 150 Novatans — mostly opposing the moratorium, to judge by their frequent applause.

Only Councilmen F. Wayne Sartain and David Price Jones favored the moratorium.

"I have sat through this hearing four times," Councilman F. Wayne Womack declared. "Under no circumstances would I vote for another moratorium. If the staff can't update the plan, by God, let's get the money somewhere and hire the staff to do it."

Councilman George C. Quesada, nominally considered a conservationist, declared, "I don't know exactly what is the intent of the North Marin Federation — political, or constructive criticism." Recalling a widely read book of a few years ago, "Games People Play," he said, "there is no question" the North Marin Federation can prove "it is the strongest political entity . . . it elected Sartain and me" to the council.

Quesada countered the moratorium idea with a proposal that the city planning commission devote at least half its working hours the last four months of each calendar year to updating the general plan.

He asked that "the city put a burden on the planning commissioners that they not undertake any more current planning unless they put in equal time on

Tiburon Acts To Condemn Land On Strawberry Cove For Park

By GEORGE NEVIN

The Tiburon City Council last night cast itself in the role of the last-minute rescuer of a maiden in distress as it moved to condemn land on Strawberry Cove for a park. (Another Tiburon City Council story, page 9.)

"We're talking about a race to save Pauline, who's lying on the railroad tracks," said Mayor Denis T. Rice shortly before the council unanimously approved on first reading an ordinance paving the way for condemnation of a parcel owned by Leonard B. Fleischman and slated for an apartment project.

"Either development of the cove will go through or annexation will be approved," he said. If the area is annexed the city intends to rezone it to prohibit high density development such as is now proposed, Rice said.

The development to which he referred is the 72-unit Strawberry Cove Apartment project, which Paul J. Broman has proposed for Fleischman's 6.7-acre parcel. The plan has been approved by the Marin County Board of Supervisors and now lacks only a permit by the Bay Conservation and Development Commission. A BCDC vote is slated Oct. 21.

Broman was present last night to question the sincerity of the council in the light of reports published in the Independent-Journal that Tiburon intends to proceed with condemnation regardless of the outcome of Tuesday's annexation election.

Rice said, and other councilmen agreed, that the council "has taken no position on condemnation with annexation."

"We can cross that bridge when we come to it," Rice said.

While not ruling out condemnation regardless of annexation, Rice said he thought the city should contribute to a fund to buy the cove land for a park if annexation fails.

The council will hold an adjourned meeting at 6 p.m. Monday at city hall to consider the

San Anselmo Unanimously Opposed To Aqueduct Plan

By STEVE SWENSON

The San Anselmo City Council last night unanimously declared itself opposed to the multimillion-dollar Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct and called instead for water reclamation and reuse. (Another San Anselmo City Council story, page 9.)

Council opposition to that project of the Marin Municipal Water District North Marin County Water District and Sonoma County Water Agency was accompanied by condemnation of sewage disposal via ocean and bay outfall sewer lines.

The action, called unprecedented in the city's history, endorsed these views of the San Anselmo Committee on Ecology:

The present mode of water procurement destroys ecological resources.

The present method of sewage disposal ruins rivers, bays and ocean beaches for recreational use.

Discharge of sewage into the ocean or bay kills marine life and disturbs a naturally balanced life cycle.

The proposed aqueduct is not

STRIFE DEBATED — Two black students at San Rafael High School were among a huge throng which gathered at a San Rafael Board of Education meeting last night to discuss an end to strife at the school. Darnell Smith (right) denounced a proposal to use student police, saying it would bring more violence. The other student is unidentified.

Restoring Peace To High School Studied

By DAVID DIETZ

Peace through student police or through a broad-based human relations program? Is the current strife at San Rafael High School, said to be growing out of petty extortion, really racial, or is it a matter of dealing strictly with troublesome students, black or white?

With these questions in mind, and a wide range of answers at the ready, a huge crowd of parents, students and school officials filled the San Rafael Board of Education meeting room last night with an eye on restoring peace to the San Rafael High campus. (Another San Rafael Board of Education story, page 8.)

If a consensus was reached by the throng, which also turned out for a confrontation on use of a "revolutionary" book in the school, it was that problem students, black or white, should be dealt with firmly and that the district needs a human relations program aimed at bringing the races closer together.

The school has been hit in recent weeks by racial fighting, although confined to a small segment of the 1,950-member student body. White girls say they have been the targets of petty extortion and assault by a small number of black girls. If that's true, the blacks say, outsiders are to blame, not San Rafael High students.

The school board heard at length last night from the crowd and school staff and said it would mull suggestions. Proposals ranged from formation of a student police force and disciplinary body to hiring of a human relations specialist.

A black student, Darnell Smith, hotly rejected student policing. "You don't want peace," he roared at the advocate of the plan, "you want violence."

Dr. Peter Palches, in his first year as San Rafael High principal, said 'rap sessions' were under way between black and white girls, with another meeting scheduled tomorrow. He hoped this would help, along

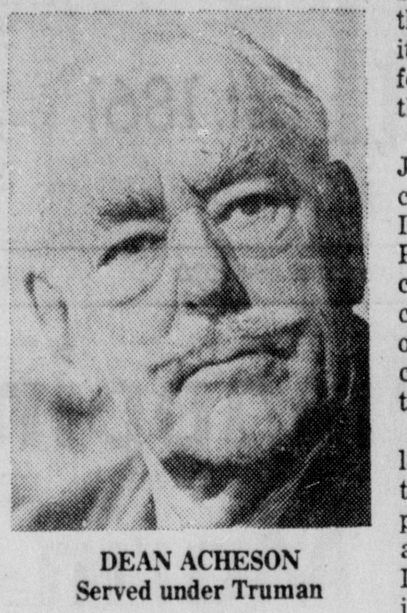
Diplomat Dean Acheson 78, Dies



DEAN ACHESON
Served under Truman

SANDY SPRING, Md. (UPI)—Dean Gooderham Acheson, the impeccably tailored diplomat who helped forge Cold War policy when the United States was the only stable power in the free world, died Tuesday of an apparent heart attack at his country estate.

Acheson, secretary of state in the Truman administration and an unsalaried foreign affairs advise to Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, was 78.

President Nixon said, "It is a measure of Dean Acheson's stature as man and statesman that almost 20 years after his service as secretary of state he continued to be recognized as one of the towering figures of his time."

Secretary of State William P. Rogers said, "His erudition and directness, his wit and his wisdom, will be greatly missed."

Acheson, a graduate of Groton School, Yale and Harvard, came to Washington with President Franklin D. Roosevelt, in 1933 and held intermittent office until President Harry S. Truman named him Secretary of State in 1949. He served until 1953.

Acheson implemented the Marshall Plan for the economic reconstruction of a Europe devastated by World War II and encouraged the encirclement of the Soviet Union to contain the spread of communism. The NATO alliance, the Military Defense Assistance Program and the Point Four plan started under Acheson.

It was ironic that Acheson, once accused by members of Congress of being pro-communist, was instrumental in the first U.S. shooting war with communists, in Korea. He also persuaded the United Nations for the first time to send at least token armed forces into battle.

U. S. military losses in Korea and memories of a State Department white paper denouncing the Nationalist Chinese regime on Taiwan brought calls in Congress for Acheson's resignation and made him an issue in the 1950 and 1952 elections.

At the peak of the onslaught, Acheson got into a taxi, according to a popular story.

"Say, aren't you Dean Acheson?" the cab driver asked. "Yes," Acheson replied. "Do you want me to get out now?"

Acheson was harassed by domestic critics such as the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., who tried to prove that the secretary had allowed communist sympathizers to influence the state department.

Faultline Active For Millions Of Years

MENLO PARK, Calif. (UPI)—Deep sea drillings off the California coast indicate that the San Andreas Fault—the Pacific Coast's hugh earthquake line—moves a couple of inches a year and has been "busy" for about five million years.

The movement ripped Baja California off the Mexican mainland and has moved the southwestern portion of California "several hundred miles" north during the past five million years, according to geologists. They predict Los Angeles will pass San Francisco about 10 million years from now if current conditions remain the same.

The North Pacific geological drilling project also discovered that a major change in sea life apparently took place during the events that led to the destruction of dinosaurs 65 to 70 million years ago.

Dr. David W. School, a research oceanographer for the U.S. geological survey, told newsmen Tuesday that cores drilled off the Baja California coast by the ship, Glomar Challenge, indicated "The San Andreas has been tearing along at a couple of inches a year for four or five million years."

Movement of the North Pacific sea floor, he said, in addition to causing earthquakes, was responsible for outbreaks of volcanism in Japan, the Kurile Islands, the Kamchatka Peninsula of Siberia and the Aleutian Island ridge over the same length of time.

Crime Is Down In Some Areas

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The number of robberies, rapes, larcenies and auto thefts decreased in San Francisco last month compared to the same month a year ago, the Police Department reported Tuesday.

The figures, with 1971 first in each case: rape 59-65, robbery 482-504, larceny 1,202-1,276, auto theft 1,022-1,133.

The number of homicides, aggravated assaults and burglaries increased. Figures for them, with the 1971 September figures first: Aggravaged assault 269-265, homicides 12-4, burglaries 1,574-1,528.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Agrees To Talks

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Israel agreed today to continue discussions with United States on possible solutions to the Middle East crisis, but said it will not change its conditions for allowing Egypt to reopen the Suez Canal.

A statement issued today in Jerusalem gave details of a cabinet meeting Tuesday night. It said that at the meeting Premier Golda Meir and her cabinet agreed to "continue contacts with the government of the United States" but "reconfirmed its stand" on conditions for opening the canal.

U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers has been trying to gain backing for his six-point proposal for reopening the canal, closed since the 1967 Arab-Israeli war. Rogers was meeting with the foreign ministers of a number of nations in New York for the U.N. General Assembly in an effort to gain support for his proposals.

Bayh Steps Aside

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., declaring that he must reorder the priorities in his personal life, will pass up a run for the Democratic presidential nomination to be with his wife during her recovery from cancer surgery.

"I must put first things first . . . my son and my wife, Marvela, and her well-being and rapid recovery are more important to me than seeking the presidency," Bayh said yesterday at a news conference.

Mrs. Bayh, 38, entered Columbia Hospital for Women last Wednesday. On Thursday a biopsy revealed a malignancy and surgery was performed Friday.

"We have every reason to believe the operation was a success," said Bayh, who made the decision about the presidential candidacy in a discussion with his family over the weekend.

Back Into Cells

FRENCH CAMP (UPI) — Rioting prisoners at the San Joaquin County Jail were herded back to their cells one-by-one early today, their two-day "insurrection" quelled by tear gas, fire hoses and brute force.

Thirteen inmates, two guards and the county sheriff were injured slightly in the disturbances that began Sunday night.

"It's still tense but all are locked up," said Sheriff Michael Canlis, who suffered a slight head cut from falling glass while he was in cellblock control with two county officials.

To See Thieu

BANGKOK (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan of California said today he will extend President Nixon's congratulations to President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam on Thieu's election victory.

"I bear messages from the president — congratulatory messages — on President Thieu's reelection," Reagan said on his arrival here from Singapore.

Arrive In Iran

PERSEPOLIS, Iran (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and his wife arrived in Iran today from Turkey to attend the 2500th anniversary celebrations of the Persian monarchy and ran into a mild security problem.

Authorities had chosen Agnew's luxurious tent by chance as an example for about 100 newsmen of the ornate accommodations created by the Shah of Iran for his honored guests.

Most of the approximately 50 other tents that will house kings, queens and heads of state were out of bounds. But about 100 newsmen poked around the Agnew tent, opened every closet and looked under every bed.

It was a secret serviceman's nightmare. Everyone was out of the tent before Agnew arrived and it was expected that the living room, two bedrooms, two bathrooms and kitchenette in the luxurious tent were minutely inspected by secret servicemen.

Crowds Checked

BONN (UPI) — Helmeted riot police held back a crowd of several thousand today as Japanese Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako ended their historic European visit with a tour of Beethoven's birthplace.

The royal couple also planned visits with Chancellor Willy Brandt and former President Heinrich Luebke and his wife before departing for Tokyo with a refueling stop in Anchorage, Alaska.

About 120 policemen, half from a riot control squad, blocked off the short street in Bonn as Hirohito and the empress arrived at the building where composer Ludwig van Beethoven was born 200 years ago.

Blow Up Roads

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — The British army began blowing up minor roads along the border with the Irish Republic today in an effort to curb illegal crossings by the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA), an army spokesman said.

The army issued a one-line statement saying the new move was designed to stop the IRA from smuggling men into Northern Ireland to fight British troops.

A Plastic Bottle Nearing Reality

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A soft drink firm executive says his company has just about perfected a plastic bottle that can be "readily incinerated without generating harmful properties."

Harry Teasley, a packaging manager for the Coca-Cola Co., told about the project Tuesday to a reporter at the National Association of Food Chains annual meeting.

He predicted plastic containers would replace man glass and metal containers and said the project resulted from an ecological study made for his firm.

5 U.S. 'Copters Blown Up By Red Infiltrator Team

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist guerrillas crept onto a U.S. helicopter base eight miles from Saigon early today and blew up five choppers before escaping into the dark without a shot being fired.

The sappers placed satchel demolition charges inside five UH1 Hueys parked at Di An, northeast of Saigon. The explosions destroyed two of the helicopters and heavily damaged the other three, military spokesmen said. Hueys, the workhorses of the Vietnam war, cost $285,000 apiece.

Di An, visited by President Nixon during his trip to Vietnam in July, 1969, is believed the closest American base to Saigon to be attacked since the guerrilla spring offensive of May, 1968, when several U.S. bases next to the capital were hit.

It also was the first U.S. helicopter base to be attacked by sappers since July 27 when four copters were destroyed at Laikhe, 30 miles north of Saigon. In that attack, 13 other helicopters were destroyed by subsequent explosions from rockets attached to them.

U.S. command spokesmen said an American lookout spotted two of the guerrillas escaping in the dark at the same time the first explosions went off. The U.S. or South Vietnamese guards on duty were not able to fire a shot, however, they said.

Meanwhile, an armor-led South Vietnamese force was making a major push against Communist artillery units responsible for recent shellings of U.S. and government outposts near the Cambodian border.

One unexploded satchel charge was found at the helicopter base. Spokesmen said that as far as they knew no other helicopters on the base were damaged by exploding ammunition. The choppers are used in Cambodian border action but fly to the Saigon area for the night for security reasons.

In other battle action, a U.S. Air Force RF4 reconnaissance plane and two F4 fighterbombers escorting it on a reconnaissance mission Tuesday over North Vietnam were fired on by two surface-to-air missiles (SAM's), U.S. spokesmen said.

The missiles were spotted by electronic equipment but were not observed visually, the command said. It added that none of the planes was damaged and there was no American "protective reaction" against the SAM sites.

The incident occurred about 80 miles north of the Demilitarized Zone between North and South Vietnam. It was the first reported firing of SAM's at U.S. aircraft since July 10. No American planes were hit then either.

North Vietnamese Army (NVA) forces kept up the pressure in the Cambodian border area 85 miles northwest of Saigon but the allies responded with aerial bombardment and a ground assault.

Beban Reported In Jury Censor

The Marin County Grand Jury reportedly took disciplinary action yesterday against a member who criticized the indictments arising from the San Quentin breakout and who has criticized jury procedure in the current issue of an underground newspaper.

One source said Rick Beban, former activist at the College of Marin, was "censured" by the panel. Neither Milen C. Dempster, jury foreman, nor Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales could be reached for comment.

However, Cecelia Lannon, an attorney with the Marin County Legal Aid Society, said she accompanied Beban to yesterday's regular jury session at his request after the panel indicated on its agenda that, in the attorney's words, "indicated it was going to discuss something that concerned him."

She declined to discuss what happened at the meeting, saying that the "jury interprets very strictly what can be discussed outside the courtroom."

She added, however, she was planning legal action in an attempt to clarify what disciplinary powers the jury has.

In an interview in the Oct. 8 issue of the Berkeley Tribe, Beban was quoted as saying fellow jurors have sought to remove him "because of the length of my hair, because of my political ideas, and because my past is not beyond reproach. Anyway, their reaction to me is that they don't like me very much."

Beban's reference to the past apparently related to his arrest in connection with the 1969 protest against the Tamalpais Creek flood control project.

Also in the Tribe story, Beban raised the possibility of a federal civil rights suit as a means of attacking the grand jury system, which he said discriminates against minorities.

In addition to Beban's criticism of the San Quentin indictments, another juror, Gerald A. Hawes, resigned in protest over the jury's action.

ORDER

tion of the creek was not to be touched.

"Now," Egger said, "they've gone up there and devastated the area."

"It looks like the Corps of Engineers has been there," he said, in reference to often-criticized flood control work the Army Corps of Engineers has done on Corte Madera Creek.

Crowe said the creek work had not been done Monday morning and that no one had given Gentry permission to do it. "Why they did it, I don't know," he said.

The council unanimously passed a motion by Egger to issue the stop-work order with a condition that work could not resume until the company agreed to return the allegedly destroyed portions of the creek as close as possible to their natural site.

Crowe and Egger said they would be at the work site at 7:30 a.m. today to order the work stopped.

When City Atty. Wallace S. Myers said he didn't know if the company would stop its work or not, Egger replied that "they are not going to start work in the morning one way or the other" and threatened to lie in front of bulldozers if an attempt was made to start work.

The stop-work order will remain in effect at least until 5 p.m. Friday when the council agreed to meet at the women's club for a progress report on the situation.

Sky Brown, But No Smog Alert

A heavy layer of brown smog returned to Marin skies today, but the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District said no air pollution alert was expected.

A district spokesman said nitrogen dioxide and dirt particle readings were high throughout the Bay Area, but not approaching dangerous levels. Nitrogen dioxide, caused for the most part by automobiles emissions, gives the sky its brownish hue.

The spokesman said increased offshore winds and cooler temperatures were expected today to ease the smog problem on San Francisco Bay and its fringes.

The central Bay Area recorded the highest smog reading yesterday, 133, or "severe." The North Bay index was 74, "moderate" air pollution.

The pall of smog brought an "air stagnation advisory" from the National Weather Service and a "close watch" by air pollution control officials.

The weather service said poor dispersion in the Bay Area was resulting from a high atmospheric pressure system over the plateau of the western states.

The system caused a strong temperature inversion over much of California.

REMAP

Republicans wield the ultimate weapon —the governor's promised veto if the plan does not satisfy him.

The Republican strategy also depends on getting the votes of at least three Democrats.

Virtually no talk was heard yesterday from the leadership of both parties about the possibility of compromising between their two reapportionment plans. Both were bargaining intensively for the needed 21 votes to get their respective plans through the Senate, with numerous senators holding out for changes to improve their district.

Each side claimed it had enough votes, but the brokering for votes showed each was bluffing. More than one senator's office door revolved throughout the day as negotiators for each plan worked for commitments to their plan.

The Democratic plan will be heard for a second time tomorrow at 9:30 a.m. in the Capitol, and may emerge considerably altered from last week's version.

The Democrats claimed that their plan sacrificed Sen. Fred W. Marler Jr., R-Redding, by transplanting his district to Los Angeles. But by extending Behr's district almost 200 miles north into Marler's territory, it was Behr who would have the disadvantage of facing Marler on his home ground.

The Republican plan, distributed in a "confidential memorandum" to all senators, was the result of Marler's work to come up with a sacrifice other than himself. Marler is minority floor leader.

The memorandum was signed by the four Republican senators who form a minority on the Senate Elections and Reapportionment Committee, Clair W. Burgener of La Mesa, San Diego County, Dennis E. Carpenter of Irvine, John L. Harmer of Glendale and John A. Nejedly of Walnut Creek. Carpenter also is his party's state chairman.

In San Francisco, Behr's district would include North Beach, the Marina, Presidio, Golden Gate Park and Sunset District to the San Mateo County line.

In Sonoma County, his district would include Petaluma, but exclude Cotati, Rohnert Park and Santa Rosa, which would remain in the First District of Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka. Behr's district also would take in the western half of the county up to the Mendocino County line.

But Behr would lose, largely to Marler and to Collier, Napa and Solano counties, which are in Behr's current district. Collier's district also would extend through Vallejo and into Contra Costa County, ending short of Antioch.

Behr's new district would have 499,789 people, only .02 per cent over the ideal district of 498,828.

Of the district's total population, about 200,000 each would be in Marin and San Francisco, and almost 100,000 in Sonoma.

Behr's new district would be 43.2 per cent Republican, up from 41.7 per cent in his current district.

The "confidential memorandum" to the senators included a letter from Harmer declaring that the Democratic plan was "unconstitutional and would be stricken by the courts." He based his conclusion on an attached opinion from Legislative Counsel George H. Murphy that the Democratic plan could be attacked on constitutional grounds if it were drawn to assure election of an individual from a specific ethnic group.

The Democrats have declared openly that their plan was drawn to assure a Mexican-American district in Los Angeles.

Marler said yesterday that Northern California senators "are like nine men in an eight-man life raft" because population shifts require giving one Northern California district to Southern California.

Offstreet Parking Code Hit

Relaxing of offstreet parking requirements in commercial areas to bring the requirements in line with other cities in Marin and the nation, has been approved by the Mill Valley Planning Commission.

Planning Director Tom W. Newton said the commission recommended the city council amend the city's zoning ordinance to ease requirements, which specify how many parking spaces new and remodeled businesses must have.

The commission took the action based on a recommendation by a parking committee which studied parking in other cities in Marin. A study of nationwide parking requirements, conducted by the American Society of Planning Officials, also was consulted, Newton said.

Parking requirements have come under attack recently by planners, city councilmen and citizens, who have said the excessive requirements contribute to a "sea of asphalt" surrounding shopping centers.

On the other hand, downtown merchants have cited a growing shortage of parking in that area and are pushing for more stringent requirements in and around Lytton Square.

In other business last night, newton said the commission agreed to hold a special meeting with the architectural advisory committee at 8 p.m. Wednesday at city hall to review plans for improvements to Miller Avenue between Reed and Willow streets.

The plan features four traffic lanes divided by a landscaped median, parallel parking on one side of the street and angle parking on the other and traffic signals at LaGoma Street.

needed and alternatives haven't been adequately explored.

Councilman James F. Reed, commending the work of the committee and its chairman, Valmar Schaaf, called the positions "tremendous policies."

Councilman Lewis W. Stewart, noting nothing had been done like this in the city's history, asked if any other Marin city council had ever taken such action. Schaff said to his knowledge, none had.

The committee report states, "Successful water reclamation projects have been constructed both in the U.S. and abroad. The economics of these plants show that reclamation is as economical, or more so, than importing water from distant sources and then wasting it after expensive treatment to render it harmless to the environment."

The report goes on to encourage all Marin agencies to develop a longterm plan for complete water reclamation and integrate the construction of all plant facilities into such plan.

The aqueduct (Measure B) to be voted on in Marin Nov. 2 was opposed by the committee because it felt Marin could more than adequately handle its water consumption without it and the federal environmental impact study of the project's effect on the Eel and Russian rivers and the Marin coast line would not be available until after the election.

STRIFE

with faculty patrols of girls' restrooms, scene of the extortion incidents.

He said, however, the problem was "difficult to police" because of charges and countercharges by both sides. And Palches told the crowd, extortion in school halls was not confined to San Rafael High, but "happening in an almost epidemic way around Northern California."

To suggestions the school return to a closed campus, abandoning the loose scheduling program in effect for a year, Palches considered that too drastic.

Jane Levinsohn of 21 Lunada Court, while declining to accept the current strife as totally black-white and accusing the Independent-Journal of drawing that conclusion, told the board she had "resigned in utter frustration" from a multiethnic education committee which this spring concluded that San Rafael High was a "white ghetto."

She wondered what reports had been given the board on dealing with problems outlined by the panel.

"Putting 'potty' ladies in a bathroom where you have 17-year-old kids is not the solution," she said. "You've got to get together and talk."

"I'm concerned that what may be a disciplinary problem is being made into a racial problem," said a spectator. "I would like to have discipline for green, white, brown, black and everybody else."

Palches outlined the troublesome events of recent days and disciplinary steps taken against both students and nonstudents who came on campus during last Monday's strife. On that jay, a white student's shoes were stolen and the girl was assaulted, and a fight broke out among former students over a gambling debt.

Although he said one student was suspended the maximum 10 days as a result of the shoe incident, several white students present at last night's meeting said the outsted girl went on a class field trip the other day nonetheless. Palches said he was investigating.

H. K. White of 275 Summit Avenue, whose daughter was struck in the shoe incident, objected to "buckpassing" by school officials instead of "meeting the problem head on." "I'm not going to go to work with the idea my child is going to get beaten up," he said.

"I've been going through two-three years of getting nowhere," said Robert L. Grime of 61 Highland Avenue, prime critic of school officials. He said he didn't wish to blame blacks or whites but to find out how to solve the problem.

9-Month Jail Term For Thief

Michael Patrick Spurlock, 25, of Santa Rosa, was sentenced yesterday to nine months in Marin County Jail for the burglary of a Mill Valley apartment in May 1970.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court also placed Spurlock on probation for three years and gave him credit for time he has spent in jail since May 4.

Spurlock pleaded guilty last January to burglarizing an apartment at 50 Corte Madera Avenue, Mill Valley, on May 22, 1970.

BOOK

portions she found useful. She said, however, she never intended to use the entire document anyway.

"We've always had ample literature on the 'right' and we've always had ample literature from the underground papers," she said. But in this book, Mrs. Franklin added, she found an opportunity for students preparing to vote for the first time to analyze thoroughly the "logic and thinking of the 'left.' "

The book, which, besides revolutionary theory, delves into such areas as "Understanding Orgasm" and the growing of marijuana, has "no other purpose than for adults — and I consider my students adults," Mrs. Franklin said.

Critics were unswayed. "This direction of funds will cause a taxpayer revolt," said Willis C. Bohn of Tiburon.

Added Anita C. Strom, former school board member, "The book is not the only problem — the real problem is the whole social studies department. The department is now composed strictly of political activists and sympathizers thereof and the cup runneth over . . . there are those who feel that we are sending our children to school to learn how to destroy our system and government."

When Robert L. Grime of 61 Highland Avenue, a parent whose official complaint spurred last night's session, announced he would read excerpts from the book, the majority of the crowd roared in opposition.

Why, he wondered, was it necessary for students to "understand orgasms?"

"Out of context," shouted a student.

"We're not children," yelled another.

Exclaimed a third student with long, blond hair: "At what age did you understand orgasm?"

Said Grime, "It's not the individual book or what the book has in it, but what can happen if a teacher has the total right to introduce what he wishes," Despite Mrs. Franklin's assurances she intended to use only parts of the volume, he added, many students already had received copies and "every bit of material" has been "exposed."

After several sharp exchanges between critics and supporters, Jones announced that "no headway is being made." The vote to adjourn was barely audible amid footstomping and pleas to speak.

Later, Supt. John F. Plank said district policy calls first for an investigation of the document by the school principal. If the principal and teacher can't agree on its use, a staff committee would take over, ultimately reporting to Plank and the school board on a possible solution.

New Ambassador To Denmark Selected

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Los Angeles businessman Fred J. Russell is the new U.S. ambassador to Denmark, succeeding Guilford Dudley Jr.

Russell, 55, was named to his new post Tuesday by President Nixon. The new ambassador was undersecretary of the interior when Walter J. Hickel was secretary. He then served as acting secretary until Nixon named Rogers C. B. Morton to the post.

advance planning." He also urged a mandatory midnight halt to planning sessions" — a lot of bad planning in this city is done after midnight —" and urged that the planners use an egg-timer to limit speakers.

Mayor Joseph D. Garguilo, explained that "I have a serious concern" over the number of townhouse projects springing up in Novato, and "I'd like to see the general plan updated, but I'm against any moratorium."

Sartain argued that "a substantial portion of our city has challenged the general plan as it is . . . our planning commission has come to a conclusion that the moratorium is essential."

Jones cross-examined Planning Director Brian W. Mattson to bring out that the proposed freeze still would allow builders to complete more than 1,700 dwelling units already on the books.

"I think there are definite advantages to the moratorium" in allowing the city staff to update the 1966 general plan, Jones concluded.

North Marin Federation president Guthrie R. Greene headed the contingent of half a dozen pro-moratorium speakers. He read a 45-minute speech repeating and expanding the arguments of the federation's June 5 letter to the council in which the moratorium first was requested.

A dozen opponents' arguments ranged from the hardship the moratorium would impose on small builders and construction-linked Novato business firms, to a warning from David Greenlee of the Marin Builders Exchange that "you can't say 'stop the world for six months until we catch up'."

Ronald D. Schenck, Novato School District board chairman, branded the moratorium "rather frightening — a cavalier attitude toward property rights . . ."

He charged that "our frustration and inability to reach perfection" put the city in danger of "departure from our traditional form of government. If the proponents did so knowingly, they represent a philosophy I cannot buy."

Other speakers called the moratorium "temporary confiscation without compensation," "immorality" and "totally taking and not giving."

After turning down the moratorium despite recommendations from the planning staff and planning commission, the council voted 4-1 on a motion by Sartain that the commission concentrate on updating the general plan, with a monthly report to the council on its progress. Womak voted against the motion without explanation.

Town Council Meet Has Been Reset

A joint meeting of the Corte Madera Town Council and Planning Commission, previously set for tonight, has been rescheduled for Tuesday.

Tuesday's meeting, to be held at town hall at 7:30 p.m., will deal with general plan review, zoning and home occupation permits.

OBITUARIES

Rites Set For Ruth Torbet, 84

Funeral for Ruth Turner Torbet of Larkspur, longtime member of the Holy Innocents Episcopal Church in Corte Madera, will be Saturday at 11 a.m. at the church.

Mrs. Torbet died yesterday after a long illness in a local hospital. She was 86.

She was born in Michigan. She had lived in Larkspur for the past 30 years.

Mrs. Torbet had been treasurer of the altar guild at the church for 20 years. She also belonged to the Tamalpais Center Women's Club.

She was the widow of the late Lt. Com. Mayson White Torbet, a naval architect with the Coast Guard.

She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. G. E. Bacon and Mrs. Victor Fortune, both of Jackson, Mich.

Mrs. Torbet will be buried near her husband at Arlington National Cemetery, Virginia.

ANNIE COLBURN

Annie Colburn, 86, mother of Herbert W. Neville of San Anselmo, died Saturday in a local convalescent hospital after a long illness.

Mrs. Colburn was born in Nova Scotia and lived in Oakland prior to entering the rest home a year ago.

She was the widow of Edgar Colburn, who died many years ago.

In addition to the son, Mrs. Colburn is survived by a brother, Lawrence Neville of Los Angeles.

Her body was to be cremated.

W. A. LERNER

Funeral for Wilfred A. Lerner, 65, of San Rafael will be at 3 p.m. tomorrow in Sinai Funeral Chapel, San Francisco, under the auspices of Bay City Lodge 526, Free and Accepted Masons.

Kerner, a department manager at the GET Parkside department store in San Francisco, collapsed at home and was pronounced dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital at 3:06 p.m. He previously had suffered a heart attack, according to the Marin County coroner's office.

A native of San Francisco, he and Mrs. Lerner moved to San Rafael 12 years ago, living at 705 Kerner Boulevard. In addition to his wife, he is survived by a sister, Barbara Jennings of Palo Alto, a daughter, Mitzi Webber of Los Angeles, and two grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

He was a past president of the Bay City Masonic lodge.

The funeral will be followed by cremation.

INEZ BRUNETTI

Requiem Mass for Inez T. Brunetti, 59, retired dental nurse, will be offered Friday at St. Vincent De Paul Church, Petaluma.

Miss Brunetti died Sunday at a Sacramento hospital after a short illness. She was born and reared in Two Rock, and graduated from St. Vincent's High School.

Miss Brunetti worked as a dental nurse from 1937 until her retirement in 1969.

She is survived by two brothers, Edward Brunetti of Novato and Oscar Brunetti of Carmichael, Sacramento County.

Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma. Burial will be at Calvary Cemetery.

The family prefers contributions to Hanna Boys Center, Sonoma, or to a favorite charity.

ROBERT ROGERS

Mass of the Resurrection for Robert E. Rogers of Marinwood will be celebrated at 10 a.m. Friday at St. Isabella's Catholic Church, Terra Linda, with burial in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Rogers, retired medical technical assistant at San Quentin Prison, died Monday in a local convalescent hospital after a long illness. He was 68.

Rogers had worked at San Quentin for 15 years, retiring in July. Before joining the prison, he served in the Navy for 32 years.

Born in Rosendale, N.Y., Rogers lived in California 18 years. The family home is at 93 Blackstone Drive.

Survivors are his wife, Mary; two sons, Dennis and Terrance, both at home, and a sister, Carrie Reddington of New Jersey.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Memorial contributions are preferred by the family to the American Cancer Society or St. Jude's Hospital, care of the Archdiocese of San Francisco.

DEATH NOTICES

ordinance on second reading. Rice said the council wants the ordinance adopted then so the city can file the condemnation suit next Wednesday if annexation is approved the day before.

The timing is important, he said, because the council wants to file the suit before the BCDC votes on the cove apartment plan.

But Broman pointed out that annexation, if successful, is almost certain to be challenged in court, thus delaying completion of annexation and paving the way for BCDC approval of the apartments regardless of the outcome of the vote.

Stephen H. Kaufmann, attorney for a committee opposing the annexation, has served notice he believes the election is illegal and that he will take the matter to court.

The council moved to condemn the land last Wednesday after Fleischman turned down an offer of $125,000 from the city for the disputed parcel.

LITTLE COWPOKE

Jamie Berry, 6, of Tiburon, was named most freckled cowboy at the Grand National Littlest Cowboy and Cowgirl contest held in connection with the 1971 Grand National which will open Oct. 22 at San Francisco's Cow Palace. Another Marin winner of the contest, entered by more than 65 Bay Area youngsters, was Richelle Fowler of Novato, who at two and a half years, won the littlest cowgirl prize.

House Votes Women Equality With Men

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Sam Ervin, who single-handedly defeated a proposed constitutional amendment on women's rights last session, mobilized today for a repeat performance.

Women's liberation groups, meantime, fanned out through Senate office building corridors in search of enough votes to beat the North Carolina Democrat in their second encounter over an equal rights amendment in less than one year.

The House in August, 1970, voted 350 to 15 to approve the amendment which would give women legal equality with men. But Ervin conducted a minifilibuster when the measure came to the floor in the closing days of the old Congress and succeeded in blocking a vote.

The House again Tuesday voted 354 to 23 to send the same amendment back to the Senate, setting the stage for another Ervin talkathon. This time, however, rights advocates had time on their hands —the rest of this year and all of next year.

Ervin, mindful he might lose on a vote to cut off debate, reportedly had a series of at least 10 amendments ready to offer to the House measure, which has been pending on the Senate calendar awaiting House action. It can be called up, subject to a vote, for floor action at any time.

Union Music Flap Explanation Due

San Rafael High School District authorities are awaiting delivery of a letter from San Francisco Musicians Local 6, discussing why the Terra Linda High School band was barred from playing at the Marin County Fair over the weekend.

Hugo Rinaldi, head of the school's music department, said the union's executive board met yesterday on the issue and ordered a letter sent to Rinaldi today.

Rinaldi said union officials would not discuss the letter's contents via telephone but promised that the letter would be mailed this afternoon.

The musicians' office told the Independent-Journal that the only person who could report on the executive board meeting was busy at another meeting today.

The dispute came to light Friday when union spokesmen called Fair Manager Marcelle McCoy and ordered her not to let the Terra Linda students play. The spokesmen said that all union musicians could be pulled off fair engagements if the students played.

No Charge As Yet Into Shooting

No charge was filed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court against a Sleepy Hollow man arrested last Wednesday on suspicion of shooting an 18-year-old youth outside the man's home.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Gary W. Thomas said today investigation of the case was continuing.

Charles A. Peri, 41, was arrested after he allegedly shot Eugene A. Benson Jr., of Sleepy Hollow, when Benson approached Peri's driveway where Peri was fighting with another youth.

The other youth, John Raymond Windrick, 15, of Sleepy Hollow, was booked into Juvenile Hall after the shooting on suspicion of disturbing the peace, being drunk in public and making obscene phone calls to Peri's residence.

Rights Commission Meeting Postponed

Tomorrow night's meeting of the Marin Human Rights Commission has been postponed a week, until 8 p.m. Oct. 21 in the planning commission chambers at the Marin Civic Center.

Executive director Gerald J. Hood said the extra week is needed to prepare material for the commissioners to consider before their joint meeting with the Marin County Board of Supervisors, which is scheduled for Nov. 9.

Urban Panelists Quit Over Hotel

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A majority of the citizen members on the city's Urban Design Advisory Committee resigned en masse Tuesday because the Planning Commission approved a 25-story hotel construction project on Van Ness Avenue.

Spokesman John Jacobs said the 10 who quit in protest would fight the contested decision before the Board of Permit Appeals.

Jacobs is the San Francisco Planning and Urban Renewal Association's executive director.

There are 15 citizen members on the committee and 13 city officials.

Smog Board May Fire Its Lawyer

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Secret meetings held last week by Bay Area Air Pollution Control District directors were to consider firing the district's counsel, Matthew S. Walker, the Independent-Journal learned today.

No decision was reached in last Wednesday's two unannounced sessions of the personnel committee, but a vote to fire Walker is expected in a third closed meeting of the committee at 1 p.m. tomorrow in district offices, 939 Ellis Street.

The committee then would make its recommendation to the full board for action when the directors meet at 9:30 a.m. Friday in the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors chambers in Martinez.

Walker, legal adviser since the district's inception in 1955, long had feuded with the district's chief administrative officer, D. J. Callaghan. Until last year, Walker reported directly to the board of directors, but at Callaghan's urging the board demoted the position of counsel to make it responsible instead to Callaghan.

Burglary Charge Plea Is Innocent

Patrick Michael Quinn, 25, of Sausalito, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of burglary.

Jury trial was set for the week of Nov. 15.

Quinn was arrested Sept. 21 when Sausalito police said they found him in the house of Alfred S. Wilsey of 89 Cazneau Avenue. Police said another man with Quinn leaped from a second floor window and escaped.

Novato Tree Stand Will Be Thinned Out

Novato Civic Foundation directors bowed last night to Marin County Parks and Recreation Department wishes to thin out the foundation's tree nursery at Stafford Lake County Park.

Leroy M. Gerner, foundation president, said the county would relocate 20 of the choicest trees to the Marin County Civic Center. Gerner added that Pierre W. Joske, county parks and recreation director, will mark the trees as having come from the foundation.

Between 1965 and 1968, the foundation planted nearly 2,000 conifers on land loaned by the North Marin County Water District. The trees were intended for park beautification and as a supply for fund-raising Christmas tree sales.

Joske explained to foundation directors that the trees must be thinned out for optimum growth, but agreed to leave the 17 best trees to form a grove in the county park.

County crews last week began removing crowded trees, placing some of them in containers for transplanting, Gerner reported. The new open spaces will be turfed.

Foundation directors also learned last night that the foundation raised more than $700 at a recent wine-tasting benefit.

The money will be used to install a dam to create a pond on Novato creek near the Novato branch of the county library, and to surface footpaths leading to the library.

Car Wreck Brings A Bruised Forehead

An 18-year-old San Rafael girl was treated yesterday for a bruise on the forehead she received in a San Rafael auto accident, a Marin General Hospital spokesman said.

Linda Gibson was injured in an accident at about 10 p.m. at Third Street and Grand Avenue involving two cars driven by Robert Joseph Aganowski, 16, of 67 Porteous Avenue, Fairfax, and Lester Mardaley Cox, 21, of 50 Woodland Drive, Fairfax, according to police.

School Plan Is Moving Right Along

The San Rafael Board of Education took a further step last night toward implementing a full middle-school program next September when it decided which students would attend the sixth through eighth-grade facilities. (Other San Rafael Board of Education stories, page 1)

Although Santa Venetia has been operating for some time as a middle school, it will be joined in the fall by Davidson.

In deciding attendance areas for the facilities, the board closed off criticism that arose over the middle-school concept last year from Coleman and Bahia Vista school parents.

Those students, who traditionally have gone to Davidson upon completion of sixth grade, were to have been enrolled at Santa Venetia, necessitating a bus trip over Puerto Suello Hill.

Under the present plan, Coleman and Bahia Vista sixth graders will go to Davidson, joined by students from Sun Valley, Laurel Dell and West End. Attending Santa Venetia will be students from San Pedro, Glenwood, Hartzell, Gallinas and MacPhail schools.

With improvements, Davidson and Santa Venetia are to have a total capacity of 1,550, with two sixth grade classes assigned to Davidson housed at nearby Laurel Dell Intermediate.

The San Rafael Board of Education also:

REPORT — Heard Frank Battat, new chairman of the citizens advisory committee, recommend improvements in all phases of the high school program, ranging from recording of student absences on report cards to modifications in what was called an "ineffective" drug abuse program.

APPOINTED — Named Trustee Marilyn Bolinger to serve on an advisory group to the county probation office.

BONDS — Endorsed the $16.7 million Marin Community College bond issue — Measure A — on the Nov. 2 ballot.

PERSONNEL — Approved hiring William Blakenburg, substitute bus driver, $3.04 per hour; Salvatore Dieli and Eric Kelley, instructional aides, $2.50 per hour, and accepted the resignations of Salvatore Dieli as a custodian and Kimberly McDowell, instructional aide.

TENNIS — Called for bids to resurface tennis courts at San Rafael and Terra Linda high schools at an estimated cost of $13,000.

Sam's Cafe Trio Cleared By Judge

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Three hippie hoaxers called "Sam's Cafe" have convinced a federal judge that a mass put-on of 20,000 San Franciscans in March constituted a work of "conceptual art."

The trio spent $2,000 on the stunt that involved sending phony bills for $76.40 to 20,000 middle-income persons, along with a stern warning to pay up "or action will be taken."

The following day, vials of excrement were received by news media and art critics explaining the hoax was a work of art and the first step in destroying society by tying up everyone's telephones. The fictitious billings had listed the telephone numbers of the San Francisco Chronicle, the Bank of America and two television stations.

U.Sm District Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli Tuesday threw out charges that Sam's Cafe sent "a filthy and vile substance through the mails" after an art critic, Thomas Albright, called the substance "conceptual art."

Cong-Freed GI Reunited With Parents At Hospital In Denver

DENVER (UPI) — Army S. Sgt. John C. Sexton Jr., who spent more than two years in a Viet Cong jungle prison, was reunited with his parents today.

"This is the most wonderful time of my life," Mrs. John C. Sexton Sr., of Warren, Mich., said.

Sexton was bundled in blankets on a stretcher as he arrived here by plane in the chilly dawn.

The Army sergeant kissed his parents and looked at family snapshots while waiting to be taken by ambulance to Fitzsimons Army Hospital.

"He looked very good," Sexton's father said after medics took his son to the hospital. "From the way he looked, I don't think he'll be in the hospital very long."

The 23-year-old Michigan soldier was taken to Fitzsimons before waiting reporters could talk with him but a hospital spokesman said he would appear with his parents at a news conference later today.

Sexton, released by the Viet Cong in South Vietnam last Friday, arrived following a short stop at Travis Air Force Base, Calif., the final stop en route from Saigon to Denver.

When the C141 Starlifter touched down at Buckley Field at 4:06 a.m., Sexton's parents and his sister, Mrs. Susan Wright of Phoenix, Ariz., went aboard the aircraft while 10 other patients were taken off.

The long journey home began when Sexton was released by his Viet Cong captors after a 10-day march through the jungle to a point 70 miles north of Saigon. He made contact with friendly forces and was flown to a hospital, where he was treated for mild anemia and other ills.

Sexton was the 24th American prisoner of war to be released by the Communists. Before departing from Tan Son Nhut Air Base near Saigon, he told reporters, "It's great to be back. I'm anxious to get home."

Sexton's parents, who arrived in Denver Monday, said they had no hard feelings that it took two years for a letter written by their son shortly after his capture Aug. 12, 1969, to reach them. The letter, held by the Army, told them he was alive.

"He didn't say much," the senior Sexton told newsmen after his son was whisked off by ambulance to Fitzsimons where he will undergo treatment for the anemia and a 40-pound weight loss. "He never was a big talker.

16 Children Die In Crash Of Train

SEOUL (UPI)—A train carrying school children on an excursion Tuesday lost power on a hill and rolled backwards one mile, slamming into tank cars parked at a railroad station.

Police said at least 16 primary-age children were killed and about 30 others injured.

All Alligators Aren't The Same

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—Scientists say alligators can live either in fresh or salt water, but the fresh water ones eat six times as much as their salt water cousins.

The study, released Tuesday by researchers at Louisiana State University, said fresh water alligators grow stomachs twixe as large as those in salt water, and when salt water alligators are put back into fresh water they get their old appetites back.

Tiburon Studies Safety Rules For Richardson Bay Bike Path

Like a child playing with a new toy but not quite certain what to do with it, the Tiburon City Council last night spent 45 minutes discussing safety rules and controls for its new bicycle path along Richardson Bay. (Another Tiburon City Council story, page 1.)

In an informal, rambling session, councilmen heard that several safety features already have been installed and asked city staff to study others.

Many of the safety features had been suggested by Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood.

City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer said city crews already have: installed guardrails where the path crosses two drainage culverts; put in a temporary barrier at San Rafael Avenue to force cyclists to dismount and walk their bikes across the street; installed a sign asking cyclists not to cross Tiburon Boulevard near Rock Hill Drive to get to the path, and installed signs marking access points.

Councilmen agreed with Balmer that the San Rafael Avenue barriers now in place aren't working and told the city staff to study making them permanent and building a 10-foot fence alongside the path to prevent cyclists from whipping around the barrier and across the street without stopping.

"Then if a cyclist gets hit, we'll feel sorry but not responsible," Balmer said.

Other recommendations of Miss Ellinwood — that "no parking" signs be placed along Tiburon Boulevard near access points to the path and that "bike crossing" signs be placed to warn of crosswalks — were dealth with as well.

Balmer said only the state Division of Highways may install such signs, and that ones prohibiting parking were unnecessary because parking on the shoulder of a state highway such as Tiburon Boulevard is illegal already. He said he has recommended crossing signs be installed by the highways division.

The Tiburon City Council also:

SUBDIVISION — Approved on second reading rezoning of slightly less than an acre at Linda Vista Avenue and Mar East Street from residential to cluster overlay residential.

UNDERGROUND — Agreed to appoint a committee at a later date to study undergrounding of utilities and to conduct a post card survey of residents to determine if they want to participate in an undergrounding district at a cost of approximately $1,500 per house.

AGREEMENT — Approved a joint powers agreement with Belvedere providing for a contribution of up to $14,000 by Belvedere for improvements to the Richardson Bay Pathway.

OPEN SPACE — Heard a report by Planning Director Richard J. Arjo that a conference on open space acquisition is being planned for a date yet to be determined in November.

CLOSED — Went into closed session on selection of a city engineer to replace Ray W. Foreaker, who resigned to become public works director for Marin County.

A Day Of Prayer

Washingon (UPI)—President Nixon has proclaimed Oct. 20 as a national day of prayer for peace and reconcilitation.

Heath Supported On Common Mart

BRIGHTON, England (UPI)—Britain's governing Conservative party lined up overwhelmingly today behind Prime Minister Edward Heath in his bid to take the country into the European Common Market.

As 4,000 delegates assembled for the party's annual rank-and file convention, Conservative party officials said massive endorsement for joining the booming six-nation community is certain.

Plea For Garbage Recycling

"If I don't have garbage, why do I have to have garbage service?"

Michael Humphry of 52 Rosemont Avenue asked that question of the San Anselmo City Council last night. He also asked why a uniformed policeman had to deliver a letter from City Administrator Alfred C. Kaeppel telling him he was in violation of the city ordinance on garbage service. (Another San Anselmo City Council story, page 1.)

At the suggestion of Councilman Lewis W. Stewart, the council referred his first question to the San Anselmo Committee on Ecology to determine a policy concerning those people who recycle organic waste in a compost pile and take nonorganic waste to the dumps.

Mayor Kenneth L. Anderson said he didn't have an answer for the second question but he would look into it.

Humphry said all his garbage is organic except his milk cartons and the foil of his cigarette packages which he says he crushes and takes to the San Quentin Disposal site. He said he recycles the organic waste in a compost pile.

Councilman James F. Reed said, "God knows we are trying to encourage people to recycle," but he added there are good reasons for requiring garbage service.

City Atty. John G. Buresh said as the law presently stands, "This man has to pay for garbage service whether he has an apple core in his garbage can or not."

Anderson said there was a recent California Supreme Court case which upheld the requirement of garbage service.

Stewart said that he has a compost pile too and he would like the ecology committee to solve the problem as quickly as it can.

In the meantime, Humphry was told by the council he will have to pay garbage men to come and look at his empty can.

The San Anselmo City Council also:

DESIGN — Appointed Planning Commissioner Regnvald Bernt Jr. to the Design Review Committee for one year to Sept. 15, 1972.

PARK — Did not set a public hearing for the aquisition of 33 Angela Avenue for a park because the owner Will T. Gordon said he did not want to sell it.

HOUSING — Carried over to Oct. 26 appointing two persons to be city liasons with the Marin County Housing Authority.

FLAG — Set Oct. 22 at 3 p.m. for the dedication of the United Nations flag pole and noted that Dr. Eastman Rockwell who chose the emblem for the flag will speak at 4 p.m. at Alexander Hall at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

DIRECTOR — Announced formally that Lawrence B. Gapinski was hired as the city's part-time recreation director until a permanent director could be hired.

CONTRACT — Carried over to Oct. 26 whether to approve a contract with California Council on Intergovernmental Relations until council has time to ask questions on the contract.

JOB — Put over to Oct. 26 whether to allocate $3,353 to be matched by federal contribution of $30,172 to hire four persons under the Federal Emergency Employment Act of 1971. City Administrator Alfred C. Kaeppel said the city's application had not been approved yet and he wanted to make certain the city would not be bound to retain the persons hired after the expiration of the grant.

NUISANCES — Declared as public nuisances five obstructions in San Anselmo Creek and set Oct. 26 for a public hearing on what action the council will take with regard to the nuisances.

SUBDIVISION — Rejected the map of the Loma Robles subdivision and set Nov. 23 for a public hearing to find out what will be done to the property.

WEEDS — Awarded a contract of $885 to Plant-Gro Corp. of San Jose to spray weeds along the old railroad right of way between the Hub and the San Rafael city limits and the Hub and the Fairfax city limits.

HOLIDAY — Approved the request for miscellaneous employees to observe Friday after Thanksgiving Day as a holiday in lieu of Veterans Day Oct. 25.

COLLEGE — Endorsed the Marin Community College District's Measure A on the Nov. 2 ballot, a $16,760,000 bond issue for construction of the district's Novato campus.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to Oct. 26. The council also scheduled a special session for Oct. 19 at 8 p.m. at the San Francisco Theological Seminary's Lloyd Education Center, Austin Avenue and Kensington Road.

THOMAS STORKE
A crusading editor

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI)—Thomas More Storke, a crusading editor who won a Pulitzer Prize at the age of 85 for his editorials against the John Birch Society, died Tuesday at his home. He was 94.

Storke, a former U.S. senator, bought a small newspaper here in his birthplace at the turn of the century with a borrowed $2,000 and built it into an editorial power in this area.

Publisher of the Santa Barbara News Press since 1901, he won the Pultizer in 1962. He sold the paper in 1964 to Robert McClean.

He believed that an editor's first duty was to his own community but Storke attracted, almost by accident, national attention when he wrote a series of editorials and articles in 1959 on the John Birch Society which he described as "monolithic" and "dictatorial."

A Democrat, he was appointed to the Senate in 1938 by Republican Gov. Frank Merrian to replace William McAdoo, who resigned. Columnist Drew Pearson once wrote of him: "Sen. Storke accomplished more for California in eight weeks than most professional politicos accomplish in eight years."

He was graduated from Stanford, where a classmate was former President Herbert Hoover. Storke later donated $250,000 to the university for a communications school.

Besides the Pulitzer Prize, his editorials against the Birch Society won him the Elijah Lovejoy fellowship "for courageous journalism," the University of Missouri Gold Medal for Outstanding Journalism, and the Lauterbach Award from Harvard's Nieman Foundation "for outstanding work in defense of civil liberties."

A delegate to four national Democratic conventions, Storke was appointed by Gov. Earl Warren to the State Crime Commission and by Gov. Goodwin Knight to the Board of Regents of the University of California.

Memorial services will be held Saturday. Survivors include his widow, Marion, four children, 10 grandchildren, and nine great grandchildren.

Pair Plea Guilt In $6,000 Dupe

Jackie Dickerson, 23, and Carol Reide Simpson, 25, both of San Francisco, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to charges of grand theft.

Miss Dickerson is to be sentenced Nov. 8, Miss Simpson on Nov. 22.

The two were arrested July 2 by Sausalito police who said the pair had duped a Sausalito woman into giving them $6,000 on the pretense they would share with the woman $38,000 they told her they had found.

Court Order Halts Land Firm's Sales

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A temporary court order was issued Tuesday preventing one of California's biggest subdividers, Boise Cascade, from further land sales at four projects.

The order, issued by Judge Robert Cooney in Contra Costa County Superior Court, stopped the Idaho corporation from what authorities termed "unfair and fraudulent business practices" in the selling of plots of ground.

The order was sought by Attorney General Evelle J. Younger and District Attorney William O'Malley.

Four Boise Cascade land promotions sold to the public for about $46 million in the foothills of Calaveras County were cited, but the order was extended to all 18 of the corporation's rural subdivisions in California.

4-Alarm Blaze In Bowling Alley

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Four alarms were sounded Tuesday when a fire swept through a vacant bowling alley on Eddy Street.

Chief Keith Calder who used 185 firemen and 85 pieces of equipment extinguishing the blaze said there was no immediate estimate of damage.

487-Unit Residence Plan Gains Approval

Design of a 487-unit townhouse and fourplex development planned for Kerner and Bellam boulevards was approved unanimously last night by the San Rafael Planning Commission.

Thirty-seven two-story townhouse buildings and 56 fourplex structures would be erected on the property under plans by McKeon Construction. The buildings would be built of wood, stucco, brick and stone.

Kerner-Bellam Realty is owner of the property.

The San Rafael Planning Commission also:

PLAN — Postponed for discussion and recommendation at a later date the proposed preliminary countywide master plan.

YACHT — Recommended to the city council that the commission be entitled to review any property improvements in connection with renewal of a lease held by the San Rafael Yacht Club on city-owned property.

PARKWAY — Despite a request by the city council, declined to revise its earlier recommendation that an extension of Manuel T. Freitas Parkway be two lanes but with provision for future expansion. The council had hoped only for a two-lane extension.

DESIGN — Approved design of a recreational building proposed by Woodside Homes at 61 Novato Street and a storage shed for Clifton McGarr at 146 Jacoby Street.

Council Censors Police Chief For Shooting Remarks

SAN JOSE (UPI) —City councilmen at tumultuous five-hour meeting on Tuesday censored Police Chief Robert B. Murphy because of remarks he made following the fatal shooting of a black chemist.

The action came during a session in which an ad hoc committee of Mexican-Americans and Negroes demanded the suspension of three policemen, one of whom shot chemist John H. Smith on Oct. 19.

Chief Murphy, who came to San Jose from Richmond less than a year ago, had defended the policemen and theorized that Smith might have been "high" on narcotics.

An autopsy showed that was not true.

No action was taken on the demand for the suspension of Officer Rocklin Wooley, who fired the fatal shot.

One Enters Plea To Pot Charge

One of three men arrested in 1970 drug raids in which 150 kilos of marijuana were seized, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of possessing pot for sale.

Jury trial was set for the week of Dec. 6 for Earl James Pitchford, 29, of no known address.

A codefendant, Ellsworth Roy Smith, 24, also of no known address, is to plead to the same charge Monday. A bench warrant, with bail set at $50,000, has been issued for a third defendant, Richard Evans Cannings, 28.

The men were arrested in drug raids last October in houses in Lagunitas and Sleepy Hollow in connection with what drug agents said might have been an operation involving dropping marijuana from planes at night, possibly onto West Marin beaches.

Smith was also arrested in a naroctics raid on a Bolinas residence last week, but no charges have been filed against him — or four others arrested with him — in connection with that case, which is still being investigated, according to the district attorney's office.

700 Acres Of Forest Blackened

KERNVILLE (UPI)—A fire has blackened 700 acres of wilderness area in the Sequoia National Forest about eight miles east of here.

A Forest Service spokesman said the fire in the Dome Lands Wilderness broke out Tuesday. No estimate for control was issued.

Southstate Man Rests After Wreck

Jesus Vallejo Jimanez, 21, of Venice, Los Angeles County, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Community Hospital of Sonoma County with head and back injuries.

Hospital officials said he was injured at about 11:15 p.m. yesterday in an automobile accident on Red Hill Road near the Marin-Sonoma line. Further details were not available.

Marin parking to climb to $16,784.00 per hour.

Just five years ago, you could park in most lots for just a quarter an hour or so. Today you're lucky if it's a dollar. Our research staff has examined this and it appears that, at this quadrupling rate, parking will cost you $16,784.00 an hour by the year 2006. Well, we'd like to point out that we have a swell 250 car parking lot, so at the moment we offer free parking and charge only for our excellent food and drink. (But if our researchers are right, it will be the other way around in 2006. You can bet on that.)

YOU CAN FORGET THE PARKING MONEY TONIGHT, DEAR. WE'RE EATING AT DOMINIC'S.

Council Contests Minutes On Orr

The Fairfax City Council got off to a slow start at its meeting last night when councilmen disagreed on the accuracy of minutes of two previous meetings.

Councilman Francis J. O'Connell started the discussion by charging that a three-part motion — as reported in minutes of an Oct. 4 meeting —to fire Police Chief James R. Orr was actually only a two-part motion.

According to the minutes presented by City Clerk Eileen L. Foster, the council had offered Orr the chance to resign without prejudice, take a polygraph test concerning allegations against him or be subject to immediate dismissal if he refused to do either.

O'Connell said he didn't remember the third part of the motion and Councilman Frank J. Egger agreed, saying "to the best of my knowledge it was a two-part motion."

"If you only had two parts, you would have left it hanging," Councilman Robert R. Souza, the author of the motion, replied, insisting the three parts were correct.

O'Connell also questioned a report in the minutes of a Sept. 13 meeting when the council approved calling for bids for four new city vehicles, first deleting a plan for air conditioning in three passenger cars to be purchased, and later in the meeting reinstating air conditioning in the specifications for the cars.

Other councilmen last night disagreed with O'Connell, insisting that the air conditioning was approved. (The Independent-Journal apparently erred in reporting Sept. 14 that the specifications were approved without air conditioning.)

The council last night did award purchase of the three cars — two police cars and one administrative vehicle — all with air conditioning, to the low bidder, at $8,804, Corte Madera Chrysler-Plymouth Inc.

Purchase of a pickup truck for $2,427 from the low bidder, Isi-Wisnes Inc. of San Rafael, was also approved.

Approval of the minutes was left somewhat up in the air. Councilmen Lee Nelder and Souza voted to approve them and O'Connell voted against approval. Egger said he was voting to approve the minutes of the Oct. 4 meeting and Mayor Cornelis Van Vliet said he wanted to listen to a tape of the Sept. 13 meeting.

The Fairfax City Council also:

ZONING — Set a public hearing for 8 p.m. Dec. 6 on the city's proposed new zoning ordinance. The move came at the request of a citizen's group, which wanted an earlier date and which hope to have Marin Town and Country Club zoned commercial--recreational and prevent its development for apartment housing.

CITY HALL — Continued to its next regular meeting, Nov. 8, a report by the planning commission on its objections to plans for city hall remodeling.

LEAK — On the advice of City Atty. Wallace S. Myers, took no action on a suggestion by Randall L. Garrison of 35 Canyon Road that the councilmen submit to polygraph tests to determine who committed the "overt, despicable" act of leaking council plans, formulated in secret council meetings, to fire Police Chief James R. Orr.

AUTHORITY — Took no action following a listing of several actions which O'Connell said indicated the council might be "abdicating its authority" to the city administrator.

BIDS — Awarded a $26,431 contract to low bidder W. R. Forde Co. for the city's 1971 street resurfacing project.

COLLEGE — Endorsed the Marin Community College District's Measure A, a $16,760,000 bond issue on the Nov. 2 ballct.

POOL TABLES — Tabled until more information could be obtained from the parks and recreation commission on a request by the commission that pool tables in Fairfax Pavilion be declared surplus and sold.

BRIDGE — Approved a concept presented by City Eng. Ben C. Albritton and directed Albritton to prepare plans and specifications for bids for reconstruction of a bridge at Bridge Court.

EMPLOYMENT — Approved city participation in a federal emergency employment program under which the city will hire a parks maintenance man and the federal government will pay 90 per cent of his salary, with the city paying the other 10 per cent.

PERMIT — Approved an encroachment permit for Stevan J. Darwin to construct a carport at 70 Oak Road.

PICKUP — Heard Mayor Van Vliet announce that Fairfax Garbage Disposal Company's annual fall free pickup of debris will be on the company's regular routes Nov. 1-5.

COUNTY — Voted support for plans by the county to rezone, with lower density requirements, lands northwest of the Fairfax city limits.

Innocent Plea To Drug Charges

Jerry R. Guyer, 30, of Petaluma, pleaded innocent yesterday in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court to charges of possession of dangerous drugs and narcotics paraphrenalia.

A preliminary hearing was set for Oct. 22 at 3 p.m. by Judge Alexander J. McMahon. Guyer was arrested Sept. 16 when police searched his car after serving him with a warrant for a traffic violation.

50 Pct. Pay Hike For Bridge Board Proposed

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A 50 per cent pay hike for Golden Gate Bridge District directors has been proposed in new amendments to legislation formerly written to create multicounty sanitation districts.

The hike, at an annual cost of at least $21,600 for the 18 directors, was introduced by Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, at the request of the district's $20,000-a-year lobbyist, Gordon Garland.

The lobbyist's authority to seek the pay hike, however, was not clear — since it never has been discussed publicly by bridge directors.

Coauthoring the Knox measure were both of Marin's legislators, Sen. Peter H. Behr and Assemblyman William T. Bagley, both R-San Rafael. Both said their signatures on the bill had been sought by Garland.

Bridge district directors are paid $50 a meeting, whether it be a committee or full board meeting, and the current maximum annual pay is $2,400. Knox's bill (AB 1783) would raise the ceiling to $3,600 on all but the board president, who would have no ceiling.

(Several district directors who attend many of the meetings have complained that they reached the $2,400 ceiling months before the end of the year, thus get no compensation for the time-consuming meetings toward the end of the year.)

Knox's local government committee will hear his bill at 1:45 p.m. tomorrow in Room 2133 of the Capitol.

Pleads Innocent To Pot Charge

Ross E. Wiltsey, 19, of Petaluma, pleaded innocent yesterday to a charge of possession of marijuana in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon scheduled a preliminary hearing for Oct. 29 at 2 p.m. Wiltsey was arrested Oct. 4 after police who stopped his car on a traffic violation said they found marijuana in his possession.

Supervisors May Act In Book Case

A controversial book, which a San Rafael High School teacher wants to use in her classes, drew criticism from the Marin County supervisors yesterday. (See story, page 1.)

The supervisors, however, decided that the use of the book, "The Movement Toward a New America," should be determined by the San Rafael Board of Education and not by the county supervisors. (The Board of Education was to decide last night.)

Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste, who had not read the book, declared: "I think this is a matter for the board of education, not the supervisors."

Supervisor Michael Wornum, who leafed through the book, found it "disgusting." He agreed with Baptiste that the school board should act on it. "If they don't, then perhaps we might take it up again next week," said Wornum.

Susan Tennler of Greenbrae, lieutenant governor of United Republicans of California, asked the county supervisors to take a stand against the book.

"The book is a manifesto for revolution and is maliciously being used to shape the minds of the school children," Mrs. Tennler said.

Supervisors Louis H. Baar, John F. McInnis and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. agreed that the book is objectionable and unfit for school reading.

The 752-page book is interspersed with four-letter words and contains reprints from the underground press.

Virginia Franklin, teacher at San Rafael High School, had introduced the book in her American government course.

Loophole In Grading, Digging Law Probed

The Marin County Administrator and the public works director will review the county's Grading and Excavation Ordinance to see what can be done about plugging loopholes that permit bulldozers to tear up West Marin hills.

The request for a review of the ordinance, last revised in 1962, came yesterday from Marin County Board of Supervisors on complaints by citizens of West Marin.

Jerry Friedman, chairman of the Environmental Action Committee of West Marin, charged that bulldozers are gouging out roads in West Marin, usually on weekends when it is difficult to contact the county Department of Public Works to stop the bulldozing.

Friedman said that during the past weekend a bulldozer had gouged out 1,500 feet of roadway on a 300-acre ranch in Inverness, owned by David S. Adams and Son Inc. The road was graded from the end of Sunnyside Drive, east of Paradise Ranch Estates.

Irving L. Schwartz, engineer in the Department of Public Works, went to the ranch on Sunday and presented the bulldozer operator with a stop-work order. Schwartz said the excavation violated several provisions of the county's ordinance.

Friedman charged that the developers who violate the ordinance usually come out ahead because, once the grading is done, the county merely orders the road improved and culverts installed. "So in a way, the developers are encouraged to violate the excavation ordinance."

Anne West of Inverness declared that weekend bulldozing is causing siltation of Tomales Bay. "Unless we act now, planning will go by the board."

Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. called for a revision of the county's Grading and Excavation Ordinance.

"A section of the Uniform Building Code is much more severe than our excavation ordinance," Arrigoni said. "That points out the weakness of our code."

Engineer Schwartz said that exemptions allowed in the excavation ordinance are too broad and need tightening. One example is that excavations are exempt if they are for "agricultural purposes."

Study Sought For Acupuncture

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—American medicine should begin an "active research investigation" of the Chinese needle treatment used in the far east for centuries for a wide variety of ailments, the president of the San Francisco Medical Society believes.

Dr. Paul Scholten admits that Chinese physicians don't know how the treatment, called acupuncture, works, but suggests serious study of the method. Treatment consists of inserting slender needles at various points in the body, relieving pain and other problems.

"This is surely not a ridiculous suggestion," Scholten wrote in the current issue of the society's bulletin. "In the past many valuable drugs have been adopted from the herbals of folk-healers, including quinine, morphine, ephedrine, cocaine."

Supervisors Defer Ruling On Borders

No major change is needed in the existing supervisorial districts in Marin, County Administrator John F. Barrows reported yesterday.

Barrows recommended that existing boundaries be retained except for minor changes, but the supervisors postponed a decision until Oct. 26 at the request of Supervisor John F. McInnis.

McInnis said he wanted to study the existing boundaries, but did not elaborate.

At present, McInnis's District 1 has 21.20 per cent of the county's total population. Other districts and percentage of population are:

District 2 (Peter R. Arrigoni Jr.) 18.88 per cent; district 3 (Michael Wornum) 22.87 per cent; district 4 (Louis H. Baar) 17.65 per cent; and district 5 (Arnold M. Baptiste) 19.41 per cent.

Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

SIGNALS — Asked Public Works Director Ray W. Foreaker Jr. to see if he can induce the state Division of Highways to install a traffic signal on Bridgeway at the exit from Marin City.

STOP SIGN — Ordered stop signs to half traffic along Blackfield Drive at the Karen Way intersection, near Reedland Woods School.

McNEAR BEACH — Authorized an engineering fee of up to $6,500 to be paid Dan Coleman Associates to draw up plans for connecting the McNear Beach sewer system to the San Rafael Sanitation District.

ROAD — Refused the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce's request to consider north-south routes between San Anselmo and San Rafael because the matter will come up in the public hearings of the City-County Planning Council on the general plan for Marin.

FINE — Approved a resolution raising the fine for parking in the supervisors' parking place at the Civic Center from $2 to $5.

HEARING — Set Oct. 26 for a public hearing on the exchange of property by the Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation in Kentfield and Ross on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and set Nov. 2 as a public hearing to change the name of Via del Vista street in Inverness.

TRIAL COST — Disagreed with a letter of Oct. 7 from Superior Court Judge Henry J. Broderick accusing them of making "political capital" out of the Angela Davis and Ruchell Magee trial expense. The supervisors said they were not being critical of the judges obliged to follow the law in approving heavy defense expenditures. "It's unfortunate Judge Broderick has taken that attitude," said Louis H. Baar.

FAIR PUBLICITY — Credited "fantastic press coverage," particularly by the Independent-Journal, for success of the 1971 Marin County Fair, which, Asst. County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella reported, broke previous fair attendance records.

PARK SERVICE — At the request of Tiburon City Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood resolved to ask the National Park Service not to move its Western Service Center from San Francisco to Denver, agreeing with Miss Ellinwood that the economy move by the service would make it difficult for Marin County to keep in close personal touch with park officials on national park plans such as those for Point Reyes National Seashore.

Mayor Says Courthouse Land Should Become A Park Plaza

San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini told the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday that the courthouse property in downtown should be used as a park plaza and should have no new buildings constructed on the site.

The mayor's remarks came as he asked the board if an agreement could be worked out so the city could purchase the land.

Bettini said there are already enough commercial buildings in the downtown section and the city needs the land for a park.

Supervisor Michael Wornum calling the downtown section a "schlocky area" said a park would be like an oasis and would give the downtown area character. He also asked County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney if the county could stipulate in the deed agreement that the property would be used for open space. Maloney said it could.

Chairman Louis H. Baar directed the county staff to begin work on an agreement between the county and the city for a mutually suitable price on the land.

County Administrator John F. Barrows said the county is asking $800,000, while Bettini said something in the neighborhood of $500,000 would be acceptable to the city.

The mayor said the city would have to buy the land on a long-term purchase agreement because it could not afford to pay cash all at once.

Judge Jumps To His Death

BANGKOK (UPI)—The chief judge of the court of appeals Tuesday opened a window on the third floor of the court building and jumped.

While Judge Siri Klampasuth, 56, lay dying on the pavement below for 10 minutes, other judges in the room continued their work.

They said later they thought the judge had opened the window to get some fresh air.

The motive for the suicide was not determined, but colleagues said Siri had been passed over the day before in the appointment of judges to higher positions.

China's No. 2 Man Said Dead

HONG KONG (UPI)—The Hong Kong Times, quoting a recent arrival from Kwangchow, said today that Lin Piao, Communist China's no. 2 man, died before September.

The right-wing Chinese daily article quoted an unnamed Chinese businessman as saying, "Lin Piao died before the end of September from an illness. However, the announcement is being withheld for fear of civil war erupting."

Lin's death will be announced only after the leaders decide on their next step, the Hong Kong Times said.

Couple Claims 150 Illegal Horses

A San Rafael couple charged in Marin Superior Court yesterday that there are 100 to 150 horses being illegally kept in San Rafael.

The charge came in a hearing before Judge Henry J. Broderick as Edward K. and Karen S. Wachsman continued their two-and-a-half-year battle to keep their horses in their backyard at 50 Palm Avenue.

The Wachsmans are asking Judge Broderick to reverse a May 4 decision of the San Rafael City Council denying them a permit to keep an Arabian horse and Shetland pony in their residential neighborhood.

Mrs. Wachsman yesterday presented the judge with a chamber of commerce map of San Rafael on which she had marked 26 areas of the city in which she said horses were being kept without city permits.

Although Mrs. Wachsman's list did not contain the names of the owners or the addresses of most of the areas she had marked on the map, among specific parcels were 120 Locust Avenue, owned by Boris H. Lakusta; 99 Junipera Serra, owned by William Parnow, and 54 San Pablo Avenue, owned by Edward Scettrini.

Her husband testified that he had discussed these allegedly illegal horses with San Rafael Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner, but Hotchner had told him, Wachsman said, that he was "only involved with enforcing complaints, not finding violations" of the city's ordinance governing the keeping of animals.

The ordinance requires a permit and sets regulations concerning the keeping of certain animals — including horses — in San Rafael.

Wachsman further charged that Hotchner had told him during a conversation Sept. 10, 1970, that he had been instructed by "members of the city council" to deny Wachsman's permit.

Hotchner took the stand to deny he had said that. As for enforcing the ordinance, he said he has looked at some of the areas the Wachsmans claim horses are being kept, and he has not been able to see any.

He did see two horses on property north of the Marin Civic Center, he said, and has written the property owners advising them of the law. But, he added, he knew of no other illegal horses in the city.

The Wachsmans' attorney, Alvin H. Goldstein Jr., told the judge "This ordinance has been enforced only against the Wachsmans and one other family. Everybody else keeps horses."

The judge ordered Goldstein and San Rafael City Atty. Fred C. Robbins Jr. to submit written briefs on the case and took it under submission.

Mr. and Mrs. Wachsman charge that the council's May 4 action was not based on sufficient evidence and that the city is not uniformly enforcing the ordinance.

The May 4 decision was the second time in six months that the council had overturned a San Rafael Planning Commission decision favoring the granting of a permit.

The battle, involving the Wachsmans, some of their neighbors and the city, has been raging since December 1968 when neighbors complained the animals' quarters were not being cleaned daily and created an unpleasant odor.

Wachsman was found guilty in Marin Municipal Court in 1969 of keeping a horse and pony at his home without a city permit. Last year Municipal Court Judge Peter Allen Smith ordered Wachsman to remove the animals or face a 30-day jail sentence. Wachsman removed the horses, but pursued his battle to keep them.

Man Arraigned On Deadly Weapon Count

Mark D. Souza, 32, was arraigned yesterday in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon set bail at $25,000 and scheduled Souza to enter a plea tomorrow. Souza was arrested Monday after allegedly stabbing his estranged wife, Carolyn, 21, with a knife during an argument at her home at 101 Burlington Drive, Petaluma.

120-Day Sentence Is Given

A 26-year-old Ross man has been sentenced to 120 days in jail for drunken driving.

Judge Robert A. Smallman of Marin Municipal Court handed out the sentence Friday to David Searls True of 55 Fallen Leaf Road.

True was arrested April 13 after his car failed to make a turn on the Highway 17 approach to Highway 101, and the car spun off the road and flipped over.

A report prepared by the probation department indicated True had a past involvement with alcohol and drugs, and Deputy Probation Officer William G. Breaw recommended that he be placed on probation for two years and ordered to seek treatment at Center Point in San Rafael.

True was "badly in need of psychological and psychiatric help," the probation officer said.

His report revealed that True was arrested Sept. 1 for being drunk in public and Sept. 4 for petty theft from a Mill Valley supermarket. He has a theft charge still pending in Nevada County.

Twenty-three other persons have been sentenced by Judge Smallman for drunken driving.

Sentenced last Tuesday were:

Jo Ann Benzing, 29, of San Franicsco, arrested Aug. 4 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $250.

John Franklin Patterson, 38, of 24 Davenport Court, San Rafael, arrested July 15 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $302.

Troy Flynn Thrash, 19, of Vallejo, arrested Oct. 1 in Sausalito, placed on probation for one year and fined $150.

Frederick August Cellarius, Jr., 40, of 25 Stetson Avenue, Kentfield, arrested Sept. 30 on Highway 101 without a drivers license, placed on probation for one year, fined $250 and ordered not to drive until he got a license.

Sentenced last Wednesday were:

Theodora Elizabeth Boyland, 43, of Rancho Cordova, Sacramento County, arrested July 24 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $200.

Charles Anderson McInerney, 42, of 529 Browning Street, Mill Valley, arrested June 30 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $240.

James Gene Ewer, 48, of 10 Gardner Street, Mill Valley, arrested Aug. 13 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $250.

Thomas Deveuve Cagwin, 38, of 47 South Oak Avenue, San Anselmo, arrested Aug. 21 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $250.

Menzo Johannes Kellenbach, 53, of 713 Alice Street, Novato, arrested April 9 in San Rafael, placed on probation for one year and fined $360.

George William Robertson, 49, of Los Angeles, arrested Aug. 25 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $302.

Roland Leslie Hughes, 36, of 165 Cobblestone Drive, San Rafael, arrested July 22 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $250.

Cranford Lee Hill, 29, of 209 Drake Avenue, Marin City, arrested July 27 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $250.

Robert Beekman Rockwell, 49, of San Francisco, arrested Oct. 1 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $250.

Sentenced Thursday were:

Kathleen Westermeyer, 45, of San Francisco, arrested July 22 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $250.

Jason Shirley Nobles Jr., 30, of Hamilton Air Force Base, arrested Oct. 3 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $200.

Vernon Jerome Mathwig, 52, of Santa Rosa, arrested March 29 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $175.

John Henry Lucas, 23, of 81 Hazel Avenue, Larkspur, arrested Aug. 30 in Corte Madera, placed on probation for one year and ordered to work 10 days for Larkspur Parks and Recreation Department.

Jack Aldo O'Keefe, 43, of 275 Montezuma Street, Forest Knolls, arrested Aug. 31 on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, placed on probation for one year and ordered to work 80 hours for the Larkspur Parks and Recreation Department.

Ronald Campbell Ross, 36, of 133 Tamal Vista Drive, San Rafael, arrested Aug. 27 in San Rafael, placed on probation for one year and ordered to work 10 days for Larkspur Parks and Recreation Department.

Gary Alan Spence, 35, of 11 Plaza Drive, Mill Valley, arrested Oct. 3 on East Blithedale Avenue, placed on probation for one year and fined $302.

Thomas Daniel Bradford, 38, of San Francisco, arrested Sept. 30 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and ordered to work 80 hours for Larkspur Parks and Recreation Department.

Robert Homer Oates, 57, of San Jose arrested Oct. 4 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $302.

Land Feud Civil Suits Are Settled

Civil suits arising from a long standing feud between two Tiburon neighbors were settled yesterday, but who won — if anybody — remained unclear.

The suits had been filed early last year against each other by James L. and Claire Green of 2300 Vista Del Mar Lane and Nathaniel and Violet Marans of 2310 Spanish Trail Lane.

The Greens had originally sought $75,000 in damages and the Maranses sought $5,660. Both figures were later changed, but Judge Thomas F. Keating yesterday ruled that neither party would collect anything:
sought $5,660. Both figures were later changed, but Judge Thomas F. Keating yesterday ruled that neither party would collect anything.

The judge ordered that the property line between the couples' properties be one set by San Rafael surveyor Eugene Lockton in 1961 and staked out by order of the judge by Lockton this year; that both sides pay the costs of their suits as well as $220 each for Lockton's staking job.

James Murray, attorney for the Greens, called the judge's decision an "absolute, total victory" for his clients.

But William O. Weissich, who represented the Maranses, scoffed and said the Maranses won the dispute on the property line.

"We don't care about the line he's talking about," Murray said on Weissich's contention that the court-established line was right where the Maranses always said it was.

Murray said Lockton's survey showed that his clients had been correct in that a shorter line between the two properties fell in the center of two stakes placed by the Maranses to support an arbor on their property.

Thus, Murray, said, the Greens' contention that the stakes encroached into their property was correct.

The two couples had carried on a feud for several years, marked by ripped out fence posts, vines and a tree, water fights and lights shining at each other's homes.

They never agreed on what started the feud or when it began.

Marans said the disagreements started in 1967 after Mrs. Marans was a witness in a misdemeanor case against Green.

But the Greens maintained the dispute arose in 1965 when Green wanted to put up a fence between the properties.

Green spent 10 days in Marin County Jail after being found guilty in April 1970 of wielding a fence post against Marans in November 1969.

Medina Resignation Approved By Army

FT. McPHERSON, Ga. (UPI) —A Third Army spokesman said Tuesday that Capt. Ernest L. Medina's "unqualified resignation" has been approved and he should receive his honorable discharge shortly.

The exact date Medina will leave the service after 16 years will be up to the captain, the spokesman said.

BURGLAR-FIRE ALARM WHIZ-KID FOR HIRE

I am the most advanced burglar alarm system anyone has ever created. People call me an electronics wonder. I stand guard over your home, apartment, or small business 24 hours a day and my protection is foolproof. You program me like a computer. If I see an intruder, I frighten him away . . . awake you and or silently call the police and bring them on the run too. I also will warn you at fire and smoke. I'm most attractive and, since I just plug-in, you can move me around easily. Recently, I've starred on national television (ABC, NBC and CBS Network TV shows), and in many national magazines. My name is Preventor II. Best part — I cost just a fraction of those old-fashioned wired burglar alarm systems. I want to protect your loved ones, so please give me an interview. For a no-obligation demonstration.

ANYWAY, IT WAS THATAWAY

In all the rush of getting ready to hold the Marin County Fair at the Marin Civic Center for the first time, neither sign painters nor county officials noticed this little spelling difficulty until after the fair closed Monday. The sign stands at the North San Pedro Road offramp from Highway 101.

Schools May Need A Tax Hike

Told that "we're at the bottom of our reserves," the Petaluma Board of Education indicated last night a tax increase election may be necessary in the elementary district.

Business Mgr. George W. Castleberry said the district could run out of money because expenses were projected to run $23,000 higher than expected and that revenue might be $23,000 lower than hoped.

Castleberry said dwindling enrollment has reduced state revenue and that the elementary district has had to pay out more tuition money than expected for seventh and eighth graders in the high school district.

Castleberry said that if no additional sources of income are found, the board will have to cult next year's elementary district budget by $100,000.

He said the high school district expenditures are expected to be $29,000 higher than planned, but that reserves of $50,000 are still available.

The Petaluma Board of Education also:

DRUGS — Heard a report on a new drug abuse guide to be given to faculty members as an aid in dealing with drug related problems. On a 3-2 vote, the board delayed approval pending more public discussion at the Oct. 26 meeting.

ADDITION — Awarded a $290,500 construction contract for a six-classroom addition to Rancho Cotate High School to Francis Construction Co. of Santa Rosa, the lowest of nine bidders.

WAGES — Heard a delegation of the Petaluma branch of American Federation of Teachers urge the board to ignore the national wage and price freeze and to grant pay increases. The board said the Sonoma County Counsel's office advised against the raises and suggested the group file a lawsuit to test the decision.

GRANT SCHOOL — Heard a delegation of parents of Grant School students protest the curtailment of bus transportation. The board said all busing within the city limits had been cut back to reduce operating expenses.

Townhouse Cutback Urged By Plan Aide

A planning consultant to the Town of Corte Madera last night recommended that developers of a massive townhouse proposal trim the number of units from 630 to 535.

In a preliminary report on the proposed Meadowsweet Station development, planner Thomas Cooke of Sedway and Cooke of San Francisco, also recommended that the ridgelands around the development remain untouched.

According to Town Mgr. Ronald E. Bartels, the report to the planning commission was incomplete since detailed information on the development had not beensupplied the consultant until last week.

He said the commission continued the public hearing to Nov. 3 at a location to be announced.

Last night's report on the development, proposed for the area east of Highway 101 and south of the Koch luggage plant, came on the heels of a protest petition signed by 276 persons.

That petition, circulated among east side residents living near the site, said there is "unconditional opposition" to the development's planned intersection at the end of El Camino Drive.

The intersection, traffic pattern, expected increases in police and fire protection requirements and general design of the development were all protested by residents at an earlier public hearing.

The Corte Madera Planning Commission Also:

ZONING — Recommended the town council reduce the size requirement for planned unit development zones from 25 acres to one acre.

REZONING — Denied an application from W. F. Riley of Mill Valley for rezoning of nine parcels of property on Paradise Drive from single-family residential to medium-density multiple-unit zoning. Riley had proposed 42 apartment units on the property opposite the Upland Apartments.

HOUSING ELEMENT — Set Nov. 8 at 7:30 p.m. for a special meeting to discuss the town's proposed housing element to the general plan. Such an "element" is required by law if the town is to continue receiving state and federal grants.

HOME OCCUPATION — Postponed to a joint meeting with the town council discussion of the town's policy on home occupation permits and design review on substandard lots. That meeting is set for Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at town hall.

SIDEWALK — Approved the design of a sidewalk at the Corte Madera Post Office. The action was initiated by an elderly resident who wrote the postmaster general complaining about the lack of a sidewalk.

PREFABS — Denied design approval for a three-unit prefabricated building at Paradise and El Camino drives. The vacant lot, owned by Donald Presley of San Rafael, is under consideration by town officials as a park site.

San Rafael Man To Rehab Center

George Edward Myers, 24, of San Rafael, was committed yesterday to the California Rehabilitation Center at Corona for drug addiction treatment.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court made the commitment after reviewing doctors' reports indicating that Meyers was either a narcotics addict or in immiment danger of becoming one.

Myers pleaded guilty last month 10 burglarizing the residence of William Savage of 4 Knight Drive, San Rafael, on July 28.

Merchants Grumble On Sign Laws

"There is a rising tide of discontent with the San Rafael sign ordinance," chairman Walter Zurcher reported after today's meeting of the Downtown San Rafael Merchants Committee.

A committee, including businessmen from all parts of the city, is organizing to discuss sign restrictions with the city planning commission, Zurcher said. Chairman of the group is Robert Kunst, Terra Linda painting contractor.

Zurcher also reported the downtown merchants will confer with City Mgr. James H. McCown on operation of additional parking spaces to be installed after the final vestiges of the old Courthouse are cleared away.

To be decided is whether merchants will validate parking in the 147 proposed spaces or whether they will be metered.

Zurcher said the parking area will be temporarily paved, pending final decision on development of Courthouse Square.

Carpet manufacturers shipped more than 335 million square yards of carpets and rugs in the first six months of 1971.

Aqueduct Will Bring Too Much Growth, Sonoma Coalition Says

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors yesterday heard criticism of the Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct, which was termed a project that would encourage too much growth.

Iva Warner, chairman of the Sonoma County Coalition, told the board her newly formed group opposes the aqueduct plan and requested a full public hearing be held on it.

Supervisor Philip L. Joerger of Petaluma said the board refused the hearing request, saying several hearings were held last year before the board approved the sale of $115 million in revenue bonds to finance the project.

Joerger said board members indicated they would take the same course of action were the subject to be reconsidered.

Marin County voters will go to the polls Nov. 2 to consider a measure that would permit the Marin Municipal Water District to contract with the Sonoma County Water Agency to build the aqueduct.

Miss Warner said her group was concerned that if Marin voters turn down the measure and the county withdraws from the plan, increased growth will come to Sonoma County and endanger the environment.

Joerger said the board told Miss Warner that the water agency is not directly concerned with growth control and that planning in that area rests with individual cities and the Sonoma County Local Agency Formation Commission.

Life Urged For Coast Chamber

Marin Coast Chamber of Commerce members decided last night to keep the organization alive, after a discussion of the chamber's future during their monthly meeting in Point Reyes Station.

Chamber Pres. James E. Stevens reported that Michael Gahagan was appointed chairman of a nomination committee to present a slate at the Nov. 9 meeting.

The chamber voted a letter of thanks to the state Highway Department for installing new street lights in the Stinson Beach area along Highway 1.

CHARLES E. SMITH

Editor From Watts Will Give Talk

Charles E. Smith, editor of the newsletter "The Voice of Watts" will discuss street agitators in his community Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Edgewater Inn in Corte Madera.

Sponsored by the John Birch Society, the lecture will be followed by the showing of a film titled "Anarchy, USA."

Smith is a native of Pittsburgh and moved to Los Angeles in 1960. There he claims to have been a former member of several subversive organizations. He began publishing his newsletter in 1968.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting the American Opinion Library, 501 B Street, San Rafael.

Cause Of Death Is Reported

I-J Special Report

PHOENIX — The death of former Marin resident Eugene R. Wallace was due to a self-inflicted gunshot wound, a coroner's jury has ruled after an inquest here.

Wallace, 41-year-old former general manager of the Peacock Gap Country Club in San Rafael, died Sept. 7.

He was manager of the country club for about five years and left his post in January to move to Phoenix.

His home in Marin was in San Anselmo.

Planning Panel Chairman Quits

Paul A. Oatis Jr., chairman of the Novato Planning Commission, has submitted his resignation from that commission.

Oatis has served on the commission for the past 23 months and as chairman during the last year.

"Due to personal reasons, I will not be able to devote the time and effort necessary to fulfill this appointment," Oatis wrote to Mayor Joseph D. Gargiulo.

He said that while his viewpoint on some items has differed with some of the city council and planning commission members, he felt he had tried to do what he considered was just and fair.

Oatis's letter was on the agenda of the Novato City Council meeting last night, but was deferred to the council's adjourned meeting next Tuesday.

Plead Innocent To Battery

Two youths pleaded innocent yesterday in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court to charges of battery on a peace officer and disturbing the peace.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon set preliminary hearings for Catherine McClean, 18, of San Rafael, and Arthur M. Farmer, 18, of no known address, for Oct. 22 at 2 p.m. Miss McClean was released on her own recognizance and Farmer was held in lieu of $2,000 bail.

They were arrested Sunday when Petaluma officer Dolph Camilli said they kicked him as he tried to quell a noisy disturbance at 415-A Kentucky Street.

Lagunital Sets Vacancy Election

The Lagunitas School District board has set an election for Jan. 11 to fill a vacant seat on the board.

Trustee Eugene G. DiBasilio resigned last month for business reasons.

The board asked Supt. William E. Johnson to write a field trip policy from the suggestions of the teaching staff, and to apply for federal funds to pay a guidance counsellor.

NEW SENATE DISTRICT LINES

A highly partisan reapportionment plan to fix the political complexion of the state Senate for the 1970s has been drafted by upper house Democrats. Not surprisingly, it would favor Democrats. It promptly was scored by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, as "the finest flowering of gerrymandering." His district, now only Marin, Napa and Solano counties, would stretch almost 200 miles north into Shasta County and other valley agricultural areas. The plan also would extend the two joint at-large San Francisco senatorial districts into Marin, giving Marin three districts splitting 20 of the county's local districts. The plan is headed for a tough Senate floor fight, and faces a possible veto by the governor if it fails to meet Republican objections.

Medal Received 26 Years Later

CHAPMANVILLE, W.Va. (UPI)—Robert F. Ellis, 49, received an award for World War II heroism Monday, 26 years after he was recommended for the honor.

In Germany in 1945, Ellis resuced wounded men in his company while under heavy enemy fire. His platoon leader recommended him for the Bronze Star, but was killed several days later.

Ellis was evacuated to a hospital in England and the papers on his medal recommendation were lost on the battlefield.

U.S. Rep. Ken Hechler, D-W. Va., a military historian and author by profession, met Ellis several months ago, and decided to put him in for the long neglected honor.

After some research, Hechler said he "concluded that here was one West Virginian who certainly deserved to be honored for his heroism."

Antiwar Show May Go To Viet

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Jane Fonda plans to take her antiwar road show to Asia and hopes to entertain American troops stationed in South Vietnam.

Miss Fonda told a news conference Monday the cast will leave Nov. 24 for performances in the Philippines, Okinawa and Japan, and South Vietnam if they can get permission to enter that country.

"We have made a formal request to President Nixon that he permit us entry into South Vietnam to entertain the troops stationed there for Christmas," she said.

A Thank You Note To Hughes

RENO, Nev. (UPI)—Dean George Smith of the University of Nevada School of Medical Sciences and the school's 30 medical students have sent thank-you telegrams to Howard Hughes.

University regents were told Friday that Hughes soon would send $300,000 to the medical school. The billionaire had pledged to fund a University of Nevada medical school for 20 years, at a maximum of $300,000 a year. But when the school opened last month, Hughes' money had not arrived. Guarantees Friday it would be paid were the first real confirmation.

Anyone Can Cook Vegetables

Most people assume that anyone can cook vegetables — and it's true. But to help you cook vegetables properly and tastily, here are a few hints.

The best all-round way to cook fresh or frozen vegetables is covered in a small amount of boiling salted water until just crisp and tender.

Use just enough water to prevent sticking. Bring the water to a quick boil, then lower the flame and simmer gently until done.

When they are finished cooking, if there is too much liquid to serve with the vegetables, you used too much water.

The tops of carrots, beets, turnips and parsnips should be cut off before the vegetables are stored. Tops draw the moisture and food value from the roots, leaving them wilted and limp.

Wash leafy vegetables such as spinach just before cooking. Add no water, enough clings to the leaves from washing to cook them.

Cauliflower will cook whiter if a piece of lemon is added during cooking.

Add a little milk to the water in which you boil potatoes — it not only improves flavor, but prevents potatoes from turning dark.

Bar Cookies Are Among The Best Mail Travelers

Like people, some baked goodies take to traveling better than others. Bar cookies are among the best travelers to both domestic and distant overseas locations.

The length of the journey and destination make a difference in the type of packaging used. Heavy corrugated boxes are convenient and satisfactory for most normal mail handling within the country. It is essential to use metal containers sealed air-tight as possible if the package is being sent to a tropical climate. Also, it's advisable to send several small packages under five pounds rather than one large package.

TO CUSHION the cookies for their trip choose from excelsior, shredded paper, crumpled paper napkins, paper toweling or waxed paper. Unbuttered popcorn, a popular filler for domestic mailing, is not recommended for overseas mailing since it absorbs odors and moisture. But if it is used, a note should be included warning that it should not be eaten because it might cause illness.

If using a corrugated box, line it with foil or plastic film; this is not essential for metal cans. Wrap four to six of the same size cookies together, in foil, plastic wrap or plastic bags and seal securely with freezer tape. Place the heaviest cookies on the bottom and layer the wrapped cookies with cushiony material.

Outer wrappings are equally important, especially for overseas mailing. Use plain heavy paper — the kind used for grocery bags.

PRINT THE address clearly. Use permanent ink or cover the printing with clear plastic tape or colorless nail polish. Be sure to mark the package "perishable — food" with the hope that it will receive more rapid and careful handling.

Fourth class mail should be satisfactory for short domestic trave; air mail is best for longer distances and for overseas shipment.

And now a few precautions about what foods to mail:

Bar and drop cookies are best travelers. Oatmeal cookies are excellent.

Fruit in the cookies help keep them soft.

Brownies can usually be relied on to arrive in fresh and tasty condition.

Sweetbreads Ideal For A Grand Dinner

With sweetbreads almondine on the menu, put fresh flowers on the table, light the candles and pretend you are dining out in a fine French restaurant.

Devotees of sweetbreads are legion, yet many people have never tried them. The most elegant of the variety meats, sweetbreads are usually the thymus gland (also called neck or throat sweetbreads) of lamb or veal or other young beef.

In some areas, the term sweetbreads may also be used to refer to the pancreas (or stomach sweetbreads), but these are generally considered inferior. The sweetbreads of lamb and veal have the characteristic "white" color of true veal (beef from four to 14 weeks old); beef sweetbreads are redder in color and less tender.

Many homemakers shy away from sweetbreads because they don't know how to prepare them or because they think sweetbreads are difficult and time-consuming to prepare. Traditionally, they require long soaking; however, the method in this recipe for sweetbreads almondine is an efficient shortcut. Essentially, it's a matter of parboiling the sweetbreads, trimming them, sauteing bite-size pieces in butter or margarine, then serving them in a cream sauce with minced parsley and toasted slivered almonds over triangles of toast.

While the sweetbreads are simmering, toast the almonds: Spread them evenly in a single layer in a dry, shallow pan, then place them in a 300-degree oven for about 15 minutes or until they begin to turn color.

SWEETBREADS ALMONDINE

1½ lbs. sweetbreads
Water
2 to 3 tablespoons lemon juice
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup flour
1½ cups milk
⅔ cup cream
1 tablespoon apple jelly (optional)
¼ to ½ teaspoon white pepper
½ cup minced parsley
⅔ cup toasted slivered almonds
Toast triangles

Rinse sweetbreads in cold water; combine with water to cover, one tablespoon lemon juice and 1 teaspoon salt in large saucepan. Simmer 15 minutes; drain and plunge into cold water. Cut away any tough membrane or tubes, then cut sweetbreads into bite-size pieces.

Melt butter in saucepan; add sweetbreads, brown lightly and remove from pan. Blend four into remaining butter; stir in milk, cream, apple jelly, pepper and remaining lemon juice and salt. Stir over medium heat until mixture thickens and comes to boil. Stir in sweetbreads, parsley and one half cup almonds; heat through. Place in serving dish; sprinkle with remaining almonds.

Highlight Of Fashion Show Will Be 'Childhood Cookies'

SWIRLING FROTHY egg white cookie dough into a peak with two spoons, Mary Avilla of Tiburon demonstrates technique for making suspiros cookies, which delighted her "as a sweet-toothed child."

Cookies remembered from her childhood on St. George Island, Azores Islands, Portugal will be served with coffee by Mrs. Victor Avilla of Tiburon, manager of Village Salvage Shop, at its fashion show and boutique tomorrow from 9:30 a.m. to noon at Del Mar School in Tiburon.

Recalling she was a "sweet-toothed child," Mary Avilla swirls the frothy cookie dough onto greased cookie sheets with two spoons.

SUSPIROS

3 cups granulated sugar
6 egg whites
Grated rind of medium lemon (yellow only)
Nuts or citrus fruit (optional)

Beat egg whites until stiff and come to peak. Add sugar gradually. Add lemon rind or nuts or citrus fruit. Swirl into a peak with two spoons on greased cookie sheet. Bake 30 to 35 minutes at 300 degrees.

Makes about three dozen cookies.

ESQUECIDOS

8 egg yolks
2 cups granulated sugar
Grated rind of medium lemon (yellow only)
3 egg whites

Beat egg yolks until a little stiff, add sugar and lemon rind. In a separate bowl beat egg whites until very stiff, then add to above ingredients, mixing well. With two spoons put a ball of dough into a floured dish. Form into a floured ball with hands and space well on a greased cookie sheet. Bake 25 to 30 minutes until brown at 300 degrees.

Makes about three dozen cookies.

OTHER VOLUNTEERS of the Village Salvage Shop have baked their favorite cookies for the fashion show. These are president Mrs. John Edgar's cookies.

NANIMO BARS

½ cup butter
¼ cup sugar
5 tablespoons cocoa
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 beaten egg

Cook in double boiler, stirring until like custard. Then remove from heat. Next combine:

2 cups graham cracker crumbs
1 cup coconut
½ cup nut meats

Mix well and put in 9-inch pan. Pat it down. Then,

Cream ¼ cup butter

Add:

2 tablespoons vanilla pudding
3 tablespoons milk
2 cups powdered sugar

Spreak on top of cookie base. Refrigerate 15 minutes. Melt 2 squares of chocolate with 1 tablespoon butter. Spread on top. Cut into squares.

PEANUT BUTTER CRISP

Mix:

½ cup shortening
⅓ cup peanut butter
½ cup brown sugar (packed)
½ cup white granulated sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 egg.

Combine and add to above ingredients:

1½ cup flour
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt

Roll in small balls. Put on ungreased cookie sheet. Press with fork to flatten because cookie must be very thin. Bake 10 to 12 minutes in 350-degree oven until light brown.

SOCTTISH SHORT BREAK

From Mrs. John Fulton

1 cup soft butter
½ cup granulated sugar
2 cups flour
½ cup rice flour

Mix thoroughly with hands. Chill dough. Roll out ⅓ to ½-inch thick. Flute edges if desired. Place on ungreased baking sheet. Prick with a fork right down to the bottom. Bake 1 hour in 225-degree oven until golden. Cut in to fingers immediately after bread comes out of oven.

Dress Up Sea Fish With Madeira Wine And Ginger

Now is a prime time to eat some of the nicest sea fish. And it is also a prime time to make cooking easy on the cook and calories low for the eaters. Summer ginger fish accomplishes all those positives.

Simmer fish steaks in a frying pan with a little Madeira, soy, and ginger, and sprinkle them with finely sliced green onions.

SUMMER GINGER FISH

⅓ cup Madeira wine
¼ cup soy sauce
2 tablespoons sugar
¾ to 1 teaspoon ground ginger
4 steaks of sea bass or ling cod (or any other good-sized fleshy fish), each about 1 inch thick (about 2 pounds total)
2 green onions with part of green tops, very thinly sliced

Combine Madeira, soy, sugar and ginger in a large frying pan with cover. Bring to a boil. Add fish, arranging it in a single layer, cover and simmer for five minutes. Turn fish over, cover and simmer for five minutes more or just until flesh loses translucency and flakes with a fork. Sprinkle with onions. Spoon juices over fish.

Liver, Bacon Make Tasty Treat

For a familiar yet delicious taste treat, combine liver and bacon en brochette style. Cut sliced liver in 1½- inch squares. On each of four 12-inch skewers, thread 6 to 8 pieces of liver, 4 mushrooms, and 2 slices of bacon, weaving bacon between liver and mushrooms.

Broil 3 to 4 inches from heat for 5 minutes, brushing occasionally with Italian dressing. Turn, broil 3 to 4 minutes longer, continuing brushing with dressing. Serve on a bed of hot fluffy rice.

Suggestions To Cure The School Lunchpail Problem

With school back in session the problem of what to put in lunch boxes and what to have for after-school snacks is back, too. There's also a growing awareness that such foods should be wholesome and nutritious, even if they're eaten on the run.

Ideal for these occasions is a nutritious Apple sauce Date and Nut Bread. Topped with cream cheese and served with milk, the bread makes a perfect after-school snack.

As the key to lunch-box sandwiches, this bread works perfectly.

You can store the bread in your freezer, slice it frozen and make your sandwiches. By the time lunch hour rolls around the bread will have thawed, fresh and ready to eat. If you plan to freeze the bread, remember to let it cool thoroughly first and to wrap it tightly for immediate freezing.

APPLE SAUCE DATE NUT BREAD

¾ cup chopped walnuts
1 cup cut-up pitted dates
1½ teaspoons baking soda
½ teaspoons salt
1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
3 tablespoons shortening
1 cup hot canned apple sauce
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 cup granulated sugar

With fork, mix walnuts, dates, baking soda and salt. Add shortening and apple sauce; let stand 20 minutes. Start heating oven to 350°. Grease 9x5-inch loaf pan. With fork, beat eggs, beat in vanilla, sugar and flour. Mix in date mixture until just blended; turn into pan. Bake 1 hour and 5 minutes or until cake testerinserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan 10 minutes. Remove to wire rack to finish cooling. Then wrap in foil. Store overnight before slicing. This loaf may be frozen.

Back-to-school time is also pumpkin time, and here is a special apple sauce and pumpkin bread. Eat one and freeze one . . . the recipe makes two leaves. Save one for a quick tea snack or lunches at a later date.

APPLE SAUCE PUMPKIN BREAD

⅔ cup shortening
2⅔ cups sugar
4 eggs
1 cup canned apple sauce
1 cup mashed pumpkin
3⅓ cups all-purpose flour, sifted
2 teaspoons baking soda
½ teaspoon baking powder
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon mace
½ teaspoon nutmeg
⅔ cup apple juice
1 cup walnuts or pecans, chopped

Cream together shortening and sugar. Add eggs, one at a time, beating after each addition. Stir in apple sauce and pumpkin. Sift together dry ingredients and add alternately with apple juice. Stir in nuts. Turn batter into 2 greased 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pans, or into ungreased non-stick coated pans. Bake at 350° F. for 1 hour or until done. Makes 2 loaves. One loaf can be wrapped in foil and frozen.

New Liver Flavor

Tender, juicy slices of liver take on a new flavor when cooked with a coating of French dressing. Simply dip one pound of liver slices in French dressing. Combine ⅔ cup flour, ¼ teaspoon onion salt, ½ teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Dredge coated liver in seasoned flour. Cook slowly in lard or drippings until browned. Turn and continue cooking until browned.

THE SPOUSE GAP

It's Better To Let The Honeymoon End

(Condensed from the book, "The Spouse Gap")

By ROBERT LEE and MARJORIE CASEBIER

A magazine cartoon shows a young man in shirt sleeves in the doorway of an obviously suburban home, passionately kissing a woman wearing an apron and holding a cooking spoon. Two men in the yard next door are observing this tender scene, and one says to the other: "They're newlyweds. He just got back from putting the garbage out."

Unfortunately, however, this euphoric state of dovemanship does not last forever; in fact, it rarely lasts longer than the first few months after the wedding ceremony. The spouses wake up from their blissful sleep after several months and find that the marriage spell has been broken.

The sexual area is representative, perhaps, of this conflict. Couples usually begin their marriages with a high frequency of sexual intercourse, which then subsides with each passing month and year. The novelty of the act wears off and the availability of the partner is accepted, thereby diminishing its first intriguing, and almost forbidden, fruit. This loss of novelty and excitement is true of almost every aspect of the marital relationship and is a primary indicator that the couple are entering a new stage in their interaction.

AT THIS POINT it is important for the couple to recognize the changing character of their life together. Too often the vow to "love, honor, and obey till death us do part" in interpreted as a static promise. In reality, however, the kind of trust that underlies this vow can only develop as the partners share, and clarify the meaning of, their mutual experiences over the course of time. Both the individual spouses and the marriage itself will be changing constantly.

Some marriages keep deteriorating until they verge on collapse in separation and divorce, while others manage to resist the process of decay; and in between these two poles are the many marriages in which the couples stick it out together despite the fact that they have lost their first feelings of fascination and have been unable to find a fulfilling basis for their relationship.

During the initial months and years together, a couple establishes certain patterns of interaction for problem-solving. How successful they are in dealing with early difficulties greatly affects their marriage later on when they hit the middlescent period. We invite you to join us in reconstructing the early days of your own marriage: First, when you really knew that the honeymoon was over; second, when dissatisfaction with reality in comparison with leftover romantic images and ghostly lover arose; and third, when you capitulated to the daily routine of married life.

BEFORE LONG the charade andtact, diplomacy and discretion (that is, hypocrisy and dis-

Corte Madera Museum Guild Names President

MRS. JOHN A. CARLSON
Heads new guild

Mrs. John A. Carlson of Corte Madera is president of the newly formed Corte Madera Guild of the Boyd Marin Museum of Science.

Formed last month, the guild is the 12th fund-raising affiliate of the museum. Members also volunteer their time at the museum and participate in the Festival of Trees.

Valerie Carlson says that anyone interested in helping the museum may join, and a membership meeting and brunch is scheduled for Nov. 4.

Mrs. Carlson is a native of Alameda County and attended school in San Lorenzo and San Jose State College, where she received an elementary school teaching credential. She taught second grade in San Anselmo.

Six-year residents of Marin, Mrs. Carlson and her husband, a sales manager for Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company, are the parents of Tiffany Renee, 4, and Matthew Todd, 22 months. She also is a member of Pixie Parents.

The new president's hobbies include arts and crafts projects, baking bread, reading and hiking.

"We enjoy hiking as a family with Mrs. (Elizabeth) Terwilliger," she says. "I enjoy the out-of-doors and nature and like taking my children and any of the neighborhood children for walks by the bay and in the fields, all by our house. I enjoy and love children and love dancing."

An Interest In Special Education For 10 Years

By JOAN LISETOR

Fabia-Ann Phillips, the new coordinator of the More Able Learner program for San Rafael City Schools, has had an interest in the education of gifted children since studying for a doctorate degree at the University of California 10 years ago.

"I have half a doctorate," says Mrs. Phillips, who has been with the San Rafael school district since 1964. Prior to teaching at Sun Valley and McPhail schools in San Rafael, she was a classroom teacher in San Francisco, where she resides, and in Berkeley.

Her position as coordinator began Sept. 1, and most of her time has been spent consulting on the MAL programs, which differ from school-to-school in the San Rafael district. She has also been recruiting volunteers to supplement the program.

A MICROSCOPE group is forming, and children have expressed an interest in learning touch typing and music conducting.

"Someone with a background in foreign countries or anthropology or with a rock collection to share would make a good resource volunteer," she says. "Parents are leading workshops in creative writing and art at their children's schools, but we would like to have them share their specialties with students at other schools."

It is important, she says, for the community to participate in its schools.

More Able Learner is the San Rafael City Schools' term for children who have intelligence quotients (IQs) of 132 or higher. The State of California term is mentally gifted minor.

ALTHOUGH SHE is interested in the education of all children, Mrs. Phillips says she has always had a particular interest in working with bright, young students because of their special needs, which, if not fulfilled, may lead to their turning off and dropping out of school.

"I believe in looking at both ends of the learning scale and the middle," she says. "Each child is an individual and has something that turns him on most. We can't generalize."

The educator declined giving her opinions on homogeneous and heterogeneous grouping of children by intelligence levels. Pilot classes for MALs at San Pedro and Coleman Schools are in their second years, and they will be evaluated at the end of this school year to see if the program has been beneficial.

"IT MAY BE that the ungraded method will meet the need, where you have children together because of their levels, not their ages," she says. "But there are not enough children at some schools to have separate classes."

While the district has had some program for MALs for several years, a greater emphasis has been put on the programs in the last few years because people have become more conscious of meeting the, needs of the individual, she says.

"There is a new awareness among teachers," she says. "Teachers are looking for new methods instead of saying, 'Let's all read page 21.' They want to meet the needs of all students."

FABIA-ANN Phillips, coordinator of the More Able Learner program for the San Rafael City Schools, holds the photograph of a volcano as she discusses an electrical project with MAL sixth grade students at Glenwood School. The students participate in a half-day program at the school. MAL programs vary from school to school in San Rafael, and at the end of this school year two pilot projects, placing children with intelligent quotients above 131 in separate classes, will be evaluated.

MRS. CRAIG B. JOLLEY
Wed in Oregon

Miss Shay Claimed As A Bride

Craig B. Jolley of Mill Valley claimed Nancy Shay of Salem, Ore., as his bride Saturday afternoon in a ceremony at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Salem.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vern C. Shay of Salem, had as her matron of honor Mrs. Thomas Fox of Corvallis, Ore., and bridesmaids were Lynn C. Jolley of Mill Valley, the sister of the bridegroom; Kathy Kuhn of Lake Oswego, Ore.; and Vick Harmann of Portland, Ore.

The bridegroom, who is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Harold N. Jolley of Mill Valley, was served as best man by Victor R. Ellis of Corbet, Ore. Ushers were Kerry Atherton of Corvallis, Robert Thomas of Hood River, Ore., and Steven Coreening of Bend, Ore.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the McNary Golf Club in Salem. After a wedding trip on the Oregon coast the couple will live in Augusta, Ga., where Craig will be stationed with the Army in nearby Camp Gordon.

A graduate of South Salem High School, the bride was graduated from Oregon State University and is employed with the Meier and Frank Company in Salem.

Craig was graduated from Tamalpais High School and the University of Oregon. He has two more sisters, Jean and Claire Jolley of Mill Valley.

'Change '72' Series Set

A series called "Change '72" is sponsored by the Marin Jewish Community Center extension program, beginning Oct. 19.

The first three meetings will be on "Marvelous Marin: Sick Suburbs or Utopia" with Sol Silver. Then Dr. Joseph Gutstadt will discuss "New Roles for Men and Women," beginning Nov. 30 for three meetings. The final series will be "New Politics" with Robert Politizer.

The programs will be held alternate Tuesday evenings at 8 p.m. at Edna Maguire School in Mill Valley.

This is the site of the first National Children's Forest. Bring it to life.

Send one of our labels, and Hunt-Wesson will have a tree planted in your child's name.

This section of the San Bernardino National Forest was destroyed by fire on November 19, 1970.

Last year, more than 555,000 acres of National Forest land died by fire. Sometimes, lightning did the devastating. More often than not, it was people.

Without forests, our children can't live very well — or very long. Trees purify our air and keep silt from clogging our streams and rivers. They cool the earth, quiet it and keep it from eroding. They keep wildlife alive and give humans a haven. One acre of trees gives off enough oxygen for 18 of us to live on for a whole year.

We've come up with an insurance plan for our children's future. A plan that takes fire-ravaged forests and brings them back to life.

We'll have a tree planted in your child's name in a burned-out area in one of three National Forests. And we'll call them the National Children's Forests.

The U.S. Forest Service chose the sites where re-treeing is urgently needed: the George Washington National Forest in Virginia, the San Bernardino National Forest in California, and the Mark Twain National Forest in Missouri. We'll buy the trees in the name of your children, your grandchildren or any children you care about, and a ready crew of young volunteers will get them planted.

We'll place your child's name in a time capsule in his National Children's Forest.

We're placing a marker in each Forest site with a vault to hold the name of every child for whom a tree is planted — to remind us all that trees are for our children's future. And we're also constructing specially designed nature trails to make it a pleasure for everyone, even the sightless, to visit the National Children's Forests.

Once your tree is bought for planting, we'll send proof:

An ecology decal that proves you helped rebuild a forest. And a certificate with a map and legend to show the tree is bought and the planting has been arranged.

Our plan starts at your local food store.

We're paying for your trees through nine of our products, listed in the coupon below. All we ask is a label or code number from one of them, or all of them. We'll arrange to have a tree planted for every label or code number you send with the coupon (a maximum of nine trees per person).

Give your child a stake in the National Children's Forest.

And a start toward building his new world.

Bring a forest back to life.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

The Cause Of Larges Amount Of Fan Mail? The Other Woman

"OTHER WOMAN" IS BIGGEST MAIL-PRODUCER

DEAR HELEN:

What would you consider the biggest all-time mail-getter of any subject you discuss in your column? I mean what general area of human relations inspires most comments in return? — You've said that whenever you mention religion or animals, you anticipate a flood of mail. Anything top these? — CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS:

My biggest all-time mail-getter? The "Other Woman." (No pun intended.)

Whenever I publish a letter either damning or defending extramarital affairs, I brace myself for a deluge. Here are samples:

DEAR HELEN:

That smugly "Confident Wife" who bragged that though her husband strays, he'll never leave her, is probably right. But what a miserable life for both of them! And how often it happens!

Many wives who claim to give their men stability, family, the prestige of a well-ordered house and country club acceptance are in fact giving them ulcers or a coronary, not to mention the bills, nagging and rejection. (The old "I'm too tired," or "Not tonight, dear" routine.)

I find it most tragic that any man should become so desperate for warmth and tenderness that he feels he must seek this in another woman. — KING

NOTE FROM H:

And how doubly tragic that a wife should feel "confident" simply because she can keep a man married to her, even though she can't keep the man. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

The "Other Woman" does not make the marriage go bad. She is the result, not the cause. In fact, sometimes such an outlet can cut down on the fights and hatred at home.

But "Other Women" who dream of becoming wives had better wake up. He'll talk of "being married to you" (how wonderful it would be), but not of "marrying you." — RESIGNED O.W.

DEAR HELEN:

Too often wives are blamed when men stray to Other Women. Hear my story:

My husband loves and appreciates me. He kiddingly calls me his little sexpot, and I'm a good housekeeper and conversationalist, too. Yet periodically he tries for a new conquest to bolster a shaky ego. Feelings of insecurity and inferiority date back to his childhood. A wife alone is sometimes not enough, and so he must "prove" himself with other women.

Afterwards, there are great regrets and renewed affection toward me. I can cope with this problem only by showing my love and appreciation all the time, giving my husband the assurance he needs, so that eventually he may become more secure within himself and less likely to use "the other woman" as a crutch for his ailing ego. — A WIFE

DEAR HELEN:

Most wives picture an O.W. as a tight-skirted, hard-looking female who can't wait to get a husband — any husband — to bed. The fact is that she's usually the sweet, innocent-looking person a wife would least suspect.

An O.W. enjoys the side of a husband the wife hasn't seen since they were dating, and he enjoys the O.W. because she treats him as "the greatest," not a household object. Sometimes sex is secondary. He just wants to feel important again. — UNGLAMOROUS O.W.

DEAR HELEN:

If "Other Women" are so great, understanding, loving, etc., how come they can't get men of their own, instead of stealing our husbands? — IRATE WIFE

DEAR HELEN:

My wife and I were miserable in our marriage. We might have continued mismatched, had it not been for the "Other Woman" who is now my second wife.

We fell in love by accident, fought it for a long time. But once I leveled with my first wife, she seemed almost relieved that the farce was at an end. We don't blame each other — in fact, now that we don't have to live together, we're good friends. She has also remarried —to someone who is right for her. Our children have compatible parents for the first time, and they are much happier.

My point is this: we can't always be lucky enough to find the right mate the first time around. Blanket condemnation of (take your choice) the other-woman, the "inadequate wife," or the "philandering husband" is wrong. They can all be fine people whose lives got scrambled wrong and who need a second chance. — SECOND TIME AROUND

DEAR READERS:

And so it goes: The Other Woman is sinner, savior, thief, sufferer or winner, depending on who describes her. Because many will, again, in answer to this column — my mail box will overflow next week. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

The Calling Card Is Out Of Style

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The so-called "Green Book" of etiquette in the capital has decreed, at White House request, that leaving calling cards at the Executive Mansion is out of style.

The custom of leaving cards dated from the Colonial era, but has fallen into disuse since World War II.

Mrs. Carolyn Hagner Shaw, publisher of the "Social List of Washington," said notes of appreciation for luncheons, dinners and receptions at the White House should be sent personally to the First Lady.

Economic Burdens Facing A Woman

By BARBARA HOSMER

The reasons why women occupy a low position in the economic world in America were outlined last night in a talk on "Economy and Women" by Laura Willson in the continuing series on women at the College of Marin.

The economics and business instructor at the college said that men are expected to be devoted to their work or career, but women, while freed to work, are not freed from their expected responsibility for keeping the home and family running.

She said that 40 per cent of women work, that 64 per cent of them are married and that the latter usually have the physical and psychological burden of keeping the home before and after their business day.

WOMEN, SAID Mrs. Willson, are concentrated in service jobs such as retail selling, secretarial and laundry work, and in nurturant areas such as teaching, nursing and social work. She pointed out that their resultant income is far lower than men's as a whole.

"The man is attuned to the idea of preparing for earning a livelihood all his life, while women are far less likely to prepare themselves."

She added that women's low income is due to women's role in society. For men, she said, it's continual upward march in a career, in most cases. But women may work for a few years, drop out of the work force to bear children and rear them, and then try to re-enter the labor force.

SHE COMMENTED that she believed that women never regain those years they've lost in a career. Also, employers are not willing to invest as much in women employees because they feel they will drop out for a time, she said.

Another factor is that women's educational background is different from men's, she said.

"Women tend to major in the lowest paying job fields," Mrs. Willson said, adding that few go into business administration, law or medicine.

A major factor keeping women in low economic status is the social attitude toward women in business, she said.

"Girls are given a different role to play than boys," she explained, remarking that boys are encouraged to be aggressive and competitive while girls are given home-type toys and no encouragement to use aggressive techniques.

"They are told, 'Be a sweet little girl, Susie' " she said.

"THERE IS a stigma attached to aggression in a woman. It's a problem because the business world is highly aggressive," said the speaker, who spent many years in secretarial and marketing work.

Other factors, she said, were that women compete for the same kind of jobs and will work for less pay to get a job at all, and married women feel a personal ambivalence about dividing their attention between work and family.

Yet, she said, "every child study I've read on the subject showed that children of working parents turned out better or just as well as those whose mothers stayed in the home."

As remedies she suggested

honesty!) that characterized the courtship period give way to the necessity of expressing how we honestly feel about each other and the way we do things. Behavior we could put up with on occasion becomes a monstrosity when faced day after day. The hobby that was so marvelous becomes a pain in the neck, the peculiar habit that was so cute becomes a screaming annoyance. All those opposite qualities which attracted us to our partner in the first place, making him or her so charming, exciting, and interesting, begin to get on our nerves after awhile and we start our efforts to make him (or her) over in our own image.

We may really feel it is important for each person to be allowed to be himself, but when being ourselves involves a conflict over whether we sleep with the windows wide open or shut, or whether we always have eggs and cereal for breakfast, our good intentions may go by the board. We may really have talked to each other about the necessity for being open and honest, but the first time that openess means criticism of mother-in-law, or of the way the roast is carved, or why clothes drawers are always left open, the defenses go up and honest feelings thereafter are repressed.

These seemingly silly and superficial problems are actually points of probing for working out the deeper, emotional hang-ups concerning "closeness" and "separateness" in the marital relationship. Each partner must go through a learning experience concerning both himself and his partner, and he msut be willing to express how he feels. Such expressions become very difficult if they are met with ridicule or rejection. To let ourselves be known as we are, to level with one another is perhaps the greatest risk we take.

ON THE OTHER side of this conflict lies the relief, security, and comfort of being stark-naked to at least one person in life before whom we can take off our masks, shed our psychological fig leaf, and not have to pretend any more. But the achievement of this mutual acceptance takes understanding and patience, and a willingness both to modify behavior out of sensitive consideration of each other's needs and to compromise individual views out of respect for each other as persons.

Unless a conscious effort is made to ventilate and to keep talking out conflicts, the gaps (which inevitably open with each new adjustment) simply become wider and more fixed.

All marriages have friction, and the partners must go through the process of determining the nature of their relationship and arriving at a viable pattern of communication and interaction. Usually each partner begins by wanting the other to make all the concessions, and it reamins difficult to reduce the friction. The conscious clashes in forms or behavior are bad enough, but to them we must add also the whole complex of unconscious traits each one brings from the past.

A MARRAIGE like any close relationship, can be choked by being held too tightly — squeezed to death in the name of togetherness. Better to let the honeymoon end and deal with the little inevitable gaps than to cling to the illusion that oneness can be free of conflict. In this case, what is held too tightly will be lost — in middlescence if not before — whereas what is held wth open hands will allow life to flow into a free and changing relationship.

"The man-sized meal...
that's what I like about LAMB."

"When the card-players gather at our house, they call it 'boys' night in,' but it means I have four hungry he-men to feed. What do I serve? Lamb riblets . . . big, brawny and bursting with good, gratifying flavor. When 'the boys' come to your house, surprise them with the bold new taste of this he-man treat."

LAMB RIBLETS and Green Bean Skillet (makes 4 servings)
2 pounds lamb riblets
2 medium onions, sliced
1 cup orange juice
½ teaspoon garlic salt
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
1 package (10 ounces) frozen French-style green beans

Cook riblets in large skillet over low heat until browned on all sides. Drain off fat. Add onions, orange juice, garlic salt, salt, pepper and nutmeg; mix well. Cover and cook over low heat 30 minutes. Add beans; cover and cook 10 to 12 minutes, or until beans and lamb are tender.

Fashion Designer A Travelin' Man

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bill Miller, the men's wear designer, is also a world traveler who roams around Europe taking in various fashion shows where he occasionally gains inspiration or buys a few trifles for his three Village Squire shops.

He is also an innovator who, over the years, has put men in pants with visible zippers and button through flies ("they're dead now"), tapered, Western influenced shirts, tapered hipster pants and, more recently, bell bottoms.

The most amazing thing he discovered on a recent swing that took him as far east as Yugoslavia was that Europeans have now discovered things the Americans have known about for a long time—sports jackets and seersucker suits.

AND ONCE they discovered sports jackets they carried it a bit farther than the Americans and made them into "unstructured" suits — almost no padding or lining — but in thin fabrics that Americans normally associate with shirts.

"That is a wise thing they are doing," Miller said, and you can bet the idea will turn up in some of his future designs. "It is new for Americans, using the light weight cottons we use for shirts. You look at such a suit and you know it is going to be cool."

In suits, Miller reports after visits to such shows as the Cologne Trade Fair and the Paris ready-to-wear shows, there is a return to the classics. He attributes this mostly to the high cost of producing high style suits with fancy gimmicks as opposed to classic designs.

"We are far ahead in suits with a larger variety of fabrics and patterns," he said. "For example, they are showing very few knits, very few bold patterns. They are copying our styling—three patch pockets on everything and they are widening lapels to our width.

"In casual wear, if what I saw is right, everyone looks like motorcycle riders, men and women. They call it the Easy Rider, probably after Peter Fonda but it is more like that old Marlon Brando picture, 'The Wild Ones.'

"THEY ARE really Hells Angels jackets. Every color of the rainbow. Every fabric you can imagine from velvet to cotton to plaids, leather, naturally, polished cotton, gingham checks, mostly with diagonal zippers across the chest."

"The biggest shirt was their version of our Western shirt. Ours have one or two snaps on the pocket so they out Westerned us by using three snaps. There were bell bottoms like mad, right up to and including super elephants — form-fitting to the knee and then flaring like an upside down umbrella.

"In pants they are copying what we have already done here, the visible zipper and the button through fly and colored patch pockets. They are showing this as a new style when it is already on its way out here—we're back to plain flies after introducing the button throughs three years ago.

"I THINK their fashions have envolved the way they do because so many of the manufacturers and designers were in ladies wear. They don't really know how to size for men and so they get an undersized look. Their jackets were too short and the shirt showed like a midriff so instead of lengthening the jacket them made the pants higher, making real high-waisted trousers."

"One thing they are heavy on is the safari jacket with the four flapped pockets and the belt. It is their high-style look in the most elegant and in the cheapest fabrics but it has never really caught on in the United States.

"I think it is more popular in Europe because they are more basically hungup on the African veldt and the French Foreign Legion than we are while we are more hungup on cowboys and the Western look."

BILL MILLER, New York men's wear designer, is also a world traveler seeking new and unusual fashions. Here he models the newest — a turtle neck sweater knitted in a patchwork design. He wears it with another European item, an American cowboy leather vest. (UPI Telephoto)

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — Santa Claus is riding early this year, and his real name is Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah.

Moss's bag is safer toys. As chairman of the Senate consumer subcommittee, he has been leading a campaign to get the Food and Drug Administration to enforce the 1969 Child Protection and Toy Safety Act which Moss cosponsored with Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash.

The federal agency ran into heavy criticism last year when it waited until a few days before Christmas before taking any action to get unduly hazardous toys off the market. By that time, it was too late to keep such dangers out of reach of wide-eyed children on Christmas Day.

Continued pressure from Moss and other consumer advocates, plus the addition of limited funds for enforcing the law, has changed the picture this year. The FDA has officially banned 140 toys because of safety hazards since December of last year.

BUT FOR some reason, the agency sought to keep the list secret although most of the toy names had appeared on lists of recalled products. Upon learning of the FDA's unwillingness to publicize the list, Moss publicly criticized the agency and urged it to reconsider its decision.

It didn't take the agency long to respond. Later that same day (Oct. 1) it notified Moss that it would release the list of 140 banned toys, and Moss hailed the FDA "for a quick change of policy."

According to the FDA, most of the toys on the list have already been redesigned or have been taken off the market. As one official explained, that means any that are still being sold presumably have been redesigned in order to remove the alleged hazard.

In many cases, this means that easily removable parts that could be swallowed have been glued tight, sharp corners and prongs have been removed or blunted and warning labels have been added. Most of the toys are rattles and dolls intended for toddlers.

If you have purchased a toy banned by the FDA for a defect that has not been corrected — such as loose or sharp parts — you are entitled under the law to get your money back.

BUT YOU must first know which toys have been banned and then must determine whether the hazard has been corrected. The "List of Banned Toys" and the reason for banning each is available from the FDA Information Office, 200 C Street SW., Washington, D.C.

From the list, you can determine the particular hazard of each toy, but you may have to take the toy apart to tell whether the hazard has been eliminated. Some people may simply prefer to avoid toys on the banned list.

The jolly old Senator had these words of advice for early shoppers.

"Carefully examine toys prior to purchase for potential thermal, mechanical and electrical hazards both in normal use and from possible damage and abuse. If in doubt, avoid the toy."

He singled out toy stoves, irons and molding equipment as posing serious hazards for children. He noted that "while FDA is still trying to cook up standards for thermal and electrical hazards, children are continuing to cook their fingers."

Then, with a twinkle in his eye, and a plea for a stronger law, he went back to his workbench in the Senate Office Building.

20-Year-Old Brunette Breaks A Long Tradition

OLYMPIA, Wash. (UPI)—Nora Campbell, a 20-year-old brunette, broke a men-only tradition of 335-years standing and says it feels "wonderful" to be "No. 1."

Miss Campbell joined the Army National Guard.

She was sworn in Tuesday by Gov. Dan Evans in his office and will be stationed at nearby Camp Murray, required to attend one weekend meeting a month and spend two weeks each year at summer camp.

"It feels wonderful," Sp.5 Campbell said after the ceremony. "But, I guess its the same type of feeling anyone who is No. 1 gets."

A spokesman said no woman ever has served in the Army National Guard in its 335-year history.

Art Is Displayed

Art work by Jane Bacher is on display at the Family Service League Shop in Mill Valley, where two of her Christmas card designs will go on sale Monday.

The Marin County artist, who specializes is serigraphs, has donated the designs to the league. Proceeds from the sale of the cards will benefit the Family Service Agency in San Rafael.

Annual Marin Ski Swap To Be Saturday At Veterans Building

MRS. PAUL YATES
Bible study leader

The Marin Ski Swap will be held Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

Sponsored for the sixth year by Greenbrae and Ross Guilds of the Boyd Marin Museum of Science, the ski swap will include modeling of ski apparel, musical entertainment and movies for the first time.

New and used equipment will be offered for sale. Anyone with equipment to sell should bring it the day of the sale. Ten per cent of the selling price goes to the guilds for the support of the museum.

Mrs. Howard Shaw is chairman and committee chairmen are Mmes. Robert Conway and Gerald Parsons, check out; Warren Peterson, registration; William Mailliard Jr., merchants; Richard Erickson, equipment; John Grabes Jr., personnel; Alf Brandon, security; Rodman Starke, clothing; Barry MacKay, entertainment; Gilbert Powers, signs and decorations; Thomas Harbinson, legal counsel; David Suckle, clean up; William Richardson, food; Douglas Woodring, publicity.

OPENING OF this season's A.M. programs will be Friday morning at 10:30 when Lord Caradon presents "What Hope in the Middle East?" at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

Lord Caradon was minister of state for foreign affairs and permanent United Kingdom representative at the United Nations until June of 1970 when he joined several of the United Nations boards concerned with financial and population problems of the emerging nations. Last summer he traveled on U.N. assignments in Ethiopia, Tanzania, Zambia, Nigeria, Ghana and Morocco.

Five more programs will complete the Friday morning series sponsored by the Family Service League of Marin, whose members will host a coffee hour in the foyer of the theater prior to the talks.

CHRISTIAN WOMEN'S Club of Marin is having a brunch and meeting Friday at 9:45 a.m. at the Rafters restaurant in the Edgewater Inn in Corte Madera.

Speaker will be Mrs. Paul Yates, a missionary and Bible study leader from Oakland. A native of Hamburg, Germany, the speaker was educated in France, Scotland and England. She and her husband survived the Russian and Nazi occupations in Poland, and she will discuss events from her life as a missionary in Poland and Belgium.

The program will also include a presentation by a representative of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company on budget meals and musical entertainment.

ANN MARSHALL Davis will reviewPearl Buck's book, "Three Daughters of Madame Liang," for member of the United Presbyterian Women of the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael following a noon luncheon tomorrow in Canoles Hall of the Church.

PETALUMA BRANCH American Association of University Women, will meet tonight at the United Church of Christ in Petaluma at 7:30 p.m.

Speakers will be Albert Rinehart and Mrs. Martha D. Peterson who have chosen "Illiteracy in the World Today" as their topic. Mrs. Frederick McDaniel, implementation chairman of the study group, the Crisis in Public Education, will make the introductions.

Albert Rinehart is a reading instructor at San Antonio High School in Petaluma, and Mrs. Peterson is an instructor with the adult education program in Santa Rosa.

Hostesses will be Mmes. Richard Borders, Sam Brown, Herbert Bundesen and Edward Witte.

VOLUNTEERS OF Marin General Hospital from the Mill Valley area will be hostesses tomorrow and Friday in Mill Valley stores in a project sponsored by the business men's committee of the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce.

The committee has designated these days as "Pink Lady Sale Days," during which merchants will promote special items in their shops with special prices. They will donate $500 of proceeds from these sales toward the Marin General Hospital Volunteer program.

All members of branches are invited to assist as hostesses. Each will wear a pink rose as identification and will answer questions about the hospital and the volunteer program.

Chairman of the event is Mrs. William Pemberton of Mill Valley of the Founders Auxiliary.

Some of the branch chairmen assigned are Mmes. George A. Miller, Lamplighters; Jack Shapiro, Old Mill; Neil R. Munro, Sequoia; and James Scatena, Jack and Jill.

Other branch members who have volunteered are Mmes. David E. Francis, Robert L. Johnson, Charles Long, Richard C. Baker, Gordon Y. Kaneko, Richard Werner, Peter H. Rice, Sherrill F. Sipes, Herbert L. Marsh, Thomas McNally and Messrs. Jeffrey E. Ferries and William Cole.

Fall Fashion Loaded With Bright Hues

The fall fashion palette is full of happy, clear and bright hues. Tints and shades of every color appear, making every rainbow hue right for autumn.

Firehouse red grabs attention for the red family, but softer shades of burgundy and wine also appear.

Taxicab yellow, sunshine yellow and lemon combine with rust and burnt orange for clever, alive combos.

Greens are clear and crisp. Hues go from bright lime to earthy, toned-down Sherwood Forest green.

Purple is a fall favorite, along with plum and softened shades of mauve.

Black shows up for sensuous evening dressing in rich, deep lustres.

SUSAN COSGROVE
An April wedding

Couple Sets Wedding Next April

A wedding next April 6 is planned by Susan Mary Cosgrove and the late Mr. Cosgrove. She is the sister of Jack Cosgrove of Stockton, George Cosgrove, who is serving in Laos, and Patricia Cosgrove of San Anselmo.

She is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and is employed with Crown and Bridge Inc. in San Rafael.

Edward is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bird of Tiburon and the brother of Thomas, Frankie and Mary Lou Bird, also of Tiburon. A Redwood High School graduate, he is employed with Colonial House of Sales in San Rafael.

Reunion Chairmen

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Simpson of Petaluma have been named chairmen for the 10th anniversary class reunion of the 1962 class of Novato High School to be held next year. Mayor Joseph D. Garguilo of Novato, former vice-principal of the school, is assisting the class in locating its members for the reunion.

SCENE

Winnipeg Ballet Is Entertained

By MOLLY MARIN

The entire company of the Royal Winnipeg Ballet were guests at a buffet supper Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Max Thelen in San Rafael as guests of the Marin Civic Ballet Association. The Canadian dance company is currently appearing in the Bay Area.

In the group were lead dancers Salvatore Aeillo and Ana Marie Degorriz, and Arnold Spohr, artistic director, and Richard Rutherford, associate director.

Hoestesses for the Marin association were Mmes. James, Bell, Kirk Frederick, Rogers Dockstader, Paul Erickson and Max Thelen, all of San Rafael. The Marin company of dancers were on hand, as were Mrs. Leona Norman, artistic director; Mrs. Jody White, apprentice group director and Norbert Vesak, choreographer.

SEVERAL SMALL parties are planned prior to the preview of the opera "Il Trovatore" sponsored by Marin's Opera Action group at the Frances Young Gallery at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross tomorrow night.

Opera Action president Mrs. Julio Davila will entertain the preview speaker, Harold Rosenthal of London, along with the Edmond C. Wards of Kentfield and Mr. and Mrs. E. Paul Atkins of Ross. Mrs. Ward is a member of the San Francisco Opera board of trustees.

The John Ritchies of Tiburon will have as dinner guests the Norman Gardners of Millbrae prior to the preview; and Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson Graves Jr. of Ross will entertain the Theodore Martins of San Rafael and the Donald Blincos of Tiburon, who will attend the opera together on Oct. 29.

Economic Burdens Facing A Woman

that the largest and most difficult is alteration of society's attitudes about women and work, women's attitudes as well as men's.

SHE ALSO suggested that girl students be given more guidance when making career decisions.

"Most of my girl students will say they expect to finish school, get married and raise a family," the instructor remarked. "They also need to plan for the rest of their life, after the children are grown, to be a productive member of society."

Also, "we have to stop looking at women as the sole responsibility for family stability. The best thing the Feminist movement has given us is a chance to re-examine both roles in the home, husband and wife," Mrs. Willson said.

The other speaker, Mildred Howie, traced her 30 years of work from clerking at Woolworth's to her present career as a freelance public relations consultant.

"In recent years, women are causing you to look back on your life and to see the injustices — when you may have had to be responsible for child care and be a housewife, while a man in the same job you had was being paid more and had a wife at home to do those things," she said.

"DON'T START as a secretary, whatever you do," she advised the largely female audience. "You become pegged. Get the job you're after."

The Wardrobe —Furs Of All Sizes Important

Little and big furs continue to be important in every woman's wardrobe. Casual styling, well-manned lines and classic silhouettes are found for day and evening wear.

Coat lengths go from the knee to the ankle. Jackets can be cropped at the waist or mid-thigh. Hooded capes show up romantically.

Wrap coats, with widespread notched collars, enter the fashion ring in everything from raccoon to mink.

Military-looks, trenches and shirtcoats feature innovative detailing — braid trims, zip-off hem borders and hoods.

Patchwork lamb, sheared rabbit, zebra and fox appear to be winning looks for sporty, double-breasted jackets.

Fur looks back nostalgically and comes up with the chubby. Popular furs include fox, raccoon, skunk and lynx.

Blazers go sporty by day, or slinky by night in mink, Persian lamb and seal.

A new fur-family member is the "leather-out" coat, with the fur as the lining. The leather body gives a sporty look, and allows for a snappy variety of patterns and colors.

Your Old Hangers Will Live Again — The Dress Is Back

The dress has returned, and all those empty hangers that are swinging restlessly in closets will once again come to life. Indeed it has been fun wearing pants for all sorts of unconventional occasions, but now that the novelty has worn off and the shock sensation that goes with pants turning up at unprecedented occasions, it's time to make new inroads, says designer Gianni Ferri.

At every showing in New York one heard cheers, bravos and unending applause at the end of those shows that were chock full of dresses.

Dungaree History

In 15th Century India, heavy denim was used for work pants by the men of Dhunga — and the pants became known as dungarees.

School Lease Plea Withdrawn By EOC

The Marin County Economic Opportunity Council has withdrawn its request to lease Manzanita School in Marin City from the Sausalito School District for an educational center, according to EOC executive director W. Robert Lomax Jr.

At Monday's meeting of the Sausalito school board, Lomax said the council had changed its mind about occupying the school because of what he called "pressure from the Marin City community."

The vacant school, which the district is not using for classes this year, has become the center of a dispute between the district and the Marin City Learning Center, a private school which wants to use it for classes.

The board had been prepared on Monday to act on a lease agreement to rent the facility to the EOC for $1 a year. The anti-poverty group had intended to use it for adult education, parent training, tutoring, child care and vocational programs.

Lomax, however, withdrew the request and instead asked why the board, at its Sept. 20 meeting, had turned down the learning center's request to use the school.

Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg replied that one of the chief reasons for the denial was because the center is a private operation. In order to lease Manzanita to a private organization, he said the board would have to declare the property surplus, then call for bids on the school and provide an equal opportunity for all interest private groups to bid on the school.

The Sausalito School District Board also:

FUTURE — After considerable discussion, asked its organization committee to review alternative choices which can be made in deciding the future of the district, then report back at its Oct. 18 meeting. Among alternatives which will probably be considered are annexation with another district, sharing of students with other districts and interdistrict busing of students. As the district's enrollment has continued to decline sharply, the board has been looking at possible courses which could be followed if the Sausalito district cannot continue to exist as a separate district.

TRANSFER — Denied interdistrict transfers to the Mill Valley School District for William, Kenneth and Stephen Ford.

MEETING — Set a special meeting to consider a lease agreement with the Sausalito Art Center for the old Bayside School for 8 a.m. Friday in the district office. The center was evicted from the facility in August, then given an extension of occupancy until Oct. 15 to allow time for a satisfactory agreement to be worked out.

RESIGNATION — Received the resignation of trustee Nathaniel Johnson who resigned from the school board last week after serving six years.

ELECTION — Set a special Jan. 11 election to fill Johnson's seat. Persons wishing to run for the post may file candidacy papers until 5 p.m. Nov. 18.

SECRETARY — After granting a year's leave of absence to Bayside School secretary Aileen Graham for health reasons, voted to hire Shirley McGrath for the post.

MEETING — Were reminded that because Oct. 25 is the date for observing Veteran's Day, the board's second meeting in October will be held Monday.

Phosphate Detergents Attacked

The Belvedere-Tiburon Committee for the Environment is backing the use of non-phosphate detergents despite a federal report that phosphates are "the lesser of two evils" in cleaning compounds.

In a policy statement adopted Monday, the committee urged citizens not to return to using phosphates, which cause unchecked algae growth in streams and lakes.

Instead, the statement said, consumers should use soap and washing soda in hard water areas or other alternatives to phosphate detergents on the market.

The statement called the government's view that "the taxpayers should bear the tremendous financial burden of increased sewage treatment" in order to remove phosphates from wastewater "a backward approach."

In other business, the committee voted to stop accepting bimetal (steel and aluminum) cans at its recycling depot; change its meeting days to the first and third Tuesday of each month, and ask the cities of Belvedere and Tiburon to reaffirm their support of AB 1471, calling for a coastal conservation and development commission.

Radar Finds New Mars Landmarks

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)— Radar sweeps of the surface of the planet Mars have disclosed two previously unknown landmarks — a 2½ mile deep gorge and a mile-deep crater that is 1,200 miles in diameter, researchers said today.

The radar sweeps, carried out three times a week for the past three months along an east-west path across the planet, were studied by scientists from Massachusetts Institute of Technology using a 120-foot radio-radar atenna at Haystack observatory in Westford, about 15 miles northwest of here.

A Reminder Issued Academy Hopefuls

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Young men in the Sixth Congressional District, which includes most of Marin south of Novato, were reminded today by Rep. William S. Mailliard that Nov. 1 is the deadline to complete applications for nomination to the armed forces academies.

The deadline next month is for applications for classes beginning next fall, but applications also are being accepted now for classes beginning in September 1973.

To be eligible for admission, Mailliard said, an applicant must be a citizen; at least 17 but not have passed his 22nd birthday by July 1 of the year of admission; never have been married; be of good moral character; have a good high school record, normally standing in the top 40 per cent of his class; and meet medical standards, normally including 20-20 vision, although waivers may be granted to applicants with outstanding records.

Mailliard annually nominates 10 men to each of the four academies. Nominees then undergo scholastic and physical entrance examinations, and the academies make their selections.

The academies are the Naval, Air Force, Military and Merchant Marine academies.

Information is available through Mailliard's office, 450 Golden Gate Avenue, Box 36024, San Francisco, Calif. 94102.

Renaissance Center To Be Topic Of Show

The proposed Renaissance Pleasure Center, to be located on the Grady Ranch in upper Lucas Valley, will be discussed on KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" program at 9 a.m. tomorrow.

Taking part in a panel discussion to be moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer will be Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Patterson, president and secretary of the Renaissance Pleasure Faire and the center, and two residents of Lucas Valley, who oppose the proposal, Calvin B. Colt and Jean Fitzgerald.

Questions may be phoned into the broadcast which will be bereated at 10:05 a.m.

Hodkins Disease Claims Beauty

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) --The city pays its final respects today to the girl who won the 1969 Miss Norfolk beauty title, not telling judges she was dying from Hodgkins Disease.

Mary Beth Alexander, 21, died Sunday.

When the black-haired beauty was chosen queen in July of 1969, she had just completed a series of cobalt treatments and had been ill for two years. But she kept her affliction secret from the judges.

Although she was a talented organist and pianist, she won the talent phase of the pageant for her singing.

Consumers Have Clout — Furness

SPOKANE (UPI) —Betty Furness, consumer adviser to President Johnson, says "consumer groups have real clout, even if they are only voluntary."

"Organize. Numbers really do count," she told an audience at Eastern Washington State College Monday.

"New York city's consumerism Department Works," Mrs. Furness said, "because it formerly was the licensing and marketing department and has real legislative teeth."

"We've found consumer groups have real clout, even if they are only voluntary," she said.

Mrs. Furness criticized the U.S. surgeon general's recent statement housewives might want to use phosphates rather than substitutes because some of the alternative products proved caustic and harmful to health.

Walker-Dobson Duel Set In Fourth World Series Game

Pirates Seek Series Equalizer Tonight

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates, who weren't supposed to have much pitching, were suddenly alive and kicking in the World Series today on the strength of a masterful three-hit job by fastballing Steve Blass.

And they were ready to shoot with southpaw Luke Walker, a Texan who makes a habit of winning a lot of games late in the year, tonight in the fourth game of the World Series —the first-ever night game in Series' history —against the Baltimore Orioles.

Righthander Pat Dobson (20-8), the Orioles' fourth 20-game winner, was set to oppose Walker (10-8) in the 8:15 p.m. EDT game at Three Rivers Stadium.

"Steve Blass," sighed Orioles' Manager Earl Weaver when asked to explain the Pirates' 5-1 victory Tuesday that cut the Orioles' Series lead to 2-1 in games.

"Blass pitched a helluva game," agreed Oriole Frank Robinson, who got two of Baltimore's three hits and deprived Blass of a shutout with a seventh-inning home run.

What the Orioles didn't know was that Blass and Bob Robertson, whose three-run homer put the game on ice for the Pirates, did some pretty strange and funny things in handing them their first loss after 16 straight wins.

How's this for a way to win a World Series game:

... Robertson was given the "bunt" sign in the seventh inning —but he missed seeing it and swung away, hitting the 385-foot homer that turned a 2-1 squeaker into a 5-1 romp.

... Blass prepared for this game by staying in the Pirates' locker room in Baltimore and watching the first two games on TV while taking notes.

... And then he forgot and left the notes behind in Baltimore.

"I never saw the bunt sign," confessed the red-haired Robertson, who was the Pirates' slugging hero of the National League playoffs last week with four home runs. "I hadn't gotten the bunt sign all year, and I wasn't looking for it.

"The first I knew I'd missed the sign was when I crossed home plate and Willie Stargell shook my hand and said, 'That was some bunt.'"

Manager Danny Murtaugh of the Pirates said he sent out orders for Robertson to bunt because, with two on and none out, he noticed Oriole third baseman Brooks Robinson was "playing very deep." It obviously never occurred to Brooks that the big slugger would bunt —any more than it occurred to Robertson himself.

"Yes, sir, that was some

CANNON JUMPS

Denver Guard Inks Pros' Pact

DENVER (UPI)—The Denver Rockets of the American Basketball Association, who lost superstar Spencer Haywood to the rival NBA a year ago, today lost another big name player — Larry Cannon.

The 6-foot-5 guard, who led the Rockets in scoring with 26.6 points a game last season, showed up in Memphis where he signed a contract with the Memphis Pros of the ABA. He accused Denver of a "breach of contract."

In Denver, team officials said they were waiting to hear from ABA Commissioner Jack Dolph on Cannon's decision to jump from one club to another.

"As of this moment, we have to give Dolph the benefit of the doubt and wait to see if he does what he told me he'd do," Alex Hannum, Denver's general manager and coach, said.

"Dolph told me when I called him that his position is that no player can play in league games without a league approved contract.

"My position is that Denver has a legal contract with Cannon. And my thinking, subject to the advice of our team counsel, is that we would have no choice but to go to court unless we can get adequate compensation from either Dolph or from the interested parties."

"You see, we don't have the total right to him under the contract he had with Miami," Hannum said. "We have the rights to him for this year and next year with an option to pick up the rest of the contract. Basically, we assumed only the part of the contract that had to do with salary."

Hannum said the contract contained some "fantastic" things. "One clause, for instance, says that at the time of any merger (NBA and ABA) that Larry would get five per cent ownership in the club," Hannum said. "Other clauses refer to special bonuses and deferred compensation.

"Frankly, I don't think we'd want to pick up the rest of his contract when the time came. After next year, we'd likely have handed him back to the Floridians."

Explosive Seals Face Philadelphia In Oakland

OAKLAND (UPI) —Boasting four players among the early top 10 scorers in the National Hockey League, the California Golden Seals play the Philadelphia Flyers tonight in their third straight home game.

The Seals will be looking for their first win after tying Los Angeles and Toronto. Philadelphia lost to Vancouver 3-2 Tuesday night and is winless in its first two starts.

Defensemen Carol Vadnais and Dick Redmond of the Seals will miss tonight's game. Vadnais is on crutches with a sprained ankle and Redmond has a sore shoulder. However, both are expected to be ready to play either Friday against Vancouver or Sunday against Pittsburgh.

That leaves the Seals with only three healthy defensemen. General manager Garry Young said he may call up No. 1 draft choice Ken Baird from Omaha.

Bobby Sheehan, Vadnais, Walt McKechnie and Tommy Williams of the Seals all have three points so far this season and rank among the NHL's top 10 scorers.

Nolan Frets Bear Star Gale Sayers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Coach Dick Nolan of the San Francisco 49ers is worred about Gale Sayers, Kent Nix, Dick Butkus and Dick Gordon but mostly about Sayers.

"Sayers is ready," he said of the speedy running back of the Chicago Bears who has been slow rounding into form this year because of injuries. "He only carried seven times against New Orleans (in a 35-14 Chicago win) but I'll bet he carries twice as much against us."

The Bears, with a 3-1 record and a share of first place in the NFC's Central Division, provide the opposition for the 49ers at Candlestick Park Sunday afternoon.

With Nix taking over as quarterback from Jack Concannon and Bobby Douglass, the Bears have caught fire.

Ralston Ponders Trojans

OAKLAND (UPI)—"Our biggest game thus far' is the way Stanford football coach John Ralston looks at Saturday night's game against USC in Los Angeles.

"Sure they've lost a few games, but consider the teams they lost to—Oklahoma and Alabama, both among the top five in the country," said Ralston. He didn't mention the Trojans also lost to Oregon, a team that Stanford beat 38-17.

"USC is always a good team and this year is no exception," Ralston said. "They've had some peculiar injuries. They lost their best running back (Rod McNeill) all year with an injury and Lou Harris, another fine runner, has been out for the last two weeks, although I understand there is a chance he may play against us."

Ralston expressed some concern about the possible loss of linebacker Jeff Siem on whom the Stanford coach calls "the premier linebacker in the country." He suffered either a pulled or torn ligament in his knee against Washington and surgery may be required.

Stanford safety Benny Barnes and San Jose State linebacker Dave Chaney were selected defensive players of the week in the university division. Chaney was in on 15 tackles and returned two pass interceptions for touchdowns in San Jose State's 30-28 upset of Long Beach Sate. Barnes intercepted three of Sonny Sixkiller's passes in Stanford's 17-6 win.

California wide receiver Steve Sweeney, who caught three touchdown passes in the Bears' last-second win over Oregon State, was honored for his offensive heroics.

"I think right now Steve Sweeney is the best wide receiver on the coast," said Bears coach Ray Willsey.

Willsey expects a wide open game against Washington State in Spokane Saturday despite the fact the Bears had nine turnovers against Oregon State while the Cougars had eight in losing to UCLA.

"Washington State has an explosive offense and is probably the most improved team on the coast," said Willsey. "Had they not turned the football over themselves so often last week, I'm not sure they wouldn't have beaten UCLA."

Spartan coach Dewey King was elated by San Jose State's first win after three straight losses.

"We're out of the loser's syndrome now," he said. "We were behind 14-0 and Dave's first interception really turned it around for us."

Wide receiver Tom Bidegary of USF, who caught 13 passes for 245 yards and three touchdowns, and 250-pound defensive tackle Clinton Brown of Hayward State, who made 17 tackles, recovered a fumble and deflected a pass in the Pioneers 28-20 win over Chico State, were honored as the weekend's outstanding football players in the college division.

Warriors Suspend Baptiste

OAKLAND (UPI)—Hardship draftee Cyril Baptiste was suspended Tuesday by the Golden State Warriors of the National Basketball Association.

Team officials were mum on details of the suspension but did state Baptiste, a 6-9 forward from Creighton, "was not in condition to play NBA basketball." He was chosen last month in the hardship draft.

To pare the roster to 12, player-coach Al Attles placed himself on the injured reserve list where he must remain for at least five games. However, he can be reactivated after that.

Lamonica May Start Despite Leg Injury

OAKLAND (UPI) —Quarterback Daryle Lamonica is recovering quickly from a hamstring pull and may be ready to go against the Philadelphia Eagles Sunday in the Raiders home opener.

"There is no sign of a blood clot; that's favorable," he said. "I may be able to play."

Lamonica suffered the injury Sunday against the Denver Broncos when he ran on a keeper. Lefthander Ken Stabler then took over for Lamonica and bootlegged for one touchdown and passed nine yards to Raymond Chester for another.

However, Raiders coach John Madden hasn't made up his mind yet who will start at quarterback against the Eagles. Philadelphia has scored 24 points, lowest in the National Football League, while dropping its first four games.

After the third loss, head coach Jerry Williams was fired and replaced by defensive specialist Ed Khayat. The Eagles showed a noticeable improvement in defense while losing 13-0 to Minnesota last.

One of Khayat's first moves was to hire former Oakland and Buffalo head coach John Rauch as an assistant coach in charge of quarterbacks. Rauch is working with Rick Arrington and Pete Liske, the two Eagle quarterbacks, and telling them everything he remembers about possible Oakland defensive theories or personnel.

Tikes Sport Condemned

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The Little League pitching star pulls his cap down, takes the signal, goes into his special Vida Blue wind up and fires a blazing fastball.

The bat and ball never meet. The game is over and nine 10-year-old heroes trot off the field to the cheers of the crowd.

Nice, healthy competition, the parents agree as they drive their kids home.

"One of the most serious crimes of our day," a Philadelphia physician says," robbing children of their childhood.

The physician is Dr. Joseph Torg, Associate Professor of Orthopedics at the Temple University Medical School, a strong backer of athletics from high school to the professional playing field—but a strong critic of little league sports.

"If I had my way, little league sports would be abolished," Torg said Tuesday. "To push kids to the brink of mental and physical exhaustion is absurd."

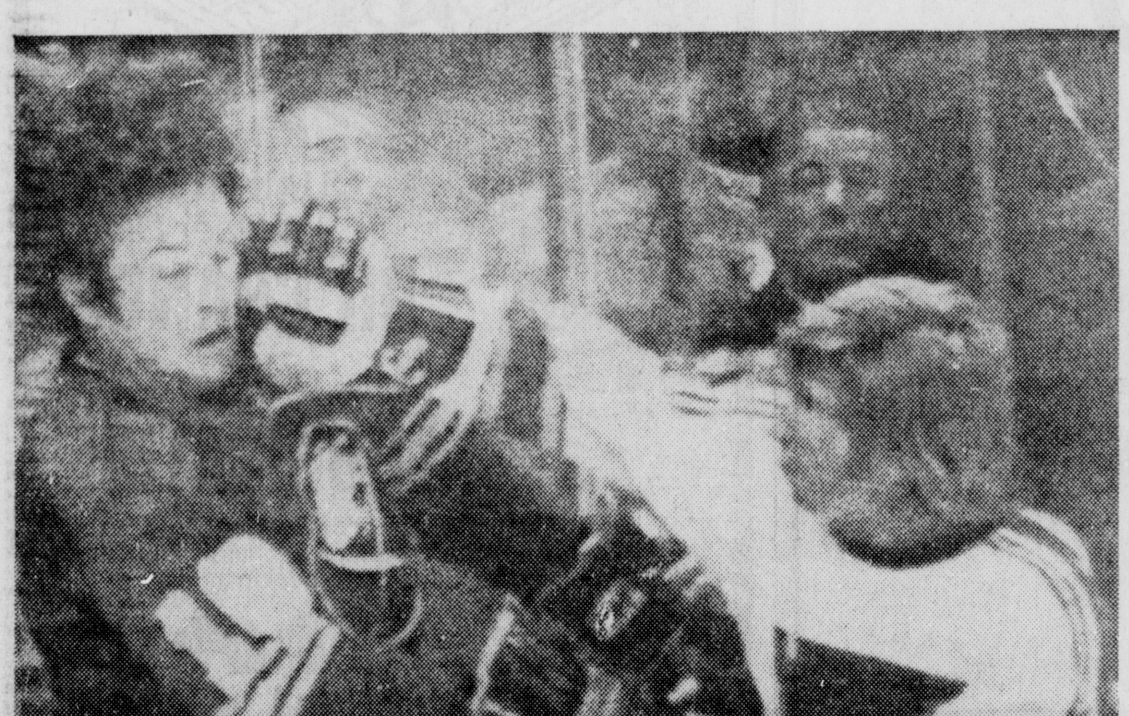
Torg, who recently completed a study of a baseball program at a local boy's club, is physician to two high school football teams, plus orthopedist to the Philadelphia 76ers basketball team and Temple's Football team.

He said his study showed the 8-to-12 year-olds who participated in baseball at the boys' club had few problems with the elbow and shoulder injuries common in little league because the emphasis was on recreation — not competition, and there was almost no parent participation.

"A pre-adolescent is not a competitive being," Torg said. "He's not at the stage where he's trying to exert himself and make a mark among his peers physically."

Instead, Torg said, the youngster is trying to learn how to entertain himself, explore the world, and establish relationships with others his own age. He thinks organized sports prevent the child from doing this.

"With adult interference he doesn't learn how to entertain himself, he can't establish peer group relationships," Torg said.



BLUE PACKS PUNCH FOR SABRE

St. Louis Blues' Garry Unger (R) connected with a hard right to the face of the Buffalo Sabres' Kevin O'Shea in a fight that erupted during the second period of last night's Sabres-Blues contest on St. Louis ice. The Blues won the fight and the game 4-1. See story on page 28.

Versatility Keys Moroski's Rise

By RON LENT

Novato High School's All-Marin County Athletic League quarterback Marty Moroski possesses great versatility.

Not only is he the I-J's Prep of the week for scoring one touchdown and passing for the game breaker in the final 52 seconds of Saturday's contest with visiting Terra Linda, but he is also a writer.

The 6-foot-3, 175-pound performer flashes a flare with the pen and the pass. In addition to completing 54 per cent of his 76 tosses for 486 yards and four touchdowns, Moroski is an expository writer.

In his pensive manner, Moroski examines "the world situation or even football, among other things."

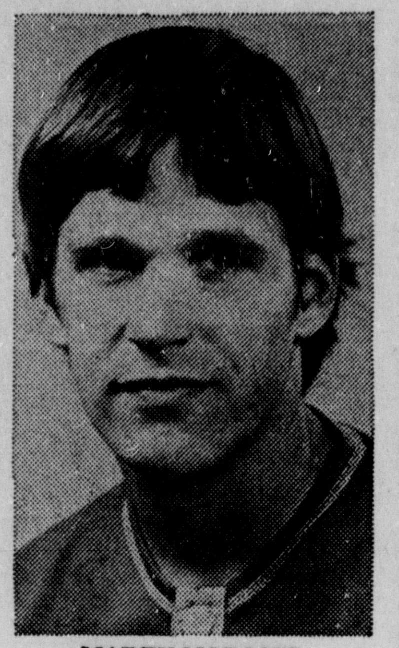
The son of San Marin High School Principal Henry J. Moroski, he has also dabbled in poetry. However, courses like "trigonometry and chemistry take up a lot of my time I might be using for writing," he commented candidly.

Despite this in-class workload and football, Moroski holds a 3.4 grade point average, or a B-plus. With such credentials, it is not surprising that college offers are dangled in front of him constantly.

At the present, he is leaning towards the University of California at Davis, but, Moroski cautioned, "I'm still open minded about college. I'm going to be studying either pre-law or biological sciences, and I understand the University of California system is fine academically and also has excellent football programs."

He hopes to one day become a lawyer tackling environment-polluting businesses. Moroski believes that a biology undertaking will be helpful "because law schools are looking for people with varied backgrounds."

With this type of foresight, Moroski is able to succeed in other avenues, like football and basketball. The two-year varsity cage veteran averaged 15 points last season as a forward.



MARTY MOROSKI

Moroski would like to continue his basketball career in college, but he is currently enveloped in reaching the Marin County Athletic League football crown. "I've never been on a title team before, and I really want this one. Everyone on the team does."

Buoyed by the common goals, the Novato "11" has ripped off three victories in four starts. "We've got a great bunch of guys and a great coach. If I've had any success, it is because of them," he pointed out.

Surrrre, but Moroski's added maturity and experience have also facilitated this drive towards the top. After a somewhat rocky start in practice this year, Moroski settled comfortably into the helm, reflecting assurance and dexterity at his key position.

"I try not to get rattled while in the huddle," he said.

The quarterback's cool apparently is the product of an evolutionary process. After arriving from Bakersfield in 1967, Moroski joined the San Jose Junior High football team in Novato as a fullback. He stayed at that spot until quarterback Greg Mazeres, now a fine San Marin split end, broke a leg.

"I was asked to fill in," Moroski recalled, "and I've stayed there ever since."

At this point, Moroski interjected that his "kid brother Mike is quarterbacking at San Jose now. He's going to be a pretty good one. He was on the Novato Babe Ruth All-Star team this summer."

When discussing diamond exploits, the 17-year-old Moroski is at no disadvantage; he plans to be a pitcher on this year's Hornet edition, but beyond that . . .

"I'm taking things one step at a time. In fact, I'm only thinking of our next opponent, Vallejo," and Vallejo is probably thinking about Marty Moroski, too.

Pirate Power Sets For Tough Dobson

bunt," Stargell deadpanned later. "Some guys can spend a whole career in baseball and never bunt home three runs."

Murtaugh said that "under these conditions" he wouldn't fine Robertson for his boner.

As for Blass, the wisecracking fastballer told the story of the missing notes on himself. He said he watched the games on TV, rather than go out in the dugout, "because with the picture from behind the plate, you can tell better about the pitches."

But, he said, the missing notes didn't hurt him much because "to tell you the truth, those first two games left me kinda confused."

"In the first game the Orioles hit homers, and in the second they hit singles all over the place," he said. "It didn't help much."

Blass, who was knocked out of the box twice by the San Francisco Giants in the National League playoffs, fanned eight Orioles and walked only two. He didn't give up a hit until Brooks Robinson singled in the fifth, and the only other hits were Frank Robinson's homer in the seventh and single in the ninth.

"I tried to throw two fast sliders in a row past Frank," said Blass. "You can see why he gets paid four times as much as me.

"Was it my best game of the year? Would you believe the best of my life?"

Blass said he threw 85 per cent fastballs and Weaver commented, "I coached him briefly in the minor leagues, I think in the insutructional league, and he was every bit as fast yesterday as he was then, and now he has control."

Walker, who will be opposed by Baltimore's Pat Dobson, the fourth Oriole 20-game winner, is a fellow who had a 5-0 record for the last month of the 1970 season, got off to a bad start this year when he lost a number of close games, and then came back with another fine September in which he was 4-0.

Walker is the young man who was highly praised but seldom used by Harry Walker when Walker managed the Pirates, and so wrote home to his mother in Texas, "I am alive and well —but not pitching —in Pittsburgh."

Murtaugh said he will follow Walker with Nelson Briles in Thursday's fifth game, rather than come back just yet with Dock Ellis, the Pirates' 19-game winner who lost the opening game.

"Ellis is not now the pitcher he was during the season," explained Murtaugh.

All of a sudden, thanks to Blass, Murtaugh is a man who may have some pitching to choose from, after all.

Canucks, Blues Triumph

St. Louis trimmed Buffalo 4-1 while Vancouver beat Philadelphia 3-2 in National Hockey League action last night.

Crisp scored the winning goal while the Blues were shorthanded in the first period. Buffalo rookie Richard Martin was trying to clear the puck from behind his own goal, but Crisp swiped the puck and jammed it past Roger Crozier.

Picard added the insurance goal against Crozier, who was replaced by Dave Dryden in the third period. Picard was skating backward toward a worse shooting angle when he slid the puck under the Buffalo goalie.

The first St. Louis goal by Sabourin came on a rebound of a shot by George Morrison off Crozier's pads, and Sutherland added the final tally against Dryden. Christian Bordeleau assisted on three of the four St. Louis goals.

The Sabres, who have never won a game at the St. Louis Arena, had their only goal from Martin. Don Luce had fired a weak shot at the chest of St. Louis goalie Ernie Wakely and Wakely skated away from the goalmouth as he juggled the puck in front of him. Wakely was out of position when he dropped it, and Martin easily pushed the puck into the cage.

Gene Carr, the Blues' top draft choice this season, played his first game in the National Hockey League and skated a full shift.

Stanford Defense Tops Pac-8

Stanford again leads the Pacific-8's defensive tabulations while the Universtiy of Southern California has taken over the offensive statistic leadership.

The Trojans are averaging a conference-high of 251.4 yards a game rushing and 403.4 yards total offense.

In other team statistics released Tuesday by the Pac-8, Sixkiller and Washington retained their leads as the conference's top passing combinations. Sixkiller's 226.2 aerial yards per game has boosted the Huskies to an average of 280.6 yards via the airways.

UCLA moved ahead of USC in passing defense, limiting foes to 94.6 aerial yards per contest compared to 95.8 by USC defenders.

In individual statistics, tailback Bobby Moore of Oregon continues to lead conference rushers with more than 141 yards a game. Washington State's Bernard Jackson, who is runnerup with an average of 112.2 yards, also moved into the scoring lead with 36 points.

Quarterback Don Bunce of Stanford is the total offense leader with an average of 229.2 yards compared to 208.2 for runnerup Sixkiller.

Oregon's Leland Glass retained his pass receiving lead with 26 catches for 333 yards and three touchdowns.

Brisker Arrested In Taxi Rhubarb

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—John Brisker, high scoring forward for the American Basketball Association Condors, was arrested at Three River Stadium Tuesday when he refused to get out of a taxi-cab whose driver had declined to transport him from a World Series game.

A spokesman for the Pittsburgh team charged that the arresting policemen beat the basketball player.

Brisker faced arraignment today on charges of assault and battery, disorderly conduct and resisting arrest. Two policemen who helped arrest the 6-foot-5, 210-pound athlete require hospital treatment.

Brisker did not make a team bus trip Tuesday night to Wheeling, W.Va., where the Condors defeated the Dallas Chaparrals, 120-118, in an ABA exhibition game.

"We sent him home and told him to get some sleep, because he was bruised, his ankle was banged up, he was obviously beaten," a team spokesman said.

According to the Condors, Brisker attend the World Series game, won by the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-1 over the Baltimore Orioles, with a woman friend. He and the unidentified white woman left the game early, so that Brisker could catch the team bus in plenty of time.

He waited 30 minutes for a taxi, the Condors said, and then climbed into the first one that pulled up by the Press gate.

"John said the driver refused to accept him as a passenger; the driver claimed the cab was reserved and told John he had to get out," the spokesman said.

Brisker claimed the driver had no right to refuse to transport an orderly passenger to his destination.

"The driver called the police and several policemen forcibly ejected John from the cab," the Condors spokesman said. "He said they hit him and called him a black b——."

Police said Brisker and a woman companion were arrested outside the stadium and taken to police headquarters. The woman companion was not charged, and Brisker later was released by a magistrate on personal recognizance.

Patrolman Howard Trojanowski and Rudolph Sablo were taken to Divine Providence Hospital after the incident. Trojanowski was reported in good condition in the intensive care unit after suffering an attack of chest pains.

San Rafael Wins Soccer Tilt; Remains On Top

San Rafael High School remained on top of the Marin County Athletic League soccer race with a 2-1 win over visiting Terra Linda High School yesterday.

In other games, runnerup Drake beat hosts San Marin 3-0, invading Novato won its first game, trimming Marin Catholic 4-3; while Redwood and Tamalpais played to a scoreless tie in Larkspur.

Misak Pirinjian scored both San Rafael goals, offsetting John Bartunik's tally for Terra Linda. Rolf Bell, Rich Larson, and Doug Harnsberger booted goals for Drake.

Marin Catholic Wins 21 In Row

Marin Catholic's "C" basketball team won its 21st consecutive game yesterday, a 57-34 decision over visiting Terra Linda.

Steve Webb had 21 to help push the host's record to 5-0.

Harrah's Picks Orioles By 7-5

STATELINE, Nev. (UPI)—Harrah's Tahoe Race Book has installed Baltimore as a 7-5 favorite to whip Pittsburgh in tonight's fourth World Series game.

Meanwhile in Las Vegas, oddsmaker Jimmy (The Greek) Snyder made Baltimore a slimmer 6-5 favorite. He's also listing the Orioles as 3-1 to win the series.

According to Snyder, the odds are 10-1 against Pittsburgh winning the next three games in a row and 12-5 against Baltimore taking the next two in a row.

Track

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—University of Oregon track Coach Bill Bowerman has been nominated by the United States Olympic track and field committee to coach the 1972 track and field team, the Oregonian reported Wednesday.

The paper said in its Wednesday edition that it had learned of the nomination through reliable sources. It said Bowerman was in New York to serve as chairman of the selection committee's study of 1972 trials sites and unavailable for comment.

According to the report, the nomination was between Bowerman and Stan Wright of Sacramento State, who served on Paytom Jordan's staff at the 1968 Mexico City games. Wright was reported to have agreed to serve as assistant coach for the U.S. team at Munich.

Tennis

EDINBURGH, Scotland (UPI)—Wimbledon champion Evonne Goolagong made a devastating return to competitive tennis after a month's absence when she disposed of England's Corinne Molesworth, 6-2, 6-1, in a Dewar Cup indoor circuit tournament Tuesday night.

The 20-year-old Australian needed only 40 minutes to crush the fifth-ranked British English girl and move into the women's singles third round. Miss Goolagong, the top seed, received a bye through the first round of the tournament, which is the first of a round-Britain series.

Football

NEW YORK (UPI) —Quarterback Joe Namath, injured in the first pre-season game Aug. 7, went through an easy 20-minute workout Tuesday and reported his condition as good.

There was no indication, however, when Namath would be able to return to the Jets, who scored only four touchdowns while losing three of their first four games in the National Football League.

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (UPI) —Head football coach Bill Dooley of the University of North Carolina says his program needs no defense and he considers the Bill Arnold case closed.

Dooley's comments followed criticism of the football program by 11 former players who called for a full investigation into the death last month of Arnold, a second-string guard who died 15 days after suffering a heat stroke.

General

TORONTO (UPI)—Stafford Smythe, president and principal stockholder of Maple Leaf Gardens Ltd. and of the Toronto Maple Leafs Hockey Club of the National Hockey League, died today at the age of 51.

Smythe underwent emergency surgery Monday night at Wellesley Hospital in downtown Toronto to stem internal bleeding brought about by an ulcer condition.

BOATING

More Boat Control For Coast Guard

Already one section of the Federal Boat Safety Act of 1971 has been used to enforce safe boating practices, although most provisions of the new law won't be felt or noticed for a year or more.

The Act was signed into law by President Nixon on Aug. 11, and three weeks later on the Labor Day weekend Coast Guard officers boarded thousands of boats all across the nation under the authority of Section 13.

This is the "Termination of Unsafe Use" section and gives Coast Guard boarding officers the power to take immediate steps to remedy such hazards as insufficient life saving devices, overloading or lack of fire extinguishers. An officer may even direct a boat operator to return to his mooring until the problem is corrected.

The Coast Guard districts had been directed to enforce Section 13 over the holiday weekend not only to try to reduce the high Labor Day fatality rate, but to announce dramatically to boaters that the new law was in force.

I was in the Sandusky, Ohio, area of Lake Erie that weekend and the fact that the Ninth District officers would be out in force had received wide publicity. A number of boats were boarded. However, I couldn't find anybody who had been cited for a violation. But, I think it had a good effect generally, and it certainly got people talking about the new law.

Boat safety is a perennial topic as the questions I've been asked this summer indicate:

Q. As a skipper I resent intrusions on my boat . . . don't most boatmen comply with the rules anyway.

A. About 70 per cent do, and about 30 per cent don't. In the first six months of this year, for example, the Coast Guard Auxiliary, which makes free courtesy checks of boats for safety equipment, examined 76,842 boats, and 30,814 failed to pass the inspection.

Q. How much have boating accidents increased in the past few years?

A. They haven't. Coast Guard figures released earlier this year show 3,803 boating accidents in 1970, 4,067 in 1969 and 4,350 in 1966.

Q. What is the major change in the new law that affects the "little man?"

A. Probably the section requiring all motorboats, regardless of horsepower, to be registered. In states where boats under 10-hp were not required to be registered until now, it will cost the "little guy" a couple of dollars extra a year for a registration fee.

Q. I believe sailboats are the safest . . . what proportion of all boats in use are sailing craft?

A. Boating industry Association estimates there are 8,814,000 boats in use in the United States, and 620,000 of them are sail powered. More than 5,200,000 are powered by outboards.

Q. The law requires a life preserver aboard a boat for each person. Does it say where they have to be kept.

A. No. But it's reasonable that they should be stored where they can be reached quickly in an emergency.

Richest Tennis Go Moves To Dallas

DALLAS (UPI) — Lamar Hunt, a director and guiding force behind the World Championship Tennis professional tour, announced Tuesday the tour's final match this year — the richest tennis match ever played —will be moved from Madison Square Garden in New York to Dallas.

The championship match, with $50,000 going to the winner and $20,000 going to the loser, will be held Nov. 26 at Dallas' Memorial Auditorium.

"We felt that since this is the first year of the event, we needed to establish it in the headquarter city of WCT," said Hunt. There was no dispute with anyone in New York. We just felt more comfortable having the match here."

The WCT tour has completed 16 of a scheduled 20 events.

At the end of those 20 events the eight leading players, determined on a point basis, will be eligible to compete for the $50,000 prize.

Quarterfinals and semifinals will be played in Houston Nov. 18, 19 and 21 to determine the two players who will compete in a five-set championship match in Dallas.

After 16 tournaments this year the leading eight players are Rod Laver, Tom Okker, Ken Rosewall, Cliff Drysdale, John Newcombe, Arthur Ashe, Marty Riessen and Roy Emerson.

The championship match is set for the day after Thanksgiving, and although Hunt conceded the date might hurt ticket sales he felt the stature of the event would be enough to fill the 8,500-seat auditorium.

"The date was set some time ago for television reasons before Dallas even came into the picture as a site," said Hunt. "The television people showed considerable interest in putting this match on that Friday."

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (UPI)—North Carolina coach Bill Dooley Tuesday said the case surrounding the death of Bill Arnold was closed and that the UNC football program needed no defense.

Dooley, in his weekly press conference, said he was happy that the Tar Heel squad had expressed full support for the football program.

The team's action was prompted by a statement issued by some former UNC football players Sunday calling for further investigation into the death of Arnold, a second-string guard who died 15 days after suffering a heat stroke. A faculty committee that made an inquiry absolved the athletic department of any negligence.

"The reasons I have not said anything publicly about the situation until now is that the Carolina football program needs no defense," said Dooley. "Our program is not on trail.

"An intelligent group of people have studied the incidents surrounding Bill Arnold's death, and have found no wrongdoing on the part of anyone. We consider the matter closed."

Athletic director Homer Rice, who was present at the luncheon, expressed his confidence in Dooley.

Marin Drivers Try For Racing Honors

A strong entry of Marin County drivers will compete in the international Can-Am Monterey Grand Prix auto racing championships this weekend at Laguna Seca Raceway.

The early entries include Gerald Slick and Kevin O'Neil of Sausalito, San Rafael's Bob Bacich and Mill Valley's Dick Templeton. Templeton and O'Neil will perform in the Formula F race, while Bacich and Slick will carry Marin's banners in the E Production event.

The $75,000 Can-Am feature will headline Sunday's race card with current world champion Jackie Stewart of Scotland leading the entrants. The list also includes: Denis Hulme of New Zealand, Vic Elford of England, Jo Siffert of Switzerland, Indianapolis 500 pole holder Peter Revson, plus strong Ferrari and Porsche entries.

In all, 40 of the world's top pro drivers will start the program Friday with qualifying trials. Amateur championships racing will be on tap Saturday and Sunday.

More amateur racing will be held Sunday morning followed by professional Formula Vee event and the 200-mile big sports car go.

More than 40,000 are expected to attend this charity racing weekend event, which is free to children, as co-favorites in the Laguna race, Hulme and Revson, attempt to dislodge each other.

Besides the Monterey-Castrol Grand Prix the Sunday lineup has the final race in the International Pro Super Vee Championship.

49er Ticket Drawing Slated

A football movie will be shown and a drawing for two free tickets to the 49ers-Chicago Bears game Sunday will be held at tomorrow's meeting of the Junior 49er Minor Club.

The club, sponsored by the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation department, will meet at 7 p.m. at the community recreation center, 180 Camino Alto.

NBA SEASON OPENS

'New' Bob Lanier Paces Detroit Piston Triumph

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Who would have thought the Detroit Pistons would turn into a fast break team with Bob Lanier in the lineup?

Coach Red Holzman of the New York Knicks didn't really believe it until the Pistons played two exhibition games in Madison Square Garden last week. Holzman became a firm believer Tuesday night after Detroit surprised the Knicks, 91-84 in the opening of the National Basketball Association.

Lanier lost 25 pounds during the off season, dropping the weight by running up and down the stairs at Wayne State's football stadium in Michigan.

The ex-St. Bonaventure All-America used his lightened load to excellent advantage as he outmaneuvered the more experienced Willis Reed and kept popping the ball through the basket from the outside.

In other National Basketball Association openers, Philadelphia defeated Chicago, 114-100; Seattle ripped Buffalo, 123-90, and Cincinnati clobbered Atlanta, 127-113.

"Reed really worked Lanier over," said Detroit coach Butch Van Breda Kolff. "But Lanier now gives us three guys that can hurt the other team. When the Knicks began concentrating on Bob, somebody else took over and did the damage."

Holzman agreed that Detroit made the Knicks play the Pistons' brand of basketball and forced New York into taking bad shots.

Lanier scored 29 points, including 20 in the first half. Dave Bing picked up the scoring slack in the second half with a 16 point burst. Howard Komives, an ex-Knick, powered two drives, with six consecutive points each time, that put Detroit ahead for good in the second quarter and gave the Pistons a working margin in the third period.

Willis Reed topped New York with 20 points.

Lanier flew back to Detroit with advice from the Knick team physician that he have the small toe on his left foot x-rayed. The 6-11 Detroit pivotman faid he stubbed the toe at home Monday and that the injury was agravated when somebody stepped on it late in the Knick game. He was told the toe might be broken.

"I felt the pain but it didn't really incapacitate me," Lanier said after the game.

The Milwaukee Bucks open defense of their NBA title in Phoenix tonight and Philadelphia is at Houston in Wednesday's only games.

Flinkote Picking Up Building Steam

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I would appreciate your opinion of Flintkote Co. (NYSE). I have had shares for quite a few years and they don't seem to be going anywhere. I was thinking of changing for something else. Your opinion please? — J. C.

A. As one of the leading producers of a broad line of building materials, Flintkote is slowly beginning to reap the benefits of the pickup in construction acitivity. Strong evidence of this earnings turnaround may be seen in the firm's second quarter (1971) results. For this period, ended June, sales gained a healthy 22 per cent while profits per share climbed to 65 cents from last year's depressed 34 cents. All of the profit gains thus far were realized in this period, the first quarter usually being a deficit period.

With construction acitivity continuing at an outstanding recovery pace (housing starts rose 60 per cent in August to a record level) and an improving rate of economic acitivity, Flintkote shares are worth holding for further recovery gains and the 3.4 per cent yield.

Q. I purchased shares of Cities Service (NYSE), being interested in moderate appreciation and income. The oils seem to be depressed. Should I hold or sell? — R. R.

A. Present weakness in the oil group is attributed to a host of industry-wide woes. However, as you may have noted, shares of Cities Service have been strong and active recently reflecting the company's porposal to exchange 2.6 million shares of Atlantic Richfield it holds for its own stock, thereby reducing company's capitalization by 13.3 per cent.

Former weakness in Cities Service was due to a slippage in earnings begun in the latter half of 1970. Weak prices, especially for gasoline, and rising costs cut into profit margins. For the first half of 1971, earnings per share slipped 7.1 per cent on a 9.1 per cent gain in sales.

While results for all of 1971 may be only slightly ahead of last year, substantial improvement is anticipated in 1972 and beyond. Thus, shares should be held for the long term.

Missile Pact To Dallas Firm

DALLAS (BW) — The Army has awarded LTV Aerospace Corp. a $10,269,650 contract for fiscal 1972 procurement of long lead time items for the Lance missile system.

The contract calls for delivery of hardware and contains options which the Army could use later to buy missiles and ground support equipment, company spokesmen said.

Key West Homes Will Be Acquired

SANTA ANA (BW) — An agreement in principle has been reached whereby Golden West Mobile Homes Inc. will acquire Key West Homes Inc., a Mira Loma based company.

Under terms of the proposed acquisition, Golden West Mobile Homes Inc. will acquire the net assets of Key West Homes Inc.

DOTTING THE EYE

Tina Golden, an employee at Omark Industries plant in Portland, Ore., dots the eye with a pen clip. The clips are punched out by a machine that works to tolerances of one ten-thousandth of an inch — which is approximately how long a person's thumbnail grows in 18 minutes.

Airline Shows Hike In Revenue

OAKLAND (BW) — World Airways has reported sharply increased revenues and earnings for the month of August and for the first eight months of 1971.

Operating revenues for August were $8,948,000 vs. $7,095,000 for the same month last year.

Consolidated net income FBR August was $899,000, or 9 cents a share, against $760,000, or 7.6 cents a share, in August of last year.

Income from Airline operations for the month rose to $648,000, compared with $417,000 in the August month a year ago. First Western Bank which is owned by World Airways, contributed $241,000 to net income in August against $343,000 a year ago.

For the eight months ended in August, operating revenues were $52,292,000 vs. $37,723,000 in the year ago period.

Consolidated net income for the eight months was $7,067,000, or 71 cents per share, compared with $2,342,000, or 23 cents per share a year ago.

Early-Hour Stocks Low Irregularly

NEW YORK (UPI) —Stocks were irregularly lower through the first two hours of trading today.

Analysts noted that while investors were encouraged by organized labor's decision to back "Phase Two" of President Nixon's economic program, they still were a little puzzled because of the lack of details about the guidelines to be used by the various units in the postfreeze program.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index showed a loss of 0.01 at 99.56. Advances topped declines, 601, to 538, among the 1,501 issues crossing the tape.

Prices slightly lower in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

On the Big Board, electronics encountered most of the selling. IBM, weakest of the group, was off more than 3 points after spurting 9 3-8 Tuesday in the wake of a bright earnings statement.

Among the issues down a point or so were Bausch & Lomb, Natomas, UAL Inc., Flying Tiger, Loews Corp., and Great Western United.

Steels lost fractions, as did most motors, and aircrafts. Rails were mixed.

Security Lack May Hurt Freighters

LOS ANGELES (BW) — The air freight industry, by relying on outmoded security programs, stands to lose a large percentage of the profits being generated by the national dock strikes, warns Mel Andrews, president of Transport Protective Association (TPA).

TPA, the nation's largest all-transport protection firm, however, believes the expected heavy losses arising from cargo theft and subsequent customer claims can be effectively reduced with proper security procedures.

Grubb And Ellis Co. Will Close San Rafael Office; To Greenbrae

Sometime next month, Grubb and Ellis Co. will close its San Rafael real estate office at 1029 C Street and relocate it in Greenbrae.

The company is taking space at 575 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in the building now under construction for Bank of California's new branch in Marin. Actually there will be two Grubb and Ellis offices — one under Harold A. Strouss handling residential properties and the other under William Root, handling the commercial division.

The commercial division has recently added two men to its staff: Albert Coppin of Petaluma, formerly an engineer in the construction business, who will specialize in investment properties, and George Denney of Greenbrae, an office leasing specialist, who has transferred from the Grubb and Ellis office in Oakland.

WILLIS W. BABB of San Rafael has been named senior vice president in charge of corporate relations for California Blue Shield. Before joining the organization in 1956 he was an officer in the U.S. Navy. He became manager of advertising and public relations for Blue Shield in Southern California in 1958, statewide director of that department in 1960, assistant to the president in 1966 and executive assistant in 1967.

Novato Heeds A Call, Backs College Bond

After six hours of ploughing through 23 items on its agenda, the Novato City Council adjourned at 2 a.m. today — to a meeting at 8 p.m. next Tuesday to finish the other 18 agenda items left untouched.

A third of the marathon session was devoted to the public hearing on the proposed residential construction moratorium. (See story on page 1).

After warning Marin Community College District spokesmen that Novatans would become irate if plans to complete the Indian Valley Colleges campus failed, the council voted 4-0 to endorse Measure A on the Nov. 2 ballot. Councilman George C. Quesada abstained from voting on the measure, which calls for a $16.7 million bond issue to build the North Marin campus and complete the Kentfield campus.

The Novato City Council also:

BEDROOM TAX — Reintroduced an amended ordinance requiring builders to pay $75 per bedroom or to deed an equivalent amount of parklands to the city in all new construction projects.

MENDOCINO GARDENS — Approved development plans for 32 detached single-family units at the southwest corner of Novato Boulevard and Euclayptus Avenue, after considerable discussion of saving the existing trees on the property. Consultant Norman Gilroy said dwellings would be relocated if necessary.

APARTMENTS — Approved precise plans for 189 apartments on 9.84 acres on Ignacio Boulevard south of the Pacheco Plaza shopping center.

FLOODING — Approved planning commission recommendations that curbs in the Crossroads Unit 1 subdivision at South Novato Boulevard and Highway 101 be only 5.5 feet above sea level instead of the 7 feet normally required by city ordinances.

TRAFFIC — Approved a Traffic Safety Committee recommendation to install a "yield" sign at Balra Drive and Shevelin Road.

PARADE — Granted the San Marin Homeowners Association a permit for the group's second annual Halloween parade Oct. 31.

HIRING — Approved a contract to hire three employees for one year under President Richard M. Nixon's emergency employment program, with $16,816 federal funding. City Mgr. Charles A. Brown reported the city's original request for more police officers was denied, but two maintenance men and a secretary were approved for the federal program. Cost to the city is 10 per cent matching funds.

STATE — Approved purchase of a 1.282-acre parcel of state surplus land at the end of Reservoir Drive, at a cost of $2,000.

SEAL — Set a hearing on adoption of the redesigned city seal for 8 p.m. Nov. 2.

CENTER — Voted a resolution authorizing condemnation action against the Silva and Simmons properties south of the Community Center.

SHOPS — Postponed indefinitely action on application for a planned neighborhood shopping center at the corner of South Novato Boulevard and the future extension of Redwood Boulevard, to serve 2,500 planned homes in the neighborhood.

WATER MAIN — Granted North Marin County Water District an easement for an underground line through city-owned land adjoining Novato Creek in San Marin Unit 9.

TAXI — Approved franchise transfer to D and K Enterprises.

REZONING — Postponed to Jan. 11, 1972, action on a request to rezone a 100-foot by 600-foot strip adjoining Lou Sutton School from A-2 agricultural to R-P planned residential, after extensive deate over how to develop the narrow parcel.

Tule Elk Protection To Reagan

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill designed to protect California's tule elk yesterday won final legislative approval in a 66-0 Assembly vote that sent the measure to the governor for his signature.

The measure, SB 722 by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, would bar the Department of Fish and Game from allowing hunting of the little elk until their statewide population reached 2,000, about four times the present population.

Conservationists have urged the larger population to prevent extinction of the elk, while ranchers have objected that the elk compete with their livestock for feed.

The bill also directs the department to attempt to relocate surplus tule elk as the only free-roaming herd in the state outgrows its range in the Owens Valley, Inyo County. Point Reyes National Seashore is a possible relocation site, according to a federal study.

N. Coastal Agency Has Powers Cut

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill creating a North Coast planning commission to include Sonoma County, once again amended to weaken its powers, has reached the Assembly floor.

The bill, SB 920 by Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, would create a five-county North Coast Area Planning and Development Organization as a statutory counterpart to the Association of Bay Area Governments. Sonoma voters have balloted to quit ABAG in favor of such a northern county organization.

Reinserting an amendment he had dropped late last month, Collier again cut the proposed organization's powers by giving each local governing agency the power to veto any of the organization's policies or actions. The amendment, the fifth since the bill was introduced, came as the measure last week passed the ways and means committee to the lower house floor.

Final action by the Assembly would send the bill back to the Senate for concurrence in the new amendments.

A Victory For The Winemaker

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House Ways and Means Committee has struck a blow for the little old winemaker — unmarried variety.

The action is unlikely to make friends among some women's liberationists who might want to bottle their own.

The taxwriters voted Tuesday to let single people bottle up to 100 gallons of wine without paying any tax. Presently they can't, whether they are men or women.

It's In History Books Because Of Newspapers

Not long ago, we heard a talk by an educator who (1) flayed the press for what he claimed was distortion of the news, and (2) a little farther along in the same speech, referred to graft and corruption in local government in America's past, using as his example the Tweed Ring.

Many American history texts include an account of the graft by William Marcy Tweed and his Tammany Hall associates in New York of the 1870s. It is a familiar part of American history.

WHAT THE SPEAKER apparently failed to recognize, however, was that Tweed is in the history books because of a newspaper. If the New York Times had not obtained the evidence of the Tweed Ring's grafts and published it, the ring would have continued indefinitely and likely would eventually have phased out without a word getting into printed histories.

As a matter of fact, the Tweed Ring was no worse than its predecessors in New York City — it just got more publicly. The corruption probably was more odious in the 1850s, when Fernando Wood was mayor. That was when, among other things, the city council sold itself the city hall to raise money to meet a payroll, and then — after taxes came in — transferred it back to the city at a handsome profit. Tweed and his mayor, Oakey Hall, never came up with anything quite matching that.

IN CALIFORNIA HISTORY books, there is likely to be mention of the Schmitz-Ruef corruption early in this century in San Francisco, and the "cleanup" that followed it — because that, too, was exposed by a newspaper and became part of history.

But Fremont Older, the San Francisco Bulletin editor responsible for that expose, regretted later that Abe Ruef and Eugene E. Schmitz had been prosecuted while others who shared in the spoils escaped, and recognized that the prosecution had not permanently cleaned up San Francisco politics.

Other corrupt administrations have flourished in city and state governments without being brought to book. You aren't likely to find them mentioned in the history books — because no newspaper exposed them.

That same historians and teachers of history who are quick to condemn the press are dependent upon yesteryear's newspapers for the stuff of the hostory they write and teach. No one ever heard of a historian exposing misdeeds in government. The newspapers do that.

WE HAVE A VERY recent instance in the publication of the Pentagon Papers, begun in the New York Times and Washington Post and picked up by other newspaers throughout the country. That brought so much to light that it undoubtedly has influenced White House policy on winding up the Vietnam War, and has even forced the Pentagon to publish its own "sanitized" version of the papers.

That's tomorrow's history — in this year's newspapers.

A generation from now, other speakers will be criticizing the press in one breath and referring to the Pentagon papers in the next — oblivious that only because of the New York Times and Washington Post did the contents of those papers become known.

Yesterday's news is today's history. Today's news is tomorrow's history. A lot of it would be missing if it weren't for the newspapers.

We mention this because we think it appropriate during National Newspaper Week.

Characters Switch Roles In Farm Labor Drama

By MARY K. SHELL

SACRAMENTO (Capitol) — It's no wonder there is so much confusion surrounding farm labor legislation. The characters in the drama keep changing roles.

Three years ago the California Labor Federation, meeting in convention, adopted a resolution calling for secret ballot elections to determine union representation for workers not covered by the National Labor Relations Act. This included farm workers.

At the organizations's request, in February, 1969, Sen. Alan Short, D-Stockton, introduced SB 307. This measure, patterned after the Wagner Act, set up provisions for union representation elections supervised by the state Department of Industrial Relations.

The farm employers opposed the bill. In fact, at that time they opposed any attempt to legislate in the farm labor field on a statewide basis.

Senator Short's bill didn't go very far. It didn't even make it out of the Senate Labor and Social Welfare Committee.

A LOT HAS HAPPENED down on the farm in the last two years. Without so much as a Geneva Convention-like rule to say what's fair in farm labor warfare, the tension has mounted between the groweers, the workers and the unions, particularly United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, AFL-CIO, headed by Cesar Chavez.

UFWOC has used almost any means available to force growers to the bargaining table.

The growers under contract with UFWOC or the Teamsters, however, represent a small segment of the state's No. 1 industry.

The warfare continues without rules. The remaining unorganized segment of the industry has made it clear this year it is tired of waiting for action from Washington and is now looking to Sacramento for a workable farm labor bill.

But now, UFWOC and the California Labor Federation figure they're doing all right without legislation and have successfully opposed two farm labor bills in the Assembly.

NOW ALONG COMES Sen. John Harmer, R-Glendale, who two years ago worked incognito in the grape vineyards for a week to learn workers' attitudes toward UFWOC and the growers.

Harmer wants the workers to have free elections to decide union representation for themselves. When the Assembly committee killed off the two measures introduced in that house, Harmer revived his SB 40 and amended in language almost identical to that contained in Senator Short's SB 307 of the 1969 session.

Harmer was assured of Democratic support in the Senate and he got it. SB 40 passed through two committees and early this month the bill was passed on the Senate floor by a vote of 22-15.

Battling it all the way were UFWOC and (you guessed it) the California Labor Federation, in spite of the fact it is essentially the same piece of legislation the union organization's convention delegates called for three years ago.

Enter Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, who had a hand in killing off the other two farm labor bills.

The Assembly Labor Relations Committee was to hear Harmer's bill today.

Child Psychologist's Column Wanted

Dr. Haim Ginott is a famous child psychologist who writes a syndicated column, "Between Us," handled by King Features. I have read his books and last Wednesday (Oct. 6) attended his lecture to a standing-room audience at College of Marin. He is exceptionally good and I would like very much to have access to his column, "Between Us."

Road Not Adequate For Proposed Project

As residents of Lucas Valley, we would like to express our concern over the proposed rezoning of the Grady Ranch, located four miles west of Highway 101, in favor of Mr. and Mrs. Patterson and their renaissance project.

After spending the better part of an evening listening to the Pattersons' vague answers to questions pertaining to the property and the access routes, consisting exclusively of Lucas Valley Road, we feel that it would be totally irresponsible of the planning commission to consider allowing this project to progress any further. Two-lane Lucas Valley Road is incapable of handling the additional estimated 10,000 to 12,000 vehicles per day currently attending the Renaissance Faire without causing mammoth traffic jams and intolerable inconvenience to the more than 4,000 residents of this valley, not to mention the entire Gallinas Valley. Imagine a two-hour return trip from Saturday or Sunday morning nearby outings or the inconvenience to visiting friends and relatives.

Chief Bonfield of the Marinwood Fire Department advised that it would be virtually impossible for fire and emergency vehicles to enter or exit Lucas Valley under present road conditions with such traffic as the Renaissance Faire would generate.

We would appreciate your making public this situation in the hope that this may help influence our planning commission and board of supervisors who are vulnerable to public opinion.

KENNETH GOSLINER
San Rafael.

High School Trouble Not As Described

I have just finished reading a short article on Page 8 of the I-J, Oct. 5, entitled "School Racial Fight Rumor is Dispelled." I am shocked and dismayed that such an important subject was treated so naively that your duty to your readers to inform them of the truth has sadly been ignored.

On the preceding afternoon, I was present when the investigating sergeant from the San Rafael Police Department took testimony from 11 teen-agers concerning the incidents of that afternoon and five girls, four of which were white, had been beaten severely by black girls on the high school campus.

The sergeant was asked by me how many acts of violence between blacks and whites at the school he had investigated the last school year, and he answered two or three. When the 11 children were asked how many incidents they knew of, the answers ranged from 15 to 25.

It is a known fact by the children involved and their parents that a major effort was made by the former principal, Dr. Ellsberg (who was asked to resign) and his immediate associates to squelch as much information as possible on these acts of violence between blacks and whites.

It was hoped that with the change in administration they would be open and above-board with the interested public and treat the problem rather than hiding it and hoping it will go away.

In closing, if the problem was so minor, then why was I able to observe, the day your article was published, a total of nine police, three patrol cars, a police motorcycle, an inspector's car with one sergeant driving, and most of the administration in front of the high school at 2:30? Keeping the peace?

Good reporting starts with getting the facts and when it comes to racial violence at San Rafael High School, you won't get the facts from the administration.

ROBERT L. GRIME
San Rafael

Resident Opposed To Renaissance Center

I ask the Board of Supervisors of Marin County, and all those concerned with zoning and permits, to totally reject the plan to allow the Renaissance Center and Faire to be held in Lucas Valley.

As a resident of Lucas Valley who enjoys the quiet atmosphere, clean smog-free air, and relatively traffic-free streets, I believe that the monumental traffic problems that will occur, along with the tremendous influx of people that the fair and center will attract on a yearly basis (not just five week-ends a year), can only be detrimental to Lucas Valley, its residents, and the surrounding communities. The promoters, Ron and Phyllis Patterson, have attempted to "sell" the idea of a center and fair to the residents of Lucas Valley (under the guise of so-called "culture" and "education") and failed.

The lack of proper and intelligent zoning of the available land in Lucas Valley to minimize future development, especially when commercial zoning is sought, can only cause irreparable damage to the already fragile environment we live in.

Hopefully, the very reasons my family and I moved to Lucas Valley will not be destroyed by the county supervisors and zoning officials allowing the Renaissance Faire and Center in Lucas Valley.

Music Chest Ends Successful Season

The Marin Music Chest has just closed one of its most successful seasons of summer concerts in Forest Meadows, Dominican College, San Rafael.

We feel this is due, in a great measure, to the cooperation given us by your staff in helping to publicize our activities.

Please extend our thanks and appreciation to Maybelle Speckmann, Don Keown, Joan Lisetor and Barbara Hosmer for their efforts in our behalf.

We have been bringing the great artists of opera, concert, symphony orchestras and dance companies to Marin audiences for the past 37 years, and, without your help, hope to continue to bring "culture" to Marin.

It's Time To Draw The Line Against Destructive Violence

WASHINGTON — It's time to quit being soft on violence.

I'm talking about violence as a means to social change, whether in prison or on the campus or in the ghettos.

I'm talking about:

Violence by those who use civil rights for themselves to deny civil rights to others.

Violence which threatens, maims and kills other people and is then justified as the only way to get public attention.

Violence by those who destroy public property, university buildings and government offices and who accept no responsibility for what they have done.

ANTHONY LEWIS in the New York Times remarks that "it is too easy to say that violent tactics can never be justified" and he then argues there is only one condition when violence cannot be justified as a part of the political process.

Taht condition, he says, is in a "perfect society." And since there is no perfect society, that gives such a wide approval to violence that to those who think that way, violence becomes a way of life, a worthy part of a democratic society.

What is needed today is not a blanket justification for violence under almost any circumstances nor a bland assertion that violence can never be justified under any circumstances.

MOST AMERICANS would approve the use of violence against the king of England to end "taxation without representation."

Most Americans would say that if the Jews in Nazi Germany had been able to escape from the gas chambers of Auschwitz by holding their guards as hostages, that would be justified.

But these exceptions do not justify violence in a free society. The danger isn't that we will smugly condemn the use of violence to change the system but that we will dangerously blur the dividing line between legitimate civil disobedience and useless, reckless, criminal violence.

The need is to draw the line so clearly that we will not be tempted to assume that any group which has just grievances is justified in resorting to violence in a society where there is free speech, a free press and the right to vote, open to everybody 18 years and older.

SHOULDN'T THE LINE be drawn right here?

Peaceful civil disobedience against a law which many believe unconstitutional or unfair or to demand social change, is justifiable. Those who engage in it may have to accept a legal penalty. But they are making their case. Gandhi showed the way and by civil disobedience he wrested India's freedom from Britain.

Unpeaceful, uncivil violence which uses civil rights to deny others their civil rights and which destroys property, endangers and takes lives, whatever the purpose, is unjustifiable.

Condemning such violence totally is not saying that no kind of civil disobedience is ever justifiable. Such violence is not a legitimate part of the democratic process. Its effect is to destroy the democratic process and that is what many of the violent-minded want.

THIS IS NO APPEAL against change. This is no appeal for the status quo. This is no claim that there are not many reforms in our social and political system which are needed. But violence is the road to freezing the system, not improving it.

Vigorous, peaceful demonstration works in the United States as well as in India. The most valuable and wide-ranging civil rights legislation ever to pass Congress came, not in response to violent disorder, but in response to the nonviolent, peaceful, massive march on Washington in 1963.

Dissent is the lifeblood of social change. Violence is the poison which will kill social change.

BY NO MEANS NEUTRAL

Sousa Turns 'Em On — Even In Soviet Capital

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON— Mr. Nixon waved the flag only ever so gently in his anticlimactic speech about Phase 2 of his wage-price stabilization effort.

The temptation in such a case is run up Old Glory with great fanfare and point to it at every punch line, making it clear to potential doubters that subscribing to the economic game plan is tantamount to taking the oath of allegiance. Instead, with uncharacteristic restraint, Mr. Nixon let an unnamed lady from Pampa, Tex., sound the call to colors. He read her letter saying, "Let us all hope that Americans will once again realize that we must be willing to sacrifice for a long-term goal and once again have pride in our country." (Pan to flag, rippling in breeze, old bombers flying over in V-formation.)

But that is not to say the President's red-white-and-blue blood count was low. No sooner had he told the country once again that high wages are bad and healthy profits are good than he hurried upstairs, threw on a maroon blazer and a pair of tan slacks, and dropped in by surprise at the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, where a combined armed services band was dedicating the concert stage to the memory of John Philip Sousa.

IF THERE IS ANYTHING more inspiring to a tired chief executive than a stiff dose of Sousa, it probably had better not be explored here. In fact, you don't have to be President, or have to be born in Yorba Linda, Calif., in 1913, and live through the Yankee Doodle Dandy days of World War I as a kindergarten-age kid in middle America (West Coast lemon-grove division) to break out in goose pimples when the band strikes up a Sousa march.

I can certify that most other Americans do, too. The March King's music is the most recognizably American sound anyone has ever written. I emphasize that because somebody might challenge me with jazz or Bluegrass or the "railroad blues." But nobody before Sousa had found an American sound, American spirit in music. Connoissuers of marches know that much European martial music, for example, has an oompah quality more at home in the beer garden than on the parade ground, or in the Balkans a conspiratorial sonorousness that reminds you more of Eric Ambler espionage intrigues than charging cavalry.

But Sousa, now, that's our kind of chauvinism — the kind with a smile. It says what Merle Haggard says in "Okie from Muskogee," only without words, and without offending pot-smokers, bead and sandal wearers and draft dodgers the way Haggard's lyrics do. If it does offend them, too, with its unquestioning patriotism, it has not yet occurred to them to put it on their public list of grievances.

It turns on hardhats, boy scouts, old Marines, football crowds, admirers of drum majorettes and presidents. It also excites people who have never heard it before, who don't know what it stands for and are in fact a little embarrassed when they find out.

I REFER TO ONE evening at the concert hall of the Tchaikovsky Conservatory in Moscow. The brilliant young Eastman Conservatory Orchestra was performing under the fiery old Howard Hanson as a highlight of the Soviet-American cultural exchange program. It had been warmly received, though this was the time of the on-again off-again cold war, sometime between the Cuban missile crisis and the signing of the nuclear test ban treaty.

It became time for encores. They played one, and the crowd asked for antother. After the second, the Muscovites persisted. Hanson turned to the orchestra without announcing the next work through the interpreter as he had done before. At the first bar, a shiver ran through us Americans. Then a red-haired girl played the flute solo. And when they struck the final chorus, I wanted to stand on my feet and yell.

I might have thought myself and the other Americans there were alone in liking it so much. But the audience cheered and demanded it again. "The march! The march!" they chanted. So Hanson played it again, and it was twice as stirring. Then, when the cheering finally died down, he quietly told the interpreter its title.

The "Stars and Stripes Forever," she said into the microphone.

THE RUSSIANS SAT silent for a moment, absorbing that. Perhaps they all felt they had been taken in, made fools of. But no, once it sank in, they roared again, not only approving but laughing, too, at themselves and the whole idea.

It was a glorious night.

I hope the President got half as much of a lift from the Sousa pieces he heard the other evening. "Stars and Stripes Forever" was on the program here, too. And if he wanted somehow to hear that soaring music as positive reinforcement after his nervous time coping with our mutual troubles before the TV cameras but without an audience, we shouldn't begrudge him the feeling.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

Legislators Are Busy Hiking Your School Taxes

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

While you perhaps haven't been watching, the California Legislature has been busily passing bills to increase your school taxes.

A couple of them have been vetoed by Gov. Ronald Reagan. Others, however, have won the governor's signature. Still others are on their way to his desk.

GOVERNOR REAGAN vetoed a bill (SB 1228 by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael) which would have allowed school districts to increase tax rates to compensate for loss of assessed valuation due to scenic restrictions, easements and contracts reducing assessments.

He also vetoed SB 1596 by Sen. Albert S. Rodda, D-Sacramento, which would have authorized an override tax, without voter approval, in unlimited amount to pay for school lunch programs.

However, the governor has signed a couple of others increasing what you'll pay to support schools.

AB 880 (Ken Meade, D-Oakland, and co-sponsors), which continues until July 1, 1973, a permissive 10-cent override tax for fire and panic safety devices in school buildings, scheduled to expire July 1 of this year.

AB 1155 (Frank Lanterman, R-Pasadena), which authorizes no new levy but opens the way for hiking school taxes by permitting funds raised by special purpose overrides to be transferred to other uses (to be repaid, of course — but out of increased taxes, since if the funds weren't there for the other purpose in the first place it will require a tax hike to repay them).

THE ASSEMBLY has been most generous with your money for the schools. Among bills it has passed are these:

AB 115 (Wadie P. Deddeh, D-Chula Vista, and Peter R. Chacon, D-San Diego) appropriating $3 million for special training for limited-English-speaking pupils.

AB 116 (same authors) appropriating $100,000 for development of bilingual scholastic aptitude tests.

AB 354 (E. Richard Barnes, R-San Diego, and a host of co-sponsors) increasing teacher retirement benefits.

AB 734 (Yvonne Brathwaite, D-Los Angeles and co-sponsors) authorizing children's centers at University of California, state college and community college campuses for the children of students and faculty members.

AB 1565 (Alan Sieroty, D-Los Angeles and co-sponsors) appropriating $5 million for construction of children's centers.

AB 1966 (Leroy F. Greene, D-Sacramento) requiring school districts to borrow from the state, if necessary, to upgrade safety of school buildings, and levy a 10-cent override to repay the state.

AB 1969 (also by Leroy F. Greene) increasing the subsidies for "exceptional" students in private schools.

AB 2586 (John Vasconcellos, D-San Jose, and co-sponsors) subsidizing "community schools" in up to 100 districts as experimental studies.

AB 2902 (Dunlap) mandating "alternative schools" on which school districts must expend at least 2½ per cent of their current expenses of education.

AB 2923 (Chacon) increasing the minimum teacher salary from $6,000 to $6,800.

THE SENATE has not allowed itself to be left out. It has passed these, among others:

SB 702 (Lou Cusanovich, R-Sherman Oaks, and Mervyn M. Dymally, D-Los Angeles) appropriating $1 million for preschool children's centers.

SB 998 (Nicholas C. Petris, R-Oakland) authorizing an unlimited tax hike to pay for school lunches for the needy.

AB 1196 (George N. Zenovich, D-Fresno) authorizing override tax to pay tuition in private schools for "educationally handicapped."

Some of these, no doubt, also will reach the governor's desk. If your tax bills go up next November, they will be in part responsible.

Vacaville Term In Dope Arrest

MERCED (UPI) —Merced County Superior Court Judge Donald R. Fretz Tuesday sentenced Millage Jones, 29, Huntington Beach, to an unspecified term at Vacaville State Prison in a case involving nearly half a ton of marijuana.

Jones and Peter Leffe, 25, Berkeley, were charged with possessing and transporting the illegal weed after a plane loaded with marijuana made an emergency landing at the Los Banos Airport last November.

Jones pleaded guilty to a charge of possession and the transportation charge was dropped. Leffe pleaded guilty earlier this year.

Berkeley Rejects Shop Mart Rezoning

BERKELEY (UPI) — City councilmen rejected a request Tuesday for a special rezoning which would have provided for a $60 million shopping center on the Berkeley Marina.

Councilmen turned down the request by Ernest Hahn Associates saying the center would hurt small merchants, increase automobile traffic flow in the area and end the area's potential for other purposes, including a park.

Current Tests Show Skylab Is Sturdy Cold Weather Performer

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)— U.S. astronauts will be flying over more of the earth than ever before in the Skylab space station in 1973 and that raises the new possibility of an emergency ocean landing in subfreezing weather.

All of America's earth orbiting spacecraft in the past have flown over a broad band around the globe's midsection, going no farther north or south than 33 degree latitude. Their emergency splashdown areas were always in relatively warm waters.

But the Skylab will be launched into an orbit that will be more steeply angled to the equator. Its ground track will go to 50 degree latitude north and south, taking its astronauts as far north as Winnipeg, Canada, and as far south as the southernmost tip of South America.

The space station will go into the unusual orbit to give its earth survey sensors broader coverage of land and sea areas. Skylab will fly over more than 75 per cent of the surface of earth, over 80 per cent of its food producing areas and 90 per cent of its population.

Three three-man crews will be ferried to the Skylab over an eight month period by Apollo command ships. Each Apollo will remain linked to the station while it is occupied and then the astronauts will fly the Apollo back to earth.

"In several months of the year the area over which the spacecraft passes includes conditions considerably colder than heretofore experienced," the space agency said. "There is a remote possibility that emergency or major system malfunction during launch or orbit phases could force the spacecraft to land in these areas."

To see if the Apollo and its crew could take such weather, a command module was tested in a chamber at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., last month that had a water temperature of 33 degrees and an air temperature of 25.

The effect of cold air and water with wind and spray and ice were studied. NASA said temperatures dropped to the low 30s in the cabin during the tests, some of which lasted 72 hours.

"A tremendous amount of data has to be reviewed," the agency said in a preliminary report. "However, it can be stated that the Skylab command module is a fit and sturdy vehicle in a cold environment, capable of supporting three men indefinitely."

Four command modules have been built for the Skylab project and the first scheduled for launch May 1, 1973 has started final systems checkout at the North American Rockwell plant at Downey, Calif.

Three command ships will be used as transports and the fourth will be kept on a standby status at Cape Kennedy as a backup spacecraft and a rescue ship.

The command ships are similar to the ones that carry men to and from the moon. For earth orbital missions, however, the Apollos will not carry as much main engine fuel, but will carry more control rocket fuel, more batteries and larger storage lockers.

2 Children Injured In Auto Wreck

An 11-year-old Ukiah boy was released from Marin General Hospital yesterday but a 14-year-old companion remained in satisfactory condition today from injuries sustained in a Novato auto accident.

Marin General said today John L. Gardner was dismissed after a day at the hospital where he was treated for head injuries and abdominal pains.

His companion, Jacqueline D. Fountain, remained hospitalized with a broken jaw.

They were two of four children injured Monday when their northbound auto driven by Bonnie Jean Beck, 27, of Ukiah, collided at 11:34 p.m. with an eastbound car on Diablo Avenue.

The other children, Tyrone W. Duncan, 11, and Daniel Bruffett, 5, were treated for minor cuts.

The driver of the other car was Michael David Gingher, 21, of 1005 Greenwood Drive, Novato, police said.

Drugs Will Be Viewed First

The first meeting of the new Novato Citizens Advisory Committee on Human Needs will concentrate of drug abuse problems in the city, according to Mayor Joseph Gargiulo.

The session will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Hill Junior High School.

At last night's Novato City Council meeting, Garguilo announced the meeting, and also directed that the advisory committee select two members for liaison with the Marin County Human Rights Commission.

Gerald J. Hood, director of the county human rights agency since July, visited the council meeting to introduce himself and to urge city-county cooperation on human rights matters.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

An Inspirational Player Is Sometimes Not A Major Asset

"How could you raise me with only two trumps?" South asked bitterly after the play of today's hand. "The contract was reasonable enough," North replied. "The trouble is that you're an inspirational player. You inspire your opponents to put up magnificent defenses. It's very noble of you, but I can do without some of that nobility."

CASHES DIAMONDS

East won the first trick with the ace of spades and returned a spade to the king. South quite properly cashed the top diamonds and ruffed a diamond with dummy's jack of hearts.

It's easy to see what would happen in the normal game. East would overruff with the queen of hearts. South would ruff the spade return, lead a trump to the ace and return to his hand with the ace of clubs to lead the ten of hearts.

East would take the king of hearts, and South would easily regain the lead in time to draw East's seven of hearts (his last trump) with the nine of hearts. East would get two trump tricks and the ace of spades, not enough to defeat the contract.

REFUSES TRICK

When the hand was actually played, East refused to overruff dummy on the third round of diamonds. This fine defensive play netted East three trump tricks instead of only two.

Declarer led dummy's ace of hearts and got to his hand with a club to lead the ten of hearts. East won with the queen, retaining the king-seven. South had to lead trumps from the 9-6, so that East got two further trump tricks.

THE CORRECT WAY

South could have made the contract by going after the clubs instead of ruffing a diamond in dummy, but this would have been a doubtful line of play. The diamond ruff assured the contract if the trumps broke normally or if East put up the normal uninspired defense.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

You prefer to have better trumps for a raise, but in a pinch you should raise with any three trumps and a side singleton.

Lumber Firm Is Hit By Burglars

More than $5,000 worth of office equipment and cash was stolen yesterday from Marin Lumber, 15 Jordan Street, San Rafael, according to police.

Police reported that cash, a typewriter, three electric calculators, and two adding machines were stolen between 4:05 a.m. and 4:30 a.m. from the lumber company owned by Didrik Wilhelm Pedersen.

Zone Idea Back To Planners

A proposal to establish a zoning review board to handle routine zoning and planning matters was referred last night to the Sausalito Planning Commission by the Sausalito City Council.

The review board, originally proposed last October by City Mgr. Albert St. Cyr, is designed to give the council and planners more time to consider long-range planning and other far-reaching city concerns.

The council asked the planners to study the concept of such a review board, particularly its composition, and come up with a recommendation to the council within 60 days.

The plan, which the planning commission rejected last October, calls for the review board to handle matters such as variances, routine conditional use permits, plan approvals, encroachment permits and interpretations of the city zoning ordinance.

Although St. Cyr has recommended that appeals to the board's decisions would come directly to the city council, Planning Director H. Eric Borgwardt last night suggested the appeals could be heard by the planning commission, with a further appeal to the city council possible.

The city manager's proposal calls for a three-man review board consisting of the planning director and two appointees designated by the city council. But Mayor Alexander R. Imlay said he believed the planning director should not become involved in decision-making on a zoning review board.

The Sausalito City Council also:

OLD JAIL — Gave the Sausalito History Committee, Historical Landmarks Commission and Sausalito Women's Club two months to come up with a proposal on how the city could feasibly make use of the old Marin County Jail, located on Bee Street. Norman Wohlschlaeger, the city public works director, has recommended the crumbling brick structure be torn down, but the women's club wants to see it preserved, possibly for use as a city museum.

MORATORIUM — Tabled a plan to impose an indefinite moratorium on new zoning and new uses in the Caledonia Street area until a specific zoning plan for the area has been completed. The city is planning Caledonia as a resident-serving commercial area.

PARKING — Asked the city attorney to prepare ordinances eliminating one on-street parking space on Glen Drive opposite No. 3 Rose Court and several on-street spaces between 46 and 52 Bulkley Avenue.

POST OFFICE PARKING — Agreed to take steps to create two 15-minute parking zones on Johnson Street adjacent to the post office to facilitate resident use of the post office.

CALEDONIA PLAN — Asked the city attorney to prepare an ordinance which would put into effect a proposed traffic circulation and parking plan for Caledonia Street. The proposal would make Pine, Bee and Litho streets, between Caledonia and Bridgeway one-way, eastbound, and would create diagonal parking on those streets.

Teachers Back, But Issues Are Still Unsolved

DALY CITY (UPI)—None of the issues in a 27-day strike are resolved, but 227 teachers were back at their jobs Tuesday in the Jefferson Elementary School District.

Superintendent Frank Greenwood told a news conference, "We are right back where we started. The illegal strike is ended. The teachers are returning without the master contract they demanded."

Striking teachers had demanded a contract covering working conditions, including the size of classes, and providing for binding arbitration of grievances.

Love, Not Punishment, Is Deterrent, Duffy Says

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI)—A former prison warden who witnessed 150 executions while a penologist in California, told a college audience Tuesday that love, not punishment, is the main deterrent to crime.

"A family that has love, direction, religion and discipline usually does not produce a criminal," said Clinton Duffy. "And a home where these essential are lacking, usually does."

Since his retirment in 1962 from 32 years in California state correctional facilities, Duffy, formerly of Marin, actively has been campaigning against capital punishment. His last post was warden of San Quentin Prison on San Francisco Bay.

"Such arguments as 'it's cheaper to execute a convicted murderer than to keep him for life' and 'capital punishment deters other criminals from committing the same crime,' simply do not hold up under factual analyses," Duffy told a Spokane Falls Community College audience.

"In some states, homicides are higher in capital punishment states than in neighboring abolition states," Duffy said. "Studies have shown that executions promote more similar crimes in the community after the execution."

The answer to crime, said Duffy, begins at home.

"If we can get our communities and families into shape and ready to handle our problem children, we won't have problem and criminal adults," he said. "It's got to begin at the community and familial levels."

When the first U.S. postage stamps were issued in 1847 most of the mail was transported on river boats.

A Fast Sprint On 'Bad' Ankle

SYDNEY (UPI) -- When Stanley Emmanuel complained of a sprained ankle Tuesday, police did not handcuff him because he used the crutches they gave him.

But while being transferred from the police station to the court house in suburban Perith, Emmanuel, 19, threw down the crutches and ran.

"I've never seen a man run so fast," said one of his guards.

Police said they chased but did not catch Emmanuel, charged with having sexual relations with a minor.

Stretch your food budget with this recipe for CRISSCROSS SIRLOIN TIPS Only .28c per serving

4-6 oz. Kold Kist Heat-in-Pouch or 1-28 oz. Kold Kist Family Pack Mushroom Sauce and Sirloin Tips
1½ Cups instant mashed potatoes

ALLEN, Realtors, 456-3880.

DRIVE BY

3 properties on Latham Street in San Rafael numbers 11, 39 and 43. They can be purchased separately or together. Each needs improvements. Eachowner will help with financing.

We recommend that consideration be given these as being good starter properties for investors who have been considering a long range real estate program. Priced separately from $17,950 to $19,000. The total package can be purchased for $55,900, maybe less.

Associated Broker Hy Gravitch is a lister on 2 of the properties. Let his 20 years of experience help you on your way to security and profit in Real Estate. Phone him at the office during the day, or evenings at 454-9297.

AGRICULTURAL REZONING

Northwestern Marin, the shaded portion, will be the first area in Marin to be considered for rezoning to the newly established Agricultural and Conservation District. A hearing will be held before the Marin County Planning Commission Nov. 1 at the Civic Center to determine what the density should be. The new Agricultural and Conservation District, to be imposed on all agricultural preserve land (whether under contract or not), permits a density of between three acres to 60 acres per lot. Most of northwest Marin is now zoned limited agricultural, which permits a minimum lot of two acres. At the rezoning hearing, the county planning staff will recommend minimum lots of 20 acres and up. The hearing will cover all properties in assessor's books 100, 102, 104, and 106. The four other areas in the county will get separate hearings in the future.

Prison Term For Bombing Plotter

HOUSTON (UPI) — Jimmy Dale Hutto, a right-wing activist who conspired to blow up Pacifica Foundation radio station transmitters in California, has been sentenced to five and a half years in prison.

U.S. District Judge James Noel also sentenced the 24-year-old former Pasadena, Tex., chemical worker Tuesday to another four and a half years probation.

Federal agents said they arrested the former mental patient while he was on his way to California to carry out his plans. They said they found United Klans of America literature and a pistol in his car.

Two Year Probation

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI)—Richard Carson, 19, son of television star Johnny Carson, was placed on two years probation Tuesday on charges of illegal possession of marijuana.

GIs Defend Refusal To Take Patrol

FIREBASE TIMBUKTU, South Vietnam (UPI)—The GIs who told their officers Saturday they would refuse to make a night ambush patrol outside embattled Fire Base Pace said today it was a "senseless suicide mission" and that their refusal was "a matter of common sense."

Their officers said their disobedience was little more than a matter of the fact that "troops are always griping when you order them to do something."

"It wasn't a matter of cowardice, it was a matter of common sense," said SP4 Walter Wernli, Three Rivers, Tex. "This patrol was completely senseless, senseless suicide."

Wernli and other members of the 3rd Platoon, Bravo Company, 1st Battalion, 12th Cavalry, a unit of the elite 1st Air Cavalry Division, spoke to newsmen at Timbuktu today.

Just the day before they had been abruptly pulled out of Pace, on the Cambodian border 80 miles northwest of Saigon, following an Army investigation.

Both the GIs and their officers agreed substantially on what actually happened last Saturday at Pace, where they were assigned to help protect a battery of 175mm and 8-inch guns along with South vietnamese infantrymen.

About 3 p.m. Saturday, orders came down from battalion level to send out a 15-man night ambush patrol as part of the defenses to help keep North Vietnamese troops from attacking the base.

The company commander, Capt. Robert Cronin, whom some of the GIs called "a rednecked lifer," passed the order to Lt. Robert Schuler, the platoon leader. Schuler ordered 15 men to suit up for the patrol.

At that point a two-hour gripe session began among the men scheduled for the patrol. "For two hours we were just sitting there and bitching about the order," said SP4 Ernest French of Mattoon, Ill., the point man of the platoon.

"There was no good reason at all to have this patrol," French said. "We were told to go on a night ambush patrol, but there is nothing to ambush. There is not even a trail out there. All we would have done is stumble around in the dark in an area that we don't know and get shot up for nothing."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Controlling Noise One Of The Easiest Pollutants To Check

Man is capable of adapting to continuous loud noise but only at the expense of his acoustic nerves. Unless given a rest, they will deteriorate.

Hearing loss is temporary at first but permanent when exposure continues. Nerve damage is influenced by the type and intensity of noise, its duration, constancy and use of ear protection. In addition, some people are bothered more than others.

Noise is unwanted sound and how disagreeable it may be depends upon the individual. According to this definition, loud rock music is not noise to the musicians and kids, but it is racket to older persons. The same can be said of the roar of the hotrodder and those that profit from various machines and tools. Excluded also are the sounds heard in a restaurant and from the office typewriter. The same typewriter used by an open window at night could well be classified as noise by the neighbors.

SOUND IS measured in decibels. Most federal and state health and safety codes have designated 90 decibels as the maximum level to which a worker can be exposed for eight hours a day without wearing ear protection. Thirty is acceptable in a classroom, 80 is too loud if the person is trying to hear a telephone conversation. On takeoff, jets create 130 decibels, a mile from the runway the level is 100 decibels.

Chicago's new antinoise ordinance limits the racket from cars to 86 decibels at 50 feet, and 88 decibels for trucks and motorcycles.

NOISE SHOULD not be blamed for simple headaches, peptic ulcers, heart attacks, circulatory disorders, high blood pressure and fatigue. The exceptions are disorders related to nervousness and aggravation created by some who delight in making other people miserable.

Noise is one of our correctable pollutants. In most instances it can be eliminated at the source by changes in industrial design, soundproofing, and wearing earplugs or earmuffs. But out in the country where we expect it to be quiet who will stop the locusts, mockingbirds, doves, owls and even the old rooster?

ALBUMIN IN URINE

P. M. T. writes: I know a 15-year-old boy whose urine tests show albumin, especially when he overexercises. He is not on a special diet but has to rest a lot. I would appreciate some information on his condition.

REPLY

Albumin in the urine usually — but not always — indicates a kidney disorder. Smaller amounts of albumin may develop after vigorous exercise and in some individuals the abnormality is noted only when they are up and about. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on albumin in the urine.

ULCER AND MILK

J. L. writes: I have a stomach ulcer and have to drink more than two quarts of milk a day. Will it be all right if I drink skim milk, instead of whole milk?

REPLY

Skim milk has all the ingredients of whole milk, except the fat.

RESOLUTION NO. 4108

RESOLUTION OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL CALLING A JOINT PUBLIC HEARING WITH THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN TO DETERMINE WHETHER PUBLIC NECESSITY, HEALTH, SAFETY, OR WELFARE REQUIRES THE FORMATION OF UNDERGROUND UTILITY DISTRICT NO. 4

SOUTH SAN PEDRO ROAD WIDENING — PHASE IV

BE IT RESOLVED BY the Council of the City of San Rafael as follows:

WHEREAS, Ordinance No. 905 establishes a procedure for the creation of underground utility districts and requires as the initial step in such procedure the holding of a public hearing to ascertain whether public necessity, health, safety, or welfare requies the removal of poles, overhead wires and associated overhead structures and the underground installation of wires and facilities for supplying electric, communication, or similar or associated service in any such district; and

WHEREAS, it has been recommended that such an underground utility district, hereinafter called District, be formed within that area of the City of San Rafael along South San Pedro Road, described as follows:

Beginning at the intersection of the centerlines of South San Pedro Road and Lochinvar Road, and ending at a point approximately 503 feet east of the intersection of the centerlines of South San Pedro Road and Riviera Drive as described on "EXHIBIT A" attached hereto and made a part hereof by reference.

Excepting therefrom all property within the described area which is not within the San Rafael City limits.

NOW, THEREFORE, be it resolved as follows:

1. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a joint public hearing will be held by the Council of the City of San Rafael and the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin on Tuesday, October 26th, 1971 at the hour of 8:00 P.M. in the Supervisor's Chambers at the Marin County Civic Center, San Rafael, California, to ascertain whether the public necessity, health, safety or welfare requires the removal of poles, overhead wires and associated overhead structures and the underground installation of wires and facilities for supplying electric, communication, or similar associated service in the District hereinabove described.

2. At such hearing all persons interested shall be given an opportunity to be heard. Said hearing may be continued from time to time as may be determined by the City Council and/or the Board of Supervisors.

3. The City Clerk shall notify all affected property owners as shown on the last equalized assessment roll and utilities concerned of the time and place of such hearing by mailing a copy of this resolution to such property owners and utilities concerned at least ten (10) days prior to the date thereof.

4. The area proposed to be included in the District is shown upon that certain map entitled "City of San Rafael, Underground Utility District No. 4 and County of Marin, South San Pedro Road, Phase IV, Underground Utilities District No. 71-2", dated September 27, 1971, which is on file in the office of the City Clerk of the City of San Rafael.

Dated: October 4, 1971

I, MARION A. GRADY, Clerk of the City of San Rafael, hereby certify that the foregoing resolution was duly and regularly introduced and adopted at a regular meeting of the Council of said City held on Monday the 4th day of October, 1971, by the following vote, to-wit:

RCA Is Developing Air Safety System

LONDON (UPI)—Hundreds of airplanes around the world are involved in near-collisions every year and the situation is worsening, a vice president of Radio Corp. of America (RCA) said yesterday.

Irving R. Kessler said his company is developing a system that would warn pilots of collision courses and tell them how to steer to safety.

Kessler said figures showed that last year in the United States alone there were 1,453 near-collisions in the air.

Since 1946, he added, planes have been involved in 70 air collisions around the world.

Kessler said RCA already has tested a system called SECANT (Separation Control of Aircraft by Nonsynchronous Techniques) to keep airplanes apart.

RCA used two planes, a twinengine DC3 and a smaller Piper Aztec, and a traffic simulator that "invented" the sort of electronic clutter likely to exist around the world's major airports in the 1980's, he said.

"Thus," Kessler added, "it is apparent that we are not aiming to solve just today's problems but also are targeting our capabilities on improving air safety for the distant future."

He said the U. S. Navy and the American Federal Aviation Agency expect to complete evaluation tests on the SECANT system sometime in November.

An improved model of SECANT, he said, will tell a pilot when he is on a collision course, measure the closing rate and instruct him on ways to evade it—"descent, ascent, right or left."

Officials of Britain's Department of Trade and Industry, also are studying the SECANT system, Kessler said.

SECANT, in its simplest model suitable for light aircraft costs about $875, he said.

GM Probe Into Faulty Engine Mounts Is Told

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp. has submitted to the government results of an investigation into possible faulty engine mounts and frames on 1966-69 Chevrolets.

GM confirmed Sunday that it had investigated reports of the possible defects after having been notified by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA).

A GM spokesman said the automaker was aware of complaints of rusting frames and engine mount failures on 1966-69 Chevrolet model vehicles. However, he said there was no way of telling now how many vehicles were involved.

The entire mount problems found in the vehicles could lead to the "possibility of the throttle sticking or fuel-line breakage" if the engine shifted during usage, he said.

When the mounts break, the accelerator can be stuck wide open and the power brake system can fail.

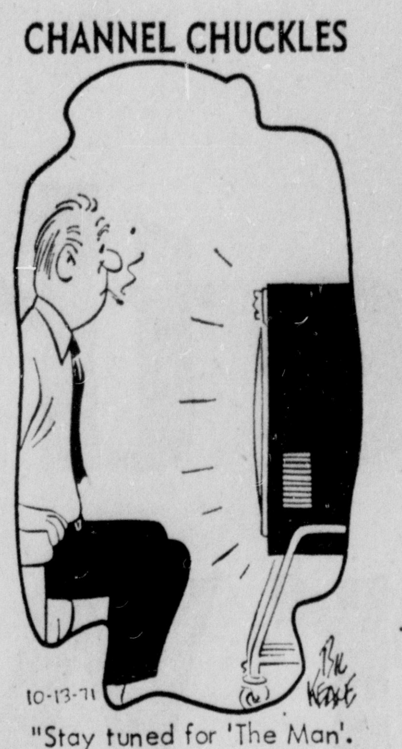
Plea Made On Pot

Jack M. Milucky, 30, of Sunset Beach, Orange County, pleaded innocent to charges of possession of marijuana, possession of stolen property and carrying a concealed weapon yesterday in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon set bail at $2,500 and scheduled a probation department report on the possibility of lowering bail for tomorrow. The date for a preliminary hearing will also be set tomorrow.

Milucky was arrested Oct. 6 in the Petaluma City Hall when officers said they found him carrying a suitcase containing marijuana and a stolen revolver.

CHANNEL CHUCKLES



"Stay tuned for 'The Man'. However, due to excessive smog and air pollution, 'The City' will not be seen tonight."

Frisbee Event Set At College

The College of Marin student government will sponsor a frisbee tournament Saturday at 11 a.m. behind the school gymnasium.

The event, open to frisbee players of all ages, is for the benefit of the college's proposed child care center.

While the contest is free, the student government plans to operate concessions near the tournament in order to raise funds for the child center.

Make this weekend better with cheddar.

Ten great cheddar cheese appetizers to serve your guests.

1. CHEDDARY STALKS

Shred 8 ounces Cheddar cheese to measure 2 cups. Allow to come to room temperature. In a mixing bowl beat together cheese, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup light cream or half and half, 3 tablespoons chopped onion or chives, 1 tablespoon catsup, $1\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt and dash of cayenne pepper until fluffy. Pipe or spread into celery stalks. Yield: 2 cups spread.

2. CHEDDAR SOUFFLÉ APPETIZERS

Cut double thickness of heavy duty aluminum foil to measure 12 x 16 inches; place on baking sheet. Trim crusts from $1\frac{1}{2}$ lb. loaf unsliced sandwich bread; cut loaf into 4 lengthwise slices. Place slices side by side on foil. Toast both sides of bread under broiler; butter. Sprinkle 4 cups (1 lb.) shredded Monterey Jack or Cheddar cheese over all. Bread will be cut into 8 equal crosswise sections to give a total of 32 slices. Arrange garnish of either shrimp or rolled anchovy fillet to be in center of each appetizer. Broil 1-2 minutes or until cheese is melted. Cut and serve. Yield: 32.

3. CHEDDAR CHEESE LOG

Shred 10 ounces Cheddar cheese to measure $2\frac{1}{2}$ cups. Allow to come to room temperature. In a small mixing bowl beat cheese, gradually add 2 tablespoons milk. On a piece of waxed paper, roll cheese mixture into log form. Roll in $\frac{1}{2}$ cup finely chopped nuts. Chill. Before serving, allow to come to room temperature. Use as a spread on crackers. Yield: approx. $1\frac{1}{4}$ cups.

4. CHEDDAR TARTLETS

Prepare one 10-ounce package pie crust mix. On lightly floured board, roll out and cut in rounds using a 3-inch cookie cutter. Fit rounds into miniature tart pans, 2-inches in diameter, $\frac{1}{2}$-inch deep. Prick with a fork, and bake in a preheated 450° oven, 7-8 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove tart shells from pans; cool on wire racks. Mix $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups shredded Monterey Jack or Cheddar cheese and $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups dairy sour cream. Just before serving fill 30 tart shells with cheese mixture. Top with sprinkling of Monterey Jack or Cheddar cheese. Cut pimiento into fancy shapes and use as garnish. Place tarts on baking sheet; broil 1-2 minutes to melt cheese and glaze sour cream. Serve immediately. Yield: 30.

Note: Tart shells can be prepared and frozen in advance. Fillings can be mixed and refrigerated.

5. PARTY CHEDDAR ROUNDS

Place 12 slices party rye bread on baking sheet; toast under broiler on one side. Combine 1 tablespoon softened butter, 2 teaspoons chopped chives and $\frac{1}{8}$ teaspoon leaf oregano, crushed; spread on untoasted side of bread. Return to broiler for 1-2 minutes or until lightly browned. With a $1\frac{1}{2}$ to 2-inch diameter scalloped cutter cut slices of Monterey Jack or Cheddar cheese into 12 rounds. Place a cheese round on each slice of bread. Cut 6 cherry tomatoes in half crosswise; place one half, cut side up, in center of cheese. Broil until cheese is slightly melted. Yield: 12.

6. CHEDDAR-BOLOGNA TIDBITS

Shred 2 ounces Cheddar cheese to make $\frac{1}{2}$ cup. In a small bowl blend together Cheddar and 2 tablespoons cream cheese. Spread about 1 tablespoon mixture on each of five bologna slices; stack and top with additional slices. Chill. At serving time, cut into 12 wedges; garnish each wedge with pimiento-stuffed olive secured with wooden pick. Yield: 12.

7. HOT CHEDDAR DIP

In heavy saucepan place one 8-ounce package cream cheese, 2 cups (8 oz.) shredded Monterey Jack or Cheddar cheese, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup milk, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon dry mustard, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon onion salt and 3 drops Tabasco sauce. Heat over low heat, stirring occasionally, until cheese melts and mixture is hot. Dip may be served in warmer and garnished with a bacon curl. It will hold well for several hours if stirred occasionally. If mixture becomes too thick, stir in additional milk. Use carrot, green pepper, and celery sticks for dippers. Yield: 2 cups.

8. MUSHROOM CANAPÉS

Select mushrooms about 2-inches in diameter. Pull stem from each mushroom. Dip mushroom cap in lemon juice, then brush with melted butter. Mix 1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese with $\frac{1}{4}$ cup packaged bread crumbs. Spoon into cavity. Top filled mushrooms with shredded Cheddar cheese and a very small square of bacon. Place on baking sheet. Bake in a preheated 400° oven 10-12 minutes, until bacon is crisp. Yield: 20-25 mushrooms.

9. CHEDDAR CHEESE BALLS

Cut 1 pound Monterey Jack or Cheddar cheese into small pieces. Allow to come to room temperature. In a mixing bowl beat cheese until smooth and creamy; add 1 tablespoon grated onion, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon paprika and continue to beat until thoroughly blended. Shape into balls 1-inch in diameter. Roll half the balls in chopped, smoked, sliced beef and remaining half in chopped parsley. Refrigerate. Just before serving, spear with wooden picks. Use an apple as a holder. Yield: approx. 70 cheese balls.

10. CHEDDAR CHEESE SPREAD

Shred 8 ounces Cheddar cheese to measure 2 cups. Allow to come to room temperature. In a small mixing bowl beat together cheese, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup dairy sour cream, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon celery salt, and $\frac{1}{8}$ teaspoon garlic salt until smooth. Cover and chill to blend flavors. Yield: approx. $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups.

INTRODUCES

K-5

A PLAN THAT GUARANTEES

ALL PARTS

INCLUDING PICTURE TUBE

FOR 5 YEARS

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS

As an optional extra we pick up where the manufacturer's guarantee stops and expand so that you pay nothing for any replacement parts for five years. This offer is available on New Solid State 19, 21, 23, 25 Inch Sets by

SYLVANIA

HERE'S WHY WE DO IT

One of the reasons that Klein TV is Marin's oldest firm is due to our constant search for better service for our customers. All sets are checked 3 times. First when they are received in our store, next when they leave the store and finally in your home. Even with this care . . . things can happen. We've always taken care of these cases. Because we seldom have any trouble with sets that we install . . . we feel we can go yet another step in protecting our customers. This is the reason we now offer you five years of expense free operation on your chasis parts and picture tube. Come in and let us explain K-5 to you.

BATTLE OF THE BOOK — With teacher Virginia Franklin (left) defending it and former school board member Anita C. Strom attacking it, a confrontation over use of a "revolutionary" book at San Rafael High School raged last night before the San Rafael Board of Education.

(Independent-Journal photos by Jim Kean)

Hot Session On Controversial Book

In an uproarious session from start to finish, about 200 persons packed the San Rafael Board of Education meeting room last night to attack and defend use of a book, described as a "revolution kit," in a San Rafael High School class. (For Marin supervisors' reaction to the book, see story, page 12.)

The confrontation, rife with boos, shouts, obscenities and foot-stomping, began with a subtle apology for tardiness from teacher Virginia Franklin, who ordered copies of the hefty paperback, "The Movement Toward a New America," in order to teach senior students propaganda technique.

"I wanted to be here sooner, but I was teaching a course in civil liberties to the Richmond Police Department," she said.

The session ended an hour later, to boisterous objections, when the school board quickly adjourned at the behest of chairman Paul L. Jones. He sternly explained the board had heard all it wanted and that it now was time for established district procedure on book controversies to take over.

Mrs. Franklin, a social studies teacher formerly honored by the Freedoms Foundation for patriotic contributions to youth leadership, sought to silence critics by offering to scrap all 35 copies of the 752-page volume and retain only

By C. P. McCARTHY

The Fairfax City Council last night issued a stop-work order on a 68-unit townhouse development, and Councilman Frank J. Egger threatened to lie in front of bulldozers if developers didn't halt the project this morning. (Another Fairfax council story page 11, and a photo on page 16.)

Egger did not have to perform today, it developed.

He was supplanted by Planning Commission Chairman E. Ross Parkerson, who arrived on the construction scene on Fairfax Creek on a bicycle at 7:15 a.m., skidded to a halt, wagged his finger under a construction boss's nose and demanded to know "what have you done to my trees?"

The construction crew already had quietly accepted service of a stop-work order from City Administrator Robert E. Crowe.

The order to Gentry Development Co. followed a charge by Egger that the firm has "violated" Fairfax Creek and broken its agreement with the city.

The development, called Village West, is on 6.8 acres of land flanking the creek at the intersection of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Olema Road. A final map of the project was approved by the council Sept. 13.

Egger presented color photographs to the council, and City Administrator Robert E. Crowe said he had gone to the property yesterday and that trees and ground cover had been removed from a 150-yard strip along the creek.

Crowe and Egger both said it was their understanding with Gentry that the particular por-

Gop Remapping Plan Leaves Marin Intact

Sen. Mark s District Moves To Death Valley

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SACRAMENTO — Senate Republicans yesterday made a counterproposal to reapportion the state that would leave all of Marin intact in a district enlarged to include the western portions of both San Francisco and Sonoma counties.

This extension of Marin's Fourth Senatorial District into San Francisco would be at the expense of Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco. His present district would be shifted almost 300 miles south to take in Death Valley.

Marks thus would have to follow his district to seek reelection next year, when his seat will be up for reelection, or stay to oppose the incumbent in the Fourth District, Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael.

Behr, however, may not have to run again until 1974, thus Marks could be out of office if he chose to stay in San Francisco.

Marks also has another problem under the Republican plan — his San Francisco home was put in the Tenth District of Democratic Sen. George Moscone, a district with 80 per cent Democratic registration.

The plan was the Republicans' answer to last week's Democratic plan, which would give Marin four state senators, split 20 of its local governing districts, and lump much of its population into a district with San Francisco and pieces of San Mateo and Alameda counties.

While the Democrats have a 21-19 edge in the Senate, the

Call For Moratorium On Novato Building Beaten

By JEFF GREER

The North Marin Federation lost its campaign for a six-months moratorium on new residential building in Novato, by a 3-2 vote of the city council shortly after 12:30 a.m. today. (Another Novato City Council story, page 31.)

But the federation of homeowners' clubs did win a promise from the council that the city's five-year-old general plan would be updated as a first-priority project.

The vote capped a two-and-one-half hour hearing before a full-house audience of more than 150 Novatans — mostly opposing the moratorium, to judge by their frequent applause.

Only Councilmen F. Wayne Sartain and David Price Jones favored the moratorium.

"I have sat through this hearing four times," Councilman F. Wayne Womack declared. "Under no circumstances would I vote for another moratorium. If the staff can't update the plan, by God, let's get the money somewhere and hire the staff to do it."

Councilman George C. Quesada, nominally considered a conservationist, declared, "I don't know exactly what is the intent of the North Marin Federation — political, or constructive criticism." Recalling a widely read book of a few years ago, "Games People Play," he said, "there is no question" the North Marin Federation can prove "it is the strongest political entity . . . it elected Sartain and me" to the council.

Quesada countered the moratorium idea with a proposal that the city planning commission devote at least half its working hours the last four months of each calendar year to updating the general plan.

He asked that "the city put a burden on the planning commissioners that they not undertake any more current planning unless they put in equal time on

Tiburon Acts To Condemn Land On Strawberry Cove For Park

By GEORGE NEVIN

The Tiburon City Council last night cast itself in the role of the last-minute rescuer of a maiden in distress as it moved to condemn land on Strawberry Cove for a park. (Another Tiburon City Council story, page 9.)

"We're talking about a race to save Pauline, who's lying on the railroad tracks," said Mayor Denis T. Rice shortly before the council unanimously approved on first reading an ordinance paving the way for condemnation of a parcel owned by Leonard B. Fleischman and slated for an apartment project.

"Either development of the cove will go through or annexation will be approved," he said. If the area is annexed the city intends to rezone it to prohibit high density development such as is now proposed, Rice said.

The development to which he referred is the 72-unit Strawberry Cove Apartment project, which Paul J. Broman has proposed for Fleischman's 6.7-acre parcel. The plan has been approved by the Marin County Board of Supervisors and now lacks only a permit by the Bay Conservation and Development Commission. A BCDC vote is slated Oct. 21.

Broman was present last night to question the sincerity of the council in the light of reports published in the Independent-Journal that Tiburon intends to proceed with condemnation regardless of the outcome of Tuesday's annexation election.

Rice said, and other councilmen agreed, that the council "has taken no position on condemnation with annexation."

"We can cross that bridge when we come to it," Rice said.

While not ruling out condemnation regardless of annexation, Rice said he thought the city should contribute to a fund to buy the cove land for a park if annexation fails.

The council will hold an adjourned meeting at 6 p.m. Monday at city hall to consider the

San Anselmo Unanimously Opposed To Aqueduct Plan

By STEVE SWENSON

The San Anselmo City Council last night unanimously declared itself opposed to the multimillion-dollar Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct and called instead for water reclamation and reuse. (Another San Anselmo City Council story, page 9.)

Council opposition to that project of the Marin Municipal Water District North Marin County Water District and Sonoma County Water Agency was accompanied by condemnation of sewage disposal via ocean and bay outfall sewer lines.

The action, called unprecedented in the city's history, endorsed these views of the San Anselmo Committee on Ecology:

The present mode of water procurement destroys ecological resources.

The present method of sewage disposal ruins rivers, bays and ocean beaches for recreational use.

Discharge of sewage into the ocean or bay kills marine life and disturbs a naturally balanced life cycle.

The proposed aqueduct is not

STRIFE DEBATED — Two black students at San Rafael High School were among a huge throng which gathered at a San Rafael Board of Education meeting last night to discuss an end to strife at the school. Darnell Smith (right) denounced a proposal to use student police, saying it would bring more violence. The other student is unidentified.

Restoring Peace To High School Studied

By DAVID DIETZ

Peace through student police or through a broad-based human relations program? Is the current strife at San Rafael High School, said to be growing out of petty extortion, really racial, or is it a matter of dealing strictly with troublesome students, black or white?

With these questions in mind, and a wide range of answers at the ready, a huge crowd of parents, students and school officials filled the San Rafael Board of Education meeting room last night with an eye on restoring peace to the San Rafael High campus. (Another San Rafael Board of Education story, page 8.)

If a consensus was reached by the throng, which also turned out for a confrontation on use of a "revolutionary" book in the school, it was that problem students, black or white, should be dealt with firmly and that the district needs a human relations program aimed at bringing the races closer together.

The school has been hit in recent weeks by racial fighting, although confined to a small segment of the 1,950-member student body. White girls say they have been the targets of petty extortion and assault by a small number of black girls. If that's true, the blacks say, outsiders are to blame, not San Rafael High students.

The school board heard at length last night from the crowd and school staff and said it would mull suggestions. Proposals ranged from formation of a student police force and disciplinary body to hiring of a human relations specialist.

A black student, Darnell Smith, hotly rejected student policing. "You don't want peace," he roared at the advocate of the plan, "you want violence."

Dr. Peter Palches, in his first year as San Rafael High principal, said 'rap sessions' were under way between black and white girls, with another meeting scheduled tomorrow. He hoped this would help, along

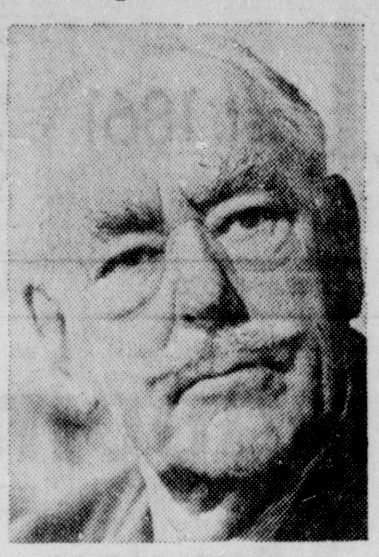
Diplomat Dean Acheson 78, Dies

SANDY SPRING, Md. (UPI) —Dean Gooderham Acheson, the impeccably tailored diplomat who helped forge Cold War policy when the United States was the only stable power in the free world, died Tuesday of an apparent heart attack at his country estate.



DEAN ACHESON
Served under Truman

Acheson, secretary of state in the Truman administration and an unsalaried foreign affairs advise to Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, was 78.

President Nixon said, "It is a measure of Dean Acheson's stature as man and statesman that almost 20 years after his service as secretary of state he continued to be recognized as one of the towering figures of his time."

Secretary of State William P. Rogers said, "His erudition and directness, his wit and his wisdom, will be greatly missed."

Acheson, a graduate of Groton School, Yale and Harvard, came to Washington with President Franklin D. Roosevelt, in 1933 and held intermittent office until President Harry S. Truman named him Secretary of State in 1949. He served until 1953.

Acheson implemented the Marshall Plan for the economic reconstruction of a Europe devastated by World War II and encouraged the encirclement of the Soviet Union to contain the spread of communism. The NATO alliance, the Military Defense Assistance Program and the Point Four plan started under Acheson.

It was ironic that Acheson, once accused by members of Congress of being pro-communist, was instrumental in the first U.S. shooting war with communists, in Korea. He also persuaded the United Nations for the first time to send at least token armed forces into battle.

U. S. military losses in Korea and memories of a State Department white paper denouncing the Nationalist Chinese regime on Taiwan brought calls in Congress for Acheson's resignation and made him an issue in the 1950 and 1952 elections.

At the peak of the onslaught, Acheson got into a taxi, according to a popular story.

"Say, aren't you Dean Acheson?" the cab driver asked. "Yes," Acheson replied. "Do you want me to get out now?"

Acheson was harassed by domestic critics such as the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., who tried to prove that the secretary had allowed communist sympathizers to influence the state department.

Faultline Active For Millions Of Years

MENLO PARK, Calif. (UPI) —Deep sea drillings off the California coast indicate that the San Andreas Fault—the Pacific Coast's hugh earthquake line—moves a couple of inches a year and has been "busy" for about five million years.

The movement ripped Baja California off the Mexican mainland and has moved the southwestern portion of California "several hundred miles" north during the past five million years, according to geologists. They predict Los Angeles will pass San Francisco about 10 million years from now if current conditions remain the same.

The North Pacific geological drilling project also discovered that a major change in sea life apparently took place during the events that led to the destruction of dinosaurs 65 to 70 million years ago.

Dr. David W. School, a research oceanographer for the U.S. geological survey, told newsmen Tuesday that cores drilled off the Baja California coast by the ship, Glomar Challenge, indicated "The San Andreas has been tearing along at a couple of inches a year for four or five million years."

Movement of the North Pacific sea floor, he said, in addition to causing earthquakes, was responsible for outbreaks of volcanism in Japan, the Kurile Islands, the Kamchatka Peninsula of Siberia and the Aleutian Island ridge over the same length of time.

Crime Is Down In Some Areas

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The number of robberies, rapes, larcenies and auto thefts decreased in San Francisco last month compared to the same month a year ago, the Police Department reported Tuesday.

The figures, with 1971 first in each case: rape 59-65, robbery 482-504, larceny 1,202-1,276, auto theft 1,022-1,133.

The number of homicides, aggravated assaults and burglaries increased. Figures for them, with the 1971 September figures first: Aggravaged assault 269-265, homicides 12-4, burglaries 1,574-1,528.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Agrees To Talks

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Israel agreed today to continue discussions with United States on possible solutions to the Middle East crisis, but said it will not change its conditions for allowing Egypt to reopen the Suez Canal.

A statement issued today in Jerusalem gave details of a cabinet meeting Tuesday night. It said that at the meeting Premier Golda Meir and her cabinet agreed to "continue contacts with the government of the United States" but "reconfirmed its stand" on conditions for opening the canal.

U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers has been trying to gain backing for his six-point proposal for reopening the canal, closed since the 1967 Arab-Israeli war. Rogers was meeting with the foreign ministers of a number of nations in New York for the U.N. General Assembly in an effort to gain support for his proposals.

Bayh Steps Aside

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., declaring that he must reorder the priorities in his personal life, will pass up a run for the Democratic presidential nomination to be with his wife during her recovery from cancer surgery.

"I must put first things first . . . my son and my wife, Marvela, and her well-being and rapid recovery are more important to me than seeking the presidency," Bayh said yesterday at a news conference.

Mrs. Bayh, 38, entered Columbia Hospital for Women last Wednesday. On Thursday a biopsy revealed a malignancy and surgery was performed Friday.

"We have every reason to believe the operation was a success," said Bayh, who made the decision about the presidential candidacy in a discussion with his family over the weekend.

Back Into Cells

FRENCH CAMP (UPI) — Rioting prisoners at the San Joaquin County Jail were herded back to their cells one-by-one early today, their two-day "insurrection" quelled by tear gas, fire hoses and brute force.

Thirteen inmates, two guards and the county sheriff were injured slightly in the disturbances that began Sunday night.

"It's still tense but all are locked up," said Sheriff Michael Canlis, who suffered a slight head cut from falling glass while he was in cellblock control with two county officials.

To See Thieu

BANGKOK (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan of California said today he will extend President Nixon's congratulations to President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam on Thieu's election victory.

"I bear messages from the president — congratulatory messages — on President Thieu's reelection," Reagan said on his arrival here from Singapore.

Arrive In Iran

PERSEPOLIS, Iran (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and his wife arrived in Iran today from Turkey to attend the 2500th anniversary celebrations of the Persian monarchy and ran into a mild security problem.

Authorities had chosen Agnew's luxurious tent by chance as an example for about 100 newsmen of the ornate accommodations created by the Shah of Iran for his honored guests.

Most of the approximately 50 other tents that will house kings, queens and heads of state were out of bounds. But about 100 newsmen poked around the Agnew tent, opened every closet and looked under every bed.

It was a secret serviceman's nightmare. Everyone was out of the tent before Agnew arrived and it was expected that the living room, two bedrooms, two bathrooms and kitchenette in the luxurious tent were minutely inspected by secret servicemen.

Crowds Checked

BONN (UPI) — Helmeted riot police held back a crowd of several thousand today as Japanese Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako ended their historic European visit with a tour of Beethoven's birthplace.

The royal couple also planned visits with Chancellor Willy Brandt and former President Heinrich Luebke and his wife before departing for Tokyo with a refueling stop in Anchorage, Alaska.

About 120 policemen, half from a riot control squad, blocked off the short street in Bonn as Hirohito and the empress arrived at the building where composer Ludwig van Beethoven was born 200 years ago.

Blow Up Roads

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — The British army began blowing up minor roads along the border with the Irish Republic today in an effort to curb illegal crossings by the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA), an army spokesman said.

The army issued a one-line statement saying the new move was designed to stop the IRA from smuggling men into Northern Ireland to fight British troops.

A Plastic Bottle Nearing Reality

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A soft drink firm executive says his company has just about perfected a plastic bottle that can be "readily incinerated without generating harmful properties."

Harry Teasley, a packaging manager for the Coca-Cola Co., told about the project Tuesday to a reporter at the National Association of Food Chains annual meeting.

He predicted plastic containers would replace man glass and metal containers and said the project resulted from an ecological study made for his firm.

5 U.S. 'Copters Blown Up By Red Infiltrator Team

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist guerrillas crept onto a U.S. helicopter base eight miles from Saigon early today and blew up five choppers before escaping into the dark without a shot being fired.

The sappers placed satchel demolition charges inside five UH1 Hueys parked at Di An, northeast of Saigon. The explosions destroyed two of the helicopters and heavily damaged the other three, military spokesmen said. Hueys, the workhorses of the Vietnam war, cost $285,000 apiece.

Di An, visited by President Nixon during his trip to Vietnam in July, 1969, is believed the closest American base to Saigon to be attacked since the guerrilla spring offensive of May, 1968, when several U.S. bases next to the capital were hit.

It also was the first U.S. helicopter base to be attacked by sappers since July 27 when four copters were destroyed at Laikhe, 30 miles north of Saigon. In that attack, 13 other helicopters were destroyed by subsequent explosions from rockets attached to them.

U.S. command spokesmen said an American lookout spotted two of the guerrillas escaping in the dark at the same time the first explosions went off. The U.S. or South Vietnamese guards on duty were not able to fire a shot, however, they said.

Meanwhile, an armor-led South Vietnamese force was making a major push against Communist artillery units responsible for recent shellings of U.S. and government outposts near the Cambodian border.

One unexploded satchel charge was found at the helicopter base. Spokesmen said that as far as they knew no other helicopters on the base were damaged by exploding ammunition. The choppers are used in Cambodian border action but fly to the Saigon area for the night for security reasons.

In other battle action, a U.S. Air Force RF4 reconnaissance plane and two F4 fighterbombers escorting it on a reconnaissance mission Tuesday over North Vietnam were fired on by two surface-to-air missiles (SAM's), U.S. spokesmen said.

The missiles were spotted by electronic equipment but were not observed visually, the command said. It added that none of the planes was damaged and there was no American "protective reaction" against the SAM sites.

The incident occurred about 80 miles north of the Demilitarized Zone between North and South Vietnam. It was the first reported firing of SAM's at U.S. aircraft since July 10. No American planes were hit then either.

North Vietnamese Army (NVA) forces kept up the pressure in the Cambodian border area 85 miles northwest of Saigon but the allies responded with aerial bombardment and a ground assault.

Beban Reported In Jury Censor

The Marin County Grand Jury reportedly took disciplinary action yesterday against a member who criticized the indictments arising from the San Quentin breakout and who has criticized jury procedure in the current issue of an underground newspaper.

One source said Rick Beban, former activist at the College of Marin, was "censured" by the panel. Neither Milen C. Dempster, jury foreman, nor Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales could be reached for comment.

However, Cecelia Lannon, an attorney with the Marin County Legal Aid Society, said she accompanied Beban to yesterday's regular jury session at his request after the panel indicated on its agenda that, in the attorney's words, "indicated it was going to discuss something that concerned him."

She declined to discuss what happened at the meeting, saying that the "jury interprets very strictly what can be discussed outside the courtroom."

She added, however, she was planning legal action in an attempt to clarify what disciplinary powers the jury has.

In an interview in the Oct. 8 issue of the Berkeley Tribe, Beban was quoted as saying fellow jurors have sought to remove him "because of the length of my hair, because of my political ideas, and because my past is not beyond reproach. Anyway, their reaction to me is that they don't like me very much."

Beban's reference to the past apparently related to his arrest in connection with the 1969 protest against the Tamalpais Creek flood control project.

Also in the Tribe story, Beban raised the possibility of a federal civil rights suit as a means of attacking the grand jury system, which he said discriminates against minorities.

In addition to Beban's criticism of the San Quentin indictments, another juror, Gerald A. Hawes, resigned in protest over the jury's action.

ORDER

tion of the creek was not to be touched.

"Now," Egger said, "they've gone up there and devastated the area."

"It looks like the Corps of Engineers has been there," he said, in reference to often-criticized flood control work the Army Corps of Engineers has done on Corte Madera Creek.

Crowe said the creek work had not been done Monday morning and that no one had given Gentry permission to do it. "Why they did it, I don't know," he said.

The council unanimously passed a motion by Egger to issue the stop-work order with a condition that work could not resume until the company agreed to return the allegedly destroyed portions of the creek as close as possible to their natural site.

Crowe and Egger said they would be at the work site at 7:30 a.m. today to order the work stopped.

When City Atty. Wallace S. Myers said he didn't know if the company would stop its work or not, Egger replied that "they are not going to start work in the morning one way or the other" and threatened to lie in front of bulldozers if an attempt was made to start work.

The stop-work order will remain in effect at least until 5 p.m. Friday when the council agreed to meet at the women's club for a progress report on the situation.

Sky Brown, But No Smog Alert

A heavy layer of brown smog returned to Marin skies today, but the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District said no air pollution alert was expected.

A district spokesman said nitrogen dioxide and dirt particle readings were high throughout the Bay Area, but not approaching dangerous levels. Nitrogen dioxide, caused for the most part by automobiles emissions, gives the sky its brownish hue.

The spokesman said increased offshore winds and cooler temperatures were expected today to ease the smog problem on San Francisco Bay and its fringes.

The central Bay Area recorded the highest smog reading yesterday, 133, or "severe." The North Bay index was 74, "moderate" air pollution.

The pall of smog brought an "air stagnation advisory" from the National Weather Service and a "close watch" by air pollution control officials.

The weather service said poor dispersion in the Bay Area was resulting from a high atmospheric pressure system over the plateau of the western states.

The system caused a strong temperature inversion over much of California.

REMAP

Republicans wield the ultimate weapon —the governor's promised veto if the plan does not satisfy him.

The Republican strategy also depends on getting the votes of at least three Democrats.

Virtually no talk was heard yesterday from the leadership of both parties about the possibility of compromising between their two reapportionment plans. Both were bargaining intensively for the needed 21 votes to get their respective plan through the Senate, with numerous senators holding out for changes to improve their district.

Each side claimed it had enough votes, but the brokering for votes showed each was bluffing. More than one senator's office door revolved throughout the day as negotiators for each plan worked for commitments to their plan.

The Democratic plan will be heard for a second time tomorrow at 9:30 a.m. in the Capitol, and may emerge considerably altered from last week's version.

The Democrats claimed that their plan sacrificed Sen. Fred W. Marler Jr., R-Redding, by transplanting his district to Los Angeles. But by extending Behr's district almost 200 miles north into Marler's territory, it was Behr who would have the disadvantage of facing Marler on his home ground.

The Republican plan, distributed in a "confidential memorandum" to all senators, was the result of Marler's work to come up with a sacrifice other than himself. Marler is minority floor leader.

The memorandum was signed by the four Republican senators who form a minority on the Senate Elections and Reapportionment Committee, Clair W. Burgener of La Mesa, San Diego County, Dennis E. Carpenter of Irvine, John L. Harmer of Glendale and John A. Nejedly of Walnut Creek. Carpenter also is his party's state chairman.

In San Francisco, Behr's district would include North Beach, the Marina, Presidio, Golden Gate Park and Sunset District to the San Mateo County line.

In Sonoma County, his district would include Petaluma, but exclude Cotati, Rohnert Park and Santa Rosa, which would remain in the First District of Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka. Behr's district also would take in the western half of the county up to the Mendocino County line.

But Behr would lose, largely to Marler and to Collier, Napa and Solano counties, which are in Behr's current district. Collier's district also would extend through Vallejo and into Contra Costa County, ending short of Antioch.

Behr's new district would have 499,789 people, only .02 per cent over the ideal district of 498,828.

Of the district's total population, about 200,000 each would be in Marin and San Francisco, and almost 100,000 in Sonoma.

Behr's new district would be 43.2 per cent Republican, up from 41.7 per cent in his current district.

The "confidential memorandum" to the senators included a letter from Harmer declaring that the Democratic plan was "unconstitutional and would be stricken by the courts." He based his conclusion on an attached opinion from Legislative Counsel George H. Murphy that the Democratic plan could be attacked on constitutional grounds if it were drawn to assure election of an individual from a specific ethnic group.

The Democrats have declared openly that their plan was drawn to assure a Mexican-American district in Los Angeles.

Marler said yesterday that Northern California senators "are like nine men in an eight-man life raft" because population shifts require giving one Northern California district to Southern California.

Offstreet Parking Code Hit

Relaxing of offstreet parking requirements in commercial areas to bring the requirements in line with other cities in Marin and the nation, has been approved by the Mill Valley Planning Commission.

Planning Director Tom W. Newton said the commission recommended the city council amend the city's zoning ordinance to ease requirements, which specify how many parking spaces new and remodeled businesses must have.

The commission took the action based on a recommendation by a parking committee which studied parking in other cities in Marin. A study of nationwide parking requirements, conducted by the American Society of Planning Officials, also was consulted, Newton said.

Parking requirements have come under attack recently by planners, city councilmen and citizens, who have said the excessive requirements contribute to a "sea of asphalt" surrounding shopping centers.

On the other hand, downtown merchants have cited a growing shortage of parking in that area and are pushing for more stringent requirements in and around Lytton Square.

In other business last night, newton said the commission agreed to hold a special meeting with the architectural advisory committee at 8 p.m. Wednesday at city hall to review plans for improvements to Miller Avenue between Reed and Willow streets.

The plan features four traffic lanes divided by a landscaped median, parallel parking on one side of the street and angle parking on the other and traffic signals at LaGoma Street.

needed and alternatives haven't been adequately explored.

Councilman James F. Reed, commending the work of the committee and its chairman, Valmar Schaaf, called the positions "tremendous policies."

Councilman Lewis W. Stewart, noting nothing had been done like this in the city's history, asked if any other Marin city council had ever taken such action. Schaff said to his knowledge, none had.

The committee report states, "Successful water reclamation projects have been constructed both in the U.S. and abroad. The economics of these plants show that reclamation is as economical, or more so, than importing water from distant sources and then wasting it after expensive treatment to render it harmless to the environment."

The report goes on to encourage all Marin agencies to develop a longterm plan for complete water reclamation and integrate the construction of all plant facilities into such plan.

The aqueduct (Measure B) to be voted on in Marin Nov. 2 was opposed by the committee because it felt Marin could more than adequately handle its water consumption without it and the federal environmental impact study of the project's effect on the Eel and Russian rivers and the Marin coast line would not be available until after the election.

with faculty patrols of girls' restrooms, scene of the extortion incidents.

He said, however, the problem was "difficult to police" because of charges and countercharges by both sides. And Palches told the crowd, extortion in school halls was not confined to San Rafael High, but "happening in an almost epidemic way around Northern California."

To suggestions the school return to a closed campus, abandoning the loose scheduling program in effect for a year, Palches considered that too drastic.

Jane Levinsohn of 21 Lunada Court, while declining to accept the current strife as totally black-white and accusing the Independent-Journal of drawing that conclusion, told the board she had "resigned in utter frustration" from a multiethnic education committee which this spring concluded that San Rafael High was a "white ghetto."

She wondered what reports had been given the board on dealing with problems outlined by the panel.

"Putting 'potty' ladies in a bathroom where you have 17-year-old kids is not the solution," she said. "You've got to get together and talk."

"I'm concerned that what may be a disciplinary problem is being made into a racial problem," said a spectator. "I would like to have discipline for green, white, brown, black and everybody else."

Palches outlined the troublesome events of recent days and disciplinary steps taken against both students and nonstudents who came on campus during last Monday's strife. On that jay, a white student's shoes were stolen and the girl was assaulted, and a fight broke out among former students over a gambling debt.

Although he said one student was suspended the maximum 10 days as a result of the shoe incident, several white students present at last night's meeting said the outsted girl went on a class field trip the other day nonetheless. Palches said he was investigating.

H. K. White of 275 Summit Avenue, whose daughter was struck in the shoe incident, objected to "buckpassing" by school officials instead of "meeting the problem head on." "I'm not going to go to work with the idea my child is going to get beaten up," he said.

"I've been going through two-three years of getting nowhere," said Robert L. Grime of 61 Highland Avenue, prime critic of school officials. He said he didn't wish to blame blacks or whites but to find out how to solve the problem.

9-Month Jail Term For Thief

Michael Patrick Spurlock, 25, of Santa Rosa, was sentenced yesterday to nine months in Marin County Jail for the burglary of a Mill Valley apartment in May 1970.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court also placed Spurlock on probation for three years and gave him credit for time he has spent in jail since May 4.

Spurlock pleaded guilty last January to burglarizing an apartment at 50 Corte Madera Avenue, Mill Valley, on May 22, 1970.

portions she found useful. She said, however, she never intended to use the entire document anyway.

"We've always had ample literature on the 'right' and we've always had ample literature from the underground papers," she said. But in this book, Mrs. Franklin added, she found an opportunity for students preparing to vote for the first time to analyze thoroughly the "logic and thinking of the 'left.'"

The book, which, besides revolutionary theory, delves into such areas as "Understanding Orgasm" and the growing of marijuana, has "no other purpose than for adults — and I consider my students adults," Mrs. Franklin said.

Critics were unswayed. "This direction of funds will cause a taxpayer revolt," said Willis C. Bohn of Tiburon.

Added Anita C. Strom, former school board member, "The book is not the only problem — the real problem is the whole social studies department. The department is now composed strictly of political activists and sympathizers thereof and the cup runneth over ... there are those who feel that we are sending our children to school to learn how to destroy our system and government."

When Robert L. Grime of 61 Highland Avenue, a parent whose official complaint spurred last night's session, announced he would read excerpts from the book, the majority of the crowd roared in opposition.

Why, he wondered, was it necessary for students to "understand orgasms?"

"Out of context," shouted a student.

"We're not children," yelled another.

Exclaimed a third student with long, blond hair: "At what age did you understand orgasm?"

Said Grime, "It's not the individual book or what the book has in it, but what can happen if a teacher has the total right to introduce what he wishes," Despite Mrs. Franklin's assurances she intended to use only parts of the volume, he added, many students already had received copies and "every bit of material" has been "exposed."

After several sharp exchanges between critics and supporters, Jones announced that "no headway is being made." The vote to adjourn was barely audible amid footstomping and pleas to speak.

Later, Supt. John F. Plank said district policy calls first for an investigation of the document by the school principal. If the principal and teacher can't agree on its use, a staff committee would take over, ultimately reporting to Plank and the school board on a possible solution.

New Ambassador To Denmark Selected

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Los Angeles businessman Fred J. Russell is the new U.S. ambassador to Denmark, succeeding Guilford Dudley Jr.

Russell, 55, was named to his new post Tuesday by President Nixon. The new ambassador was undersecretary of the interior when Walter J. Hickel was secretary. He then served as acting secretary until Nixon named Rogers C. B. Morton to the post.

advance planning." He also urged a mandatory midnight halt to planning sessions" — a lot of bad planning in this city is done after midnight —" and urged that the planners use an egg-timer to limit speakers.

Mayor Joseph D. Garguilo, explained that "I have a serious concern" over the number of townhouse projects springing up in Novato, and "I'd like to see the general plan updated, but I'm against any moratorium."

Sartain argued that "a substantial portion of our city has challenged the general plan as it is ... our planning commission has come to a conclusion that the moratorium is essential."

Jones cross-examined Planning Director Brian W. Mattson to bring out that the proposed freeze still would allow builders to complete more than 1,700 dwelling units already on the books.

"I think there are definite advantages to the moratorium" in allowing the city staff to update the 1966 general plan, Jones concluded.

North Marin Federation president Guthrie R. Greene headed the contingent of half a dozen pro-moratorium speakers. He read a 45-minute speech repeating and expanding the arguments of the federation's June 5 letter to the council in which the moratorium first was requested.

A dozen opponents' arguments ranged from the hardship the moratorium would impose on small builders and construction-linked Novato business firms, to a warning from David Greenlee of the Marin Builders Exchange that "you can't say 'stop the world for six months until we catch up'."

Ronald D. Schenck, Novato School District board chairman, branded the moratorium "rather frightening — a cavalier attitude toward property rights ..."

He charged that "our frustration and inability to reach perfection" put the city in danger of "departure from our traditional form of government. If the proponents did so knowingly, they represent a philosophy I cannot buy."

Other speakers called the moratorium "temporary confiscation without compensation," "immorality" and "totally taking and not giving."

After turning down the moratorium despite recommendations from the planning staff and planning commission, the council voted 4-1 on a motion by Sartain that the commission concentrate on updating the general plan, with a monthly report to the council on its progress. Womak voted against the motion without explanation.

Town Council Meet Has Been Reset

A joint meeting of the Corte Madera Town Council and Planning Commission, previously set for tonight, has been rescheduled for Tuesday.

Tuesday's meeting, to be held at town hall at 7:30 p.m., will deal with general plan review, zoning and home occupation permits.

OBITUARIES

Rites Set For Ruth Torbet, 84

Funeral for Ruth Turner Torbet of Larkspur, longtime member of the Holy Innocents Episcopal Church in Corte Madera, will be Saturday at 11 a.m. at the church.

Mrs. Torbet died yesterday after a long illness in a local hospital. She was 86.

She was born in Michigan. She had lived in Larkspur for the past 30 years.

Mrs. Torbet had been treasurer of the altar guild at the church for 20 years. She also belonged to the Tamalpais Center Women's Club.

She was the widow of the late Lt. Com. Mayson White Torbet, a naval architect with the Coast Guard.

She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. G. E. Bacon and Mrs. Victor Fortune, both of Jackson, Mich.

Mrs. Torbet will be buried near her husband at Arlington National Cemetery, Virginia.

ANNIE COLBURN

Annie Colburn, 86, mother of Herbert W. Neville of San Anselmo, died Saturday in a local convalescent hospital after a long illness.

Mrs. Colburn was born in Nova Scotia and lived in Oakland prior to entering the rest home a year ago.

She was the widow of Edgar Colburn, who died many years ago.

In addition to the son, Mrs. Colburn is survived by a brother, Lawrence Neville of Los Angeles.

Her body was to be cremated.

W. A. LERNER

Funeral for Wilfred A. Lerner, 65, of San Rafael will be at 3 p.m. tomorrow in Sinai Funeral Chapel, San Francisco, under the auspices of Bay City Lodge 526, Free and Accepted Masons.

Kerner, a department manager at the GET Parkside department store in San Francisco, collapsed at home and was pronounced dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital at 3:06 p.m. He previously had suffered a heart attack, according to the Marin County coroner's office.

A native of San Francisco, he and Mrs. Lerner moved to San Rafael 12 years ago, living at 705 Kerner Boulevard. In addition to his wife, he is survived by a sister, Barbara Jennings of Palo Alto, a daughter, Mitzi Webber of Los Angeles, and two grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

He was a past president of the Bay City Masonic lodge.

The funeral will be followed by cremation.

INEZ BRUNETTI

Requiem Mass for Inez T. Brunetti, 59, retired dental nurse, will be offered Friday at St. Vincent De Paul Church, Petaluma.

Miss Brunetti died Sunday at a Sacramento hospital after a short illness. She was born and reared in Two Rock, and graduated from St. Vincent's High School.

Miss Brunetti worked as a dental nurse from 1937 until her retirement in 1969.

She is survived by two brothers, Edward Brunetti of Novato and Oscar Brunetti of Carmichael, Sacramento County.

Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma. Burial will be at Calvary Cemetery.

The family prefers contributions to Hanna Boys Center, Sonoma, or to a favorite charity.

ROBERT ROGERS

Mass of the Resurrection for Robert E. Rogers of Marinwood will be celebrated at 10 a.m. Friday at St. Isabella's Catholic Church, Terra Linda, with burial in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Rogers, retired medical technical assistant at San Quentin Prison, died Monday in a local convalescent hospital after a long illness. He was 68.

Rogers had worked at San Quentin for 15 years, retiring in July. Before joining the prison, he served in the Navy for 32 years.

Born in Rosendale, N.Y., Rogers lived in California 18 years. The family home is at 93 Blackstone Drive.

Survivors are his wife, Mary; two sons, Dennis and Terrance, both at home, and a sister, Carrie Reddington of New Jersey.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Memorial contributions are preferred by the family to the American Cancer Society or St. Jude's Hospital, care of the Archdiocese of San Francisco.

ordinance on second reading. Rice said the council wants the ordinance adopted then so the city can file the condemnation suit next Wednesday if annexation is approved the day before.

The timing is important, he said, because the council wants to file the suit before the BCDC votes on the cove apartment plan.

But Broman pointed out that annexation, if successful, is almost certain to be challenged in court, thus delaying completion of annexation and paving the way for BCDC approval of the apartments regardless of the outcome of the vote.

Stephen H. Kaufmann, attorney for a committee opposing the annexation, has served notice he believes the election is illegal and that he will take the matter to court.

The council moved to condemn the land last Wednesday after Fleischman turned down an offer of $125,000 from the city for the disputed parcel.

LITTLE COWPOKE

Jamie Berry, 6, of Tiburon, was named most freckled cowboy at the Grand National Littlest Cowboy and Cowgirl contest held in connection with the 1971 Grand National which will open Oct. 22 at San Francisco's Cow Palace. Another Marin winner of the contest, entered by more than 65 Bay Area youngsters, was Richelle Fowler of Novato, who at two and a half years, won the littlest cowgirl prize.

House Votes Women Equality With Men

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Sam Ervin, who single-handedly defeated a proposed constitutional amendment on women's rights last session, mobilized today for a repeat performance.

Women's liberation groups, meantime, fanned out through Senate office building corridors in search of enough votes to beat the North Carolina Democrat in their second encounter over an equal rights amendment in less than one year.

The House in August, 1970, voted 350 to 15 to approve the amendment which would give women legal equality with men. But Ervin conducted a minifilibuster when the measure came to the floor in the closing days of the old Congress and succeeded in blocking a vote.

The House again Tuesday voted 354 to 23 to send the same amendment back to the Senate, setting the stage for another Ervin talkathon. This time, however, rights advocates had time on their hands —the rest of this year and all of next year.

Ervin, mindful he might lose on a vote to cut off debate, reportedly had a series of at least 10 amendments ready to offer to the House measure, which has been pending on the Senate calendar awaiting House action. It can be called up, subject to a vote, for floor action at any time.

Union Music Flap Explanation Due

San Rafael High School District authorities are awaiting delivery of a letter from San Francisco Musicians Local 6, discussing why the Terra Linda High School band was barred from playing at the Marin County Fair over the weekend.

Hugo Rinaldi, head of the school's music department, said the union's executive board met yesterday on the issue and ordered a letter sent to Rinaldi today.

Rinaldi said union officials would not discuss the letter's contents via telephone but promised that the letter would be mailed this afternoon.

The musicians' office told the Independent-Journal that the only person who could report on the executive board meeting was busy at another meeting today.

The dispute came to light Friday when union spokesmen called Fair Manager Marcelle McCoy and ordered her not to let the Terra Linda students play. The spokesmen said that all union musicians could be pulled off fair engagements if the students played.

No Charge As Yet Into Shooting

No charge was filed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court against a Sleepy Hollow man arrested last Wednesday on suspicion of shooting an 18-year-old youth outside the man's home.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Gary W. Thomas said today investigation of the case was continuing.

Charles A. Peri, 41, was arrested after he allegedly shot Eugene A. Benson Jr., of Sleepy Hollow, when Benson approached Peri's driveway where Peri was fighting with another youth.

The other youth, John Raymond Windrick, 15, of Sleepy Hollow, was booked into Juvenile Hall after the shooting on suspicion of disturbing the peace, being drunk in public and making obscene phone calls to Peri's residence.

Rights Commission Meeting Postponed

Tomorrow night's meeting of the Marin Human Rights Commission has been postponed a week, until 8 p.m. Oct. 21 in the planning commission chambers at the Marin Civic Center.

Executive director Gerald J. Hood said the extra week is needed to prepare material for the commissioners to consider before their joint meeting with the Marin County Board of Supervisors, which is scheduled for Nov. 9.

Urban Panelists Quit Over Hotel

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A majority of the citizen members on the city's Urban Design Advisory Committee resigned en masse Tuesday because the Planning Commission approved a 25-story hotel construction project on Van Ness Avenue.

Spokesman John Jacobs said the 10 who quit in protest would fight the contested decision before the Board of Permit Appeals.

Jacobs is the San Francisco Planning and Urban Renewal Association's executive director.

There are 15 citizen members on the committee and 13 city officials.

Smog Board May Fire Its Lawyer

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Secret meetings held last week by Bay Area Air Pollution Control District directors were to consider firing the district's counsel, Matthew S. Walker, the Independent-Journal learned today.

No decision was reached in last Wednesday's two unannounced sessions of the personnel committee, but a vote to fire Walker is expected in a third closed meeting of the committee at 1 p.m. tomorrow in district offices, 939 Ellis Street.

The committee then would make its recommendation to the full board for action when the directors meet at 9:30 a.m. Friday in the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors chambers in Martinez.

Walker, legal adviser since the district's inception in 1955, long had feuded with the district's chief administrative officer, D. J. Callaghan. Until last year, Walker reported directly to the board of directors, but at Callaghan's urging the board demoted the position of counsel to make it responsible instead to Callaghan.

Burglary Charge Plea Is Innocent

Patrick Michael Quinn, 25, of Sausalito, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of burglary.

Jury trial was set for the week of Nov. 15.

Quinn was arrested Sept. 21 when Sausalito police said they found him in the house of Alfred S. Wilsey of 89 Cazneau Avenue. Police said another man with Quinn leaped from a second floor window and escaped.

Novato Tree Stand Will Be Thinned Out

Novato Civic Foundation directors bowed last night to Marin County Parks and Recreation Department wishes to thin out the foundation's tree nursery at Stafford Lake County Park.

Leroy M. Gerner, foundation president, said the county would relocate 20 of the choicest trees to the Marin County Civic Center. Gerner added that Pierre W. Joske, county parks and recreation director, will mark the trees as having come from the foundation.

Between 1965 and 1968, the foundation planted nearly 2,000 conifers on land loaned by the North Marin County Water District. The trees were intended for park beautification and as a supply for fund-raising Christmas tree sales.

Joske explained to foundation directors that the trees must be thinned out for optimum growth, but agreed to leave the 17 best trees to form a grove in the county park.

County crews last week began removing crowded trees, placing some of them in containers for transplanting, Gerner reported. The new open spaces will be turfed.

Foundation directors also learned last night that the foundation raised more than $700 at a recent wine-tasting benefit.

The money will be used to install a dam to create a pond on Novato creek near the Novato branch of the county library, and to surface footpaths leading to the library.

Car Wreck Brings A Bruised Forehead

An 18-year-old San Rafael girl was treated yesterday for a bruise on the forehead she received in a San Rafael auto accident, a Marin General Hospital spokesman said.

Linda Gibson was injured in an accident at about 10 p.m. at Third Street and Grand Avenue involving two cars driven by Robert Joseph Aganowski, 16, of 67 Porteous Avenue, Fairfax, and Lester Mardaley Cox, 21, of 50 Woodland Drive, Fairfax, according to police.

Cong-Freed GI Reunited With Parents At Hospital In Denver

DENVER (UPI) — Army S. Sgt. John C. Sexton Jr., who spent more than two years in a Viet Cong jungle prison, was reunited with his parents today.

"This is the most wonderful time of my life," Mrs. John C. Sexton Sr., of Warren, Mich., said.

Sexton was bundled in blankets on a stretcher as he arrived here by plane in the chilly dawn.

The Army sergeant kissed his parents and looked at family snapshots while waiting to be taken by ambulance to Fitzsimons Army Hospital.

"He looked very good," Sexton's father said after medics took his son to the hospital. "From the way he looked, I don't think he'll be in the hospital very long."

The 23-year-old Michigan soldier was taken to Fitzsimons before waiting reporters could talk with him but a hospital spokesman said he would appear with his parents at a news conference later today.

Sexton, released by the Viet Cong in South Vietnam last Friday, arrived following a short stop at Travis Air Force Base, Calif., the final stop en route from Saigon to Denver.

When the C141 Starlifter touched down at Buckley Field at 4:06 a.m., Sexton's parents and his sister, Mrs. Susan Wright of Phoenix, Ariz., went aboard the aircraft while 10 other patients were taken off.

The long journey home began when Sexton was released by his Viet Cong captors after a 10-day march through the jungle to a point 70 miles north of Saigon. He made contact with friendly forces and was flown to a hospital, where he was treated for mild anemia and other ills.

Sexton was the 24th American prisoner of war to be released by the Communists. Before departing from Tan Son Nhut Air Base near Saigon, he told reporters, "It's great to be back. I'm anxious to get home."

Sexton's parents, who arrived in Denver Monday, said they had no hard feelings that it took two years for a letter written by their son shortly after his capture Aug. 12, 1969, to reach them. The letter, held by the Army, told them he was alive.

"He didn't say much," the senior Sexton told newsmen after his son was whisked off by ambulance to Fitzsimons where he will undergo treatment for the anemia and a 40-pound weight loss. "He never was a big talker.

16 Children Die In Crash Of Train

SEOUL (UPI)—A train carrying school children on an excursion Tuesday lost power on a hill and rolled backwards one mile, slamming into tank cars parked at a railroad station.

Police said at least 16 primary-age children were killed and about 30 others injured.

All Alligators Aren't The Same

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—Scientists say alligators can live either in fresh or salt water, but the fresh water ones eat six times as much as their salt water cousins.

The study, released Tuesday by researchers at Louisiana State University, said fresh water alligators grow stomachs twixe as large as those in salt water, and when salt water alligators are put back into fresh water they get their old appetites back.

School Plan Is Moving Right Along

The San Rafael Board of Education took a further step last night toward implementing a full middle-school program next September when it decided which students would attend the sixth through eighth-grade facilities. (Other San Rafael Board of Education stories, page 1)

Although Santa Venetia has been operating for some time as a middle school, it will be joined in the fall by Davidson.

In deciding attendance areas for the facilities, the board closed off criticism that arose over the middle-school concept last year from Coleman and Bahia Vista school parents.

Those students, who traditionally have gone to Davidson upon completion of sixth grade, were to have been enrolled at Santa Venetia, necessitating a bus trip over Puerto Suello Hill.

Under the present plan, Coleman and Bahia Vista sixth graders will go to Davidson, joined by students from Sun Valley, Laurel Dell and West End. Attending Santa Venetia will be students from San Pedro, Glenwood, Hartzell, Gallinas and MacPhail schools.

With improvements, Davidson and Santa Venetia are to have a total capacity of 1,550, with two sixth grade classes assigned to Davidson housed at nearby Laurel Dell Intermediate.

The San Rafael Board of Education also:

REPORT — Heard Frank Battat, new chairman of the citizens advisory committee, recommend improvements in all phases of the high school program, ranging from recording of student absences on report cards to modifications in what was called an "ineffective" drug abuse program.

APPOINTED — Named Trustee Marilyn Bolinger to serve on an advisory group to the county probation office.

BONDS — Endorsed the $16.7 million Marin Community College bond issue — Measure A — on the Nov. 2 ballot.

PERSONNEL — Approved hiring William Blakenburg, substitute bus driver, $3.04 per hour; Salvatore Dieli and Eric Kelley, instructional aides, $2.50 per hour, and accepted the resignations of Salvatore Dieli as a custodian and Kimberly McDowell, instructional aide.

TENNIS — Called for bids to resurface tennis courts at San Rafael and Terra Linda high schools at an estimated cost of $13,000.

Sam's Cafe Trio Cleared By Judge

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Three hippie hoaxers called "Sam's Cafe" have convinced a federal judge that a mass put-on of 20,000 San Franciscans in March constituted a work of "conceptual art."

The trio spent $2,000 on the stunt that involved sending phony bills for $76.40 to 20,000 middle-income persons, along with a stern warning to pay up "or action will be taken."

The following day, vials of excrement were received by news media and art critics explaining the hoax was a work of art and the first step in destroying society by tying up everyone's telephones. The fictitious billings had listed the telephone numbers of the San Francisco Chronicle, the Bank of America and two television stations.

U.Sm District Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli Tuesday threw out charges that Sam's Cafe sent "a filthy and vile substance through the mails" after an art critic, Thomas Albright, called the substance "conceptual art."

Tiburon Studies Safety Rules For Richardson Bay Bike Path

Like a child playing with a new toy but not quite certain what to do with it, the Tiburon City Council last night spent 45 minutes discussing safety rules and controls for its new bicycle path along Richardson Bay. (Another Tiburon City Council story, page 1.)

In an informal, rambling session, councilmen heard that several safety features already have been installed and asked city staff to study others.

Many of the safety features had been suggested by Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood.

City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer said city crews already have: installed guardrails where the path crosses two drainage culverts; put in a temporary barrier at San Rafael Avenue to force cyclists to dismount and walk their bikes across the street; installed a sign asking cyclists not to cross Tiburon Boulevard near Rock Hill Drive to get to the path, and installed signs marking access points.

Councilmen agreed with Balmer that the San Rafael Avenue barriers now in place aren't working and told the city staff to study making them permanent and building a 10-foot fence alongside the path to prevent cyclists from whipping around the barrier and across the street without stopping.

"Then if a cyclist gets hit, we'll feel sorry but not responsible," Balmer said.

Other recommendations of Miss Ellinwood — that "no parking" signs be placed along Tiburon Boulevard near access points to the path and that "bike crossing" signs be placed to warn of crosswalks — were dealth with as well.

Balmer said only the state Division of Highways may install such signs, and that ones prohibiting parking were unnecessary because parking on the shoulder of a state highway such as Tiburon Boulevard is illegal already. He said he has recommended crossing signs be installed by the highways division.

The Tiburon City Council also:

SUBDIVISION — Approved on second reading rezoning of slightly less than an acre at Linda Vista Avenue and Mar East Street from residential to cluster overlay residential.

UNDERGROUND — Agreed to appoint a committee at a later date to study undergrounding of utilities and to conduct a post card survey of residents to determine if they want to participate in an undergrounding district at a cost of approximately $1,500 per house.

AGREEMENT — Approved a joint powers agreement with Belvedere providing for a contribution of up to $14,000 by Belvedere for improvements to the Richardson Bay Pathway.

OPEN SPACE — Heard a report by Planning Director Richard J. Arjo that a conference on open space acquisition is being planned for a date yet to be determined in November.

CLOSED — Went into closed session on selection of a city engineer to replace Ray W. Foreaker, who resigned to become public works director for Marin County.

Heath Supported On Common Mart

BRIGHTON, England (UPI)—Britain's governing Conservative party lined up overwhelmingly today behind Prime Minister Edward Heath in his bid to take the country into the European Common Market.

As 4,000 delegates assembled for the party's annual rank-and file convention, Conservative party officials said massive endorsement for joining the booming six-nation community is certain.

Plea For Garbage Recycling

"If I don't have garbage, why do I have to have garbage service?"

Michael Humphry of 52 Rosemont Avenue asked that question of the San Anselmo City Council last night. He also asked why a uniformed policeman had to deliver a letter from City Administrator Alfred C. Kaeppel telling him he was in violation of the city ordinance on garbage service. (Another San Anselmo City Council story, page 1.)

At the suggestion of Councilman Lewis W. Stewart, the council referred his first question to the San Anselmo Committee on Ecology to determine a policy concerning those people who recycle organic waste in a compost pile and take nonorganic waste to the dumps.

Mayor Kenneth L. Anderson said he didn't have an answer for the second question but he would look into it.

Humphry said all his garbage is organic except his milk cartons and the foil of his cigarette packages which he says he crushes and takes to the San Quentin Disposal site. He said he recycles the organic waste in a compost pile.

Councilman James F. Reed said, "God knows we are trying to encourage people to recycle," but he added there are good reasons for requiring garbage service.

City Atty. John G. Buresh said as the law presently stands, "This man has to pay for garbage service whether he has an apple core in his garbage can or not."

Anderson said there was a recent California Supreme Court case which upheld the requirement of garbage service.

Stewart said that he has a compost pile too and he would like the ecology committee to solve the problem as quickly as it can.

In the meantime, Humphry was told by the council he will have to pay garbage men to come and look at his empty can.

The San Anselmo City Council also:

DESIGN — Appointed Planning Commissioner Regnvald Bernt Jr. to the Design Review Committee for one year to Sept. 15, 1972.

PARK — Did not set a public hearing for the aquisition of 33 Angela Avenue for a park because the owner Will T. Gordon said he did not want to sell it.

HOUSING — Carried over to Oct. 26 appointing two persons to be city liasons with the Marin County Housing Authority.

FLAG — Set Oct. 22 at 3 p.m. for the dedication of the United Nations flag pole and noted that Dr. Eastman Rockwell who chose the emblem for the flag will speak at 4 p.m. at Alexander Hall at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

DIRECTOR — Announced formally that Lawrence B. Gapinski was hired as the city's part-time recreation director until a permanent director could be hired.

CONTRACT — Carried over to Oct. 26 whether to approve a contract with California Council on Intergovernmental Relations until council has time to ask questions on the contract.

JOB — Put over to Oct. 26 whether to allocate $3,353 to be matched by federal contribution of $30,172 to hire four persons under the Federal Emergency Employment Act of 1971. City Administrator Alfred C. Kaeppel said the city's application had not been approved yet and he wanted to make certain the city would not be bound to retain the persons hired after the expiration of the grant.

NUISANCES — Declared as public nuisances five obstructions in San Anselmo Creek and set Oct. 26 for a public hearing on what action the council will take with regard to the nuisances.

SUBDIVISION — Rejected the map of the Loma Robles subdivision and set Nov. 23 for a public hearing to find out what will be done to the property.

WEEDS — Awarded a contract of $885 to Plant-Gro Corp. of San Jose to spray weeds along the old railroad right of way between the Hub and the San Rafael city limits and the Hub and the Fairfax city limits.

HOLIDAY — Approved the request for miscellaneous employees to observe Friday after Thanksgiving Day as a holiday in lieu of Veterans Day Oct. 25.

COLLEGE — Endorsed the Marin Community College District's Measure A on the Nov. 2 ballot, a $16,760,000 bond issue for construction of the district's Novato campus.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to Oct. 26. The council also scheduled a special session for Oct. 19 at 8 p.m. at the San Francisco Theological Seminary's Lloyd Education Center, Austin Avenue and Kensington Road.

Thomas Storke Succumbs At 94

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI)—Thomas More Storke, a crusading editor who won a Pulitzer Prize at the age of 85 for his editorials against the John Birch Society, died Tuesday at his home. He was 94.

Storke, a former U.S. senator, bought a small newspaper here in his birthplace at the turn of the century with a borrowed $2,000 and built it into an editorial power in this area.

Publisher of the Santa Barbara News Press since 1901, he won the Pultizer in 1962. He sold the paper in 1964 to Robert McClean.

THOMAS STORKE
A crusading editor

He believed that an editor's first duty was to his own community but Storke attracted, almost by accident, national attention when he wrote a series of editorials and articles in 1959 on the John Birch Society which he described as "monolithic" and "dictatorial."

A Democrat, he was appointed to the Senate in 1938 by Republican Gov. Frank Merrian to replace William McAdoo, who resigned. Columnist Drew Pearson once wrote of him: "Sen. Storke accomplished more for California in eight weeks than most professional politicos accomplish in eight years."

He was graduated from Stanford, where a classmate was former President Herbert Hoover. Storke later donated $250,000 to the university for a communications school.

Besides the Pulitzer Prize, his editorials against the Birch Society won him the Elijah Lovejoy fellowship "for courageous journalism," the University of Missouri Gold Medal for Outstanding Journalism, and the Lauterbach Award from Harvard's Nieman Foundation "for outstanding work in defense of civil liberties."

A delegate to four national Democratic conventions, Storke was appointed by Gov. Earl Warren to the State Crime Commission and by Gov. Goodwin Knight to the Board of Regents of the University of California.

Memorial services will be held Saturday. Survivors include his widow, Marion, four children, 10 grandchildren, and nine great grandchildren.

Pair Plea Guilt In $6,000 Dupe

Jackie Dickerson, 23, and Carol Reide Simpson, 25, both of San Francisco, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to charges of grand theft.

Miss Dickerson is to be sentenced Nov. 8, Miss Simpson on Nov. 22.

The two were arrested July 2 by Sausalito police who said the pair had duped a Sausalito woman into giving them $6,000 on the pretense they would share with the woman $38,000 they told her they had found.

Court Order Halts Land Firm's Sales

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A temporary court order was issued Tuesday preventing one of California's biggest subdividers, Boise Cascade, from further land sales at four projects.

The order, issued by Judge Robert Cooney in Contra Costa County Superior Court, stopped the Idaho corporation from what authorities termed "unfair and fraudulent business practices" in the selling of plots of ground.

The order was sought by Attorney General Evelle J. Younger and District Attorney William O'Malley.

Four Boise Cascade land promotions sold to the public for about $46 million in the foothills of Calaveras County were cited, but the order was extended to all 18 of the corporation's rural subdivisions in California.

4-Alarm Blaze In Bowling Alley

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Four alarms were sounded Tuesday when a fire swept through a vacant bowling alley on Eddy Street.

Chief Keith Calder who used 185 firemen and 85 pieces of equipment extinguishing the blaze said there was no immediate estimate of damage.

487-Unit Residence Plan Gains Approval

Design of a 487-unit townhouse and fourplex development planned for Kerner and Bellam boulevards was approved unanimously last night by the San Rafael Planning Commission.

Thirty-seven two-story townhouse buildings and 56 fourplex structures would be erected on the property under plans by McKeon Construction. The buildings would be built of wood, stucco, brick and stone.

Kerner-Bellam Realty is owner of the property.

The San Rafael Planning Commission also:

PLAN — Postponed for discussion and recommendation at a later date the proposed preliminary countywide master plan.

YACHT — Recommended to the city council that the commission be entitled to review any property improvements in connection with renewal of a lease held by the San Rafael Yacht Club on city-owned property.

PARKWAY — Despite a request by the city council, declined to revise its earlier recommendation that an extension of Manuel T. Freitas Parkway be two lanes but with provision for future expansion. The council had hoped only for a two-lane extension.

DESIGN — Approved design of a recreational building proposed by Woodside Homes at 61 Novato Street and a storage shed for Clifton McGarr at 146 Jacoby Street.

Council Censors Police Chief For Shooting Remarks

SAN JOSE (UPI) —City councilmen at tumultuous five-hour meeting on Tuesday censored Police Chief Robert B. Murphy because of remarks he made following the fatal shooting of a black chemist.

The action came during a session in which an ad hoc committee of Mexican-Americans and Negroes demanded the suspension of three policemen, one of whom shot chemist John H. Smith on Oct. 19.

Chief Murphy, who came to San Jose from Richmond less than a year ago, had defended the policemen and theorized that Smith might have been "high" on narcotics.

An autopsy showed that was not true.

No action was taken on the demand for the suspension of Officer Rocklin Wooley, who fired the fatal shot.

One Enters Plea To Pot Charge

One of three men arrested in 1970 drug raids in which 150 kilos of marijuana were seized, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of possessing pot for sale.

Jury trial was set for the week of Dec. 6 for Earl James Pitchford, 29, of no known address.

A codefendant, Ellsworth Roy Smith, 24, also of no known address, is to plead to the same charge Monday. A bench warrant, with bail set at $50,000, has been issued for a third defendant, Richard Evans Cannings, 28.

The men were arrested in drug raids last October in houses in Lagunitas and Sleepy Hollow in connection with what drug agents said might have been an operation involving dropping marijuana from planes at night, possibly onto West Marin beaches.

Smith was also arrested in a naroctics raid on a Bolinas residence last week, but no charges have been filed against him — or four others arrested with him — in connection with that case, which is still being investigated, according to the district attorney's office.

700 Acres Of Forest Blackened

KERNVILLE (UPI)—A fire has blackened 700 acres of wilderness area in the Sequoia National Forest about eight miles east of here.

A Forest Service spokesman said the fire in the Dome Lands Wilderness broke out Tuesday. No estimate for control was issued.

Southstate Man Rests After Wreck

Jesus Vallejo Jimanez, 21, of Venice, Los Angeles County, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Community Hospital of Sonoma County with head and back injuries.

Hospital officials said he was injured at about 11:15 p.m. yesterday in an automobile accident on Red Hill Road near the Marin-Sonoma line. Further details were not available.

Marin parking to climb to $16,784.00 per hour.

Just five years ago, you could park in most lots for just a quarter an hour or so. Today you're lucky if it's a dollar. Our research staff has examined this and it appears that, at this quadrupling rate, parking will cost you $16,784.00 an hour by the year 2006. Well, we'd like to point out that we have a swell 250 car parking lot, so at the moment we offer free parking and charge only for our excellent food and drink. (But if our researchers are right, it will be the other way around in 2006. You can bet on that.)

YOU CAN FORGET THE PARKING MONEY TONIGHT, DEAR. WE'RE EATING AT DOMINIC'S.

Council Contests Minutes On Orr

The Fairfax City Council got off to a slow start at its meeting last night when councilmen disagreed on the accuracy of minutes of two previous meetings.

Councilman Francis J. O'Connell started the discussion by charging that a three-part motion — as reported in minutes of an Oct. 4 meeting —to fire Police Chief James R. Orr was actually only a two-part motion.

According to the minutes presented by City Clerk Eileen L. Foster, the council had offered Orr the chance to resign without prejudice, take a polygraph test concerning allegations against him or be subject to immediate dismissal if he refused to do either.

O'Connell said he didn't remember the third part of the motion and Councilman Frank J. Egger agreed, saying "to the best of my knowledge it was a two-part motion."

"If you only had two parts, you would have left it hanging," Councilman Robert R. Souza, the author of the motion, replied, insisting the three parts were correct.

O'Connell also questioned a report in the minutes of a Sept. 13 meeting when the council approved calling for bids for four new city vehicles, first deleting a plan for air conditioning in three passenger cars to be purchased, and later in the meeting reinstating air conditioning in the specifications for the cars.

Other councilmen last night disagreed with O'Connell, insisting that the air conditioning was approved. (The Independent-Journal apparently erred in reporting Sept. 14 that the specifications were approved without air conditioning.)

The council last night did award purchase of the three cars — two police cars and one administrative vehicle — all with air conditioning, to the low bidder, at $8,804, Corte Madera Chrysler-Plymouth Inc.

Purchase of a pickup truck for $2,427 from the low bidder, Isi-Wisnes Inc. of San Rafael, was also approved.

Approval of the minutes was left somewhat up in the air. Councilmen Lee Nelder and Souza voted to approve them and O'Connell voted against approval. Egger said he was voting to approve the minutes of the Oct. 4 meeting and Mayor Cornelis Van Vliet said he wanted to listen to a tape of the Sept. 13 meeting.

The Fairfax City Council also:

ZONING — Set a public hearing for 8 p.m. Dec. 6 on the city's proposed new zoning ordinance. The move came at the request of a citizen's group, which wanted an earlier date and which hope to have Marin Town and Country Club zoned commercial--recreational and prevent its development for apartment housing.

CITY HALL — Continued to its next regular meeting, Nov. 8, a report by the planning commission on its objections to plans for city hall remodeling.

LEAK — On the advice of City Atty. Wallace S. Myers, took no action on a suggestion by Randall L. Garrison of 35 Canyon Road that the councilmen submit to polygraph tests to determine who committed the "overt, despicable" act of leaking council plans, formulated in secret council meetings, to fire Police Chief James R. Orr.

AUTHORITY — Took no action following a listing of several actions which O'Connell said indicated the council might be "abdicating its authority" to the city administrator.

BIDS — Awarded a $26,431 contract to low bidder W. R. Forde Co. for the city's 1971 street resurfacing project.

COLLEGE — Endorsed the Marin Community College District's Measure A, a $16,760,000 bond issue on the Nov. 2 ballct.

POOL TABLES — Tabled until more information could be obtained from the parks and recreation commission on a request by the commission that pool tables in Fairfax Pavilion be declared surplus and sold.

BRIDGE — Approved a concept presented by City Eng. Ben C. Albritton and directed Albritton to prepare plans and specifications for bids for reconstruction of a bridge at Bridge Court.

EMPLOYMENT — Approved city participation in a federal emergency employment program under which the city will hire a parks maintenance man and the federal government will pay 90 per cent of his salary, with the city paying the other 10 per cent.

PERMIT — Approved an encroachment permit for Stevan J. Darwin to construct a carport at 70 Oak Road.

PICKUP — Heard Mayor Van Vliet announce that Fairfax Garbage Disposal Company's annual fall free pickup of debris will be on the company's regular routes Nov. 1-5.

COUNTY — Voted support for plans by the county to rezone, with lower density requirements, lands northwest of the Fairfax city limits.

Innocent Plea To Drug Charges

Jerry R. Guyer, 30, of Petaluma, pleaded innocent yesterday in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court to charges of possession of dangerous drugs and narcotics paraphrenalia.

A preliminary hearing was set for Oct. 22 at 3 p.m. by Judge Alexander J. McMahon. Guyer was arrested Sept. 16 when police searched his car after serving him with a warrant for a traffic violation.

50 Pct. Pay Hike For Bridge Board Proposed

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A 50 per cent pay hike for Golden Gate Bridge District directors has been proposed in new amendments to legislation formerly written to create multicounty sanitation districts.

The hike, at an annual cost of at least $21,600 for the 18 directors, was introduced by Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, at the request of the district's $20,000-a-year lobbyist, Gordon Garland.

The lobbyist's authority to seek the pay hike, however, was not clear — since it never has been discussed publicly by bridge directors.

Coauthoring the Knox measure were both of Marin's legislators, Sen. Peter H. Behr and Assemblyman William T. Bagley, both R-San Rafael. Both said their signatures on the bill had been sought by Garland.

Bridge district directors are paid $50 a meeting, whether it be a committee or full board meeting, and the current maximum annual pay is $2,400. Knox's bill (AB 1783) would raise the ceiling to $3,600 on all but the board president, who would have no ceiling.

(Several district directors who attend many of the meetings have complained that they reached the $2,400 ceiling months before the end of the year, thus get no compensation for the time-consuming meetings toward the end of the year.)

Knox's local government committee will hear his bill at 1:45 p.m. tomorrow in Room 2133 of the Capitol.

Pleads Innocent To Pot Charge

Ross E. Wiltsey, 19, of Petaluma, pleaded innocent yesterday to a charge of possession of marijuana in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon scheduled a preliminary hearing for Oct. 29 at 2 p.m. Wiltsey was arrested Oct. 4 after police who stopped his car on a traffic violation said they found marijuana in his possession.

Supervisors May Act In Book Case

A controversial book, which a San Rafael High School teacher wants to use in her classes, drew criticism from the Marin County supervisors yesterday. (See story, page 1.)

The supervisors, however, decided that the use of the book, "The Movement Toward a New America," should be determined by the San Rafael Board of Education and not by the county supervisors. (The Board of Education was to decide last night.)

Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste, who had not read the book, declared: "I think this is a matter for the board of education, not the supervisors."

Supervisor Michael Wornum, who leafed through the book, found it "disgusting." He agreed with Baptiste that the school board should act on it. "If they don't, then perhaps we might take it up again next week," said Wornum.

Susan Tennler of Greenbrae, lieutenant governor of United Republicans of California, asked the county supervisors to take a stand against the book.

"The book is a manifesto for revolution and is maliciously being used to shape the minds of the school children," Mrs. Tennler said.

Supervisors Louis H. Baar, John F. McInnis and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. agreed that the book is objectionable and unfit for school reading.

The 752-page book is interspersed with four-letter words and contains reprints from the underground press.

Virginia Franklin, teacher at San Rafael High School, had introduced the book in her American government course.

Loophole In Grading, Digging Law Probed

The Marin County Administrator and the public works director will review the county's Grading and Excavation Ordinance to see what can be done about plugging loopholes that permit bulldozers to tear up West Marin hills.

The request for a review of the ordinance, last revised in 1962, came yesterday from Marin County Board of Supervisors on complaints by citizens of West Marin.

Jerry Friedman, chairman of the Environmental Action Committee of West Marin, charged that bulldozers are gouging out roads in West Marin, usually on weekends when it is difficult to contact the county Department of Public Works to stop the bulldozing.

Friedman said that during the past weekend a bulldozer had gouged out 1,500 feet of roadway on a 300-acre ranch in Inverness, owned by David S. Adams and Son Inc. The road was graded from the end of Sunnyside Drive, east of Paradise Ranch Estates.

Irving L. Schwartz, engineer in the Department of Public Works, went to the ranch on Sunday and presented the bulldozer operator with a stop-work order. Schwartz said the excavation violated several provisions of the county's ordinance.

Friedman charged that the developers who violate the ordinance usually come out ahead because, once the grading is done, the county merely orders the road improved and culverts installed. "So in a way, the developers are encouraged to violate the excavation ordinance."

Anne West of Inverness declared that weekend bulldozing is causing siltation of Tomales Bay. "Unless we act now, planning will go by the board."

Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. called for a revision of the county's Grading and Excavation Ordinance.

"A section of the Uniform Building Code is much more severe than our excavation ordinance," Arrigoni said. "That points out the weakness of our code."

Engineer Schwartz said that exemptions allowed in the excavation ordinance are too broad and need tightening. One example is that excavations are exempt if they are for "agricultural purposes."

Study Sought For Acupuncture

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—American medicine should begin an "active research investigation" of the Chinese needle treatment used in the far east for centuries for a wide variety of ailments, the president of the San Francisco Medical Society believes.

Dr. Paul Scholten admits that Chinese physicians don't know how the treatment, called acupuncture, works, but suggests serious study of the method. Treatment consists of inserting slender needles at various points in the body, relieving pain and other problems.

"This is surely not a ridiculous suggestion," Scholten wrote in the current issue of the society's bulletin. "In the past many valuable drugs have been adopted from the herbals of folk-healers, including quinine, morphine, ephedrine, cocaine."

Supervisors Defer Ruling On Borders

No major change is needed in the existing supervisorial districts in Marin, County Administrator John F. Barrows reported yesterday.

Barrows recommended that existing boundaries be retained except for minor changes, but the supervisors postponed a decision until Oct. 26 at the request of Supervisor John F. McInnis.

McInnis said he wanted to study the existing boundaries, but did not elaborate.

At present, McInnis's District 1 has 21.20 per cent of the county's total population. Other districts and percentage of population are:

District 2 (Peter R. Arrigoni Jr.) 18.88 per cent; district 3 (Michael Wornum) 22.87 per cent; district 4 (Louis H. Baar) 17.65 per cent; and district 5 (Arnold M. Baptiste) 19.41 per cent.

Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

SIGNALS — Asked Public Works Director Ray W. Foreaker Jr. to see if he can induce the state Division of Highways to install a traffic signal on Bridgeway at the exit from Marin City.

STOP SIGN — Ordered stop signs to half traffic along Blackfield Drive at the Karen Way intersection, near Reedland Woods School.

McNEAR BEACH — Authorized an engineering fee of up to $6,500 to be paid Dan Coleman Associates to draw up plans for connecting the McNear Beach sewer system to the San Rafael Sanitation District.

ROAD — Refused the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce's request to consider north-south routes between San Anselmo and San Rafael because the matter will come up in the public hearings of the City-County Planning Council on the general plan for Marin.

FINE — Approved a resolution raising the fine for parking in the supervisors' parking place at the Civic Center from $2 to $5.

HEARING — Set Oct. 26 for a public hearing on the exchange of property by the Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation in Kentfield and Ross on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and set Nov. 2 as a public hearing to change the name of Via del Vista street in Inverness.

TRIAL COST — Disagreed with a letter of Oct. 7 from Superior Court Judge Henry J. Broderick accusing them of making "political capital" out of the Angela Davis and Ruchell Magee trial expense. The supervisors said they were not being critical of the judges obliged to follow the law in approving heavy defense expenditures. "It's unfortunate Judge Broderick has taken that attitude," said Louis H. Baar.

FAIR PUBLICITY — Credited "fantastic press coverage," particularly by the Independent-Journal, for success of the 1971 Marin County Fair, which, Asst. County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella reported, broke previous fair attendance records.

PARK SERVICE — At the request of Tiburon City Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood resolved to ask the National Park Service not to move its Western Service Center from San Francisco to Denver, agreeing with Miss Ellinwood that the economy move by the service would make it difficult for Marin County to keep in close personal touch with park officials on national park plans such as those for Point Reyes National Seashore.

Mayor Says Courthouse Land Should Become A Park Plaza

San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini told the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday that the courthouse property in downtown should be used as a park plaza and should have no new buildings constructed on the site.

The mayor's remarks came as he asked the board if an agreement could be worked out so the city could purchase the land.

Bettini said there are already enough commercial buildings in the downtown section and the city needs the land for a park.

Supervisor Michael Wornum calling the downtown section a "schlocky area" said a park would be like an oasis and would give the downtown area character. He also asked County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney if the county could stipulate in the deed agreement that the property would be used for open space. Maloney said it could.

Chairman Louis H. Baar directed the county staff to begin work on an agreement between the county and the city for a mutually suitable price on the land.

County Administrator John F. Barrows said the county is asking $800,000, while Bettini said something in the neighborhood of $500,000 would be acceptable to the city.

The mayor said the city would have to buy the land on a long-term purchase agreement because it could not afford to pay cash all at once.

Judge Jumps To His Death

BANGKOK (UPI)—The chief judge of the court of appeals Tuesday opened a window on the third floor of the court building and jumped.

While Judge Siri Klampasuth, 56, lay dying on the pavement below for 10 minutes, other judges in the room continued their work.

They said later they thought the judge had opened the window to get some fresh air.

The motive for the suicide was not determined, but colleagues said Siri had been passed over the day before in the appointment of judges to higher positions.

China's No. 2 Man Said Dead

HONG KONG (UPI)—The Hong Kong Times, quoting a recent arrival from Kwangchow, said today that Lin Piao, Communist China's no. 2 man, died before September.

The right-wing Chinese daily article quoted an unnamed Chinese businessman as saying, "Lin Piao died before the end of September from an illness. However, the announcement is being withheld for fear of civil war erupting."

Lin's death will be announced only after the leaders decide on their next step, the Hong Kong Times said.

Couple Claims 150 Illegal Horses

A San Rafael couple charged in Marin Superior Court yesterday that there are 100 to 150 horses being illegally kept in San Rafael.

The charge came in a hearing before Judge Henry J. Broderick as Edward K. and Karen S. Wachsman continued their two-and-a-half-year battle to keep their horses in their backyard at 50 Palm Avenue.

The Wachsmans are asking Judge Broderick to reverse a May 4 decision of the San Rafael City Council denying them a permit to keep an Arabian horse and Shetland pony in their residential neighborhood.

Mrs. Wachsman yesterday presented the judge with a chamber of commerce map of San Rafael on which she had marked 26 areas of the city in which she said horses were being kept without city permits.

Although Mrs. Wachsman's list did not contain the names of the owners or the addresses of most of the areas she had marked on the map, among specific parcels were 120 Locust Avenue, owned by Boris H. Lakusta; 99 Junipera Serra, owned by William Parnow, and 54 San Pablo Avenue, owned by Edward Scettrini.

Her husband testified that he had discussed these allegedly illegal horses with San Rafael Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner, but Hotchner had told him, Wachsman said, that he was "only involved with enforcing complaints, not finding violations" of the city's ordinance governing the keeping of animals.

The ordinance requires a permit and sets regulations concerning the keeping of certain animals — including horses — in San Rafael.

Wachsman further charged that Hotchner had told him during a conversation Sept. 10, 1970, that he had been instructed by "members of the city council" to deny Wachsman's permit.

Hotchner took the stand to deny he had said that. As for enforcing the ordinance, he said he has looked at some of the areas the Wachsmans claim horses are being kept, and he has not been able to see any.

He did see two horses on property north of the Marin Civic Center, he said, and has written the property owners advising them of the law. But, he added, he knew of no other illegal horses in the city.

The Wachsmans' attorney, Alvin H. Goldstein Jr., told the judge "This ordinance has been enforced only against the Wachsmans and one other family. Everybody else keeps horses."

The judge ordered Goldstein and San Rafael City Atty. Fred C. Robbins Jr. to submit written briefs on the case and took it under submission.

Mr. and Mrs. Wachsman charge that the council's May 4 action was not based on sufficient evidence and that the city is not uniformly enforcing the ordinance.

The May 4 decision was the second time in six months that the council had overturned a San Rafael Planning Commission decision favoring the granting of a permit.

The battle, involving the Wachsmans, some of their neighbors and the city, has been raging since December 1968 when neighbors complained the animals' quarters were not being cleaned daily and created an unpleasant odor.

Wachsman was found guilty in Marin Municipal Court in 1969 of keeping a horse and pony at his home without a city permit. Last year Municipal Court Judge Peter Allen Smith ordered Wachsman to remove the animals or face a 30-day jail sentence. Wachsman removed the horses, but pursued his battle to keep them.

Man Arraigned On Deadly Weapon Count

Mark D. Souza, 32, was arraigned yesterday in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon set bail at $25,000 and scheduled Souza to enter a plea tomorrow. Souza was arrested Monday after allegedly stabbing his estranged wife, Carolyn, 21, with a knife during an argument at her home at 101 Burlington Drive, Petaluma.

120-Day Sentence Is Given

A 26-year-old Ross man has been sentenced to 120 days in jail for drunken driving.

Judge Robert A. Smallman of Marin Municipal Court handed out the sentence Friday to David Searls True of 55 Fallen Leaf Road.

True was arrested April 13 after his car failed to make a turn on the Highway 17 approach to Highway 101, and the car spun off the road and flipped over.

A report prepared by the probation department indicated True had a past involvement with alcohol and drugs, and Deputy Probation Officer William G. Breaw recommended that he be placed on probation for two years and ordered to seek treatment at Center Point in San Rafael.

True was "badly in need of psychological and psychiatric help," the probation officer said.

His report revealed that True was arrested Sept. 1 for being drunk in public and Sept. 4 for petty theft from a Mill Valley supermarket. He has a theft charge still pending in Nevada County.

Twenty-three other persons have been sentenced by Judge Smallman for drunken driving.

Sentenced last Tuesday were:

Jo Ann Benzing, 29, of San Franicsco, arrested Aug. 4 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $250.

John Franklin Patterson, 38, of 24 Davenport Court, San Rafael, arrested July 15 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $302.

Troy Flynn Thrash, 19, of Vallejo, arrested Oct. 1 in Sausalito, placed on probation for one year and fined $150.

Frederick August Cellarius, Jr., 40, of 25 Stetson Avenue, Kentfield, arrested Sept. 30 on Highway 101 without a drivers license, placed on probation for one year, fined $250 and ordered not to drive until he got a license.

Sentenced last Wednesday were:

Theodora Elizabeth Boyland, 43, of Rancho Cordova, Sacramento County, arrested July 24 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $200.

Charles Anderson McInerney, 42, of 529 Browning Street, Mill Valley, arrested June 30 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $240.

James Gene Ewer, 48, of 10 Gardner Street, Mill Valley, arrested Aug. 13 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $250.

Thomas Deveuve Cagwin, 38, of 47 South Oak Avenue, San Anselmo, arrested Aug. 21 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $250.

Menzo Johannes Kellenbach, 53, of 713 Alice Street, Novato, arrested April 9 in San Rafael, placed on probation for one year and fined $360.

George William Robertson, 49, of Los Angeles, arrested Aug. 25 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $302.

Roland Leslie Hughes, 36, of 165 Cobblestone Drive, San Rafael, arrested July 22 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $250.

Land Feud Civil Suits Are Settled

Civil suits arising from a long standing feud between two Tiburon neighbors were settled yesterday, but who won — if anybody — remained unclear.

The suits had been filed early last year against each other by James L. and Claire Green of 2300 Vista Del Mar Lane and Nathaniel and Violet Marans of 2310 Spanish Trail Lane.

The Greens had originally sought $75,000 in damages and the Maranses sought $5,660. Both figures were later changed, but Judge Thomas F. Keating yesterday ruled that neither party would collect anything:

sought $5,660. Both figures were later changed, but Judge Thomas F. Keating yesterday ruled that neither party would collect anything.

The judge ordered that the property line between the couples' properties be one set by San Rafael surveyor Eugene Lockton in 1961 and staked out by order of the judge by Lockton this year; that both sides pay the costs of their suits as well as $220 each for Lockton's staking job.

James Murray, attorney for the Greens, called the judge's decision an "absolute, total victory" for his clients.

But William O. Weissich, who represented the Maranses, scoffed and said the Maranses won the dispute on the property line.

"We don't care about the line he's talking about," Murray said on Weissich's contention that the court-established line was right where the Maranses always said it was.

Murray said Lockton's survey showed that his clients had been correct in that a shorter line between the two properties fell in the center of two stakes placed by the Maranses to support an arbor on their property.

Thus, Murray, said, the Greens' contention that the stakes encroached into their property was correct.

The two couples had carried on a feud for several years, marked by ripped out fence posts, vines and a tree, water fights and lights shining at each other's homes.

They never agreed on what started the feud or when it began.

Marans said the disagreements started in 1967 after Mrs. Marans was a witness in a misdemeanor case against Green.

But the Greens maintained the dispute arose in 1965 when Green wanted to put up a fence between the properties.

Green spent 10 days in Marin County Jail after being found guilty in April 1970 of wielding a fence post against Marans in November 1969.

Medina Resignation Approved By Army

FT. McPHERSON, Ga. (UPI) —A Third Army spokesman said Tuesday that Capt. Ernest L. Medina's "unqualified resignation" has been approved and he should receive his honorable discharge shortly.

The exact date Medina will leave the service after 16 years will be up to the captain, the spokesman said.

BURGLAR-FIRE ALARM
FOR HIRE

I am the most advanced burglar alarm system anyone has ever created. People call me an electronics wonder. I stand guard over your home, apartment, or small business 24 hours a day and my protection is foolproof. You program me like a computer. If I see an intruder, I frighten him away . . . awake you and or silently call the police and bring them on the run too. I also will warn you at fire and smoke. I'm most attractive and, since I just plug-in, you can move me around easily. Recently, I've starred on national television (ABC, NBC and CBS Network TV shows), and in many national magazines. My name is Preventor II. Best part — I cost just a fraction of those old-fashioned wired burglar alarm systems. I want to protect your loved ones, so please give me an interview. For a no-obligation demonstration.

ANYWAY, IT WAS THATAWAY

In all the rush of getting ready to hold the Marin County Fair at the Marin Civic Center for the first time, neither sign painters nor county officials noticed this little spelling difficulty until after the fair closed Monday. The sign stands at the North San Pedro Road offramp from Highway 101.

Aqueduct Will Bring Too Much Growth, Sonoma Coalition Says

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors yesterday heard criticism of the Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct, which was termed a project that would encourage too much growth.

Iva Warner, chairman of the Sonoma County Coalition, told the board her newly formed group opposes the aqueduct plan and requested a full public hearing be held on it.

Supervisor Philip L. Joerger of Petaluma said the board refused the hearing request, saying several hearings were held last year before the board approved the sale of $115 million in revenue bonds to finance the project.

Joerger said board members indicated they would take the same course of action were the subject to be reconsidered.

Marin County voters will go to the polls Nov. 2 to consider a measure that would permit the Marin Municipal Water District to contract with the Sonoma County Water Agency to build the aqueduct.

Miss Warner said her group was concerned that if Marin voters turn down the measure and the county withdraws from the plan, increased growth will come to Sonoma County and endanger the environment.

Joerger said the board told Miss Warner that the water agency is not directly concerned with growth control and that planning in that area rests with individual cities and the Sonoma County Local Agency Formation Commission.

Life Urged For Coast Chamber

Marin Coast Chamber of Commerce members decided last night to keep the organization alive, after a discussion of the chamber's future during their monthly meeting in Point Reyes Station.

Chamber Pres. James E. Stevens reported that Michael Gahagan was appointed chairman of a nomination committee to present a slate at the Nov. 9 meeting.

The chamber voted a letter of thanks to the state Highway Department for installing new street lights in the Stinson Beach area along Highway 1.

Schools May Need A Tax Hike

Told that "we're at the bottom of our reserves," the Petaluma Board of Education indicated last night a tax increase election may be necessary in the elementary district.

Business Mgr. George W. Castleberry said the district could run out of money because expenses were projected to run $23,000 higher than expected and that revenue might be $23,000 lower than hoped.

Castleberry said dwindling enrollment has reduced state revenue and that the elementary district has had to pay out more tuition money than expected for seventh and eighth graders in the high school district.

Castleberry said that if no additional sources of income are found, the board will have to cult next year's elementary district budget by $100,000.

He said the high school district expenditures are expected to be $29,000 higher than planned, but that reserves of $50,000 are still available.

The Petaluma Board of Education also:

DRUGS — Heard a report on a new drug abuse guide to be given to faculty members as an aid in dealing with drug related problems. On a 3-2 vote, the board delayed approval pending more public discussion at the Oct. 26 meeting.

ADDITION — Awarded a $290,500 construction contract for a six-classroom addition to Rancho Cotate High School to Francis Construction Co. of Santa Rosa, the lowest of nine bidders.

WAGES — Heard a delegation of the Petaluma branch of American Federation of Teachers urge the board to ignore the national wage and price freeze and to grant pay increases. The board said the Sonoma County Counsel's office advised against the raises and suggested the group file a lawsuit to test the decision.

GRANT SCHOOL — Heard a delegation of parents of Grant School students protest the curtailment of bus transportation. The board said all busing within the city limits had been cut back to reduce operating expenses.

Townhouse Cutback Urged By Plan Aide

A planning consultant to the Town of Corte Madera last night recommended that developers of a massive townhouse proposal trim the number of units from 630 to 535.

In a preliminary report on the proposed Meadowsweet Station development, planner Thomas Cooke of Sedway and Cooke of San Francisco, also recommended that the ridgelands around the development remain untouched.

According to Town Mgr. Ronald E. Bartels, the report to the planning commission was incomplete since detailed information on the development had not beensupplied the consultant until last week.

He said the commission continued the public hearing to Nov. 3 at a location to be announced.

Last night's report on the development, proposed for the area east of Highway 101 and south of the Koch luggage plant, came on the heels of a protest petition signed by 276 persons.

That petition, circulated among east side residents living near the site, said there is "unconditional opposition" to the development's planned intersection at the end of El Camino Drive.

The intersection, traffic pattern, expected increases in police and fire protection requirements and general design of the development were all protested by residents at an earlier public hearing.

The Corte Madera Planning Commission Also:

ZONING — Recommended the town council reduce the size requirement for planned unit development zones from 25 acres to one acre.

REZONING — Denied an application from W. F. Riley of Mill Valley for rezoning of nine parcels of property on Paradise Drive from single-family residential to medium-density multiple-unit zoning. Riley had proposed 42 apartment units on the property opposite the Upland Apartments.

HOUSING ELEMENT — Set Nov. 8 at 7:30 p.m. for a special meeting to discuss the town's proposed housing element to the general plan. Such an "element" is required by law if the town is to continue receiving state and federal grants.

HOME OCCUPATION — Postponed to a joint meeting with the town council discussion of the town's policy on home occupation permits and design review on substandard lots. That meeting is set for Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at town hall.

SIDEWALK — Approved the design of a sidewalk at the Corte Madera Post Office. The action was initiated by an elderly resident who wrote the postmaster general complaining about the lack of a sidewalk.

PREFABS — Denied design approval for a three-unit prefabricated building at Paradise and El Camino drives. The vacant lot, owned by Donald Presley of San Rafael, is under consideration by town officials as a park site.

Merchants Grumble On Sign Laws

"There is a rising tide of discontent with the San Rafael sign ordinance," chairman Walter Zurcher reported after today's meeting of the Downtown San Rafael Merchants Committee.

A committee, including businessmen from all parts of the city, is organizing to discuss sign restrictions with the city planning commission, Zurcher said. Chairman of the group is Robert Kunst, Terra Linda painting contractor.

Zurcher also reported the downtown merchants will confer with City Mgr. James H. McCown on operation of additional parking spaces to be installed after the final vestiges of the old Courthouse are cleared away.

To be decided is whether merchants will validate parking in the 147 proposed spaces or whether they will be metered.

Zurcher said the parking area will be temporarily paved, pending final decision on development of Courthouse Square.

Carpet manufacturers shipped more than 335 million square yards of carpets and rugs in the first six months of 1971.

San Rafael Man To Rehab Center

George Edward Myers, 24, of San Rafael, was committed yesterday to the California Rehabilitation Center at Corona for drug addiction treatment.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court made the commitment after reviewing doctors' reports indicating that Meyers was either a narcotics addict or in immiment danger of becoming one.

Myers pleaded guilty last month 10 burglarizing the residence of William Savage of 4 Knight Drive, San Rafael, on July 28.

CHARLES E. SMITH
Watts editor

Editor From Watts Will Give Talk

Charles E. Smith, editor of the newsletter "The Voice of Watts" will discuss street agitators in his community Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Edgewater Inn in Corte Madera.

Sponsored by the John Birch Society, the lecture will be followed by the showing of a film titled "Anarchy, USA."

Smith is a native of Pittsburgh and moved to Los Angeles in 1960. There he claims to have been a former member of several subversive organizations. He began publishing his newsletter in 1968.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting the American Opinion Library, 501 B Street, San Rafael.

Cause Of Death Is Reported

I-J Special Report

PHOENIX — The death of former Marin resident Eugene R. Wallace was due to a self-inflicted gunshot wound, a coroner's jury has ruled after an inquest here.

Wallace, 41-year-old former general manager of the Peacock Gap Country Club in San Rafael, died Sept. 7.

He was manager of the country club for about five years and left his post in January to move to Phoenix.

His home in Marin was in San Anselmo.

Planning Panel Chairman Quits

Paul A. Oatis Jr., chairman of the Novato Planning Commission, has submitted his resignation from that commission.

Oatis has served on the commission for the past 23 months and as chairman during the last year.

"Due to personal reasons, I will not be able to devote the time and effort necessary to fulfill this appointment," Oatis wrote to Mayor Joseph D. Gargiulo.

He said that while his viewpoint on some items has differed with some of the city council and planning commission members, he felt he had tried to do what he considered was just and fair.

Oatis's letter was on the agenda of the Novato City Council meeting last night, but was deferred to the council's adjourned meeting next Tuesday.

Plead Innocent To Battery

Two youths pleaded innocent yesterday in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court to charges of battery on a peace officer and disturbing the peace.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon set preliminary hearings for Catherine McClean, 18, of San Rafael, and Arthur M. Farmer, 18, of no known address, for Oct. 22 at 2 p.m. Miss McClean was released on her own recognizance and Farmer was held in lieu of $2,000 bail.

They were arrested Sunday when Petaluma officer Dolph Camilli said they kicked him as he tried to quell a noisy disturbance at 415-A Kentucky Street.

Lagunital Sets Vacancy Election

The Lagunitas School District board has set an election for Jan. 11 to fill a vacant seat on the board.

Trustee Eugene G. DiBasilio resigned last month for business reasons.

The board asked Supt. William E. Johnson to write a field trip policy from the suggestions of the teaching staff, and to apply for federal funds to pay a guidance counsellor.

NEW SENATE DISTRICT LINES

A highly partisan reapportionment plan to fix the political complexion of the state Senate for the 1970s has been drafted by upper house Democrats. Not surprisingly, it would favor Democrats. It promptly was scored by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, as "the finest flowering of gerrymandering." His district, now only Marin, Napa and Solano counties, would stretch almost 200 miles north into Shasta County and other valley agricultural areas. The plan also would extend the two joint at-large San Francisco senatorial districts into Marin, giving Marin three districts splitting 20 of the county's local districts. The plan is headed for a tough Senate floor fight, and faces a possible veto by the governor if it fails to meet Republican objections.

Medal Received 26 Years Later

CHAPMANVILLE, W.Va. (UPI)—Robert F. Ellis, 49, received an award for World War II heroism Monday, 26 years after he was recommended for the honor.

In Germany in 1945, Ellis resuced wounded men in his company while under heavy enemy fire. His platoon leader recommended him for the Bronze Star, but was killed several days later.

Ellis was evacuated to a hospital in England and the papers on his medal recommendation were lost on the battlefield.

U.S. Rep. Ken Hechler, D-W. Va., a military historian and author by profession, met Ellis several months ago, and decided to put him in for the long neglected honor.

After some research, Hechler said he "concluded that here was one West Virginian who certainly deserved to be honored for his heroism."

Antiwar Show May Go To Viet

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Jane Fonda plans to take her antiwar road show to Asia and hopes to entertain American troops stationed in South Vietnam.

Miss Fonda told a news conference Monday the cast will leave Nov. 24 for performances in the Philippines, Okinawa and Japan, and South Vietnam if they can get permission to enter that country.

"We have made a formal request to President Nixon that he permit us entry into South Vietnam to entertain the troops stationed there for Christmas," she said.

A Thank You Note To Hughes

RENO, Nev. (UPI)—Dean George Smith of the University of Nevada School of Medical Sciences and the school's 30 medical students have sent thank-you telegrams to Howard Hughes.

University regents were told Friday that Hughes soon would send $300,000 to the medical school. The billionaire had pledged to fund a University of Nevada medical school for 20 years, at a maximum of $300,000 a year. But when the school opened last month, Hughes' money had not arrived. Guarantees Friday it would be paid were the first real confirmation.

Anyone Can Cook Vegetables

Most people assume that anyone can cook vegetables — and it's true. But to help you cook vegetables properly and tastily, here are a few hints.

The best all-round way to cook fresh or frozen vegetables is covered in a small amount of boiling salted water until just crisp and tender.

Use just enough water to prevent sticking. Bring the water to a quick boil, then lower the flame and simmer gently until done.

When they are finished cooking, if there is too much liquid to serve with the vegetables, you used too much water.

The tops of carrots, beets, turnips and parsnips should be cut off before the vegetables are stored. Tops draw the moisture and food value from the roots, leaving them wilted and limp.

Wash leafy vegetables such as spinach just before cooking. Add no water, enough clings to the leaves from washing to cook them.

Cauliflower will cook whiter if a piece of lemon is added during cooking.

Add a little milk to the water in which you boil potatoes — it not only improves flavor, but prevents potatoes from turning dark.

Bar Cookies Are Among The Best Mail Travelers

Like people, some baked goodies take to traveling better than others. Bar cookies are among the best travelers to both domestic and distant overseas locations.

The length of the journey and destination make a difference in the type of packaging used. Heavy corrugated boxes are convenient and satisfactory for most normal mail handling within the country. It is essential to use metal containers sealed air-tight as possible if the package is being sent to a tropical climate. Also, it's advisable to send several small packages under five pounds rather than one large package.

TO CUSHION the cookies for their trip choose from excelsior, shredded paper, crumpled paper napkins, paper toweling or waxed paper. Unbuttered popcorn, a popular filler for domestic mailing, is not recommended for overseas mailing since it absorbs odors and moisture. But if it is used, a note should be included warning that it should not be eaten because it might cause illness.

If using a corrugated box, line it with foil or plastic film; this is not essential for metal cans. Wrap four to six of the same size cookies together, in foil, plastic wrap or plastic bags and seal securely with freezer tape. Place the heaviest cookies on the bottom and layer the wrapped cookies with cushiony material.

Outer wrappings are equally important, especially for overseas mailing. Use plain heavy paper — the kind used for grocery bags.

PRINT THE address clearly. Use permanent ink or cover the printing with clear plastic tape or colorless nail polish. Be sure to mark the package "perishable — food" with the hope that it will receive more rapid and careful handling.

Fourth class mail should be satisfactory for short domestic trave; air mail is best for longer distances and for overseas shipment.

And now a few precautions about what foods to mail:

Bar and drop cookies are best travelers. Oatmeal cookies are excellent.

Fruit in the cookies help keep them soft.

Brownies can usually be relied on to arrive in fresh and tasty condition.

Sweetbreads Ideal For A Grand Dinner

With sweetbreads almondine on the menu, put fresh flowers on the table, light the candles and pretend you are dining out in a fine French restaurant.

Devotees of sweetbreads are legion, yet many people have never tried them. The most elegant of the variety meats, sweetbreads are usually the thymus gland (also called neck or throat sweetbreads) of lamb or veal or other young beef.

In some areas, the term sweetbreads may also be used to refer to the pancreas (or stomach sweetbreads), but these are generally considered inferior. The sweetbreads of lamb and veal have the characteristic "white" color of true veal (beef from four to 14 weeks old); beef sweetbreads are redder in color and less tender.

Many homemakers shy away from sweetbreads because they don't know how to prepare them or because they think sweetbreads are difficult and time-consuming to prepare. Traditionally, they require long soaking; however, the method in this recipe for sweetbreads almondine is an efficient shortcut. Essentially, it's a matter of parboiling the sweetbreads, trimming them, sauteing bite-size pieces in butter or margarine, then serving them in a cream sauce with minced parsley and toasted slivered almonds over triangles of toast.

While the sweetbreads are simmering, toast the almonds: Spread them evenly in a single layer in a dry, shallow pan, then place them in a 300-degree oven for about 15 minutes or until they begin to turn color.

SWEETBREADS ALMONDINE

1½ lbs. sweetbreads
Water
2 to 3 tablespoons lemon juice
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup flour
1½ cups milk
⅔ cup cream
1 tablespoon apple jelly (optional)
¼ to ½ teaspoon white pepper
½ cup minced parsley
⅔ cup toasted slivered almonds
Toast triangles

Rinse sweetbreads in cold water; combine with water to cover, one tablespoon lemon juice and 1 teaspoon salt in large saucepan. Simmer 15 minutes; drain and plunge into cold water. Cut away any tough membrane or tubes, then cut sweetbreads into bite-size pieces.

Melt butter in saucepan; add sweetbreads, brown lightly and remove from pan. Blend four into remaining butter; stir in milk, cream, apple jelly, pepper and remaining lemon juice and salt. Stir over medium heat until mixture thickens and comes to boil. Stir in sweetbreads, parsley and one half cup almonds; heat through. Place in serving dish; sprinkle with remaining almonds.

NATIVE OF the Azores Islands Mrs. Victor Avilla, manager of Tiburon's Village Salvage Shop, (right) demonstrates Portuguese cookie-making to Mrs. Peter Watson. Cookies will be served with coffee at the shop's annual fashion show and boutique tomorrow.

(Independent-Journal photos by Jim Kean)

Highlight Of Fashion Show Will Be 'Childhood Cookies'

Cookies remembered from her childhood on St. George Island, Azores Islands, Portugal will be served with coffee by Mrs. Victor Avilla of Tiburon, manager of Village Salvage Shop, at its fashion show and boutique tomorrow from 9:30 a.m. to noon at Del Mar School in Tiburon.

Recalling she was a "sweet-toothed child," Mary Avilla swirls the frothy cookie dough onto greased cookie sheets with two spoons.

SWIRLING FROTHY egg white cookie dough into a peak with two spoons, Mary Avilla of Tiburon demonstrates technique for making suspiros cookies, which delighted her "as a sweet-toothed child."

SUSPIROS

3 cups granulated sugar
6 egg whites
Grated rind of medium lemon (yellow only)
Nuts or citrus fruit (optional)

Beat egg whites until stiff and come to peak. Add sugar gradually. Add lemon rind or nuts or citrus fruit. Swirl into a peak with two spoons on greased cookie sheet. Bake 30 to 35 minutes at 300 degrees.

Makes about three dozen cookies.

ESQUECIDOS

8 egg yolks
2 cups granulated sugar
Grated rind of medium lemon (yellow only)
3 egg whites

Beat egg yolks until a little stiff, add sugar and lemon rind. In a separate bowl beat egg whites until very stiff, then add to above ingredients, mixing well. With two spoons put a ball of dough into a floured dish. Form into a floured ball with hands and space well on a greased cookie sheet. Bake 25 to 30 minutes until brown at 300 degrees.

Makes about three dozen cookies.

OTHER VOLUNTEERS of the Village Salvage Shop have baked their favorite cookies for the fashion show. These are president Mrs. John Edgar's cookies.

NANIMO BARS

½ cup butter
¼ cup sugar
5 tablespoons cocoa
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 beaten egg

Cook in double boiler, stirring until like custard. Then remove from heat. Next combine:

2 cups graham cracker crumbs
1 cup coconut
½ cup nut meats

Mix well and put in 9-inch pan. Pat it down. Then,

Cream ¼ cup butter

Add:

2 tablespoons vanilla pudding
3 tablespoons milk
2 cups powdered sugar

Spreak on top of cookie base. Refrigerate 15 minutes. Melt 2 squares of chocolate with 1 tablespoon butter. Spread on top. Cut into squares.

PEANUT BUTTER CRISP

Mix:

½ cup shortening
⅓ cup peanut butter
½ cup brown sugar (packed)
½ cup white granulated sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 egg.

Combine and add to above ingredients:

1½ cup flour
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt

Roll in small balls. Put on ungreased cookie sheet. Press with fork to flatten because cookie must be very thin. Bake 10 to 12 minutes in 350-degree oven until light brown.

SOCTTISH SHORT BREAK

From Mrs. John Fulton

1 cup soft butter
½ cup granulated sugar
2 cups flour
½ cup rice flour

Mix thoroughly with hands. Chill dough. Roll out ⅓ to ½-inch thick. Flute edges if desired. Place on ungreased baking sheet. Prick with a fork right down to the bottom. Bake 1 hour in 225-degree oven until golden. Cut in to fingers immediately after bread comes out of oven.

Dress Up Sea Fish With Madeira Wine And Ginger

Now is a prime time to eat some of the nicest sea fish. And it is also a prime time to make cooking easy on the cook and calories low for the eaters. Summer ginger fish accomplishes all those positives.

Simmer fish steaks in a frying pan with a little Madeira, soy, and ginger, and sprinkle them with finely sliced green onions.

SUMMER GINGER FISH

⅓ cup Madeira wine
¼ cup soy sauce
2 tablespoons sugar
¾ to 1 teaspoon ground ginger
4 steaks of sea bass or ling cod (or any other good-sized fleshy fish), each about 1 inch thick (about 2 pounds total)
2 green onions with part of green tops, very thinly sliced

Combine Madeira, soy, sugar and ginger in a large frying pan with cover. Bring to a boil. Add fish, arranging it in a single layer, cover and simmer for five minutes. Turn fish over, cover and simmer for five minutes more or just until flesh loses translucency and flakes with a fork. Sprinkle with onions. Spoon juices over fish.

Liver, Bacon Make Tasty Treat

For a familiar yet delicious taste treat, combine liver and bacon en brochette style. Cut sliced liver in 1½- inch squares. On each of four 12-inch skewers, thread 6 to 8 pieces of liver, 4 mushrooms, and 2 slices of bacon, weaving bacon between liver and mushrooms.

Broil 3 to 4 inches from heat for 5 minutes, brushing occasionally with Italian dressing. Turn, broil 3 to 4 minutes longer, continuing brushing with dressing. Serve on a bed of hot fluffy rice.

Suggestions To Cure The School Lunchpail Problem

With school back in session the problem of what to put in lunch boxes and what to have for after-school snacks is back, too. There's also a growing awareness that such foods should be wholesome and nutritious, even if they're eaten on the run.

Ideal for these occasions is a nutritious Apple sauce Date and Nut Bread. Topped with cream cheese and served with milk, the bread makes a perfect after-school snack.

As the key to lunch-box sandwiches, this bread works perfectly.

You can store the bread in your freezer, slice it frozen and make your sandwiches. By the time lunch hour rolls around the bread will have thawed, fresh and ready to eat. If you plan to freeze the bread, remember to let it cool thoroughly first and to wrap it tightly for immediate freezing.

APPLE SAUCE DATE NUT BREAD

¾ cup chopped walnuts
1 cup cut-up pitted dates
1½ teaspoons baking soda
½ teaspoons salt
1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
3 tablespoons shortening
1 cup hot canned apple sauce
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 cup granulated sugar

With fork, mix walnuts, dates, baking soda and salt. Add shortening and apple sauce; let stand 20 minutes. Start heating oven to 350°. Grease 9x5-inch loaf pan. With fork, beat eggs, beat in vanilla, sugar and flour. Mix in date mixture until just blended; turn into pan. Bake 1 hour and 5 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan 10 minutes. Remove to wire rack to finish cooling. Then wrap in foil. Store overnight before slicing. This loaf may be frozen.

Back-to-school time is also pumpkin time, and here is a special apple sauce and pumpkin bread. Eat one and freeze one . . . the recipe makes two leaves. Save one for a quick tea snack or lunches at a later date.

APPLE SAUCE PUMPKIN BREAD

⅔ cup shortening
2⅔ cups sugar
4 eggs
1 cup canned apple sauce
1 cup mashed pumpkin
3⅓ cups all-purpose flour, sifted
2 teaspoons baking soda
½ teaspoon baking powder
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon mace
½ teaspoon nutmeg
⅔ cup apple juice
1 cup walnuts or pecans, chopped

Cream together shortening and sugar. Add eggs, one at a time, beating after each addition. Stir in apple sauce and pumpkin. Sift together dry ingredients and add alternately with apple juice. Stir in nuts. Turn batter into 2 greased 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pans, or into ungreased non-stick coated pans. Bake at 350° F. for 1 hour or until done. Makes 2 loaves. One loaf can be wrapped in foil and frozen.

New Liver Flavor

Tender, juicy slices of liver take on a new flavor when cooked with a coating of French dressing. Simply dip one pound of liver slices in French dressing. Combine ⅔ cup flour, ¼ teaspoon onion salt, ½ teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Dredge coated liver in seasoned flour. Cook slowly in lard or drippings until browned. Turn and continue cooking until browned.

THE SPOUSE GAP

It's Better To Let The Honeymoon End

(Condensed from the book, "The Spouse Gap")

By ROBERT LEE and MARJORIE CASEBIER

A magazine cartoon shows a young man in shirt sleeves in the doorway of an obviously suburban home, passionately kissing a woman wearing an apron and holding a cooking spoon. Two men in the yard next door are observing this tender scene, and one says to the other: "They're newlyweds. He just got back from putting the garbage out."

Unfortunately, however, this euphoric state of dovemanship does not last forever; in fact, it rarely lasts longer than the first few months after the wedding ceremony. The spouses wake up from their blissful sleep after several months and find that the marriage spell has been broken.

The sexual area is representative, perhaps, of this conflict. Couples usually begin their marriages with a high frequency of sexual intercourse, which then subsides with each passing month and year. The novelty of the act wears off and the availability of the partner is accepted, thereby diminishing its first intriguing, and almost forbidden, fruit. This loss of novelty and excitement is true of almost every aspect of the marital relationship and is a primary indicator that the couple are entering a new stage in their interaction.

AT THIS POINT it is important for the couple to recognize the changing character of their life together. Too often the vow to "love, honor, and obey till death us do part" in interpreted as a static promise. In reality, however, the kind of trust that underlies this vow can only develop as the partners share, and clarify the meaning of, their mutual experiences over the course of time. Both the individual spouses and the marriage itself will be changing constantly.

Some marriages keep deteriorating until they verge on collapse in separation and divorce, while others manage to resist the process of decay; and in between these two poles are the many marriages in which the couples stick it out together despite the fact that they have lost their first feelings of fascination and have been unable to find a fulfilling basis for their relationship.

During the initial months and years together, a couple establishes certain patterns of interaction for problem-solving. How successful they are in dealing with early difficulties greatly affects their marriage later on when they hit the middlescent period. We invite you to join us in reconstructing the early days of your own marriage: First, when you really knew that the honeymoon was over; second, when dissatisfaction with reality in comparison with leftover romantic images and ghostly lover arose; and third, when you capitulated to the daily routine of married life.

BEFORE LONG the charade andtact, diplomacy and discretion (that is, hypocrisy and dis-

Corte Madera Museum Guild Names President

Mrs. John A. Carlson of Corte Madera is president of the newly formed Corte Madera Guild of the Boyd Marin Museum of Science.

Formed last month, the guild is the 12th fund-raising affiliate of the museum. Members also volunteer their time at the museum and participate in the Festival of Trees.

Valerie Carlson says that anyone interested in helping the museum may join, and a membership meeting and brunch is scheduled for Nov. 4.

MRS. JOHN A. CARLSON
Heads new guild

Mrs. Carlson is a native of Alameda County and attended school in San Lorenzo and San Jose State College, where she received an elementary school teaching credential. She taught second grade in San Anselmo.

Six-year residents of Marin, Mrs. Carlson and her husband, a sales manager for Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company, are the parents of Tiffany Renee, 4, and Matthew Todd, 22 months. She also is a member of Pixie Parents.

The new president's hobbies include arts and crafts projects, baking bread, reading and hiking.

"We enjoy hiking as a family with Mrs. (Elizabeth) Terwilliger," she says. "I enjoy the out-of-doors and nature and like taking my children and any of the neighborhood children for walks by the bay and in the fields, all by our house. I enjoy and love children and love dancing."

Other charter officers of the guild are Mmes. Robert Simmons, vice president; Donald A. Herbers, secretary; and Mort Frank, treasurer. Committee chairmen are Mmes. Robert Dunn and Reginald C. MacDonough, fund raising; Donald G. Colebourn, Festival of Trees; James P. Calandra, publicity; James T. Hogan, staffing; and Alonzo Ferrell, docent program representative.

An Interest In Special Education For 10 Years

By JOAN LISETOR

Fabia-Ann Phillips, the new coordinator of the More Able Learner program for San Rafael City Schools, has had an interest in the education of gifted children since studying for a doctorate degree at the University of California 10 years ago.

"I have half a doctorate," says Mrs. Phillips, who has been with the San Rafael school district since 1964. Prior to teaching at Sun Valley and McPhail schools in San Rafael, she was a classroom teacher in San Francisco, where she resides, and in Berkeley.

Her position as coordinator began Sept. 1, and most of her time has been spent consulting on the MAL programs, which differ from school-to-school in the San Rafael district. She has also been recruiting volunteers to supplement the program.

A MICROSCOPE group is forming, and children have expressed an interest in learning touch typing and music conducting.

"Someone with a background in foreign countries or anthropology or with a rock collection to share would make a good resource volunteer," she says. "Parents are leading workshops in creative writing and art at their children's schools, but we would like to have them share their specialties with students at other schools."

It is important, she says, for the community to participate in its schools.

More Able Learner is the San Rafael City Schools' term for children who have intelligence quotients (IQs) of 132 or higher. The State of California term is mentally gifted minor.

ALTHOUGH SHE is interested in the education of all children, Mrs. Phillips says she has always had a particular interest in working with bright, young students because of their special needs, which, if not fulfilled, may lead to their turning off and dropping out of school.

"I believe in looking at both ends of the learning scale and the middle," she says. "Each child is an individual and has something that turns him on most. We can't generalize."

The educator declined giving her opinions on homogeneous and heterogeneous grouping of children by intelligence levels. Pilot classes for MALs at San Pedro and Coleman Schools are in their second years, and they will be evaluated at the end of this school year to see if the program has been beneficial.

"IT MAY BE that the ungraded method will meet the need, where you have children together because of their levels, not their ages," she says. "But there are not enough children at some schools to have separate classes."

While the district has had some program for MALs for several years, a greater emphasis has been put on the programs in the last few years because people have become more conscious of meeting the needs of the individual, she says.

"There is a new awareness among teachers," she says. "Teachers are looking for new methods instead of saying, 'Let's all read page 21.' They want to meet the needs of all students."

FABIA-ANN Phillips, coordinator of the More Able Learner program for the San Rafael City Schools, holds the photograph of a volcano as she discusses an electrical project with MAL sixth grade students at Glenwood School. The students participate in a half-day program at the school. MAL programs vary from school to school in San Rafael, and at the end of this school year two pilot projects, placing children with intelligent quotients above 131 in separate classes, will be evaluated.

MRS. CRAIG B. JOLLEY
Wed in Oregon

Miss Shay Claimed As A Bride

Craig B. Jolley of Mill Valley claimed Nancy Shay of Salem, Ore., as his bride Saturday afternoon in a ceremony at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Salem.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vern C. Shay of Salem, had as her matron of honor Mrs. Thomas Fox of Corvallis, Ore., and bridesmaids were Lynn C. Jolley of Mill Valley, the sister of the bridegroom; Kathy Kuhn of Lake Oswego, Ore.; and Vick Harmann of Portland, Ore.

The bridegroom, who is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Harold N. Jolley of Mill Valley, was served as best man by Victor R. Ellis of Corbet, Ore. Ushers were Kerry Atherton of Corvallis, Robert Thomas of Hood River, Ore., and Steven Coreening of Bend, Ore.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the McNary Golf Club in Salem. After a wedding trip on the Oregon coast the couple will live in Augusta, Ga., where Craig will be stationed with the Army in nearby Camp Gordon.

A graduate of South Salem High School, the bride was graduated from Oregon State University and is employed with the Meier and Frank Company in Salem.

Craig was graduated from Tamalpais High School and the University of Oregon. He has two more sisters, Jean and Claire Jolley of Mill Valley.

'Change '72' Series Set

A series called "Change '72" is sponsored by the Marin Jewish Community Center extension program, beginning Oct. 19.

The first three meetings will be on "Marvelous Marin: Sick Suburbs or Utopia" with Sol Silver. Then Dr. Joseph Gutstadt will discuss "New Roles for Men and Women," beginning Nov. 30 for three meetings. The final series will be "New Politics" with Robert Politizer.

The programs will be held alternate Tuesday evenings at 8 p.m. at Edna Maguire School in Mill Valley.

This is the site of the first National Children's Forest. Bring it to life.

Send one of our labels, and Hunt-Wesson will have a tree planted in your child's name.

This section of the San Bernardino National Forest was destroyed by fire on November 19, 1970.

Last year, more than 555,000 acres of National Forest land died by fire. Sometimes, lightning did the devastating. More often than not, it was people.

Without forests, our children can't live very well — or very long. Trees purify our air and keep silt from clogging our streams and rivers. They cool the earth, quiet it and keep it from eroding. They keep wildlife alive and give humans a haven. One acre of trees gives off enough oxygen for 18 of us to live on for a whole year.

We've come up with an insurance plan for our children's future. A plan that takes fire-ravaged forests and brings them back to life.

We'll have a tree planted in your child's name in a burned-out area in one of three National Forests. And we'll call them the National Children's Forests.

The U.S. Forest Service chose the sites where re-treeing is urgently needed: the George Washington National Forest in Virginia, the San Bernardino National Forest in California, and the Mark Twain National Forest in Missouri. We'll buy the trees in the name of your children, your grandchildren or any children you care about, and a ready crew of young volunteers will get them planted.

We'll place your child's name in a time capsule in his National Children's Forest.

We're placing a marker in each Forest site with a vault to hold the name of every child for whom a tree is planted — to remind us all that trees are for our children's future. And we're also constructing specially designed nature trails to make it a pleasure for everyone, even the sightless, to visit the National Children's Forests.

Once your tree is bought for planting, we'll send proof:

An ecology decal that proves you helped rebuild a forest. And a certificate with a map and legend to show the tree is bought and the planting has been arranged.

Our plan starts at your local food store.

We're paying for your trees through nine of our products, listed in the coupon below. All we ask is a label or code number from one of them, or all of them. We'll arrange to have a tree planted for every label or code number you send with the coupon (a maximum of nine trees per person).

Give your child a stake in the National Children's Forest.

And a start toward building his new world.

Bring a forest back to life.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

The Cause Of Larges Amount Of Fan Mail? The Other Woman

"OTHER WOMAN" IS BIGGEST MAIL-PRODUCER

DEAR HELEN:

What would you consider the biggest all-time mail-getter of any subject you discuss in your column? I mean what general area of human relations inspires most comments in return? — You've said that whenever you mention religion or animals, you anticipate a flood of mail. Anything top these? — CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS:

My biggest all-time mail-getter? The "Other Woman." (No pun intended.)

Whenever I publish a letter either damning or defending extramarital affairs, I brace myself for a deluge. Here are samples:

DEAR HELEN:

That smugly "Confident Wife" who bragged that though her husband strays, he'll never leave her, is probably right. But what a miserable life for both of them! And how often it happens!

Many wives who claim to give their men stability, family, the prestige of a well-ordered house and country club acceptance are in fact giving them ulcers or a coronary, not to mention the bills, nagging and rejection. (The old "I'm too tired," or "Not tonight, dear" routine.)

I find it most tragic that any man should become so desperate for warmth and tenderness that he feels he must seek this in another woman. — KING

NOTE FROM H:

And how doubly tragic that a wife should feel "confident" simply because she can keep a man married to her, even though she can't keep the man. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

The "Other Woman" does not make the marriage go bad. She is the result, not the cause. In fact, sometimes such an outlet can cut down on the fights and hatred at home.

But "Other Women" who dream of becoming wives had better wake up. He'll talk of "being married to you" (how wonderful it would be), but not of "marrying you." — RESIGNED O.W.

DEAR HELEN:

Too often wives are blamed when men stray to Other Women. Hear my story:

My husband loves and appreciates me. He kiddingly calls me his little sexpot, and I'm a good housekeeper and conversationalist, too. Yet periodically he tries for a new conquest to bolster a shaky ego. Feelings of insecurity and inferiority date back to his childhood. A wife alone is sometimes not enough, and so he must "prove" himself with other women.

Afterwards, there are great regrets and renewed affection toward me. I can cope with this problem only by showing my love and appreciation all the time, giving my husband the assurance he needs, so that eventually he may become more secure within himself and less likely to use "the other woman" as a crutch for his ailing ego. — A WIFE

DEAR HELEN:

Most wives picture an O.W. as a tight-skirted, hard-looking female who can't wait to get a husband — any husband — to bed. The fact is that she's usually the sweet, innocent-looking person a wife would least suspect.

An O.W. enjoys the side of a husband the wife hasn't seen since they were dating, and he enjoys the O.W. because she treats him as "the greatest," not a household object. Sometimes sex is secondary. He just wants to feel important again. — UNGLAMOROUS O.W.

DEAR HELEN:

If "Other Women" are so great, understanding, loving, etc., how come they can't get men of their own, instead of stealing our husbands? — IRATE WIFE

DEAR HELEN:

My wife and I were miserable in our marriage. We might have continued mismatched, had it not been for the "Other Woman" who is now my second wife.

We fell in love by accident, fought it for a long time. But once I leveled with my first wife, she seemed almost relieved that the farce was at an end. We don't blame each other — in fact, now that we don't have to live together, we're good friends. She has also remarried —to someone who is right for her. Our children have compatible parents for the first time, and they are much happier.

My point is this: we can't always be lucky enough to find the right mate the first time around. Blanket condemnation of (take your choice) the other-woman, the "inadequate wife," or the "philandering husband" is wrong. They can all be fine people whose lives got scrambled wrong and who need a second chance. — SECOND TIME AROUND

DEAR READERS:

And so it goes: The Other Woman is sinner, savior, thief, sufferer or winner, depending on who describes her. Because many will, again, in answer to this column — my mail box will overflow next week. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

The Calling Card Is Out Of Style

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The so-called "Green Book" of etiquette in the capital has decreed, at White House request, that leaving calling cards at the Executive Mansion is out of style.

The custom of leaving cards dated from the Colonial era, but has fallen into disuse since World War II.

Mrs. Carolyn Hagner Shaw, publisher of the "Social List of Washington," said notes of appreciation for luncheons, dinners and receptions at the White House should be sent personally to the First Lady.

Economic Burdens Facing A Woman

By BARBARA HOSMER

The reasons why women occupy a low position in the economic world in America were outlined last night in a talk on "Economy and Women" by Laura Willson in the continuing series on women at the College of Marin.

The economics and business instructor at the college said that men are expected to be devoted to their work or career, but women, while freed to work, are not freed from their expected responsibility for keeping the home and family running.

She said that 40 per cent of women work, that 64 per cent of them are married and that the latter usually have the physical and psychological burden of keeping the home before and after their business day.

WOMEN, SAID Mrs. Willson, are concentrated in service jobs such as retail selling, secretarial and laundry work, and in nurturant areas such as teaching, nursing and social work. She pointed out that their resultant income is far lower than men's as a whole.

"The man is attuned to the idea of preparing for earning a livelihood all his life, while women are far less likely to prepare themselves."

She added that women's low income is due to women's role in society. For men, she said, it's continual upward march in a career, in most cases. But women may work for a few years, drop out of the work force to bear children and rear them, and then try to re-enter the labor force.

SHE COMMENTED that she believed that women never regain those years they've lost in a career. Also, employers are not willing to invest as much in women employees because they feel they will drop out for a time, she said.

Another factor is that women's educational background is different from men's, she said.

"Women tend to major in the lowest paying job fields," Mrs. Willson said, adding that few go into business administration, law or medicine.

A major factor keeping women in low economic status is the social attitude toward women in business, she said.

"Girls are given a different role to play than boys," she explained, remarking that boys are encouraged to be aggressive and competitive while girls are given home-type toys and no encouragement to use aggressive techniques.

"They are told, 'Be a sweet little girl, Susie' " she said.

"THERE IS a stigma attached to aggression in a woman. It's a problem because the business world is highly aggressive," said the speaker, who spent many years in secretarial and marketing work.

Other factors, she said, were that women compete for the same kind of jobs and will work for less pay to get a job at all, and married women feel a personal ambivalence about dividing their attention between work and family.

Yet, she said, "every child study I've read on the subject showed that children of working parents turned out better or just as well as those whose mothers stayed in the home."

As remedies she suggested

honesty!) that characterized the courtship period give way to the necessity of expressing how we honestly feel about each other and the way we do things. Behavior we could put up with on occasion becomes a monstrosity when faced day after day. The hobby that was so marvelous becomes a pain in the neck, the peculiar habit that was so cute becomes a screaming annoyance. All those opposite qualities which attracted us to our partner in the first place, making him or her so charming, exciting, and interesting, begin to get on our nerves after awhile and we start our efforts to make him (or her) over in our own image.

We may really feel it is important for each person to be allowed to be himself, but when being ourselves involves a conflict over whether we sleep with the windows wide open or shut, or whether we always have eggs and cereal for breakfast, our good intentions may go by the board. We may really have talked to each other about the necessity for being open and honest, but the first time that openess means criticism of mother-in-law, or of the way the roast is carved, or why clothes drawers are always left open, the defenses go up and honest feelings thereafter are repressed.

These seemingly silly and superficial problems are actually points of probing for working out the deeper, emotional hangups concerning "closeness" and "separateness" in the marital relationship. Each partner must go through a learning experience concerning both himself and his partner, and he msut be willing to express how he feels. Such expressions become very difficult if they are met with ridicule or rejection. To let ourselves be known as we are, to level with one another is perhaps the greatest risk we take.

ON THE OTHER side of this conflict lies the relief, security, and comfort of being stark-naked to at least one person in life before whom we can take off our masks, shed our psychological fig leaf, and not have to pretend any more. But the achievement of this mutual acceptance takes understanding and patience, and a willingness both to modify behavior out of sensitive consideration of each other's needs and to compromise individual views out of respect for each other as persons.

Unless a conscious effort is made to ventilate and to keep talking out conflicts, the gaps (which inevitably open with each new adjustment) simply become wider and more fixed.

All marriages have friction, and the partners must go through the process of determining the nature of their relationship and arriving at a viable pattern of communication and interaction. Usually each partner begins by wanting the other to make all the concessions, and it reamins difficult to reduce the friction. The conscious clashes in forms or behavior are bad enough, but to them we must add also the whole complex of unconscious traits each one brings from the past.

A MARRAIGE like any close relationship, can be choked by being held too tightly — squeezed to death in the name of togetherness. Better to let the honeymoon end and deal with the little inevitable gaps than to cling to the illusion that oneness can be free of conflict. In this case, what is held too tightly will be lost — in midlescence if not before — whereas what is held wth open hands will allow life to flow into a free and changing relationship.

Volunteer Tutor Workshop Tomorrow In Corte Madera

A workshop training session for volunteer tutors will be held tomorrow at 10 a.m. in the Marin Co-Op meeting room in Corte Madera. The two-hour-session is the first of a two-day training workshop with the follow-up scheduled for Oct. 21.

The volunteer tutorial program is sponsored by the Education Corps, the Marin Economic Opportunity Council, the Volunteer bureau of Marin and the Marin YWCA. On-going sessions and additional orientation workshops are planned by the agencies.

Tutors are needed from all areas of the county and will be matched with students on the basis of ability and the availability of time and transportation.

Chairman of the inter-agency program is Mrs. Barbara Eaton of the Education Corps, and Mrs. Margery Sell of the Volunteer Bureau is recruiting tutors and is the inter-agency coordinator.

A Free Toy Oven

All girls born in the United States on Nov. 4, 1964, will be given a free toy oven if they send a copy of their birth certificates to Kenner's Birthday Party, Post Office Box 3625, St. Paul, Minn., 55165.

"The man-sized meal...
that's what I like about LAMB."

"When the card-players gather at our house, they call it 'boys' night in,' but it means I have four hungry he-men to feed. What do I serve? Lamb riblets . . . big, brawny and bursting with good, gratifying flavor. When 'the boys' come to your house, surprise them with the bold new taste of this he-man treat."

LAMB RIBLETS and Green Bean Skillet (makes 4 servings)

2 pounds lamb riblets
2 medium onions, sliced
1 cup orange juice
½ teaspoon garlic salt
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
1 package (10 ounces) frozen French-style green beans

Cook riblets in large skillet over low heat until browned on all sides. Drain off fat. Add onions, orange juice, garlic salt, salt, pepper and nutmeg; mix well. Cover and cook over low heat 30 minutes. Add beans; cover and cook 10 to 12 minutes, or until beans and lamb are tender.

Fashion Designer A Travelin' Man

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bill Miller, the men's wear designer, is also a world traveler who roams around Europe taking in various fashion shows where he occasionally gains inspiration or buys a few trifles for his three Village Squire shops.

He is also an innovator who, over the years, has put men in pants with visible zippers and button through flies ("they're dead now"), tapered, Western influenced shirts, tapered hipster pants and, more recently, bell bottoms.

The most amazing thing he discovered on a recent swing that took him as far east as Yugoslavia was that Europeans have now discovered things the Americans have known about for a long time—sports jackets and seersucker suits.

AND ONCE they discovered sports jackets they carried it a bit farther than the Americans and made them into "unstructured" suits — almost no padding or lining — but in thin fabrics that Americans normally associate with shirts.

"That is a wise thing they are doing," Miller said, and you can bet the idea will turn up in some of his future designs. "It is new for Americans, using the light weight cottons we use for shirts. You look at such a suit and you know it is going to be cool."

In suits, Miller reports after visits to such shows as the Cologne Trade Fair and the Paris ready-to-wear shows, there is a return to the classics. He attributes this mostly to the high cost of producing high style suits with fancy gimmicks as opposed to classic designs.

"We are far ahead in suits with a larger variety of fabrics and patterns," he said. "For example, they are showing very few knits, very few bold patterns. They are copying our styling—three patch pockets on everything and they are widening lapels to our width.

"In casual wear, if what I saw is right, everyone looks like motorcycle riders, men and women. They call it the Easy Rider, probably after Peter Fonda but it is more like that old Marlon Brando picture, 'The Wild Ones.'

"THEY ARE really Hells Angels jackets. Every color of the rainbow. Every fabric you can imagine from velvet to cotton to plaids, leather, naturally, polished cotton, gingham checks, mostly with diagonal zippers across the chest."

"The biggest shirt was their version of our Western shirt.

BILL MILLER, New York men's wear designer, is also a world traveler seeking new and unusual fashions. Here he models the newest — a turtle neck sweater knitted in a patchwork design. He wears it with another European item, an American cowboy leather vest. (UPI Telephoto)

Ours have one or two snaps on the pocket so they out Westerned us by using three snaps. There were bell bottoms like mad, right up to and including super elephants — form-fitting to the knee and then flaring like an upside down umbrella.

"In pants they are copying what we have already done here, the visible zipper and the button through fly and colored patch pockets. They are showing this as a new style when it is already on its way out here—we're back to plain flies after introducing the button throughs three years ago.

"I THINK their fashions have envolved the way they do because so many of the manufacturers and designers were in ladies wear. They don't really know how to size for men and so they get an undersized look. Their jackets were too short and the shirt showed like a midriff so instead of lengthening the jacket them made the pants higher, making real high-waisted trousers."

"One thing they are heavy on is the safari jacket with the four flapped pockets and the belt. It is their high-style look in the most elegant and in the cheapest fabrics but it has never really caught on in the United States.

"I think it is more popular in Europe because they are more basically hungup on the African veldt and the French Foreign Legion than we are while we are more hungup on cowboys and the Western look."

This Santa's Bag Is Safer Kids' Toys

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — Santa Claus is riding early this year, and his real name is Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah.

Moss's bag is safer toys. As chairman of the Senate consumer subcommittee, he has been leading a campaign to get the Food and Drug Administration to enforce the 1969 Child Protection and Toy Safety Act which Moss cosponsored with Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash.

The federal agency ran into heavy criticism last year when it waited until a few days before Christmas before taking any action to get unduly hazardous toys off the market. By that time, it was too late to keep such dangers out of reach of wide-eyed children on Christmas Day.

Continued pressure from Moss and other consumer advocates, plus the addition of limited funds for enforcing the law, has changed the picture this year. The FDA has officially banned 140 toys because of safety hazards since December of last year.

BUT FOR some reason, the agency sought to keep the list secret although most of the toy names had appeared on lists of recalled products. Upon learning of the FDA's unwillingness to publicize the list, Moss publicly criticized the agency and urged it to reconsider its decision.

It didn't take the agency long to respond. Later that same day (Oct. 1) it notified Moss that it would release the list of 140 banned toys, and Moss hailed the FDA "for a quick change of policy."

According to the FDA, most of the toys on the list have already been redesigned or have been taken off the market. As one official explained, that means any that are still being sold presumably have been redesigned in order to remove the alleged hazard.

In many cases, this means that easily removable parts that could be swallowed have been glued tight, sharp corners and prongs have been removed or blunted and warning labels have been added. Most of the toys are rattles and dolls intended for toddlers.

If you have purchased a toy banned by the FDA for a defect that has not been corrected — such as loose or sharp parts — you are entitled under the law to get your money back.

BUT YOU must first know which toys have been banned and then must determine whether the hazard has been corrected. The "List of Banned Toys" and the reason for banning each is available from the FDA Information Office, 200 C Street SW., Washington, D.C.

From the list, you can determine the particular hazard of each toy, but you may have to take the toy apart to tell whether the hazard has been eliminated. Some people may simply prefer to avoid toys on the banned list.

The jolly old Senator had these words of advice for early shoppers.

"Carefully examine toys prior to purchase for potential thermal, mechanical and electrical hazards both in normal use and from possible damage and abuse. If in doubt, avoid the toy."

He singled out toy stoves, irons and molding equipment as posing serious hazards for children. He noted that "while FDA is still trying to cook up standards for thermal and electrical hazards, children are continuing to cook their fingers."

Then, with a twinkle in his eye, and a plea for a stronger law, he went back to his workbench in the Senate Office Building.

20-Year-Old Brunette Breaks A Long Tradition

OLYMPIA, Wash. (UPI)—Nora Campbell, a 20-year-old brunette, broke a men-only tradition of 335-years standing and says it feels "wonderful" to be "No. 1."

Miss Campbell joined the Army National Guard.

She was sworn in Tuesday by Gov. Dan Evans in his office and will be stationed at nearby Camp Murray, required to attend one weekend meeting a month and spend two weeks each year at summer camp.

"It feels wonderful," Sp.5 Campbell said after the ceremony. "But, I guess its the same type of feeling anyone who is No. 1 gets."

A spokesman said no woman ever has served in the Army National Guard in its 335-year history.

Annual Marin Ski Swap To Be Saturday At Veterans Building

MRS. PAUL YATES
Bible study leader

The Marin Ski Swap will be held Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

Sponsored for the sixth year by Greenbrae and Ross Guilds of the Boyd Marin Museum of Science, the ski swap will include modeling of ski apparel, musical entertainment and movies for the first time.

New and used equipment will be offered for sale. Anyone with equipment to sell should bring it the day of the sale. Ten percent of the selling price goes to the guilds for the support of the museum.

Mrs. Howard Shaw is chairman and committee chairmen are Mmes. Robert Conway and Gerald Parsons, check out; Warren Peterson, registration; William Mailliard Jr., merchants; Richard Erickson, equipment; John Grabes Jr., personnel; Alf Brandon, security; Rodman Starke, clothing; Barry MacKay, entertainment; Gilbert Powers, signs and decorations; Thomas Harbinson, legal counsel; David Suckle, clean up; William Richardson, food; Douglas Woodring, publicity.

OPENING OF this season's A.M. programs will be Friday morning at 10:30 when Lord Caradon presents "What Hope in the Middle East?" at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

Lord Caradon was minister of state for foreign affairs and permanent United Kingdom representative at the United Nations until June of 1970 when he joined several of the United Nations boards concerned with financial and population problems of the emerging nations. Last summer he traveled on U.N. assignments in Ethiopia, Tanzania, Zambia, Nigeria, Ghana and Morocco.

Five more programs will complete the Friday morning series sponsored by the Family Service League of Marin, whose members will host a coffee hour in the foyer of the theater prior to the talks.

CHRISTIAN WOMEN'S Club of Marin is having a brunch and meeting Friday at 9:45 a.m. at the Rafters restaurant in the Edgewater Inn in Corte Madera.

Speaker will be Mrs. Paul Yates, a missionary and Bible study leader from Oakland. A native of Hamburg, Germany, the speaker was educated in France, Scotland and England. She and her husband survived the Russian and Nazi occupations in Poland, and she will discuss events from her life as a missionary in Poland and Belgium.

The program will also include a presentation by a representative of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company on budget meals and musical entertainment.

ANN MARSHALL Davis will reviewPearl Buck's book, "Three Daughters of Madame Liang," for member of the United Presbyterian Women of the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael following a noon luncheon tomorrow in Canoles Hall of the Church.

PETALUMA BRANCH American Association of University Women, will meet tonight at the United Church of Christ in Petaluma at 7:30 p.m.

Speakers will be Albert Rinehart and Mrs. Martha D. Peterson who have chosen "Illiteracy in the World Today" as their topic. Mrs. Frederick McDaniel, implementation chairman of the study group, the Crisis in Public Education, will make the introductions.

Albert Rinehart is a reading instructor at San Antonio High School in Petaluma, and Mrs. Peterson is an instructor with the adult education program in Santa Rosa.

Hostesses will be Mmes. Richard Borders, Sam Brown, Herbert Bundesen and Edward Witte.

VOLUNTEERS OF Marin General Hospital from the Mill Valley area will be hostesses tomorrow and Friday in Mill Valley stores in a project sponsored by the business men's committee of the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce.

The committee has designated these days as "Pink Lady Sale Days," during which merchants will promote special items in their shops with special prices. They will donate $500 of proceeds from these sales toward the Marin General Hospital Volunteer program.

All members of branches are invited to assist as hostesses. Each will wear a pink rose as identification and will answer questions about the hospital and the volunteer program.

Chairman of the event is Mrs. William Pemberton of Mill Valley of the Founders Auxiliary.

Some of the branch chairmen assigned are Mmes. George A. Miller, Lamplighters; Jack Shapiro, Old Mill; Neil R. Munro, Sequoia; and James Scatena, Jack and Jill.

Fall Fashion Loaded With Bright Hues

The fall fashion palette is full of happy, clear and bright hues. Tints and shades of every color appear, making every rainbow hue right for autumn.

Firehouse red grabs attention for the red family, but softer shades of burgundy and wine also appear.

Taxicab yellow, sunshine yellow and lemon combine with rust and burnt orange for clever, alive combos.

Greens are clear and crisp. Hues go from bright lime to earthy, toned-down Sherwood Forest green.

Purple is a fall favorite, along with plum and softened shades of mauve.

Black shows up for sensuous evening dressing in rich, deep lustres.

SUSAN COSGROVE
An April wedding

Couple Sets Wedding Next April

A wedding next April 6 is planned by Susan Mary Cosgrove and the late Mr. Cosgrove. She is the sister of Jack Cosgrove of Stockton, George Cosgrove, who is serving in Laos, and Patricia Cosgrove of San Anselmo.

She is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and is employed with Crown and Bridge Inc. in San Rafael.

Edward is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bird of Tiburon and the brother of Thomas, Frankie and Mary Lou Bird, also of Tiburon. A Redwood High School graduate, he is employed with Colonial House of Sales in San Rafael.

Reunion Chairmen

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Simpson of Petaluma have been named chairmen for the 10th anniversary class reunion of the 1962 class of Novato High School to be held next year. Mayor Joseph D. Garguilo of Novato, former vice-principal of the school, is assisting the class in locating its members for the reunion.

SCENE

Winnipeg Ballet Is Entertained

By MOLLY MARIN

The entire company of the Royal Winnipeg Ballet were guests at a buffet supper Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Max Thelen in San Rafael as guests of the Marin Civic Ballet Association. The Canadian dance company is currently appearing in the Bay Area.

In the group were lead dancers Salvatore Aeillo and Ana Marie Degorriz, and Arnold Spohr, artistic director, and Richard Rutherford, associate director.

Hoestesses for the Marin association were Mmes. James, Bell, Kirk Frederick, Rogers Dockstader, Paul Erickson and Max Thelen, all of San Rafael. The Marin company of dancers were on hand, as were Mrs. Leona Norman, artistic director; Mrs. Jody White, apprentice group director and Norbert Vesak, choreographer.

SEVERAL SMALL parties are planned prior to the preview of the opera "Il Trovatore" sponsored by Marin's Opera Action group at the Frances Young Gallery at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross tomorrow night.

Opera Action president Mrs. Julio Davila will entertain the preview speaker, Harold Rosenthal of London, along with the Edmond C. Wards of Kentfield and Mr. and Mrs. E. Paul Atkins of Ross. Mrs. Ward is a member of the San Francisco Opera board of trustees.

The John Ritchies of Tiburon will have as dinner guests the Norman Gardners of Millbrae prior to the preview; and Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson Graves Jr. of Ross will entertain the Theodore Martins of San Rafael and the Donald Blincos of Tiburon, who will attend the opera together on Oct. 29.

Economic Burdens Facing A Woman

that the largest and most difficult is alteration of society's attitudes about women and work, women's attitudes as well as men's.

SHE ALSO suggested that girl students be given more guidance when making career decisions.

"Most of my girl students will say they expect to finish school, get married and raise a family," the instructor remarked. "They also need to plan for the rest of their life, after the children are grown, to be a productive member of society."

Also, "we have to stop looking at women as the sole responsibility for family stability. The best thing the Feminist movement has given us is a chance to re-examine both roles in the home, husband and wife," Mrs. Willson said.

The other speaker, Mildred Howie, traced her 30 years of work from clerking at Woolworth's to her present career as a freelance public relations consultant.

"In recent years, women are causing you to look back on your life and to see the injustices — when you may have had to be responsible for child care and be a housewife, while a man in the same job you had was being paid more and had a wife at home to do those things," she said.

"DON'T START as a secretary, whatever you do," she advised the largely female audience. "You become pegged. Get the job you're after."

WEDDING VOWS IN SAN RAFAEL

Living in Texas are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Steele Gifford, who were married at St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael. The bride, Kathryn Rae, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard P. Nave of San Rafael, and the bridegroom is the son of Frank Gifford of Petaluma and Mrs. Virginia Gifford of Pacifica. The newlyweds were honored at a reception at the San Rafael Improvement Club following the ceremony.

The Wardrobe —Furs Of All Sizes Important

Little and big furs continue to be important in every woman's wardrobe. Casual styling, well-manned lines and classic silhouettes are found for day and evening wear.

Coat lengths go from the knee to the ankle. Jackets can be cropped at the waist or mid-thigh. Hooded capes show up romantically.

Wrap coats, with widespread notched collars, enter the fashion ring in everything from raccoon to mink.

Military-looks, trenches and shirtcoats feature innovative detailing — braid trims, zip-off hem borders and hoods.

Patchwork lamb, sheared rabbit, zebra and fox appear to be winning looks for sporty, double-breasted jackets.

Fur looks back nostalgically and comes up with the chubby. Popular furs include fox, raccoon, skunk and lynx.

Blazers go sporty by day, or slinky by night in mink, Persian lamb and seal.

A new fur-family member is the "leather-out" coat, with the fur as the lining. The leather body gives a sporty look, and allows for a snappy variety of patterns and colors.

Your Old Hangers Will Live Again — The Dress Is Back

The dress has returned, and all those empty hangers that are swinging restlessly in closets will once again come to life. Indeed it has been fun wearing pants for all sorts of unconventional occasions, but now that the novelty has worn off and the shock sensation that goes with pants turning up at unprecedented occasions, it's time to make new inroads, says designer Gianni Ferri.

At every showing in New York one heard cheers, bravos and unending applause at the end of those shows that were chock full of dresses.

Dungaree History

In 15th Century India, heavy denim was used for work pants by the men of Dhunga — and the pants became known as dungarees.

School Lease Plea Withdrawn By EOC

The Marin County Economic Opportunity Council has withdrawn its request to lease Manzanita School in Marin City from the Sausalito School District for an educational center, according to EOC executive director W. Robert Lomax Jr.

At Monday's meeting of the Sausalito school board, Lomax said the council had changed its mind about occupying the school because of what he called "pressure from the Marin City community."

The vacant school, which the district is not using for classes this year, has become the center of a dispute between the district and the Marin City Learning Center, a private school which wants to use it for classes.

The board had been prepared on Monday to act on a lease agreement to rent the facility to the EOC for $1 a year. The anti-poverty group had intended to use it for adult education, parent training, tutoring, child care and vocational programs.

Lomax, however, withdrew the request and instead asked why the board, at its Sept. 20 meeting, had turned down the learning center's request to use the school.

Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg replied that one of the chief reasons for the denial was because the center is a private operation. In order to lease Manzanita to a private organization, he said the board would have to declare the property surplus, then call for bids on the school and provide an equal opportunity for all interest private groups to bid on the school.

The Sausalito School District Board also:

FUTURE — After considerable discussion, asked its organization committee to review alternative choices which can be made in deciding the future of the district, then report back at its Oct. 18 meeting. Among alternatives which will probably be considered are annexation with another district, sharing of students with other districts and interdistrict busing of students. As the district's enrollment has continued to decline sharply, the board has been looking at possible courses which could be followed if the Sausalito district cannot continue to exist as a separate district.

TRANSFER — Denied interdistrict transfers to the Mill Valley School District for William, Kenneth and Stephen Ford.

MEETING — Set a special meeting to consider a lease agreement with the Sausalito Art Center for the old Bayside School for 8 a.m. Friday in the district office. The center was evicted from the facility in August, then given an extension of occupancy until Oct. 15 to allow time for a satisfactory agreement to be worked out.

RESIGNATION — Received the resignation of trustee Nathaniel Johnson who resigned from the school board last week after serving six years.

ELECTION — Set a special Jan. 11 election to fill Johnson's seat. Persons wishing to run for the post may file candidacy papers until 5 p.m. Nov. 18.

SECRETARY — After granting a year's leave of absence to Bayside School secretary Aileen Graham for health reasons, voted to hire Shirley McGrath for the post.

MEETING — Were reminded that because Oct. 25 is the date for observing Veteran's Day, the board's second meeting in October will be held Monday.

Phosphate Detergents Attacked

The Belvedere-Tiburon Committee for the Environment is backing the use of non-phosphate detergents despite a federal report that phosphates are "the lesser of two evils" in cleaning compounds.

In a policy statement adopted Monday, the committee urged citizens not to return to using phosphates, which cause unchecked algae growth in streams and lakes.

Instead, the statement said, consumers should use soap and washing soda in hard water areas or other alternatives to phosphate detergents on the market.

The statement called the government's view that "the taxpayers should bear the tremendous financial burden of increased sewage treatment" in order to remove phosphates from wastewater "a backward approach."

In other business, the committee voted to stop accepting bimetal (steel and aluminum) cans at its recycling depot; change its meeting days to the first and third Tuesday of each month, and ask the cities of Belvedere and Tiburon to reaffirm their support of AB 1471, calling for a coastal conservation and development commission.

Radar Finds New Mars Landmarks

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)—Radar sweeps of the surface of the planet Mars have disclosed two previously unknown landmarks — a 2½ mile deep gorge and a mile-deep crater that is 1,200 miles in diameter, researchers said today.

The radar sweeps, carried out three times a week for the past three months along an east-west path across the planet, were studied by scientists from Massachusetts Institute of Technology using a 120-foot radio-radar atenna at Haystack observatory in Westford, about 15 miles northwest of here.

Divorce Suit

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Sandy Duncan, 25, star of the new television series "Funny Face," filed suit for divorce Tuesday from actor-singer Bruce Scott Zahariades, 24.

Auto Stolen

Michael D. Hurley of 2802 Western Avenue, Petaluma, told police his 1957 Chevrolet sedan was stolen yesterday from in front of 819 B Street. He said the car was inoperable. It had license DOL 190.

Innocent Plea To Dope Felony

Albert S. Hoppert, 40, of Tiburon, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to felony charges of possessing and cultivating marijuana and a misdemeanor charge of possessing marijuana paraphernalia.

Jury trial was set for the week of Nov. 29.

Hoppert, also known as Steve Harper, was arrested July 1 at his residence when Marin County drug abuse agents, acting on a tip, found four suspected marijuana plants growing in his garden.

A Reminder Issued Academy Hopefuls

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Young men in the Sixth Congressional District, which includes most of Marin south of Novato, were reminded today by Rep. William S. Mailliard that Nov. 1 is the deadline to complete applications for nomination to the armed forces academies.

The deadline next month is for applications for classes beginning next fall, but applications also are being accepted now for classes beginning in September 1973.

To be eligible for admission, Mailliard said, an applicant must be a citizen; at least 17 but not have passed his 22nd birthday by July 1 of the year of admission; never have been married; be of good moral character; have a good high school record, normally standing in the top 40 per cent of his class; and meet medical standards, normally including 20-20 vision, although waivers may be granted to applicants with outstanding records.

Mailliard annually nominates 10 men to each of the four academies. Nominees then undergo scholastic and physical entrance examinations, and the academies make their selections.

The academies are the Naval, Air Force, Military and Merchant Marine academies.

Information is available through Mailliard's office, 450 Golden Gate Avenue, Box 36024, San Francisco, Calif. 94102.

Renaissance Center To Be Topic Of Show

The proposed Renaissance Pleasure Center, to be located on the Grady Ranch in upper Lucas Valley, will be discussed on KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" program at 9 a.m. tomorrow.

Taking part in a panel discussion to be moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer will be Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Patterson, president and secretary of the Renaissance Pleasure Faire and the center, and two residents of Lucas Valley, who oppose the proposal, Calvin B. Colt and Jean Fitzgerald.

Questions may be phoned into the broadcast which will be bereated at 10:05 a.m.

Hodkins Disease Claims Beauty

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) —The city pays its final respects today to the girl who won the 1969 Miss Norfolk beauty title, not telling judges she was dying from Hodgkins Disease.

Mary Beth Alexander, 21, died Sunday.

When the black-haired beauty was chosen queen in July of 1969, she had just completed a series of cobalt treatments and had been ill for two years. But she kept her affliction secret from the judges.

Although she was a talented organist and pianist, she won the talent phase of the pageant for her singing.

Consumers Have Clout — Furness

SPOKANE (UPI) —Betty Furness, consumer adviser to President Johnson, says "consumer groups have real clout, even if they are only voluntary."

"Organize. Numbers really do count," she told an audience at Eastern Washington State College Monday.

"New York city's consumerism Department Works," Mrs. Furness said, "because it formerly was the licensing and marketing department and has real legislative teeth."

"We've found consumer groups have real clout, even if they are only voluntary," she said.

Mrs. Furness criticized the U.S. surgeon general's recent statement housewives might want to use phosphates rather than substitutes because some of the alternative products proved caustic and harmful to health.

CANNON JUMPS

Denver Guard Inks Pros' Pact

DENVER (UPI)—The Denver Rockets of the American Basketball Association, who lost superstar Spencer Haywood to the rival NBA a year ago, today lost another big name player — Larry Cannon.

The 6-foot-5 guard, who led the Rockets in scoring with 26.6 points a game last season, showed up in Memphis where he signed a contract with the Memphis Pros of the ABA. He accused Denver of a "breach of contract."

In Denver, team officials said they were waiting to hear from ABA Commissioner Jack Dolph on Cannon's decision to jump from one club to another.

"As of this moment, we have to give Dolph the benefit of the doubt and wait to see if he does what he told me he'd do," Alex Hannum, Denver's general manager and coach, said.

"Dolph told me when I called him that his position is that no player can play in league games without a league approved contract.

"My position is that Denver has a legal contract with Cannon. And my thinking, subject to the advice of our team counsel, is that we would have no choice but to go to court unless we can get adequate compensation from either Dolph or from the interested parties."

"You see, we don't have the total right to him under the contract he had with Miami," Hannum said. "We have the rights to him for this year and next year with an option to pick up the rest of the contract. Basically, we assumed only the part of the contract that had to do with salary."

Hannum said the contract contained some "fantastic" things. "One clause, for instance, says that at the time of any merger (NBA and ABA) that Larry would get five per cent ownership in the club," Hannum said. "Other clauses refer to special bonuses and deferred compensation.

"Frankly, I don't think we'd want to pick up the rest of his contract when the time came. After next year, we'd likely have handed him back to the Floridians."

Explosive Seals Face Philadelphia In Oakland

OAKLAND (UPI) —Boasting four players among the early top 10 scorers in the National Hockey League, the California Golden Seals play the Philadelphia Flyers tonight in their third straight home game.

The Seals will be looking for their first win after tying Los Angeles and Toronto. Philadelphia lost to Vancouver 3-2 Tuesday night and is winless in its first two starts.

Defensemen Carol Vadnais and Dick Redmond of the Seals will miss tonight's game. Vadnais is on crutches with a sprained ankle and Redmond has a sore shoulder. However, both are expected to be ready to play either Friday against Vancouver or Sunday against Pittsburgh.

That leaves the Seals with only three healthy defensemen. General manager Garry Young said he may call up No. 1 draft choice Ken Baird from Omaha.

Bobby Sheehan, Vadnais, Walt McKechnie and Tommy Williams of the Seals all have three points so far this season and rank among the NHL's top 10 scorers.

BLUE PACKS PUNCH FOR SABRE

St. Louis Blues' Garry Unger (R) connected with a hard right to the face of the Buffalo Sabres' Kevin O'Shea in a fight that erupted during the second period of last night's Sabres-Blues contest on St. Louis ice. The Blues won the fight and the game 4-1. See story on page 28.

Pirates Seek Series Equalizer Tonight

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates, who weren't supposed to have much pitching, were suddenly alive and kicking in the World Series today on the strength of a masterful three-hit job by fastballing Steve Blass.

And they were ready to shoot with southpaw Luke Walker, a Texan who makes a habit of winning a lot of games late in the year, tonight in the fourth game of the World Series —the first-ever night game in Series' history —against the Baltimore Orioles.

Righthander Pat Dobson (20-8), the Orioles' fourth 20-game winner, was set to oppose Walker (10-8) in the 8:15 p.m. EDT game at Three Rivers Stadium.

"Steve Blass," sighed Orioles' Manager Earl Weaver when asked to explain the Pirates' 5-1 victory Tuesday that cut the Orioles' Series lead to 2-1 in games.

"Blass pitched a helluva game," agreed Oriole Frank Robinson, who got two of Baltimore's three hits and deprived Blass of a shutout with a seventh-inning home run.

What the Orioles didn't know was that Blass and Bob Robertson, whose three-run homer put the game on ice for the Pirates, did some pretty strange and funny things in handing them their first loss after 16 straight wins.

How's this for a way to win a World Series game:

... Robertson was given the "bunt" sign in the seventh inning —but he missed seeing it and swung away, hitting the 385-foot homer that turned a 2-1 squeaker into a 5-1 romp.

... Blass prepared for this game by staying in the Pirates' locker room in Baltimore and watching the first two games on TV while taking notes.

... And then he forgot and left the notes behind in Baltimore.

"I never saw the bunt sign," confessed the red-haired Robertson, who was the Pirates' slugging hero of the National League playoffs last week with four home runs. "I hadn't gotten the bunt sign all year, and I wasn't looking for it.

"The first I knew I'd missed the sign was when I crossed home plate and Willie Stargell shook my hand and said, 'That was some bunt.'"

Manager Danny Murtaugh of the Pirates said he sent out orders for Robertson to bunt because, with two on and none out, he noticed Oriole third baseman Brooks Robinson was "playing very deep." It obviously never occurred to Brooks that the big slugger would bunt —any more than it occurred to Robertson himself.

"Yes, sir, that was some

Nolan Frets Bear Star Gale Sayers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Coach Dick Nolan of the San Francisco 49ers is worred about Gale Sayers, Kent Nix, Dick Butkus and Dick Gordon but mostly about Sayers.

"Sayers is ready," he said of the speedy running back of the Chicago Bears who has been slow rounding into form this year because of injuries. "He only carried seven times against New Orleans (in a 35-14 Chicago win) but I'll bet he carries twice as much against us."

The Bears, with a 3-1 record and a share of first place in the NFC's Central Division, provide the opposition for the 49ers at Candlestick Park Sunday afternoon.

With Nix taking over as quarterback from Jack Concannon and Bobby Douglass, the Bears have caught fire.

Ralston Ponders Trojans

OAKLAND (UPI)—"Our biggest game thus far' is the way Stanford football coach John Ralston looks at Saturday night's game against USC in Los Angeles.

"Sure they've lost a few games, but consider the teams they lost to—Oklahoma and Alabama, both among the top five in the country," said Ralston. He didn't mention the Trojans also lost to Oregon, a team that Stanford beat 38-17.

"USC is always a good team and this year is no exception," Ralston said. "They've had some peculiar injuries. They lost their best running back (Rod McNeill) all year with an injury and Lou Harris, another fine runner, has been out for the last two weeks, although I understand there is a chance he may play against us."

Ralston expressed some concern about the possible loss of linebacker Jeff Siem on whom the Stanford coach calls "the premier linebacker in the country." He suffered either a pulled or torn ligament in his knee against Washington and surgery may be required.

Stanford safety Benny Barnes and San Jose State linebacker Dave Chaney were selected defensive players of the week in the university division. Chaney was in on 15 tackles and returned two pass interceptions for touchdowns in San Jose State's 30-28 upset of Long Beach Sate. Barnes intercepted three of Sonny Sixkiller's passes in Stanford's 17-6 win.

California wide receiver Steve Sweeney, who caught three touchdown passes in the Bears' last-second win over Oregon State, was honored for his offensive heroics.

"I think right now Steve Sweeney is the best wide receiver on the coast," said Bears coach Ray Willsey.

Willsey expects a wide open game against Washington State in Spokane Saturday despite the fact the Bears had nine turnovers against Oregon State while the Cougars had eight in losing to UCLA.

"Washington State has an explosive offense and is probably the most improved team on the coast," said Willsey. "Had they not turned the football over themselves so often last week, I'm not sure they wouldn't have beaten UCLA."

Spartan coach Dewey King was elated by San Jose State's first win after three straight losses.

"We're out of the loser's syndrome now," he said. "We were behind 14-0 and Dave's first interception really turned it around for us."

Wide receiver Tom Bidegary of USF, who caught 13 passes for 245 yards and three touchdowns, and 250-pound defensive tackle Clinton Brown of Hayward State, who made 17 tackles, recovered a fumble and deflected a pass in the Pioneers 28-20 win over Chico State, were honored as the weekend's outstanding football players in the college division.

Lamonica May Start Despite Leg Injury

OAKLAND (UPI) —Quarterback Daryle Lamonica is recovering quickly from a hamstring pull and may be ready to go against the Philadelphia Eagles Sunday in the Raiders home opener.

"There is no sign of a blood clot; that's favorable," he said. "I may be able to play."

Lamonica suffered the injury Sunday against the Denver Broncos when he ran on a keeper. Lefthander Ken Stabler then took over for Lamonica and bootlegged for one touchdown and passed nine yards to Raymond Chester for another.

However, Raiders coach John Madden hasn't made up his mind yet who will start at quarterback against the Eagles. Philadelphia has scored 24 points, lowest in the National Football League, while dropping its first four games.

After the third loss, head coach Jerry Williams was fired and replaced by defensive specialist Ed Khayat. The Eagles showed a noticeable improvement in defense while losing 13-0 to Minnesota last.

One of Khayat's first moves was to hire former Oakland and Buffalo head coach John Rauch as an assistant coach in charge of quarterbacks. Rauch is working with Rick Arrington and Pete Liske, the two Eagle quarterbacks, and telling them everything he remembers about possible Oakland defensive theories or personnel.

Tikes Sport Condemned

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The Little League pitching star pulls his cap down, takes the signal, goes into his special Vida Blue wind up and fires a blazing fastball.

The bat and ball never meet. The game is over and nine 10-year-old heroes trot off the field to the cheers of the crowd.

Nice, healthy competition, the parents agree as they drive their kids home.

"One of the most serious crimes of our day," a Philadelphia physician says," robbing children of their childhood.

The physician is Dr. Joseph Torg, Associate Professor of Orthopedics at the Temple University Medical School, a strong backer of athletics from high school to the professional playing field—but a strong critic of little league sports.

"If I had my way, little league sports would be abolished," Torg said Tuesday. "To push kids to the brink of mental and physical exhaustion is absurd."

Torg, who recently completed a study of a baseball program at a local boy's club, is physician to two high school football teams, plus orthopedist to the Philadelphia 76ers basketball team and Temple's Football team.

He said his study showed the 8-to-12 year-olds who participated in baseball at the boys' club had few problems with the elbow and shoulder injuries common in little league because the emphasis was on recreation — not competition, and there was almost no parent participation.

"A pre-adolescent is not a competitive being," Torg said. "He's not at the stage where he's trying to exert himself and make a mark among his peers physically."

Instead, Torg said, the youngster is trying to learn how to entertain himself, explore the world, and establish relationships with others his own age. He thinks organized sports prevent the child from doing this.

"With adult interference he doesn't learn how to entertain himself, he can't establish peer group relationships," Torg said.

Warriors Suspend Baptiste

OAKLAND (UPI)—Hardship draftee Cyril Baptiste was suspended Tuesday by the Golden State Warriors of the National Basketball Association.

Team officials were mum on details of the suspension but did state Baptiste, a 6-9 forward from Creighton, "was not in condition to play NBA basketball." He was chosen last month in the hardship draft.

To pare the roster to 12, player-coach Al Attles placed himself on the injured reserve list where he must remain for at least five games. However, he can be reactivated after that.

Versatility Keys Moroski's Rise

By RON LENT

Novato High School's All-Marin County Athletic League quarterback Marty Moroski possesses great versatility.

Not only is he the I-J's Prep of the week for scoring one touchdown and passing for the game breaker in the final 52 seconds of Saturday's contest with visiting Terra Linda, but he is also a writer.

The 6-foot-3, 175-pound performer flashes a flare with the pen and the pass. In addition to completing 54 per cent of his 76 tosses for 486 yards and four touchdowns, Moroski is an expository writer.

In his pensive manner, Moroski examines "the world situation or even football, among other things."

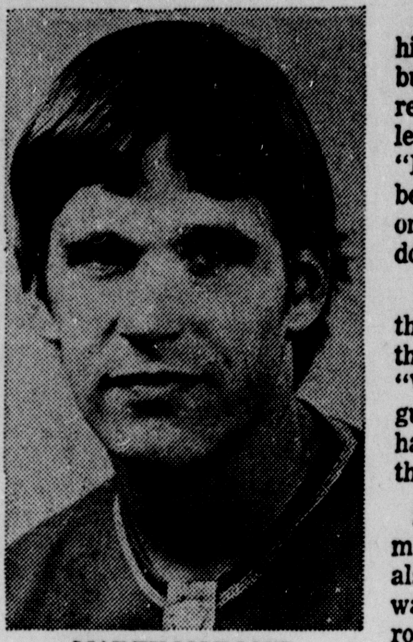
The son of San Marin High School Principal Henry J. Moroski, he has also dabbled in poetry. However, courses like "trigonometry and chemistry take up a lot of my time I might be using for writing," he commented candidly.

Despite this in-class workload and football, Moroski holds a 3.4 grade point average, or a B-plus. With such credentials, it is not surprising that college offers are dangled in front of him constantly.

At the present, he is leaning towards the University of California at Davis, but, Moroski cautioned, "I'm still open minded about college. I'm going to be studying either pre-law or biological sciences, and I understand the University of California system is fine academically and also has excellent football programs."

He hopes to one day become a lawyer tackling environment-polluting businesses. Moroski believes that a biology undertaking will be helpful "because law schools are looking for people with varied backgrounds."

With this type of foresight, Moroski is able to succeed in other avenues, like football and basketball. The two-year varsity cage veteran averaged 15 points last season as a forward.



MARTY MOROSKI

Moroski would like to continue his basketball career in college, but he is currently enveloped in reaching the Marin County Athletic League football crown. "I've never been on a title team before, and I really want this one. Everyone on the team does."

Buoyed by the common goals, the Novato "11" has ripped off three victories in four starts. "We've got a great bunch of guys and a great coach. If I've had any success, it is because of them," he pointed out.

Surrrre, but Moroski's added maturity and experience have also facilitated this drive towards the top. After a somewhat rocky start in practice this year, Moroski settled comfortably into the helm, reflecting assurance and dexterity at his key position.

"I try not to get rattled while in the huddle," he said.

The quarterback's cool apparently is the product of an evolutionary process. After arriving from Bakersfield in 1967, Moroski joined the San Jose Junior High football team in Novato as a fullback. He stayed at that spot until quarterback Greg Mazeres, now a fine San Marin split end, broke a leg.

"I was asked to fill in," Moroski recalled, "and I've stayed there ever since."

At this point, Moroski interjected that his "kid brother Mike is quarterbacking at San Jose now. He's going to be a pretty good one. He was on the Novato Babe Ruth All-Star team this summer."

When discussing diamond exploits, the 17-year-old Moroski is at no disadvantage; he plans to be a pitcher on this year's Hornet edition, but beyond that . . .

"I'm taking things one step at a time. In fact, I'm only thinking of our next opponent, Vallejo," and Vallejo is probably thinking about Marty Moroski, too.

bunt," Stargell deadpanned later. "Some guys can spend a whole career in baseball and never bunt home three runs."

Murtaugh said that "under these conditions" he wouldn't fine Robertson for his boner.

As for Blass, the wisecracking fastballer told the story of the missing notes on himself. He said he watched the games on TV, rather than go out in the dugout, "because with the picture from behind the plate, you can tell better about the pitches."

But, he said, the missing notes didn't hurt him much because "to tell you the truth, those first two games left me kinda confused."

"In the first game the Orioles hit homers, and in the second they hit singles all over the place," he said. "It didn't help much."

Blass, who was knocked out of the box twice by the San Francisco Giants in the National League playoffs, fanned eight Orioles and walked only two. He didn't give up a hit until Brooks Robinson singled in the fifth, and the only other hits were Frank Robinson's homer in the seventh and single in the ninth.

"I tried to throw two fast sliders in a row past Frank," said Blass. "You can see why he gets paid four times as much as me.

"Was it my best game of the year? Would you believe the best of my life?"

Blass said he threw 85 per cent fastballs and Weaver commented, "I coached him briefly in the minor leagues, I think in the insutructional league, and he was every bit as fast yesterday as he was then, and now he has control."

Walker, who will be opposed by Baltimore's Pat Dobson, the fourth Oriole 20-game winner, is a fellow who had a 5-0 record for the last month of the 1970 season, got off to a bad start this year when he lost a number of close games, and then came back with another fine September in which he was 4-0.

Walker is the young man who was highly praised but seldom used by Harry Walker when Walker managed the Pirates, and so wrote home to his mother in Texas, "I am alive and well —but not pitching —in Pittsburgh."

Murtaugh said he will follow Walker with Nelson Briles in Thursday's fifth game, rather than come back just yet with Dock Ellis, the Pirates' 19-game winner who lost the opening game.

"Ellis is not now the pitcher he was during the season," explained Murtaugh.

All of a sudden, thanks to Blass, Murtaugh is a man who may have some pitching to choose from, after all.

Canucks, Blues Triumph

St. Louis trimmed Buffalo 4-1 while Vancouver beat Philadelphia 3-2 in National Hockey League action last night.

Crisp scored the winning goal while the Blues were shorthanded in the first period. Buffalo rookie Richard Martin was trying to clear the puck from behind his own goal, but Crisp swiped the puck and jammed it past Roger Crozier.

Picard added the insurance goal against Crozier, who was replaced by Dave Dryden in the third period. Picard was skating backward toward a worse shooting angle when he slid the puck under the Buffalo goalie.

The first St. Louis goal by Sabourin came on a rebound of a shot by George Morrison off Crozier's pads, and Sutherland added the final tally against Dryden. Christian Bordeleau assisted on three of the four St. Louis goals.

The Sabres, who have never won a game at the St. Louis Arena, had their only goal from Martin. Don Luce had fired a weak shot at the chest of St. Louis goalie Ernie Wakely and Wakely skated away from the goalmouth as he juggled the puck in front of him. Wakely was out of position when he dropped it, and Martin easily pushed the puck into the cage.

Gene Carr, the Blues' top draft choice this season, played his first game in the National Hockey League and skated a full shift.

Stanford Defense Tops Pac-8

Stanford again leads the Pacific-8's defensive tabulations while the Universtiy of Southern California has taken over the offensive statistic leadership.

The Trojans are averaging a conference-high of 251.4 yards a game rushing and 403.4 yards total offense.

In other team statistics released Tuesday by the Pac-8, Sixkiller and Washington retained their leads as the conference's top passing combinations. Sixkiller's 226.2 aerial yards per game has boosted the Huskies to an average of 280.6 yards via the airways.

UCLA moved ahead of USC in passing defense, limiting foes to 94.6 aerial yards per contest compared to 95.8 by USC defenders.

In individual statistics, tailback Bobby Moore of Oregon continues to lead conference rushers with more than 141 yards a game. Washington State's Bernard Jackson, who is runnerup with an average of 112.2 yards, also moved into the scoring lead with 36 points.

Quarterback Don Bunce of Stanford is the total offense leader with an average of 229.2 yards compared to 208.2 for runnerup Sixkiller.

Oregon's Leland Glass retained his pass receiving lead with 26 catches for 333 yards and three touchdowns.

Brisker Arrested In Taxi Rhubarb

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—John Brisker, high scoring forward for the American Basketball Association Condors, was arrested at Three River Stadium Tuesday when he refused to get out of a taxi-cab whose driver had declined to transport him from a World Series game.

A spokesman for the Pittsburgh team charged that the arresting policemen beat the basketball player.

Brisker faced arraignment today on charges of assault and battery, disorderly conduct and resisting arrest. Two policemen who helped arrest the 6-foot-5, 210-pound athlete require hospital treatment.

Brisker did not make a team bus trip Tuesday night to Wheeling, W.Va., where the Condors defeated the Dallas Chaparrals, 120-118, in an ABA exhibition game.

"We sent him home and told him to get some sleep, because he was bruised, his ankle was banged up, he was obviously beaten," a team spokesman said.

According to the Condors, Brisker attend the World Series game, won by the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-1 over the Baltimore Orioles, with a woman friend. He and the unidentified white woman left the game early, so that Brisker could catch the team bus in plenty of time.

He waited 30 minutes for a taxi, the Condors said, and then climbed into the first one that pulled up by the Press gate.

"John said the driver refused to accept him as a passenger; the driver claimed the cab was reserved and told John he had to get out," the spokesman said.

Brisker claimed the driver had no right to refuse to transport an orderly passenger to his destination.

"The driver called the police and several policemen forcibly ejected John from the cab," the Condors spokesman said. "He said they hit him and called him a black b——."

Police said Brisker and a woman companion were arrested outside the stadium and taken to police headquarters. The woman companion was not charged, and Brisker later was released by a magistrate on personal recognizance.

Patrolman Howard Trojanowski and Rudolph Sablo were taken to Divine Providence Hospital after the incident. Trojanowski was reported in good condition in the intensive care unit after suffering an attack of chest pains.

San Rafael High School remained on top of the Marin County Athletic League soccer race with a 2-1 win over visiting Terra Linda High School yesterday.

In other games, runnerup Drake beat hosts San Marin 3-0, invading Novato won its first game, trimming Marin Catholic 4-3; while Redwood and Tamalpais played to a scoreless tie in Larkspur.

Misak Pirinjian scored both San Rafael goals, offsetting John Bartunik's tally for Terra Linda. Rolf Bell, Rich Larson, and Doug Harnsberger booted goals for Drake.

Marin Catholic Wins 21 In Row

Marin Catholic's "C" basketball team won its 21st consecutive game yesterday, a 57-34 decision over visiting Terra Linda.

Steve Webb had 21 to help push the host's record to 5-0.

Harrah's Picks Orioles By 7-5

STATELINE, Nev. (UPI)—Harrah's Tahoe Race Book has installed Baltimore as a 7-5 favorite to whip Pittsburgh in tonight's fourth World Series game.

Meanwhile in Las Vegas, oddsmaker Jimmy (The Greek) Snyder made Baltimore a slimmer 6-5 favorite. He's also listing the Orioles as 3-1 to win the series.

According to Snyder, the odds are 10-1 against Pittsburgh winning the next three games in a row and 12-5 against Baltimore taking the next two in a row.

Track

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—University of Oregon track Coach Bill Bowerman has been nominated by the United States Olympic track and field committee to coach the 1972 track and field team, the Oregonian reported Wednesday.

The paper said in its Wednesday edition that it had learned of the nomination through reliable sources. It said Bowerman was in New York to serve as chairman of the selection committee's study of 1972 trials sites and unavailable for comment.

According to the report, the nomination was between Bowerman and Stan Wright of Sacramento State, who served on Paytom Jordan's staff at the 1968 Mexico City games. Wright was reported to have agreed to serve as assistant coach for the U.S. team at Munich.

Tennis

EDINBURGH, Scotland (UPI)—Wimbledon champion Evonne Goolagong made a devastating return to competitive tennis after a month's absence when she disposed of England's Corinne Molesworth, 6-2, 6-1, in a Dewar Cup indoor circuit tournament Tuesday night.

The 20-year-old Australian needed only 40 minutes to crush the fifth-ranked British English girl and move into the women's singles third round. Miss Goolagong, the top seed, received a bye through the first round of the tournament, which is the first of a round-Britain series.

Football

NEW YORK (UPI)—Quarterback Joe Namath, injured in the first pre-season game Aug. 7, went through an easy 20-minute workout Tuesday and reported his condition as good.

There was no indication, however, when Namath would be able to return to the Jets, who scored only four touchdowns while losing three of their first four games in the National Football League.

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (UPI)—Head football coach Bill Dooley of the University of North Carolina says his program needs no defense and he considers the Bill Arnold case closed.

Dooley's comments followed criticism of the football program by 11 former players who called for a full investigation into the death last month of Arnold, a second-string guard who died 15 days after suffering a heat stroke.

TORONTO (UPI)—Stafford Smythe, president and principal stockholder of Maple Leaf Gardens Ltd. and of the Toronto Maple Leafs Hockey Club of the National Hockey League, died today at the age of 51.

Smythe underwent emergency surgery Monday night at Wellesley Hospital in downtown Toronto to stem internal bleeding brought about by an ulcer condition.

BOATING

By STAN DAVIES

More Boat Control For Coast Guard

Already one section of the Federal Boat Safety Act of 1971 has been used to enforce safe boating practices, although most provisions of the new law won't be felt or noticed for a year or more.

The Act was signed into law by President Nixon on Aug. 11, and three weeks later on the Labor Day weekend Coast Guard officers boarded thousands of boats all across the nation under the authority of Section 13.

This is the "Termination of Unsafe Use" section and gives Coast Guard boarding officers the power to take immediate steps to remedy such hazards as insufficient life saving devices, overloading or lack of fire extinguishers. An officer may even direct a boat operator to return to his mooring until the problem is corrected.

The Coast Guard districts had been directed to enforce Section 13 over the holiday weekend not only to try to reduce the high Labor Day fatality rate, but to announce dramatically to boaters that the new law was in force.

I was in the Sandusky, Ohio, area of Lake Erie that weekend and the fact that the Ninth District officers would be out in force had received wide publicity. A number of boats were boarded. However, I couldn't find anybody who had been cited for a violation. But, I think it had a good effect generally, and it certainly got people talking about the new law.

Boat safety is a perennial topic as the questions I've been asked this summer indicate:

Q. As a skipper I resent intrusions on my boat . . . don't most boatmen comply with the rules anyway.

A. About 70 per cent do, and about 30 per cent don't. In the first six months of this year, for example, the Coast Guard Auxiliary, which makes free courtesy checks of boats for safety equipment, examined 76,842 boats, and 30,814 failed to pass the inspection.

Q. How much have boating accidents increased in the past few years?

A. They haven't. Coast Guard figures released earlier this year show 3,803 boating accidents in 1970, 4,067 in 1969 and 4,350 in 1966.

Q. What is the major change in the new law that affects the "little man?"

A. Probably the section requiring all motorboats, regardless of horsepower, to be registered. In states where boats under 10-hp were not required to be registered until now, it will cost the "little guy" a couple of dollars extra a year for a registration fee.

Q. I believe sailboats are the safest . . . what proportion of all boats in use are sailing craft?

A. Boating industry Association estimates there are 8,814,000 boats in use in the United States, and 620,000 of them are sail powered. More than 5,200,000 are powered by outboards.

Q. The law requires a life preserver aboard a boat for each person. Does it say where they have to be kept.

A. No. But it's reasonable that they should be stored where they can be reached quickly in an emergency.

Richest Tennis Go Moves To Dallas

DALLAS (UPI) — Lamar Hunt, a director and guiding force behind the World Championship Tennis professional tour, announced Tuesday the tour's final match this year — the richest tennis match ever played —will be moved from Madison Square Garden in New York to Dallas.

The championship match, with $50,000 going to the winner and $20,000 going to the loser, will be held Nov. 26 at Dallas' Memorial Auditorium.

"We felt that since this is the first year of the event, we needed to establish it in the headquarter city of WCT," said Hunt. There was no dispute with anyone in New York. We just felt more comfortable having the match here."

The WCT tour has completed 16 of a scheduled 20 events.

At the end of those 20 events the eight leading players, determined on a point basis, will be eligible to compete for the $50,000 prize.

Quarterfinals and semifinals will be played in Houston Nov. 18, 19 and 21 to determine the two players who will compete in a five-set championship match in Dallas.

After 16 tournaments this year the leading eight players are Rod Laver, Tom Okker, Ken Rosewall, Cliff Drysdale, John Newcombe, Arthur Ashe, Marty Riessen and Roy Emerson.

The championship match is set for the day after Thanksgiving, and although Hunt conceded the date might hurt ticket sales he felt the stature of the event would be enough to fill the 8,500-seat auditorium.

"The date was set some time ago for television reasons before Dallas even came into the picture as a site," said Hunt. "The television people showed considerable interest in putting this match on that Friday."

School Nixes Probe

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (UPI)— North Carolina coach Bill Dooley Tuesday said the case surrounding the death of Bill Arnold was closed and that the UNC football program needed no defense.

Dooley, in his weekly press conference, said he was happy that the Tar Heel squad had expressed full support for the football program.

The team's action was prompted by a statement issued by some former UNC football players Sunday calling for further investigation into the death of Arnold, a second-string guard who died 15 days after suffering a heat stroke. A faculty committee that made an inquiry absolved the athletic department of any negligence.

"The reasons I have not said anything publicly about the situation until now is that the Carolina football program needs no defense," said Dooley. "Our program is not on trail.

"An intelligent group of people have studied the incidents surrounding Bill Arnold's death, and have found no wrongdoing on the part of anyone. We consider the matter closed."

Athletic director Homer Rice, who was present at the luncheon, expressed his confidence in Dooley.

Marin Drivers Try For Racing Honors

A strong entry of Marin County drivers will compete in the international Can-Am Monterey Grand Prix auto racing championships this weekend at Laguna Seca Raceway.

The early entries include Gerald Slick and Kevin O'Neil of Sausalito, San Rafael's Bob Bacich and Mill Valley's Dick Templeton. Templeton and O'Neil will perform in the Formula F race, while Bacich and Slick will carry Marin's banners in the E Production event.

The $75,000 Can-Am feature will headline Sunday's race card with current world champion Jackie Stewart of Scotland leading the entrants. The list also includes: Denis Hulme of New Zealand, Vic Elford of England, Jo Siffert of Switzerland, Indianapolis 500 pole holder Peter Revson, plus strong Ferrari and Porsche entries.

In all, 40 of the world's top pro drivers will start the program Friday with qualifying trials. Amateur championships racing will be on tap Saturday and Sunday.

More amateur racing will be held Sunday morning followed by professional Formula Vee event and the 200-mile big sports car go.

More than 40,000 are expected to attend this charity racing weekend event, which is free to children, as co-favorites in the Laguna race, Hulme and Revson, attempt to dislodge each other.

Besides the Monterey-Castrol Grand Prix the Sunday lineup has the final race in the International Pro Super Vee Championship.

49er Ticket Drawing Slated

A football movie will be shown and a drawing for two free tickets to the 49ers-Chicago Bears game Sunday will be held at tomorrow's meeting of the Junior 49er Minor Club.

The club, sponsored by the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation department, will meet at 7 p.m. at the community recreation center, 180 Camino Alto.

NBA SEASON OPENS

'New' Bob Lanier Paces Detroit Piston Triumph

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Who would have thought the Detroit Pistons would turn into a fast break team with Bob Lanier in the lineup?

Coach Red Holzman of the New York Knicks didn't really believe it until the Pistons played two exhibition games in Madison Square Garden last week. Holzman became a firm believer Tuesday night after Detroit surprised the Knicks, 91-84 in the opening of the National Basketball Association.

Lanier lost 25 pounds during the off season, dropping the weight by running up and down the stairs at Wayne State's football stadium in Michigan.

The ex-St. Bonaventure All-America used his lightened load to excellent advantage as he outmaneuvered the more experienced Willis Reed and kept popping the ball through the basket from the outside.

In other National Basketball Association openers, Philadelphia defeated Chicago, 114-100; Seattle ripped Buffalo, 123-90, and Cincinnati clobbered Atlanta, 127-113.

"Reed really worked Lanier over," said Detroit coach Butch Van Breda Kolff. "But Lanier now gives us three guys that can hurt the other team. When the Knicks began concentrating on Bob, somebody else took over and did the damage."

Holzman agreed that Detroit made the Knicks play the Pistons' brand of basketball and forced New York into taking bad shots.

Lanier scored 29 points, including 20 in the first half. Dave Bing picked up the scoring slack in the second half with a 16 point burst. Howard Komives, an ex-Knick, powered two drives, with six consecutive points each time, that put Detroit ahead for good in the second quarter and gave the Pistons a working margin in the third period.

Willis Reed topped New York with 20 points.

Lanier flew back to Detroit with advice from the Knick team physician that he have the small toe on his left foot x-rayed. The 6-11 Detroit pivotman faid he stubbed the toe at home Monday and that the injury was agravated when somebody stepped on it late in the Knick game. He was told the toe might be broken.

"I felt the pain but it didn't really incapacitate me," Lanier said after the game.

The Milwaukee Bucks open defense of their NBA title in Phoenix tonight and Philadelphia is at Houston in Wednesday's only games.

Flinkote Picking Up Building Steam

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I would appreciate your opinion of Flintkote Co. (NYSE). I have had shares for quite a few years and they don't seem to be going anywhere. I was thinking of changing for something else. Your opinion please? — J. C.

A. As one of the leading producers of a broad line of building materials, Flintkote is slowly beginning to reap the benefits of the pickup in construction acitivity. Strong evidence of this earnings turnaround may be seen in the firm's second quarter (1971) results. For this period, ended June, sales gained a healthy 22 per cent while profits per share climbed to 65 cents from last year's depressed 34 cents. All of the profit gains thus far were realized in this period, the first quarter usually being a deficit period.

With construction acitivity continuing at an outstanding recovery pace (housing starts rose 60 per cent in August to a record level) and an improving rate of economic acitivity, Flintkote shares are worth holding for further recovery gains and the 3.4 per cent yield.

Q. I purchased shares of Cities Service (NYSE), being interested in moderate appreciation and income. The oils seem to be depressed. Should I hold or sell? — R. R.

A. Present weakness in the oil group is attributed to a host of industry-wide woes. However, as you may have noted, shares of Cities Service have been strong and active recently reflecting the company's porposal to exchange 2.6 million shares of Atlantic Richfield it holds for its own stock, thereby reducing company's capitalization by 13.3 per cent.

Former weakness in Cities Service was due to a slippage in earnings begun in the latter half of 1970. Weak prices, especially for gasoline, and rising costs cut into profit margins. For the first half of 1971, earnings per share slipped 7.1 per cent on a 9.1 per cent gain in sales.

While results for all of 1971 may be only slightly ahead of last year, substantial improvement is anticipated in 1972 and beyond. Thus, shares should be held for the long term.

Missile Pact To Dallas Firm

DALLAS (BW) — The Army has awarded LTV Aerospace Corp. a $10,269,650 contract for fiscal 1972 procurement of long lead time items for the Lance missile system.

The contract calls for delivery of hardware and contains options which the Army could use later to buy missiles and ground support equipment, company spokesmen said.

Key West Homes Will Be Acquired

SANTA ANA (BW) — An agreement in principle has been reached whereby Golden West Mobile Homes Inc. will acquire Key West Homes Inc., a Mira Loma based company.

Under terms of the proposed acquisition, Golden West Mobile Homes Inc. will acquire the net assets of Key West Homes Inc.

Airline Shows Hike In Revenue

OAKLAND (BW) — World Airways has reported sharply increased revenues and earnings for the month of August and for the first eight months of 1971.

Operating revenues for August were $8,948,000 vs. $7,095,000 for the same month last year.

Consolidated net income FBR August was $899,000, or 9 cents a share, against $760,000, or 7.6 cents a share, in August of last year.

Income from Airline operations for the month rose to $648,000, compared with $417,000 in the August month a year ago. First Western Bank which is owned by World Airways, contributed $241,000 to net income in August against $343,000 a year ago.

For the eight months ended in August, operating revenues were $52,292,000 vs. $37,723,000 in the year ago period.

Consolidated net income for the eight months was $7,067,000, or 71 cents per share, compared with $2,342,000, or 23 cents per share a year ago.

Early-Hour Stocks Low Irregularly

NEW YORK (UPI) —Stocks were irregularly lower through the first two hours of trading today.

Analysts noted that while investors were encouraged by organized labor's decision to back "Phase Two" of President Nixon's economic program, they still were a little puzzled because of the lack of details about the guidelines to be used by the various units in the postfreeze program.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index showed a loss of 0.01 at 99.56. Advances topped declines, 601, to 538, among the 1,501 issues crossing the tape.

Prices slightly lower in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

On the Big Board, electronics encountered most of the selling. IBM, weakest of the group, was off more than 3 points after spurting 9 3-8 Tuesday in the wake of a bright earnings statement.

Among the issues down a point or so were Bausch & Lomb, Natomas, UAL Inc., Flying Tiger, Loews Corp., and Great Western United.

Steels lost fractions, as did most motors, and aircrafts. Rails were mixed.

Security Lack May Hurt Freighters

LOS ANGELES (BW) — The air freight industry, by relying on outmoded security programs, stands to lose a large percentage of the profits being generated by the national dock strikes, warns Mel Andrews, president of Transport Protective Association (TPA).

TPA, the nation's largest all-transport protection firm, however, believes the expected heavy losses arising from cargo theft and subsequent customer claims can be effectively reduced with proper security procedures.

Novato Heeds A Call, Backs College Bond

After six hours of ploughing through 23 items on its agenda, the Novato City Council adjourned at 2 a.m. today — to a meeting at 8 p.m. next Tuesday to finish the other 18 agenda items left untouched.

A third of the marathon session was devoted to the public hearing on the proposed residential construction moratorium. (See story on page 1).

After warning Marin Community College District spokesmen that Novatans would become irate if plans to complete the Indian Valley Colleges campus failed, the council voted 4-0 to endorse Measure A on the Nov. 2 ballot. Councilman George C. Quesada abstained from voting on the measure, which calls for a $16.7 million bond issue to build the North Marin campus and complete the Kentfield campus.

The Novato City Council also:

BEDROOM TAX — Reintroduced an amended ordinance requiring builders to pay $75 per bedroom or to deed an equivalent amount of parklands to the city in all new construction projects.

MENDOCINO GARDENS — Approved development plans for 32 detached single-family units at the southwest corner of Novato Boulevard and Euclayptus Avenue, after considerable discussion of saving the existing trees on the property. Consultant Norman Gilroy said dwellings would be relocated if necessary.

APARTMENTS — Approved precise plans for 189 apartments on 9.84 acres on Ignacio Boulevard south of the Pacheco Plaza shopping center.

FLOODING — Approved planning commission recommendations that curbs in the Crossroads Unit 1 subdivision at South Novato Boulevard and Highway 101 be only 5.5 feet above sea level instead of the 7 feet normally required by city ordinances.

TRAFFIC — Approved a Traffic Safety Committee recommendation to install a "yield" sign at Balra Drive and Shevelin Road.

PARADE — Granted the San Marin Homeowners Association a permit for the group's second annual Halloween parade Oct. 31.

HIRING — Approved a contract to hire three employees for one year under President Richard M. Nixon's emergency employment program, with $16,816 federal funding. City Mgr. Charles A. Brown reported the city's original request for more police officers was denied, but two maintenance men and a secretary were approved for the federal program. Cost to the city is 10 per cent matching funds.

STATE — Approved purchase of a 1.282-acre parcel of state surplus land at the end of Reservoir Drive, at a cost of $2,000.

SEAL — Set a hearing on adoption of the redesigned city seal for 8 p.m. Nov. 2.

CENTER — Voted a resolution authorizing condemnation action against the Silva and Simmons properties south of the Community Center.

SHOPS — Postponed indefinitely action on application for a planned neighborhood shopping center at the corner of South Novato Boulevard and the future extension of Redwood Boulevard, to serve 2,500 planned homes in the neighborhood.

WATER MAIN — Granted North Marin County Water District an easement for an underground line through city-owned land adjoining Novato Creek in San Marin Unit 9.

TAXI — Approved franchise transfer to D and K Enterprises.

REZONING — Postponed to Jan. 11, 1972, action on a request to rezone a 100-foot by 600-foot strip adjoining Lou Sutton School from A-2 agricultural to R-P planned residential, after extensive deate over how to develop the narrow parcel.

Tule Elk Protection To Reagan

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill designed to protect California's tule elk yesterday won final legislative approval in a 66-0 Assembly vote that sent the measure to the governor for his signature.

The measure, SB 722 by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, would bar the Department of Fish and Game from allowing hunting of the little elk until their statewide population reached 2,000, about four times the present population.

Conservationists have urged the larger population to prevent extinction of the elk, while ranchers have objected that the elk compete with their livestock for feed.

The bill also directs the department to attempt to relocate surplus tule elk as the only free-roaming herd in the state outgrows its range in the Owens Valley, Inyo County. Point Reyes National Seashore is a possible relocation site, according to a federal study.

N. Coastal Agency Has Powers Cut

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill creating a North Coast planning commission to include Sonoma County, once again amended to weaken its powers, has reached the Assembly floor.

The bill, SB 920 by Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, would create a five-county North Coast Area Planning and Development Organization as a statutory counterpart to the Association of Bay Area Governments. Sonoma voters have balloted to quit ABAG in favor of such a northern county organization.

Reinserting an amendment he had dropped late last month, Collier again cut the proposed organization's powers by giving each local governing agency the power to veto any of the organization's policies or actions. The amendment, the fifth since the bill was introduced, came as the measure last week passed the ways and means committee to the lower house floor.

Final action by the Assembly would send the bill back to the Senate for concurrence in the new amendments.

A Victory For The Winemaker

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House Ways and Means Committee has struck a blow for the little old winemaker — unmarried variety.

The action is unlikely to make friends among some women's liberationists who might want to bottle their own.

The taxwriters voted Tuesday to let single people bottle up to 100 gallons of wine without paying any tax. Presently they can't, whether they are men or women.

It's In History Books Because Of Newspapers

Not long ago, we heard a talk by an educator who (1) flayed the press for what he claimed was distortion of the news, and (2) a little farther along in the same speech, referred to graft and corruption in local government in America's past, using as his example the Tweed Ring.

Many American history texts include an account of the graft by William Marcy Tweed and his Tammany Hall associates in New York of the 1870s. It is a familiar part of American history.

WHAT THE SPEAKER apparently failed to recognize, however, was that Tweed is in the history books because of a newspaper. If the New York Times had not obtained the evidence of the Tweed Ring's grafts and published it, the ring would have continued indefinitely and likely would eventually have phased out without a word getting into printed histories.

As a matter of fact, the Tweed Ring was no worse than its predecessors in New York City — it just got more publicly. The corruption probably was more odious in the 1850s, when Fernando Wood was mayor. That was when, among other things, the city council sold itself the city hall to raise money to meet a payroll, and then — after taxes came in — transferred it back to the city at a handsome profit. Tweed and his mayor, Oakey Hall, never came up with anything quite matching that.

IN CALIFORNIA HISTORY books, there is likely to be mention of the Schmitz-Ruef corruption early in this century in San Francisco, and the "cleanup" that followed it — because that, too, was exposed by a newspaper and became part of history.

But Fremont Older, the San Francisco Bulletin editor responsible for that expose, regretted later that Abe Ruef and Eugene E. Schmitz had been prosecuted while others who shared in the spoils escaped, and recognized that the prosecution had not permanently cleaned up San Francisco politics.

Other corrupt administrations have flourished in city and state governments without being brought to book. You aren't likely to find them mentioned in the history books — because no newspaper exposed them.

That same historians and teachers of history who are quick to condemn the press are dependent upon yesteryear's newspapers for the stuff of the hostory they write and teach. No one ever heard of a historian exposing misdeeds in government. The newspapers do that.

WE HAVE A VERY recent instance in the publication of the Pentagon Papers, begun in the New York Times and Washington Post and picked up by other newspaers throughout the country. That brought so much to light that it undoubtedly has influenced White House policy on winding up the Vietnam War, and has even forced the Pentagon to publish its own "sanitized" version of the papers.

That's tomorrow's history — in this year's newspapers.

A generation from now, other speakers will be criticizing the press in one breath and referring to the Pentagon papers in the next — oblivious that only because of the New York Times and Washington Post did the contents of those papers become known.

Yesterday's news is today's history. Today's news is tomorrow's history. A lot of it would be missing if it weren't for the newspapers.

We mention this because we think it appropriate during National Newspaper Week.

Characters Switch Roles In Farm Labor Drama

By MARY K. SHELL

SACRAMENTO (Capitol) — It's no wonder there is so much confusion surrounding farm labor legislation. The characters in the drama keep changing roles.

Three years ago the California Labor Federation, meeting in convention, adopted a resolution calling for secret ballot elections to determine union representation for workers not covered by the National Labor Relations Act. This included farm workers.

At the organizations's request, in February, 1969, Sen. Alan Short, D-Stockton, introduced SB 307. This measure, patterned after the Wagner Act, set up provisions for union representation elections supervised by the state Department of Industrial Relations.

The farm employers opposed the bill. In fact, at that time they opposed any attempt to legislate in the farm labor field on a statewide basis.

Senator Short's bill didn't go very far. It didn't even make it out of the Senate Labor and Social Welfare Committee.

A LOT HAS HAPPENED down on the farm in the last two years. Without so much as a Geneva Convention-like rule to say what's fair in farm labor warfare, the tension has mounted between the groweers, the workers and the unions, particularly United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, AFL-CIO, headed by Cesar Chavez.

UFWOC has used almost any means available to force growers to the bargaining table.

The growers under contract with UFWOC or the Teamsters, however, represent a small segment of the state's No. 1 industry.

The warfare continues without rules. The remaining unorganized segment of the industry has made it clear this year it is tired of waiting for action from Washington and is now looking to Sacramento for a workable farm labor bill.

But now, UFWOC and the California Labor Federation figure they're doing all right without legislation and have successfully opposed two farm labor bills in the Assembly.

NOW ALONG COMES Sen. John Harmer, R-Glendale, who two years ago worked incognito in the grape vineyards for a week to learn workers' attitudes toward UFWOC and the growers.

Harmer wants the workers to have free elections to decide union representation for themselves. When the Assembly committee killed off the two measures introduced in that house, Harmer revived his SB 40 and amended in language almost identical to that contained in Senator Short's SB 307 of the 1969 session.

Harmer was assured of Democratic support in the Senate and he got it. SB 40 passed through two committees and early this month the bill was passed on the Senate floor by a vote of 22-15.

Battling it all the way were UFWOC and (you guessed it) the California Labor Federation, in spite of the fact it is essentially the same piece of legislation the union organization's convention delegates called for three years ago.

Enter Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, who had a hand in killing off the other two farm labor bills.

The Assembly Labor Relations Committee was to hear Harmer's bill today.

Child Psychologist's Column Wanted

Dr. Haim Ginott is a famous child psychologist who writes a syndicated column, "Between Us," handled by King Features. I have read his books and last Wednesday (Oct. 6) attended his lecture to a standing-room audience at College of Marin. He is exceptionally good and I would like very much to have access to his column, "Between Us."

Road Not Adequate For Proposed Project

As residents of Lucas Valley, we would like to express our concern over the proposed rezoning of the Grady Ranch, located four miles west of Highway 101, in favor of Mr. and Mrs. Patterson and their renaissance project.

After spending the better part of an evening listening to the Pattersons' vague answers to questions pertaining to the property and the access routes, consisting exclusively of Lucas Valley Road, we feel that it would be totally irresponsible of the planning commission to consider allowing this project to progress any further. Two-lane Lucas Valley Road is incapable of handling the additional estimated 10,000 to 12,000 vehicles per day currently attending the Renaissance Faire without causing mammoth traffic jams and intolerable inconvenience to the more than 4,000 residents of this valley, not to mention the entire Gallinas Valley. Imagine a two-hour return trip from Saturday or Sunday morning nearby outings or the inconvenience to visiting friends and relatives.

Chief Bonfield of the Marinwood Fire Department advised that it would be virtually impossible for fire and emergency vehicles to enter or exit Lucas Valley under present road conditions with such traffic as the Renaissance Faire would generate.

We would appreciate your making public this situation in the hope that this may help influence our planning commission and board of supervisors who are vulnerable to public opinion.

High School Trouble Not As Described

I have just finished reading a short article on Page 8 of the I-J, Oct. 5, entitled "School Racial Fight Rumor is Dispelled." I am shocked and dismayed that such an important subject was treated so naively that your duty to your readers to inform them of the truth has sadly been ignored.

On the preceding afternoon, I was present when the investigating sergeant from the San Rafael Police Department took testimony from 11 teen-agers concerning the incidents of that afternoon and five girls, four of which were white, had been beaten severely by black girls on the high school campus.

The sergeant was asked by me how many acts of violence between blacks and whites at the school he had investigated the last school year, and he answered two or three. When the 11 children were asked how many incidents they knew of, the answers ranged from 15 to 25.

It is a known fact by the children involved and their parents that a major effort was made by the former principal, Dr. Ellsberg (who was asked to resign) and his immediate associates to squelch as much information as possible on these acts of violence between blacks and whites.

It was hoped that with the change in administration they would be open and above-board with the interested public and treat the problem rather than hiding it and hoping it will go away.

In closing, if the problem was so minor, then why was I able to observe, the day your article was published, a total of nine police, three patrol cars, a police motorcycle, an inspector's car with one sergeant driving, and most of the administration in front of the high school at 2:30? Keeping the peace?

Good reporting starts with getting the facts and when it comes to racial violence at San Rafael High School, you won't get the facts from the administration.

Resident Opposed To Renaissance Center

I ask the Board of Supervisors of Marin County, and all those concerned with zoning and permits, to totally reject the plan to allow the Renaissance Center and Faire to be held in Lucas Valley.

As a resident of Lucas Valley who enjoys the quiet atmosphere, clean smog-free air, and relatively traffic-free streets, I believe that the monumental traffic problems that will occur, along with the tremendous influx of people that the fair and center will attract on a yearly basis (not just five week-ends a year), can only be detrimental to Lucas Valley, its residents, and the surrounding communities. The promoters, Ron and Phyllis Patterson, have attempted to "sell" the idea of a center and fair to the residents of Lucas Valley (under the guise of so-called "culture" and "education") and failed.

The lack of proper and intelligent zoning of the available land in Lucas Valley to minimize future development, especially when commercial zoning is sought, can only cause irreparable damage to the already fragile environment we live in.

Hopefully, the very reasons my family and I moved to Lucas Valley will not be destroyed by the county supervisors and zoning officials allowing the Renaissance Faire and Center in Lucas Valley.

Music Chest Ends Successful Season

The Marin Music Chest has just closed one of its most successful seasons of summer concerts in Forest Meadows, Dominican College, San Rafael.

We feel this is due, in a great measure, to the cooperation given us by your staff in helping to publicize our activities.

Please extend our thanks and appreciation to Maybelle Speckmann, Don Keown, Joan Lisetor and Barbara Hosmer for their efforts in our behalf.

We have been bringing the great artists of opera, concert, symphony orchestras and dance companies to Marin audiences for the past 37 years, and, without your help, hope to continue to bring "culture" to Marin.

It's Time To Draw The Line Against Destructive Violence

WASHINGTON — It's time to quit being soft on violence.

I'm talking about violence as a means to social change, whether in prison or on the campus or in the ghettos.

I'm talking about:

Violence by those who use civil rights for themselves to deny civil rights to others.

Violence which threatens, maims and kills other people and is then justified as the only way to get public attention.

Violence by those who destroy public property, university buildings and government offices and who accept no responsibility for what they have done.

ANTHONY LEWIS in the New York Times remarks that "it is too easy to say that violent tactics can never be justified" and he then argues there is only one condition when violence cannot be justified as a part of the political process.

Taht condition, he says, is in a "perfect society." And since there is no perfect society, that gives such a wide approval to violence that to those who think that way, violence becomes a way of life, a worthy part of a democratic society.

What is needed today is not a blanket justification for violence under almost any circumstances nor a bland assertion that violence can never be justified under any circumstances.

MOST AMERICANS would approve the use of violence against the king of England to end "taxation without representation."

Most Americans would say that if the Jews in Nazi Germany had been able to escape from the gas chambers of Auschwitz by holding their guards as hostages, that would be justified.

But these exceptions do not justify violence in a free society. The danger isn't that we will smugly condemn the use of violence to change the system but that we will dangerously blur the dividing line between legitimate civil disobedience and useless, reckless, criminal violence.

The need is to draw the line so clearly that we will not be tempted to assume that any group which has just grievances is justified in resorting to violence in a society where there is free speech, a free press and the right to vote, open to everybody 18 years and older.

SHOULDN'T THE LINE be drawn right here?

Peaceful civil disobedience against a law which many believe unconstitutional or unfair or to demand social change, is justifiable. Those who engage in it may have to accept a legal penalty. But they are making their case. Gandhi showed the way and by civil disobedience he wrested India's freedom from Britain.

Unpeaceful, uncivil violence which uses civil rights to deny others their civil rights and which destroys property, endangers and takes lives, whatever the purpose, is unjustifiable.

Condemning such violence totally is not saying that no kind of civil disobedience is ever justifiable. Such violence is not a legitimate part of the democratic process. Its effect is to destroy the democratic process and that is what many of the violent-minded want.

THIS IS NO APPEAL against change. This is no appeal for the status quo. This is no claim that there are not many reforms in our social and political system which are needed. But violence is the road to freezing the system, not improving it.

Vigorous, peaceful demonstration works in the United States as well as in India. The most valuable and wide-ranging civil rights legislation ever to pass Congress came, not in response to violent disorder, but in response to the nonviolent, peaceful, massive march on Washington in 1963.

Dissent is the lifeblood of social change. Violence is the poison which will kill social change.

BY NO MEANS NEUTRAL

Sousa Turns 'Em On — Even In Soviet Capital

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON— Mr. Nixon waved the flag only ever so gently in his anticlimactic speech about Phase 2 of his wage-price stabilization effort.

The temptation in such a case is run up Old Glory with great fanfare and point to it at every punch line, making it clear to potential doubters that subscribing to the economic game plan is tantamount to taking the oath of allegiance. Instead, with uncharacteristic restraint, Mr. Nixon let an unnamed lady from Pampa, Tex., sound the call to colors. He read her letter saying, "Let us all hope that Americans will once again realize that we must be willing to sacrifice for a long-term goal and once again have pride in our country." (Pan to flag, rippling in breeze, old bombers flying over in V-formation.)

But that is not to say the President's red-white-and-blue blood count was low. No sooner had he told the country once again that high wages are bad and healthy profits are good than he hurried upstairs, threw on a maroon blazer and a pair of tan slacks, and dropped in by surprise at the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, where a combined armed services band was dedicating the concert stage to the memory of John Philip Sousa.

IF THERE IS ANYTHING more inspiring to a tired chief executive than a stiff dose of Sousa, it probably had better not be explored here. In fact, you don't have to be President, or have to be born in Yorba Linda, Calif., in 1913, and live through the Yankee Doodle Dandy days of World War I as a kindergarten-age kid in middle America (West Coast lemon-grove division) to break out in goose pimples when the band strikes up a Sousa march.

I can certify that most other Americans do, too. The March King's music is the most recognizably American sound anyone has ever written. I emphasize that because somebody might challenge me with jazz or Bluegrass or the "railroad blues." But nobody before Sousa had found an American sound, American spirit in music. Connoisseurs of marches know that much European martial music, for example, has an oompah quality more at home in the beer garden than on the parade ground, or in the Balkans a conspiratorial sonorousness that reminds you more of Eric Ambler espionage intrigues than charging cavalry.

But Sousa, now, that's our kind of chauvinism — the kind with a smile. It says what Merle Haggard says in "Okie from Muskogee," only without words, and without offending pot-smokers, bead and sandal wearers and draft dodgers the way Haggard's lyrics do. If it does offend them, too, with its unquestioning patriotism, it has not yet occurred to them to put it on their public list of grievances.

It turns on hardhats, boy scouts, old Marines, football crowds, admirers of drum majorettes and presidents. It also excites people who have never heard it before, who don't know what it stands for and are in fact a little embarrassed when they find out.

I REFER TO ONE evening at the concert hall of the Tchaikovsky Conservatory in Moscow. The brilliant young Eastman Conservatory Orchestra was performing under the fiery old Howard Hanson as a highlight of the Soviet-American cultural exchange program. It had been warmly received, though this was the time of the on-again off-again cold war, sometime between the Cuban missile crisis and the signing of the nuclear test ban treaty.

It became time for encores. They played one, and the crowd asked for antother. After the second, the Muscovites persisted. Hanson turned to the orchestra without announcing the next work through the interpreter as he had done before. At the first bar, a shiver ran through us Americans. Then a red-haired girl played the flute solo. And when they struck the final chorus, I wanted to stand on my feet and yell.

I might have thought myself and the other Americans there were alone in liking it so much. But the audience cheered and demanded it again. "The march! The march!" they chanted. So Hanson played it again, and it was twice as stirring. Then, when the cheering finally died down, he quietly told the interpreter its title.

The "Stars and Stripes Forever," she said into the microphone.

THE RUSSIANS SAT silent for a moment, absorbing that. Perhaps they all felt they had been taken in, made fools of. But no, once it sank in, they roared again, not only approving but laughing, too, at themselves and the whole idea.

It was a glorious night.

I hope the President got half as much of a lift from the Sousa pieces he heard the other evening. "Stars and Stripes Forever" was on the program here, too. And if he wanted somehow to hear that soaring music as positive reinforcement after his nervous time coping with our mutual troubles before the TV cameras but without an audience, we shouldn't begrudge him the feeling.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

Legislators Are Busy Hiking Your School Taxes

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

While you perhaps haven't been watching, the California Legislature has been busily passing bills to increase your school taxes.

A couple of them have been vetoed by Gov. Ronald Reagan. Others, however, have won the governor's signature. Still others are on their way to his desk.

GOVERNOR REAGAN vetoed a bill (SB 1228 by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael) which would have allowed school districts to increase tax rates to compensate for loss of assessed valuation due to scenic restrictions, easements and contracts reducing assessments.

He also vetoed SB 1596 by Sen. Albert S. Rodda, D-Sacramento, which would have authorized an override tax, without voter approval, in unlimited amount to pay for school lunch programs.

However, the governor has signed a couple of others increasing what you'll pay to support schools.

AB 880 (Ken Meade, D-Oakland, and co-sponsors), which continues until July 1, 1973, a permissive 10-cent override tax for fire and panic safety devices in school buildings, scheduled to expire July 1 of this year.

AB 1155 (Frank Lanterman, R-Pasadena), which authorizes no new levy but opens the way for hiking school taxes by permitting funds raised by special purpose overrides to be transferred to other uses (to be repaid, of course — but out of increased taxes, since if the funds weren't there for the other purpose in the first place it will require a tax hike to repay them).

THE ASSEMBLY has been most generous with your money for the schools. Among bills it has passed are these:

AB 115 (Wadie P. Deddeh, D-Chula Vista, and Peter R. Chacon, D-San Diego) appropriating $3 million for special training for limited-English-speaking pupils.

AB 116 (same authors) appropriating $100,000 for development of bilingual scholastic aptitude tests.

AB 354 (E. Richard Barnes, R-San Diego, and a host of co-sponsors) increasing teacher retirement benefits.

AB 734 (Yvonne Brathwaite, D-Los Angeles and co-sponsors) authorizing children's centers at University of California, state college and community college campuses for the children of students and faculty members.

AB 1565 (Alan Sieroty, D-Los Angeles and co-sponsors) appropriating $5 million for construction of children's centers.

AB 1966 (Leroy F. Greene, D-Sacramento) requiring school districts to borrow from the state, if necessary, to upgrade safety of school buildings, and levy a 10-cent override to repay the state.

AB 1969 (also by Leroy F. Greene) increasing the subsidies for "exceptional" students in private schools.

AB 2586 (John Vasconcellos, D-San Jose, and co-sponsors) subsidizing "community schools" in up to 100 districts as experimental studies.

AB 2902 (Dunlap) mandating "alternative schools" on which school districts must expend at least 2½ per cent of their current expenses of education.

AB 2923 (Chacon) increasing the minimum teacher salary from $6,000 to $6,800.

THE SENATE has not allowed itself to be left out. It has passed these, among others:

SB 702 (Lou Cusanovich, R-Sherman Oaks, and Mervyn M. Dymally, D-Los Angeles) appropriating $1 million for preschool children's centers.

SB 998 (Nicholas C. Petris, R-Oakland) authorizing an unlimited tax hike to pay for school lunches for the needy.

AB 1196 (George N. Zenovich, D-Fresno) authorizing override tax to pay tuition in private schools for "educationally handicapped."

Some of these, no doubt, also will reach the governor's desk. If your tax bills go up next November, they will be in part responsible.

Vacaville Term In Dope Arrest

MERCED (UPI) —Merced County Superior Court Judge Donald R. Fretz Tuesday sentenced Millage Jones, 29, Huntington Beach, to an unspecified term at Vacaville State Prison in a case involving nearly half a ton of marijuana.

Jones and Peter Leffe, 25, Berkeley, were charged with possessing and transporting the illegal weed after a plane loaded with marijuana made an emergency landing at the Los Banos Airport last November.

Jones pleaded guilty to a charge of possession and the transportation charge was dropped. Leffe pleaded guilty earlier this year.

Berkeley Rejects Shop Mart Rezoning

BERKELEY (UPI) — City councilmen rejected a request Tuesday for a special rezoning which would have provided for a $60 million shopping center on the Berkeley Marina.

Councilmen turned down the request by Ernest Hahn Associates saying the center would hurt small merchants, increase automobile traffic flow in the area and end the area's potential for other purposes, including a park.

Current Tests Show Skylab Is Sturdy Cold Weather Performer

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)— U.S. astronauts will be flying over more of the earth than ever before in the Skylab space station in 1973 and that raises the new possibility of an emergency ocean landing in subfreezing weather.

All of America's earth orbiting spacecraft in the past have flown over a broad band around the globe's midsection, going no farther north or south than 33 degree latitude. Their emergency splashdown areas were always in relatively warm waters.

But the Skylab will be launched into an orbit that will be more steeply angled to the equator. Its ground track will go to 50 degree latitude north and south, taking its astronauts as far north as Winnipeg, Canada, and as far south as the southernmost tip of South America.

The space station will go into the unusual orbit to give its earth survey sensors broader coverage of land and sea areas. Skylab will fly over more than 75 per cent of the surface of earth, over 80 per cent of its food producing areas and 90 per cent of its population.

Three three-man crews will be ferried to the Skylab over an eight month period by Apollo command ships. Each Apollo will remain linked to the station while it is occupied and then the astronauts will fly the Apollo back to earth.

"In several months of the year the area over which the spacecraft passes includes conditions considerably colder than heretofore experienced," the space agency said. "There is a remote possibility that emergency or major system malfunction during launch or orbit phases could force the spacecraft to land in these areas."

To see if the Apollo and its crew could take such weather, a command module was tested in a chamber at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., last month that had a water temperature of 33 degrees and an air temperature of 25.

The effect of cold air and water with wind and spray and ice were studied. NASA said temperatures dropped to the low 30s in the cabin during the tests, some of which lasted 72 hours.

"A tremendous amount of data has to be reviewed," the agency said in a preliminary report. "However, it can be stated that the Skylab command module is a fit and sturdy vehicle in a cold environment, capable of supporting three men indefinitely."

Four command modules have been built for the Skylab project and the first scheduled for launch May 1, 1973 has started final systems checkout at the North American Rockwell plant at Downey, Calif.

Three command ships will be used as transports and the fourth will be kept on a standby status at Cape Kennedy as a backup spacecraft and a rescue ship.

The command ships are similar to the ones that carry men to and from the moon. For earth orbital missions, however, the Apollos will not carry as much main engine fuel, but will carry more control rocket fuel, more batteries and larger storage lockers.

2 Children Injured In Auto Wreck

An 11-year-old Ukiah boy was released from Marin General Hospital yesterday but a 14-year-old companion remained in satisfactory condition today from injuries sustained in a Novato auto accident.

Marin General said today John L. Gardner was dismissed after a day at the hospital where he was treated for head injuries and abdominal pains.

His companion, Jacqueline D. Fountain, remained hospitalized with a broken jaw.

They were two of four children injured Monday when their northbound auto driven by Bonnie Jean Beck, 27, of Ukiah, collided at 11:34 p.m. with an eastbound car on Diablo Avenue.

The other children, Tyrone W. Duncan, 11, and Daniel Bruffett, 5, were treated for minor cuts.

The driver of the other car was Michael David Gingher, 21, of 1005 Greenwood Drive, Novato, police said.

Drugs Will Be Viewed First

The first meeting of the new Novato Citizens Advisory Committee on Human Needs will concentrate of drug abuse problems in the city, according to Mayor Joseph Gargiulo.

The session will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Hill Junior High School.

At last night's Novato City Council meeting, Garguilo announced the meeting, and also directed that the advisory committee select two members for liaison with the Marin County Human Rights Commission.

Gerald J. Hood, director of the county human rights agency since July, visited the council meeting to introduce himself and to urge city-county cooperation on human rights matters.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

An Inspirational Player Is Sometimes Not A Major Asset

"How could you raise me with only two trumps?" South asked bitterly after the play of today's hand. "The contract was reasonable enough," North replied. "The trouble is that you're an inspirational player. You inspire your opponents to put up magnificent defenses. It's very noble of you, but I can do without some of that nobility."

CASHES DIAMONDS

East won the first trick with the ace of spades and returned a spade to the king. South quite properly cashed the top diamonds and ruffed a diamond with dummy's jack of hearts.

It's easy to see what would happen in the normal game. East would overruff with the queen of hearts. South would ruff the spade return, lead a trump to the ace and return to his hand with the ace of clubs to lead the ten of hearts.

East would take the king of hearts, and South would easily regain the lead in time to draw East's seven of hearts (his last trump) with the nine of hearts. East would get two trump tricks and the ace of spades, not enough to defeat the contract.

REFUSES TRICK

When the hand was actually played, East refused to overruff dummy on the third round of diamonds. This fine defensive play netted East three trump tricks instead of only two.

Declarer led dummy's ace of hearts and got to his hand with a club to lead the ten of hearts. East won with the queen, retaining the king-seven. South had to lead trumps from the 9-6, so that East got two further trump tricks.

THE CORRECT WAY

South could have made the contract by going after the clubs instead of ruffing a diamond in dummy, but this would have been a doubtful line of play. The diamond ruff assured the contract if the trumps broke normally or if East put up the normal uninspired defense.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠- 10 5 3
♥- 8
♦- Q J 8 7 6 5
♣- Q J 8.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

You prefer to have better trumps for a raise, but in a pinch you should raise with any three trumps and a side singleton.

Lumber Firm Is Hit By Burglars

More than $5,000 worth of office equipment and cash was stolen yesterday from Marin Lumber, 15 Jordan Street, San Rafael, according to police.

Police reported that cash, a typewriter, three electric calculators, and two adding machines were stolen between 4:05 a.m. and 4:30 a.m. from the lumber company owned by Didrik Wilhelm Pedersen.

Zone Idea Back To Planners

A proposal to establish a zoning review board to handle routine zoning and planning matters was referred last night to the Sausalito Planning Commission by the Sausalito City Council.

The review board, originally proposed last October by City Mgr. Albert St. Cyr, is designed to give the council and planners more time to consider long-range planning and other far-reaching city concerns.

The council asked the planners to study the concept of such a review board, particularly its composition, and come up with a recommendation to the council within 60 days.

The plan, which the planning commission rejected last October, calls for the review board to handle matters such as variances, routine conditional use permits, plan approvals, encroachment permits and interpretations of the city zoning ordinance.

Although St. Cyr has recommended that appeals to the board's decisions would come directly to the city council, Planning Director H. Eric Borgwardt last night suggested the appeals could be heard by the planning commission, with a further appeal to the city council possible.

The city manager's proposal calls for a three-man review board consisting of the planning director and two appointees designated by the city council. But Mayor Alexander R. Imlay said he believed the planning director should not become involved in decision-making on a zoning review board.

The Sausalito City Council also:

OLD JAIL — Gave the Sausalito History Committee, Historical Landmarks Commission and Sausalito Women's Club two months to come up with a proposal on how the city could feasibly make use of the old Marin County Jail, located on Bee Street. Norman Wohlschlaeger, the city public works director, has recommended the crumbling brick structure be torn down, but the women's club wants to see it preserved, possibly for use as a city museum.

MORATORIUM — Tabled a plan to impose an indefinite moratorium on new zoning and new uses in the Caledonia Street area until a specific zoning plan for the area has been completed. The city is planning Caledonia as a resident-serving commercial area.

PARKING — Asked the city attorney to prepare ordinances eliminating one on-street parking space on Glen Drive opposite No. 3 Rose Court and several on-street spaces between 46 and 52 Bulkley Avenue.

POST OFFICE PARKING — Agreed to take steps to create two 15-minute parking zones on Johnson Street adjacent to the post office to facilitate resident use of the post office.

CALEDONIA PLAN — Asked the city attorney to prepare an ordinance which would put into effect a proposed traffic circulation and parking plan for Caledonia Street. The proposal would make Pine, Bee and Litho streets, between Caledonia and Bridgeway one-way, eastbound, and would create diagonal parking on those streets.

Teachers Back, But Issues Are Still Unsolved

DALY CITY (UPI)—None of the issues in a 27-day strike are resolved, but 227 teachers were back at their jobs Tuesday in the Jefferson Elementary School District.

Superintendent Frank Greenwood told a news conference, "We are right back where we started. The illegal strike is ended. The teachers are returning without the master contract they demanded."

Striking teachers had demanded a contract covering working conditions, including the size of classes, and providing for binding arbitration of grievances.

Love, Not Punishment, Is Deterrent, Duffy Says

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI)—A former prison warden who witnessed 150 executions while a penologist in California, told a college audience Tuesday that love, not punishment, is the main deterrent to crime.

"A family that has love, direction, religion and discipline usually does not produce a criminal," said Clinton Duffy. "And a home where these essential are lacking, usually does."

Since his retirment in 1962 from 32 years in California state correctional facilities, Duffy, formerly of Marin, actively has been campaigning against capital punishment. His last post was warden of San Quentin Prison on San Francisco Bay.

"Such arguments as 'it's cheaper to execute a convicted murderer than to keep him for life' and 'capital punishment deters other criminals from committing the same crime,' simply do not hold up under factual analyses," Duffy told a Spokane Falls Community College audience.

"In some states, homicides are higher in capital punishment states than in neighboring abolition states," Duffy said. "Studies have shown that executions promote more similar crimes in the community after the execution."

The answer to crime, said Duffy, begins at home.

"If we can get our communities and families into shape and ready to handle our problem children, we won't have problem and criminal adults," he said. "It's got to begin at the community and familial levels."

When the first U.S. postage stamps were issued in 1847 most of the mail was transported on river boats.

A Fast Sprint On 'Bad' Ankle

SYDNEY (UPI) — When Stanley Emmanuel complained of a sprained ankle Tuesday, police did not handcuff him because he used the crutches they gave him.

But while being transferred from the police station to the court house in suburban Perith, Emmanuel, 19, threw down the crutches and ran.

"I've never seen a man run so fast," said one of his guards.

Police said they chased but did not catch Emmanuel, charged with having sexual relations with a minor.

AGRICULTURAL REZONING

Northwestern Marin, the shaded portion, will be the first area in Marin to be considered for rezoning to the newly established Agricultural and Conservation District. A hearing will be held before the Marin County Planning Commission Nov. 1 at the Civic Center to determine what the density should be. The new Agricultural and Conservation District, to be imposed on all agricultural preserve land (whether under contract or not), permits a density of between three acres to 60 acres per lot. Most of northwest Marin is now zoned limited agricultural, which permits a minimum lot of two acres. At the rezoning hearing, the county planning staff will recommend minimum lots of 20 acres and up. The hearing will cover all properties in assessor's books 100, 102, 104, and 106. The four other areas in the county will get separate hearings in the future.

Prison Term For Bombing Plotter

HOUSTON (UPI) — Jimmy Dale Hutto, a right-wing activist who conspired to blow up Pacifica Foundation radio station transmitters in California, has been sentenced to five and a half years in prison.

U.S. District Judge James Noel also sentenced the 24-year-old former Pasadena, Tex., chemical worker Tuesday to another four and a half years probation.

Federal agents said they arrested the former mental patient while he was on his way to California to carry out his plans. They said they found United Klans of America literature and a pistol in his car.

Two Year Probation

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI)— Richard Carson, 19, son of television star Johnny Carson, was placed on two years probation Tuesday on charges of illegal possession of marijuana.

GIs Defend Refusal To Take Patrol

FIREBASE TIMBUKTU, South Vietnam (UPI)—The GIs who told their officers Saturday they would refuse to make a night ambush patrol outside embattled Fire Base Pace said today it was a "senseless suicide mission" and that their refusal was "a matter of common sense."

Their officers said their disobedience was little more than a matter of the fact that "troops are always griping when you order them to do something."

"It wasn't a matter of cowardice, it was a matter of common sense," said SP4 Walter Wernli, Three Rivers, Tex. "This patrol was completely senseless, senseless suicide."

Wernli and other members of the 3rd Platoon, Bravo Company, 1st Battalion, 12th Cavalry, a unit of the elite 1st Air Cavalry Division, spoke to newsmen at Timbuktu today.

Just the day before they had been abruptly pulled out of Pace, on the Cambodian border 80 miles northwest of Saigon, following an Army investigation.

Both the GIs and their officers agreed substantially on what actually happened last Saturday at Pace, where they were assigned to help protect a battery of 175mm and 8-inch guns along with South vietnamese infantrymen.

About 3 p.m. Saturday, orders came down from battalion level to send out a 15-man night ambush patrol as part of the defenses to help keep North Vietnamese troops from attacking the base.

The company commander, Capt. Robert Cronin, whom some of the GIs called "a rednecked lifer," passed the order to Lt. Robert Schuler, the platoon leader. Schuler ordered 15 men to suit up for the patrol.

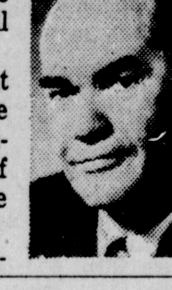
At that point a two-hour gripe session began among the men scheduled for the patrol. "For two hours we were just sitting there and bitching about the order," said SP4 Ernest French of Mattoon, Ill., the point man of the platoon.

"There was no good reason at all to have this patrol," French said. "We were told to go on a night ambush patrol, but there is nothing to ambush. There is not even a trail out there. All we would have done is stumble around in the dark in an area that we don't know and get shot up for nothing."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Controlling Noise One Of The Easiest Pollutants To Check



Man is capable of adapting to continuous loud noise but only at the expense of his acoustic nerves. Unless given a rest, they will deteriorate.

Hearing loss is temporary at first but permanent when exposure continues. Nerve damage is influenced by the type and intensity of noise, its duration, constancy and use of ear protection. In addition, some people are bothered more than others.

Noise is unwanted sound and how disagreeable it may be depends upon the individual. According to this definition, loud rock music is not noise to the musicians and kids, but it is racket to older persons. The same can be said of the roar of the hotrodder and those that profit from various machines and tools. Excluded also are the sounds heard in a restaurant and from the office typewriter. The same typewriter used by an open window at night could well be classified as noise by the neighbors.

SOUND IS measured in decibels. Most federal and state health and safety codes have designated 90 decibels as the maximum level to which a worker can be exposed for eight hours a day without wearing ear protection. Thirty is acceptable in a classroom, 80 is too loud if the person is trying to hear a telephone conversation. On takeoff, jets create 130 decibels, a mile from the runway the level is 100 decibels.

Chicago's new antinoise ordinance limits the racket from cars to 86 decibels at 50 feet, and 88 decibels for trucks and motorcycles.

NOISE SHOULD not be blamed for simple headaches, peptic ulcers, heart attacks, circulatory disorders, high blood pressure and fatigue. The exceptions are disorders related to nervousness and aggravation created by some who delight in making other people miserable.

Noise is one of our correctable pollutants. In most instances it can be eliminated at the source by changes in industrial design, soundproofing, and wearing earplugs or earmuffs. But out in the country where we expect it to be quiet who will stop the locusts, mockingbirds, doves, owls and even the old rooster?

ALBUMIN IN URINE

P. M. T. writes: I know a 15-year-old boy whose urine tests show albumin, especially when he overexercises. He is not on a special diet but has to rest a lot. I would appreciate some information on his condition.

REPLY

Albumin in the urine usually — but not always — indicates a kidney disorder. Smaller amounts of albumin may develop after vigorous exercise and in some individuals the abnormality is noted only when they are up and about. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on albumin in the urine.

ULCER AND MILK

J. L. writes: I have a stomach ulcer and have to drink more than two quarts of milk a day. Will it be all right if I drink skim milk, instead of whole milk?

REPLY

Skim milk has all the ingredients of whole milk, except the fat.

RESOLUTION NO. 4108

RESOLUTION OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL CALLING A JOINT PUBLIC HEARING WITH THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN TO DETERMINE WHETHER PUBLIC NECESSITY, HEALTH, SAFETY, OR WELFARE REQUIRES THE FORMATION OF UNDERGROUND UTILITY DISTRICT NO. 4

SOUTH SAN PEDRO ROAD WIDENING — PHASE IV

BE IT RESOLVED BY the Council of the City of San Rafael as follows:

WHEREAS, Ordinance No. 905 establishes a procedure for the creation of underground utility districts and requires as the initial step in such procedure the holding of a public hearing to ascertain whether public necessity, health, safety, or welfare requies the removal of poles, overhead wires and associated overhead structures and the underground installation of wires and facilities for supplying electric, communication, or similar or associated service in any such district; and

WHEREAS, it has been recommended that such an underground utility district, hereinafter called District, be formed within that area of the City of San Rafael along South San Pedro Road, described as follows:

Beginning at the intersection of the centerlines of South San Pedro Road and Lochinvar Road, and ending at a point approximately 503 feet east of the intersection of the centerlines of South San Pedro Road and Riviera Drive as described on "EXHIBIT A" attached hereto and made a part hereof by reference.

Excepting therefrom all property within the described area which is not within the San Rafael City limits.

NOW, THEREFORE, be it resolved as follows:

1. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a joint public hearing will be held by the Council of the City of San Rafael and the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin on Tuesday, October 26th, 1971 at the hour of 8:00 P.M. in the Supervisor's Chambers at the Marin County Civic Center, San Rafael, California, to ascertain whether the public necessity, health, safety or welfare requires the removal of poles, overhead wires and associated overhead structures and the underground installation of wires and facilities for supplying electric, communication, or similar associated service in the District hereinabove described.

2. At such hearing all persons interested shall be given an opportunity to be heard. Said hearing may be continued from time to time as may be determined by the City Council and/or the Board of Supervisors.

3. The City Clerk shall notify all affected property owners as shown on the last equalized assessment roll and utilities concerned of the time and place of such hearing by mailing a copy of this resolution to such property owners and utilities concerned at least ten (10) days prior to the date thereof.

4. The area proposed to be included in the District is shown upon that certain map entitled "City of San Rafael, Underground Utility District No. 4 and County of Marin, South San Pedro Road, Phase IV, Underground Utilities District No. 71-2", dated September 27, 1971, which is on file in the office of the City Clerk of the City of San Rafael.

Dated: October 4, 1971

I, MARION A. GRADY, Clerk of the City of San Rafael, hereby certify that the foregoing resolution was duly and regularly introduced and adopted at a regular meeting of the Council of said City held on Monday the 4th day of October, 1971, by the following vote, to-wit:

RCA Is Developing Air Safety System

LONDON (UPI)—Hundreds of airplanes around the world are involved in near-collisions every year and the situation is worsening, a vice president of Radio Corp. of America (RCA) said yesterday.

Irving R. Kessler said his company is developing a system that would warn pilots of collision courses and tell them how to steer to safety.

Kessler said figures showed that last year in the United States alone there were 1,453 near-collisions in the air.

Since 1946, he added, planes have been involved in 70 air collisions around the world.

Kessler said RCA already has tested a system called SECANT (Separation Control of Aircraft by Nonsynchronous Techniques) to keep airplanes apart.

RCA used two planes, a twin-engine DC3 and a smaller Piper Aztec, and a traffic simulator that "invented" the sort of electronic clutter likely to exist around the world's major airports in the 1980's, he said.

"Thus," Kessler added, "it is apparent that we are not aiming to solve just today's problems but also are targeting our capabilities on improving air safety for the distant future."

He said the U. S. Navy and the American Federal Aviation Agency expect to complete evaluation tests on the SECANT system sometime in November.

An improved model of SECANT, he said, will tell a pilot when he is on a collision course, measure the closing rate and instruct him on ways to evade it—"descent, ascent, right or left."

Officials of Britain's Department of Trade and Industry, also are studying the SECANT system, Kessler said.

SECANT, in its simplest model suitable for light aircraft costs about $875, he said.

GM Probe Into Faulty Engine Mounts Is Told

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp. has submitted to the government results of an investigation into possible faulty engine mounts and frames on 1966-69 Chevrolets.

GM confirmed Sunday that it had investigated reports of the possible defects after having been notified by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA).

A GM spokesman said the automaker was aware of complaints of rusting frames and engine mount failures on 1966-69 Chevrolet model vehicles. However, he said there was no way of telling now how many vehicles were involved.

The entire mount problems found in the vehicles could lead to the "possibility of the throttle sticking or fuel-line breakage" if the engine shifted during usage, he said.

When the mounts break, the accelerator can be stuck wide open and the power brake system can fail.

Plea Made On Pot

Jack M. Milucky, 30, of Sunset Beach, Orange County, pleaded innocent to charges of possession of marijuana, possession of stolen property and carrying a concealed weapon yesterday in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon set bail at $2,500 and scheduled a probation department report on the possibility of lowering bail for tomorrow. The date for a preliminary hearing will also be set tomorrow.

Milucky was arrested Oct. 6 in the Petaluma City Hall when officers said they found him carrying a suitcase containing marijuana and a stolen revolver.

Frisbee Event Set At College

The College of Marin student government will sponsor a frisbee tournament Saturday at 11 a.m. behind the school gymnasium.

The event, open to frisbee players of all ages, is for the benefit of the college's proposed child care center.

While the contest is free, the student government plans to operate concessions near the tournament in order to raise funds for the child center.

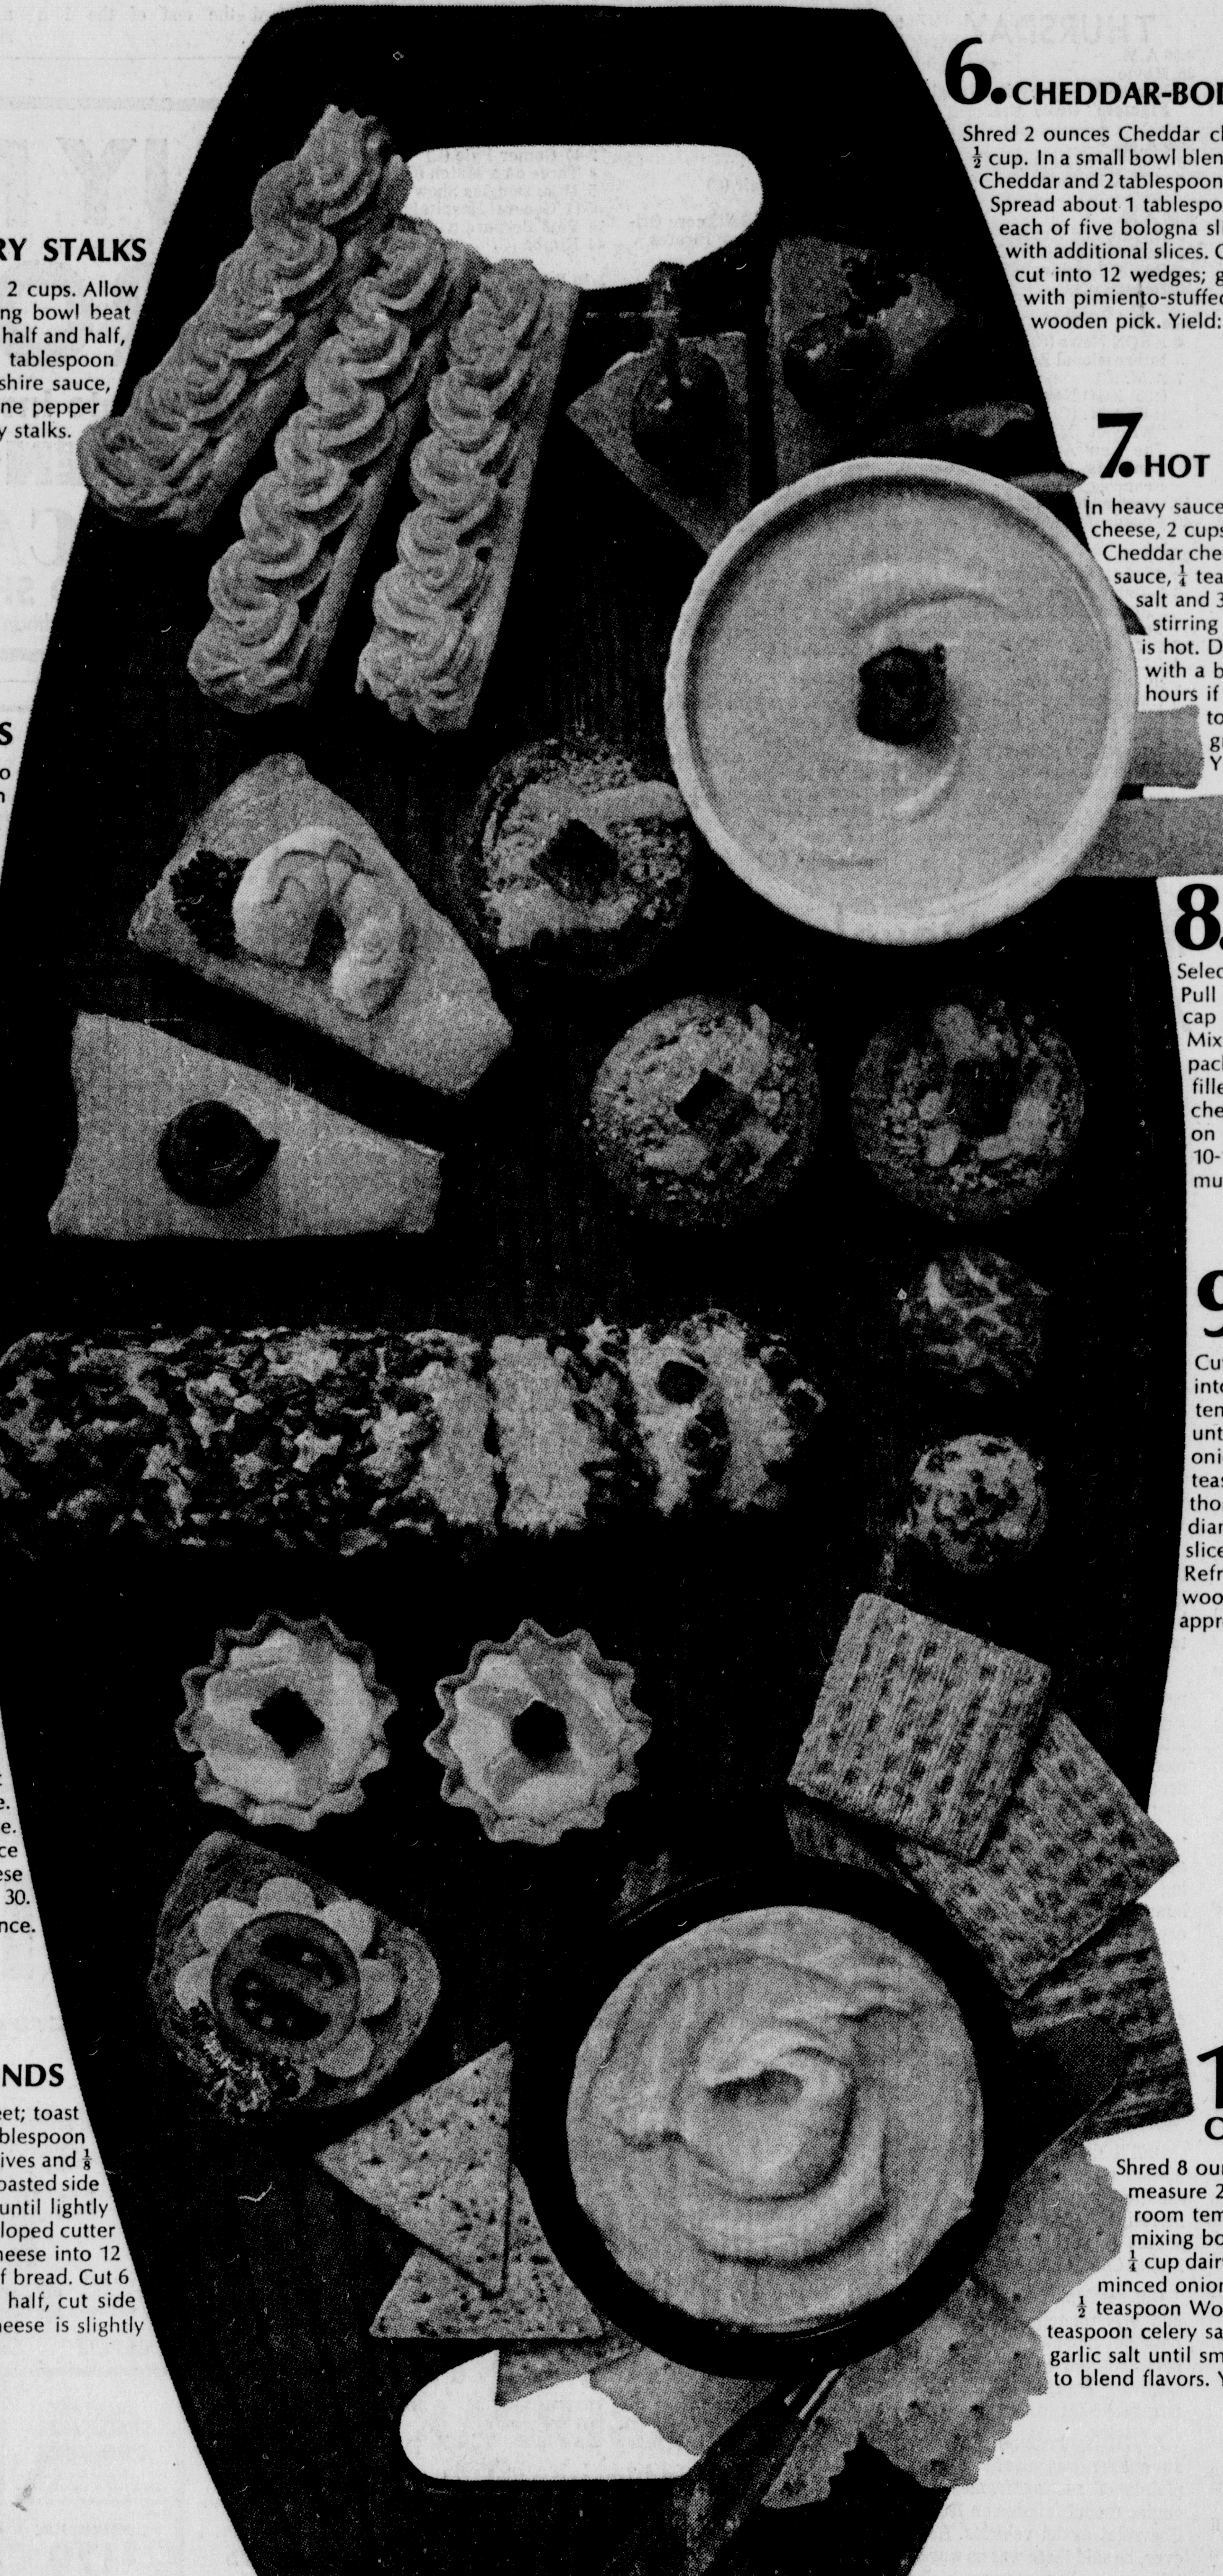
Make this weekend better with cheddar.

Ten great cheddar cheese appetizers to serve your guests.



1. CHEDDARY STALKS

Shred 8 ounces Cheddar cheese to measure 2 cups. Allow to come to room temperature. In a mixing bowl beat together cheese, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup light cream or half and half, 3 tablespoons chopped onion or chives, 1 tablespoon catsup, $1\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt and dash of cayenne pepper until fluffy. Pipe or spread into celery stalks. Yield: 2 cups spread.

2. CHEDDAR SOUFFLÉ APPETIZERS

Cut double thickness of heavy duty aluminum foil to measure 12 x 16 inches; place on baking sheet. Trim crusts from $1\frac{1}{2}$ lb. loaf unsliced sandwich bread; cut loaf into 4 lengthwise slices. Place slices side by side on foil. Toast both sides of bread under broiler; butter. Sprinkle 4 cups (1 lb.) shredded Monterey Jack or Cheddar cheese over all. Bread will be cut into 8 equal crosswise sections to give a total of 32 slices. Arrange garnish of either shrimp or rolled anchovy fillet to be in center of each appetizer. Broil 1-2 minutes or until cheese is melted. Cut and serve. Yield: 32.

3. CHEDDAR CHEESE LOG

Shred 10 ounces Cheddar cheese to measure $2\frac{1}{2}$ cups. Allow to come to room temperature. In a small mixing bowl beat cheese, gradually add 2 tablespoons milk. On a piece of waxed paper, roll cheese mixture into log form. Roll in $\frac{1}{2}$ cup finely chopped nuts. Chill. Before serving, allow to come to room temperature. Use as a spread on crackers. Yield: approx. $1\frac{1}{4}$ cups.

4. CHEDDAR TARTLETS

Prepare one 10-ounce package pie crust mix. On lightly floured board, roll out and cut in rounds using a 3-inch cookie cutter. Fit rounds into miniature tart pans, 2-inches in diameter, $\frac{1}{2}$-inch deep. Prick with a fork, and bake in a preheated 450° oven, 7-8 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove tart shells from pans; cool on wire racks. Mix $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups shredded Monterey Jack or Cheddar cheese and $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups dairy sour cream. Just before serving fill 30 tart shells with cheese mixture. Top with sprinkling of Monterey Jack or Cheddar cheese. Cut pimiento into fancy shapes and use as garnish. Place tarts on baking sheet; broil 1-2 minutes to melt cheese and glaze sour cream. Serve immediately. Yield: 30.

Note: Tart shells can be prepared and frozen in advance. Fillings can be mixed and refrigerated.

5. PARTY CHEDDAR ROUNDS

Place 12 slices party rye bread on baking sheet; toast under broiler on one side. Combine 1 tablespoon softened butter, 2 teaspoons chopped chives and $\frac{1}{8}$ teaspoon leaf oregano, crushed; spread on untoasted side of bread. Return to broiler for 1-2 minutes or until lightly browned. With a $1\frac{1}{2}$ to 2-inch diameter scalloped cutter cut slices of Monterey Jack or Cheddar cheese into 12 rounds. Place a cheese round on each slice of bread. Cut 6 cherry tomatoes in half crosswise; place one half, cut side up, in center of cheese. Broil until cheese is slightly melted. Yield: 12.

6. CHEDDAR-BOLOGNA TIDBITS

Shred 2 ounces Cheddar cheese to make $\frac{1}{2}$ cup. In a small bowl blend together Cheddar and 2 tablespoons cream cheese. Spread about 1 tablespoon mixture on each of five bologna slices; stack and top with additional slices. Chill. At serving time, cut into 12 wedges; garnish each wedge with pimiento-stuffed olive secured with wooden pick. Yield: 12.

7. HOT CHEDDAR DIP

In heavy saucepan place one 8-ounce package cream cheese, 2 cups (8 oz.) shredded Monterey Jack or Cheddar cheese, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup milk, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon dry mustard, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon onion salt and 3 drops Tabasco sauce. Heat over low heat, stirring occasionally, until cheese melts and mixture is hot. Dip may be served in warmer and garnished with a bacon curl. It will hold well for several hours if stirred occasionally. If mixture becomes too thick, stir in additional milk. Use carrot, green pepper, and celery sticks for dippers. Yield: 2 cups.

8. MUSHROOM CANAPÉS

Select mushrooms about 2-inches in diameter. Pull stem from each mushroom. Dip mushroom cap in lemon juice, then brush with melted butter. Mix 1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese with $\frac{1}{4}$ cup packaged bread crumbs. Spoon into cavity. Top filled mushrooms with shredded Cheddar cheese and a very small square of bacon. Place on baking sheet. Bake in a preheated 400° oven 10-12 minutes, until bacon is crisp. Yield: 20-25 mushrooms.

9. CHEDDAR CHEESE BALLS

Cut 1 pound Monterey Jack or Cheddar cheese into small pieces. Allow to come to room temperature. In a mixing bowl beat cheese until smooth and creamy; add 1 tablespoon grated onion, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon paprika and continue to beat until thoroughly blended. Shape into balls 1-inch in diameter. Roll half the balls in chopped, smoked, sliced beef and remaining half in chopped parsley. Refrigerate. Just before serving, spear with wooden picks. Use an apple as a holder. Yield: approx. 70 cheese balls.

10. CHEDDAR CHEESE SPREAD

Shred 8 ounces Cheddar cheese to measure 2 cups. Allow to come to room temperature. In a small mixing bowl beat together cheese, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup dairy sour cream, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon celery salt, and $\frac{1}{8}$ teaspoon garlic salt until smooth. Cover and chill to blend flavors. Yield: approx. $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups.

INTRODUCES

K-5

A PLAN THAT GUARANTEES
INCLUDING PICTURE TUBE
FOR 5 YEARS

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS

As an optional extra we pick up where the manufacturer's guarantee stops and expand so that you pay nothing for any replacement parts for five years. This offer is available on New Solid State 19, 21, 23, 25 Inch Sets by

SYLVANIA

HERE'S WHY WE DO IT

One of the reasons that Klein TV is Marin's oldest firm is due to our constant search for better service for our customers. All sets are checked 3 times. First when they are received in our store, next when they leave the store and finally in your home. Even with this care . . . things can happen. We've always taken care of these cases. Because we seldom have any trouble with sets that we install . . . we feel we can go yet another step in protecting our customers. This is the reason we now offer you five years of expense free operation on your chasis parts and picture tube. Come in and let us explain K-5 to you.
